10709. When this act takes effect. This code takes effect at twelve o'clock, noon, on the first day of July, A. D. 1895.

10710. Construction of the Penal Code. The rule of the common law, that penal statutes are to be strictly construed, has no application to this code. All its provisions are to be construed according to the fair import of their terms, with a view to effect its object and to promote justice.

Operation and Effect

Under section 4 and this section, the rule that statutes in derogation of the common law must be strictly construed does not apply to code provisions (including penal), liberal construction being the rule as to all; hence, prior decisions to the effect that section 6003, relating to the liability of directors of corporations for the corporations' debts for failure to file an annual report, being penal in character and unknown to the common law, must be strictly construed, overruled. Continental Supply Co. v. Abell et al., 95 M 148, 163, 24 P 2d 133.

Contention that sections 456.1-456.3, defining "nepotism" and prohibiting public officers, boards or commissions from appointing relatives to a position of trust or emolument, and providing punishment by fine and imprisonment in the county jail, should be strictly construed as a penal statute may not be sustained, this section, providing that the common-law rule that penal statutes shall be strictly construed, has no application to the Penal Code. State ex rel. Kurth et al. v. Grinde et al., 96 M 608, 614, 32 P 2d 15.

10711. Provisions similar to existing laws, how construed. The provisions of this code, so far as they are the same as existing statutes, must be construed as continuations thereof, and not as new enactments.

10712. Effect of code upon past offenses. No act or omission, commenced after twelve o'clock, noon, of the day on which this code takes effect as a law, is criminal or punishable, except as prescribed or authorized by this code, or by some of the statutes which it specifies as continuing in force and as not affected by its provisions, or by some ordinance, municipal, county, or township regulation, passed or adopted under any such statutes, and in force when this code takes effect. Any act or omission commenced prior to that time may be inquired of, prosecuted, and punished in the same manner as if this code had not been passed.

6. The word "bribe" signifies anything of value or advantage, present or prospective, or any promise or undertaking to give any, asked, given, or accepted, with a corrupt intent to influence, unlawfully, the person to whom it is given, in his action, vote, or opinion, in any public or official capacity.

16. Words and phrases must be construed according to the context and the approved usage of the language; but technical words and phrases, and such others as may have acquired a peculiar and appropriate meaning in law, must be construed according to such peculiar and appropriate meaning.

17. Words giving a joint authority to three or more public officers or other persons are construed as giving such authority to a majority of them, unless it be otherwise expressed in the act giving the authority.

18. When the seal of a court or public officer is required by law to be affixed to any paper, the word "seal" includes an impression of such seal upon the paper alone, or upon any substance attached to the paper capable of receiving a visible impression. The seal of a private person may be made in like manner, or by the scroll of a pen, or by writing the word "seal" against his name.

19. The word "state" when applied to the different parts of the United States, includes the District of Columbia and the territories, and the words "United States" may include the district and territories.

acquire any advantage. Haddox v. Northern Pacific Ry. Co., 43 M 8; 15, 113 P 1119.

Subd. 1

Operation and Effect

The word "wilfully," when applied to the intent with which an act is done or omitted, either in criminal or civil cases, implies simply a purpose or willingness to commit the act or make the omission referred to. It does not require any intent to violate law, or to injure another, or to

Operation and Effect

The complaint in this action predicates the right of recovery of punitive damages on the malicious taking of the cattle by the defendant, and we think the evidence sufficiently indicates a wish on the part of the defendant to vex, annoy or injure the plaintiff under the code definition of the words "malice" and "maliciously" (this section). Accordingly the award made by the jury was warranted. Klind v. Valley County Bank of Hinsdale, 69 M 386, 399, 222 P 439; Wray v. Great Falls Paper Co., 72 M 461, 466, 234 P 486; Putnam v. Putnam, 86 M 135, 140, 282 P 855.

An instruction in an action for assault and battery, defining "malice" in words other than those used in this section, and approved by decisions of the court, held erroneous. Hageman v. Arnold, 79 M 91, 97, 254 P 1070.

Subd. 10

Operation and Effect

The right of an employee to work is not "property," within the definition of that term given in this section. In re McCabe, 29 M 28, 30, 73 P 1106.

Subd. 16

Operation and Effect

For the interpretation of paragraph 16 of this section, with reference to the words "private banker" and "individual banker," as used in the statute regarding fraudulent insolvencies, see In re Wisner, 36 M 298, 309, 92 P 958.

"Person" Defined

Though the term "person" ordinarily refers to a living human being—a natural person—the definition given it by this and other sections of the codes includes corporations as well as natural persons. In re Beck's Estate, 44 M 561, 572, 121 P 784.

Words in the Singular Include the Plural

Since under sections 15 and 10713, R. C. M. 1921, words in the singular include the plural, the provision of section 9733, Id., that a party intending to appeal from an order or judgment of the district court must file and serve a notice of appeal "on the adverse party or his attorney" must, where there are more than one adverse party, be read to mean service on all adverse parties or their attorneys. Mitchell v. Banking Corp. of Montana, 81 M 459, 464, 264 P 127.

10714. What intent to defraud is sufficient. Whenever, by any of the provisions of this code, an intent to defraud is required in order to constitute any offense, it is sufficient if an intent appears to defraud any person, association, or body politic or corporate, whatever.

10715. Civil remedies preserved. The omission to specify or affirm in this code any liability to damages, penalty, forfeiture, or other remedy imposed by law, and allowed to be recovered or enforced in any civil action or proceeding, for any act or omission declared punishable herein, does not affect any right to recover or enforce the same.

10716. Proceedings to impeach or remove officers and others preserved. The omission to specify or affirm in this code any ground of forfeiture of a public office, or other trust or special authority conferred by law, or any power conferred by law to impeach, remove, depose, or suspend any public officer or other person holding any trust, appointment, or other special authority conferred by law, does not affect such forfeiture or power, or any proceeding authorized by law to carry into effect such impeachment, removal, deposition, or suspension.

10717. Authority of court-martial preserved—courts of justice to punish for contempt. This code does not affect any power conferred by law upon any court-martial, or other military authority or officer, to impose or inflict punishment upon offenders; nor any power conferred by law upon any public body, tribunal, or officer, to impose or inflict punishment for a contempt.

10718. Sections declaring crimes punishable—duty of court. The several sections of this code which declare certain crimes to be punishable as therein mentioned devolve a duty upon the court authorized to pass sentence, to determine and impose the punishment prescribed, except in cases where a jury is authorized to determine and impose the same.

10719. Punishments, how determined. Whenever in this code the punishment for a crime is left undetermined between certain limits, the punishment to be inflicted in a particular case must be determined by the court or by the jury authorized to pass sentence, within such limits as may be prescribed by this code.

10720. Witness' testimony may be read against him on prosecution for perjury. The various sections of this code, which declare that evidence obtained upon the examination of a person as a witness cannot be received against him in any criminal proceeding, do not forbid such evidence being proved against such person upon any proceedings founded upon a charge of perjury committed in such examination.

10721. Crime and public offense defined. A crime or public offense is an act committed or omitted in violation of a law forbidding or commanding it, and to which is annexed, upon conviction, any of the following punishments:

1. Death;
2. Imprisonment;
3. Fine;
4. Removal from office; or,
5. Disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit in this state.

Operation and Effect

A contempt of court, punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, is a public offense under this section. State ex rel. Flynn v. District Court, 24 M 33, 35, 60 P 493.

The threatened violation of a town ordinance is not a "public offense" within the meaning of this section. State ex rel. Streit v. Justice Court, 45 M 375, 380, 123 P 405.

A proceeding for the summary removal of a county attorney, for misconduct, even though instituted by a private person, is a public proceeding, and, though it is summary in its nature, is to be classed as a prosecution for crime. State ex rel. McGrade v. District Court, 52 M 371, 373, 157 P 1157.

Held, that an officer (county clerk), charged with willful neglect of duty is not entitled to a trial by jury in a proceeding for his removal from office. State v. District Court et al., 62 M 600, 602, 205 P 955.

A valid city ordinance, passed by the municipality with the design of the legislature is a "law" as that term is used in this section, defining a public offense as an act committed or omitted in violation of a law, and such ordinance has, within the territorial jurisdiction of the municipality, the same force and is to be treated as a legislative act. State ex rel. Marquette v. Police Court, 86 M 297, 309 et seq., 283 P 430.

Id. Held, under the above rule, that an action by a city instituted in its police court by the filing of a complaint charging a physician with practicing his profession within the city without first procuring a license permitting him to do so, in violation of one of its ordinances, and seeking the imposition of a fine, was criminal in its nature, and that therefore the court acquired jurisdiction over defendant by the issuance and service of a warrant of arrest. (City of Bozeman v. Nelson, 73 M 147, intimating that such an action is a civil one, modified to conform to the views expressed above.)

1. Felonies; and,
2. Misdemeanors.

10723. Felony and misdemeanor defined. A felony is a crime which is punishable with death or by imprisonment in the state prison. Every other crime is a misdemeanor. When a crime, punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, is also punishable by fine or imprisonment in a county jail, in the discretion of the court or jury, it is a misdemeanor for all purposes after a judgment imposing a punishment other than imprisonment in the state prison.

History: En. Sec. 4, p. 190, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 4, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 4, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 17, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8109, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10723, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 17.

Operation and Effect

Held, that where an offense which is not divisible into degrees and does not include a lesser offense, is punishable either as a misdemeanor or as a felony in the discretion of the court or jury, it is the possible sentence which determines the grade of the crime; hence it is to be deemed a felony up to the time of judgment, whereupon, if the punishment inflicted be other than imprisonment in the state prison, it is to be considered a misdemeanor for all purposes, under this section. State v. Atlas, 75 M 547, 551 et seq., 244 P 477.

Rule to Determine Under Federal Law

As contradistinguished from the rule prevailing in Montana which classifies crimes after judgment as felonies or misdemeanors by the punishment actually imposed, the test to be applied in determining whether a crime is a felony under the federal law is the punishment which may be inflicted, and not what was actually imposed. State ex rel. Anderson v. Fousek, 91 M 448, 454, 8 P 2d 791.

10724. Punishment of felony, when not otherwise prescribed. Except in cases where a different punishment is prescribed by this code, every offense declared to be a felony is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years.

Operation and Effect

Generally, every felony is punishable either by death or imprisonment in the state prison, and every misdemeanor by fine or imprisonment in the county jail. State ex rel. City of Butte v. District Court, 37 M 202, 206, 95 P 841.

10725. Punishment of misdemeanor, when not otherwise prescribed.

Except in cases where a different punishment is prescribed by this code, every offense declared to be a misdemeanor is punishable by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding six months, or by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or both.

10726. To constitute crime there must be unity of act and intent. In every crime or public offense there must exist a union or joint operation of act and intent, or criminal negligence.

Operation and Effect

On the question of insanity in homicide, the court should instruct in the language of this and the following section, then define insanity as any weakness or defect of the mind rendering it incapable of entertaining in the particular instance the criminal intent, supplementing the definition by the comment that criminal responsibility is to be determined solely by defendant's capacity to conceive and entertain the intent to commit the particular crime. State v. Keerl, 29 M 508, 521, 75 P 362.

In view of this and the following section an insane person in criminal law is one who is mentally unable to form a criminal intent. State v. Keerl, 29 M 508, 520, 75 P 362.

An instruction embodying the provisions of this and the following section, upon the presence of joint operation of act and intent in order to constitute a crime, should be given in every criminal prosecution, especially when requested by defendant. State v. Allen, 34 M 403, 418, 87 P 177.

An instruction charging the jury that, when an unlawful act is shown to have been deliberately committed for the purpose of injuring another, it is presumed to have been committed with a malicious and guilty intent, and that the law presumes that a person intends the ordinary consequences of any voluntary act committed by him, may mislead the jury, and should not be given in a prosecution for assault in the first degree, the very gist of which offense is the intent with which it was committed. State v. Schaefer, 35 M 217, 221, 88 P 792.

In a statutory offense, as for collecting illegal fees, the intent is conclusively presumed. State ex rel. Rowe v. District Court, 44 M 318, 326, 119 P 1103.

10727. Intent, how manifested, and who considered of sound mind.

The intent or intention is manifested by the circumstances connected with the offense, and the sound mind and discretion of the accused. All persons are of sound mind who are neither idiots nor lunatics, nor affected with insanity.

History: En. Secs. 2, 3, p. 176, Bannack Stat.; amd. Secs. 2, 3, p. 269, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Secs. 2, 3, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Secs. 2, 3, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 21, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8113, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10727, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 21.

Operation and Effect

An instruction in a criminal case, in the language of this section was not objectionable, the expression "the offense" having reference to the crime charged in the information, and not being subject to the criticism that it assumed that in fact a crime had been committed. State v. Gordon, 35 M 458, 467, 90 P 173.

The presumption that all persons are of sound mind who are neither idiots nor lunatics, nor affected with insanity, attaches not only in a criminal case in which the defense of insanity is interposed, but generally to human conduct in the relations of life, and the giving of an instruction to that effect in a will contest in which the sanity of the testator was called in question was not error. In re Murphy's Estate, 43 M 353, 373, 116 P 1004.

The presumption is that one, who claims to have been injured by transactions had with him at a time when he was not mentally competent, was of sound mind at the time and that he comprehended and knew the nature and consequences of his acts, and the burden of showing incompetency was upon him by a preponderance of the evidence. Sommerville v. Greenhood, 65 M 101, 114, 210 P 1048.

10728. Drunkenness no excuse for crime—when it may be considered—how insanity must be proven.

1. No act committed by a person while in a state of voluntary intoxication is less criminal by his being in said condition. But, whenever the actual existence of any particular purpose, motive, or intent, is a necessary element to constitute any particular species or degree of crime, the jury may take into consideration the fact that the accused was intoxicated at the time, in determining the purpose, motive or intent with which he committed the act.

2. When the commission of the act charged as a crime is proven, and the defense sought to be established is the insanity of the defendant, the same must be proven by the defendant by a preponderance of the testimony; provided, however, that said defendant may have his sanity or insanity determined in the manner provided by law, by requesting the district court to determine the same, at any time before the jury is obtained.

Burden of Proof

Since the enactment of this section in 1925, the burden of proving insanity, pleaded by a defendant charged with crime, is upon him and not the state; hence an instruction that the state was required to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that defendant was sane at the time of the commission of the offense was error. State v. De Haan, 88 M 407, 292 P 1109.

Under Chapter 87, Laws of 1925, defendant charged with homicide has the burden of proving his defense of insanity by a preponderance of the testimony, and an instruction that the state was required to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that he was sane was erroneous. State v. Vetter, 76 M 574, 591, 248 P 179.

Instructions on Insanity

In the trial of criminal cases in which the defense of insanity is relied upon, trial courts, in instructing juries on that subject, should make the instructions as plain and simple as possible, incorporate therein the appropriate code sections, supplementing the definition of insanity as indicated in the case of State v. Peel, 23 M 358, and avoid numerous instructions which may be confusing and serve no useful purpose. State v. Narich, 92 M 17, 24, 9 P 2d 477.

Operation and Effect

Evidence that defendant's reason had been clouded by intoxication during the earlier hours of the day on which the homicide was committed, and that he sufferred periodical attacks due to a diseased condition of the heart, did not warrant an instruction upon the question of his insanity. State v. Kumm, 55 M 436, 448, 178 P 288.

Where the question whether defendant was so far under the influence of intoxicating liquor that he could not entertain the necessary criminal intent to commit robbery in the perpetration of which he committed homicide was fully and fairly presented, with instructions tendered by defendant himself, and there was ample evidence to justify the conclusion of the jury that he was able to entertain such intent as evidenced by their verdict, the question of intoxication is eliminated from consideration on appeal. State v. Reagin, 64 M 481, 489, 210 P 86.

Evidence in a prosecution for assault in the second degree, in which the defense was insanity, an expert testifying the defendant was suffering from mental epilepsy, rendering him incapable of knowing or remembering what he was doing during an attack, held sufficient to support the verdict of guilty, it appearing, among other things, that after striking his victim with a gun he warned her not to say anything about it, concealed himself thereafter, and a month later detailed the entire transaction to the medical expert. State v. De Haan, 88 M 407, 292 P 1109.

Insanity constitutes any defect, weakness or disease of the mind which renders it incapable of entertaining, in the particular instance, the criminal intent which is an ingredient of all crimes. State v. Narich, 92 M 17, 24, 9 P 2d 477.

CHAPTER 2

PERSONS LIABLE TO PUNISHMENT—PARTIES TO CRIME

- Section 10729. Who are capable of committing crimes.
 10730. Who are liable to punishment.
 10731. Classification of parties to crime.
 10732. Who are principals.
 10733. Who are accessories.
 10734. Punishment of accessories.

10729. Who are capable of committing crimes. All persons are capable of committing crimes except those belonging to the following classes:

1. Children under the age of fourteen, and over the age of seven, in the absence of clear proof that, at the time of committing the act charged against them, they knew its wrongfulness. Children under the age of seven are not capable of committing crime.

2. Idiots.

3. Lunatics and insane persons.

4. Persons who committed the act or made the omission charged under an ignorance or mistake of fact which disproves any criminal intent.

5. Persons who committed the act charged without being conscious thereof.

6. Persons who committed the act or made the omission charged through misfortune or by accident, when it appears that there was no evil design, intention, or culpable negligence.

7. Married women (except for felonies) acting under threats, command, or coercion of their husbands.

8. Persons (unless the crime be punishable with death) who committed the act or made the omission charged under threats or menaces sufficient to show that they had reasonable cause to, and did, believe their lives would be endangered if they refused.

History: For earlier acts see Secs. 4-9, pp. 176, 177, Bannack Stat.; Secs. 4-11, p. 270, Cod. Stat. 1871; Secs. 4-11, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; Secs. 4-11, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887.

10730. Who are liable to punishment. The following persons are liable to punishment under the laws of this state:

1. All persons who commit, in whole or in part, any crime within this state.

2. All who commit larceny or robbery out of this state, and bring to, or are found with the property stolen in, this state.

3. All who, being out of this state, cause or aid, advise or encourage, another person to commit a crime within this state, and are afterwards found therein.

10731. Classification of parties to crime. The parties to crimes are classified as:

1. Principals; and,

2. Accessories.

10732. Who are principals. All persons concerned in the commission of a crime, whether it be a felony or misdemeanor, and whether they directly commit the act constituting the offense, or aid and abet in its commission, or, not being present, have advised and encouraged its commission, and all persons counseling, advising, or encouraging children under the age of fourteen years, lunatics, or idiots, to commit any crime, or who, by fraud, contrivance, or force, occasion the drunkenness of another for the purpose of causing him to commit any crime, or who, by threats, menaces, command, or coercion, compel another to commit any crime, are principals in any crime so committed.

History: Earlier acts were Sec. 10, p. 177, Bannack Stat.; Sec. 12, p. 271, Cod. Stat. 1871; Sec. 12, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; Sec. 12, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887.

"Accomplice" Defined

An accomplice is one who is guilty of complicity in the crime charged, either by being present and aiding or abetting in it, or by having advised and encouraged it, though absent from the place at which it is committed. State v. Spotted Hawk, 22 M 33, 65, 55 P 1026.

If a witness for the state whose testimony is relied upon by it to convict the defendant on trial for crime could himself have been informed against for the offense, either as principal, strictly speaking, or as accessory before the fact, and as such made a principal by this section, he is an accomplice whose uncorroborated testimony is insufficient to sustain conviction. State v. Keithley, 83 M 177, 181, 271 P 452.

To constitute a witness an accomplice he must have been guilty of complicity in the crime charged, either by being present and aiding in and abetting it, or by having advised and encouraged its commission, though absent at the time; he must have knowingly, voluntarily and with common intent with the principal offender united in the commission of the crime, and the test whether or not he is an accomplice is: Would the facts justify his prosecution with the defendant on trial? State v. McComas et al., 85 M 428, 433, 278 P 993.

"Advised" and "Encouraged"

An instruction in a prosecution for grand larceny, that a person who "advised or encouraged" another in the commission of a crime is to be considered a principal, instead of "advised and encouraged," was not prejudicially erroneous, the words "advised" and "encouraged" being synonymous in popular meaning. State v. Allen, 34 M 403, 416, 87 P 177.

"Aid and Abet" not "Aid or Abet"

An instruction defining "principals" as all persons who "aid or abet" in the commission of an offense, instead of "aid and abet" as used in this section, is incorrect. State v. McClain et al., 76 M 351, 246 P 956.

The use of the disjunctive "or" in an instruction in a criminal case defining who are principals, saying that one who aids "or" abets another in the commission of an offense is a principal, instead of aids "and" abets, the conjunctive, is error. State v. Ludwick, 90 M 41, 300 P 558.

Common Law Distinction Between Principal and Accessory Abolished

The distinction recognized by the common law between principals and accessories before the fact is abolished in this state. State v. Dotson, 26 M 305, 308, 67 P 938.

Criminal Intent in one Aiding and Abetting

Whether one charged as a principal in receiving stolen property, though he only aided and abetted another in actually receiving it, knew that it was stolen and entertained the criminal intent required by this section, may be established by circumstantial evidence. State v. Huffman, 89 M 194, 200, 296 P 789.

Evidence Insufficient to Hold as Principal

In a prosecution against husband and wife for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor, evidence showing that while the wife was present at their home where the sale was made by the husband, all she did was to refer the buyer to him upon request for the liquor, remaining otherwise passive, held insufficient to justify her conviction on the theory that by her presence and acquiescence in what was done by the husband she was guilty as a principal under this section. State v. Cornish et al., 73 M 205, 209, 235 P 702.

Instructions on This Section Proper

In a prosecution for arson, where there is some testimony that defendant procured another to set the fire, the giving of instructions, embodying the provisions of this section and section 11863, is proper; as is also the refusing of others, directing the jury to find for the defendant, unless they are satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that he was present personally and set the fire himself. State v. Chevigny, 48 M 382, 385, 138 P 257.

Instructions substantially in the words of this section and section 11863 defining a principal and telling the jury that the distinction between a principal and an accessory had been abrogated by statute, were not improper as implying that a felony had been committed. State v. Wiley, 53 M 383, 387, 164 P 84.

An instruction that all persons concerned in the commission of a crime, whether it be a felony or misdemeanor, and whether they directly commit the act constituting the offense or aid and abet in its commission, are principals, correctly stated the law. State v. Peters et al., 72 M 12, 19, 231 P 392.

Where the evidence in a cattle stealing case tended to show that defendant charged jointly with others had entered into a conspiracy to carry on the larceny of livestock, the giving of instructions relative to who are principals in the commission of a felony and that where a conspiracy has been proven the fact that defendant was not present at the actual taking of the animals was not available to defendant as a defense was proper as applicable to the facts. State v. Quinlan, 84 M 364, 371, 275 P 750.

Where the state in a prosecution for grand larceny proceeded on the theory that defendant was present and directly committed the crime of horse stealing, and not on the theory that he was not present but aided and abetted another, an instruction in the language of this section, defining principals as those present and directly committing the crime, or, not being present, aiding and abetting another, held not reversible error, though not approved as proper on retrial. State v. Hamilton, 87 M 353, 363, 287 P 933.

An instruction that one may be a principal in the commission of a crime though absent from the place where it was committed, held properly given where the evidence in a larceny case showed that while defendant was not actually present at the place from which personal property was stolen by two confederates, she was in her car near by into which it was placed and taken to a hiding place, she driving the car. State v. McComas, 89 M 187, 192, 295 P 1011.

Operation in General

Where two defendants, charged jointly with assault in the first degree, showed by their own testimony that they went to the home of the complaining witness for the purpose of ascertaining whether he had made a certain derogatory statement, whereupon one of them struck him for denying having made it, after which he confessed having made it, and thereupon the other assaulted him, each defendant was an accessory to the other and a principal in the carrying out of a common design, and therefore a requested instruction that if each was acting individually and for separate purposes and not under a common design, neither of them could be convicted, was properly refused as not applicable to the facts or warranted by their own testimony. State v. Maggert et al., 64 M 331, 337, 209 P 989.

One who, after the crime of larceny is completed, aids and abets another in receiving the stolen property with knowledge that it was stolen and with the intent to prevent the owner from again possessing it, is, under this section, a principal and properly prosecuted as such. State v. Huffman, 89 M 194, 200, 296 P 789.

10733. Who are accessories. All persons who, after full knowledge that a felony has been committed, conceal it from the magistrate, or harbor or protect the person charged with or convicted thereof, are accessories.

This section en. Sec. 42, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8120, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10733, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 32.

Operation and Effect

Accessories to crime are still recognized as punishable under our law, but the accessories referred to in the statute are accessories after the fact. Accessories before the fact are treated as principals.

10734. Punishment of accessories. Except in cases where a different punishment is prescribed, an accessory is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or in a county jail not exceeding two years, or by fine not exceeding five thousand dollars.

Id. In a prosecution for receiving stolen property of the United States government, to-wit, certain calves belonging to Indians, the state proved that the animals were stolen by two Indians who testified that defendant had given them a standing order that he would buy from them all unbranded animals they would bring to him; that they brought the animals in question to his home in the nighttime, when he stated he had no money but would aid them in taking the animals to a third person where they were received and paid for, defendant was under the last above rule, properly charged as a principal.

10736. Misprision of treason.

10735. Treason, who only can commit. Treason against this state consists only in levying war against it, adhering to its enemies, or giving them aid and comfort, and can be committed only by persons owing allegiance to the state. The punishment of treason is death.

CHAPTER 4

SEDITION—CRIMINAL SYNDICALISM—DISPLAY OF RED FLAG

- Section 10737. Sedition defined.
 10738. Punishment for sedition.
 10739. Emergency clause.
 10740. Criminal syndicalism defined.
 10741. Sabotage defined.
 10742. Penalty for sabotage, criminal syndicalism, and other offenses.
 10743. Penalty for certain unlawful assemblings to advocate forbidden acts.
 10744. Same—penalty for owner of premises.
 10745. Prohibition against exhibiting red flag or emblem.
 10746. Same—penalty.

10737. Sedition defined. Any person or persons who shall utter, print, write, or publish any disloyal, profane, violent, scurrilous, contemptuous, slurring, or abusive language about the United States, the government of the United States, or the form of government of the United States, or the constitution of the United States, or the soldiers or sailors of the United States, or the flag of the United States, or the uniform of the army or navy of the United States, or any language calculated to bring the form of government of the United States, or the constitution of the United States, or the soldiers or sailors of the United States, or the flag of the United States, or the uniform of the army or navy of the United States, into contempt, scorn, contumely, or disrepute, or shall utter, print, write, or publish any language calculated to incite or inflame resistance to any duly constituted federal or state authority, or who shall display the flag of any foreign enemy, or who shall, by utterance, writing, printing, publication, or language spoken, urge, incite, or advocate any curtailment of production in the United States of any thing or things, product or products, necessary or essential to the prosecution of any war in which the United States may be engaged, with intent by such curtailment to cripple or hinder the United States in the prosecution of any war; or who, in time of war in which the United States may be engaged, shall wilfully make or convey false reports or statements with intent to interfere with the operation or success of the military or naval forces of the United States, or promote the success of its enemy or enemies, or shall wilfully cause, or attempt to cause, disaffection in the military or naval forces of the United States, or who shall, by uttering, printing, writing, publishing, language spoken, or by any act or acts, interfere with, obstruct, or attempt to obstruct, the operation of any national selective draft law or the recruiting or the enlistment service of the United States, to the injury of the military or naval service thereof, shall be guilty of the crime of sedition.

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 77, L. 1919; re-en. Sec. 10737, R. C. M. 1921.

NOTE.—The above section was first enacted as section 1, Chapter 11, Ex. L. 1918, commencing with the words, "Whenever the United States shall be engaged in war." The act of 1919 apparently repeals by implication the earlier act.

"Calculate" Defined

Primarily the word "calculate" means to compute mathematically, and it implies power to think, to reason, to plan. In its broader significance it means to intend, to purpose, to design; and as used in the sedition act, it is broad enough to imply an evil intent in the use of language "calculated to incite or inflame," etc. State v. Kahn, 56 M 108, 119, 182 P 107.

Constitutionality

The act defining sedition and prescribing the punishment therefor is not unconstitutional as infringing upon the exclusive war powers of congress. State v. Kahn, 56 M 108, 115, 182 P 107; State v. Wyman, 56 M 600, 605, 186 P 1.

The failure of the legislature to make evil intent an ingredient of the offense does not invalidate this law. State v. Kahn, 56 M 108, 118, 182 P 107.

How Affected by Federal Act

The construction of the federal espionage act by the supreme court of the United States, though not conclusive upon the state supreme court in construing the sedition act, is entitled to great respect, the two statutes being similar in all respects. State v. Kahn, 56 M 108, 121, 182 P 107.

"Interest"

The sedition act is valid, though intent is not made an ingredient of the crime; if intent is essential to its validity, the word "calculated," as used in that part of the act which provides that one who "shall utter language calculated to incite or inflame resistance," etc., shall be guilty of sedition, etc., is sufficiently broad to cover intent. State v. Wyman, 56 M 600, 605, 186 P 1.

While intent is not specifically made an element of the crime of sedition as defined by this section, the legislature inferentially made it such by the use of the word "calculated" when it made language "calculated to incite or influence resistance" to constituted authority a public offense. State v. Smith, 57 M 349, 188 P 644.

Id. The intent of the person deliberately writing or publishing a seditious article contrary to the provisions of this section is immaterial and not an ingredient of the crime of sedition.

Sufficiency of Information

An information alleging that defendant, in vile and vulgar language, voiced his opinion in a saloon, that the Industrial Workers of the World, of which he was an officer, would win the case of United States v. Haywood et al., then on trial in the state of Illinois, was insufficient to charge sedition. State v. Griffith, 56 M 241, 242, 184 P 219.

An information charging sedition, in that defendant knowingly, unlawfully, etc., uttered and published disloyal, profane, violent, scurrilous, contemptuous, and abusive language concerning the soldiers and the uniform of the army of the United States, was defective for failure to set out the specific words characterizing his remarks as disloyal, contemptuous, etc. State v. Wolf, 56 M 493, 498, 185 P 556.

An information alleging in substance that defendant uttered language to the effect that the soldiers of the United States would commit the same atrocities as those reported to have been committed by German soldiers, that the soldiers of the United States were no better than German soldiers, etc., was sufficient to charge sedition. State v. Wyman, 56 M 600, 606, 186 P 1.

Id. Where, in defining an offense, a statute enumerates a series of acts, either of which separately or all together may constitute the offense, all such acts may be charged in a single count, and an instruction of the court, in a prosecution for a violation of the sedition act, where the information contained a charge in the language of the statute, of committing the several acts, that if the jury found beyond a reasonable doubt that defendant made either of the statements charged they could convict, was not erroneous.

Information held sufficient to charge sedition in State v. Brooks, 57 M 480, 188 P 942.

10738. Punishment for sedition. Every person found guilty of the crime of sedition shall be punished for each offense by a fine of not less than two hundred dollars nor more than twenty thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the state prison for not less than one year nor more than twenty years, or by both such fine and imprisonment. In the event of a

of criminal syndicalism, sabotage, or the necessity, propriety, or expediency of doing any act of violence, or the commission of any crime or unlawful act, as a means of accomplishing or effecting any industrial or political ends, change, or revolution, is guilty of a felony, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for a term of not less than one year or more than five years, or by a fine of not less than two hundred dollars or not more than one thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

History: En. Sec. 3, Ch. 11, Ex. L. 1918; re-en. Sec. 10742, R. C. M. 1921.

History: En. Sec. 1, Init. Act, Nov. 1912; re-en. Sec. 10773, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

While the corrupt practices act is in force by virtue of a vote of the people, it has no greater efficacy as a statute than if it had been enacted by the legislature. State ex rel. Smith v. District Court, 50 M 134, 138, 145 P 721.

Since this act does not authorize a contest of the election for the location of a county seat, a demurrer to the petition seeking to initiate such a proceeding was properly sustained. Cadle v. Town of Baker, 51 M 176, 181, 149 P 960. See also Poe v. Sheridan County, 52 M 279, 290, 157 P 185.

Held, that if the Corrupt Practices Act applies to county seat elections, the finding of the trial court that contestant failed to prove fraud and corruption on the part of partisans of the successful candidate, in furnishing sandwiches, cake, coffee, etc., at a public meeting and dance a few days before election, and supplying oil and gasoline for automobiles to convey electors to polling places during a snowstorm, no discrimination being made between those favoring one place or the other, and that such actions did not affect the result, was sustained by the evidence. Atkinson v. Roosevelt County et al., 71 M 165, 184, 227 P 811.

10774. Limitation of expenditures by candidate—by party organizations—by relatives. No sums of money shall be paid and no expenses authorized or incurred by or on behalf of any candidate who has received the nomination to any public office or position in this state, except such as he may contribute towards payment for his political party's or independent statement in the pamphlet herein provided for, to be paid by him in his campaign for election, in excess of ten per cent. of one year's salary or compensation of the office for which he is nominated; provided, that no candidate shall be restricted to less than one hundred dollars. No sum of money shall be paid and no expenses authorized or incurred by or on behalf of any political party or organization to promote the success of the principles or candidates of such party or organization, contrary to the provisions of this act. For the purposes of this act, the contribution, expenditure, or liability of a descendant, ascendant, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, nephew, niece, wife, partner, employer, employee, or fellow official or fellow employee of a corporation, shall be deemed to be that of the candidate himself.

History: En. Sec. 8, Init. Act, Nov. 1912; re-en. Sec. 10774, R. C. M. 1921.

10775. Definition of terms. Terms used in this act shall be construed as follows, unless other meaning is clearly apparent from the language or context, or unless such construction is inconsistent with the manifest intent of the law:

"Persons" shall apply to any individual, male or female, and, where consistent with collective capacity, to any committee, firm, partnership, club, organization, association, corporation, or other combination of individuals.

"Candidate" shall apply to any person whose name is printed on an official ballot for public office, or whose name is expected to be or has been presented for public office, with his consent, for nomination or election.

"Political agent" shall apply to any person who, upon request or under agreement, receives or disburses money in behalf of a candidate.

"Political committee" shall apply to every combination of two or more persons who shall aid or promote the success or defeat of a candidate, or a political party or principle, and the provisions of law relating thereto shall apply to any firm or partnership, to any corporation, and to any club, organization, association, or other combination of persons, whether incorporated or not, with similar purposes, whether primary or incidental.

"Public office" shall apply to any national, state, county, or city office to which a salary attaches and which is filled by the voters, as well as to the office of presidential elector, United States senator, or presiding officer of either branch of the legislature.

"Give," "provide," "expend," "contribute," "receive," "ask," "solicit," and like terms, with their corresponding nouns, shall apply to money, its equivalent, or any other valuable thing; shall include the promise, advance deposit, borrowing, or loan thereof, and shall cover all or any part of a transaction, whether it be made directly or indirectly.

None of the provisions of this act shall be construed as relating to the rendering of services by speakers, writers, publishers, or others, for which no compensation is asked or given; nor to prohibit expenditure by committees of political parties or organizations for public speakers, music, halls, lights, literature, advertising, office rent, printing, postage, clerk hire, challengers or watchers at the polls, traveling expenses, telegraphing or telephoning, or making of poll-lists.

Any person who, for the purpose of influencing the result of any election, makes any bet or wager of anything of pecuniary value on the result of such election in his electoral district, or any part thereof, or of any pending election, or on any event or contingency relating thereto, shall be guilty of a corrupt practice, and in addition thereto any such act shall be ground of challenge against his right to vote.

Such corrupt practice shall be deemed to be prevalent when instances thereof occur in different election districts similar in character and sufficient in number to convince the court before which any case involving the same may be tried that they were general and common, or were pursuant to a general scheme or plan.

History: En. Sec. 31, Init. Act, Nov. 1912; re-en. Sec. 10796, R. C. M. 1921.

It shall be unlawful for any person to pay another for any loss or damage due to attendance at the polls, or in registering, or for the expense of transportation to or from the polls. No person shall pay for personal service to be performed on the day of a caucus, primary, convention, or any election, for any purpose connected therewith, tending in any way, directly or indirectly, to affect the result thereof, except for the hiring of persons whose sole duty is to act as challengers and watch the count of official ballots. No person shall pay the owner, editor, publisher, or agent of any newspaper or other periodical to induce him to editorially advocate or oppose any candidate for nomination or election, and no such owner, editor, publisher, or agent shall accept such payment. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished as for a corrupt practice.

History: En. Sec. 34, Init. Act, Nov. 1912; re-en. Sec. 10799, R. C. M. 1921.

10800. Political criminal libel. It shall be unlawful to write, print, or circulate through the mails or otherwise any letter, circular, bill, placard, or poster relating to any election or to any candidate at any election, unless the same shall bear on its face the name and address of the author, and of the printer and publisher thereof; and any person writing, printing, publishing, circulating, posting, or causing to be written, printed, circulated, posted, or published any such letter, bill, placard, circular, or poster as aforesaid, which fails to bear on its face the name and address of the author and of the printer or publisher, shall be guilty of an illegal practice, and shall on conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one thousand dollars. If any letter, circular, poster, bill, publication, or placard shall contain any false statement or charges reflecting on any candidate's character, morality, or integrity, the author thereof, and every person printing or knowingly assisting in the circulation, shall be guilty of political criminal libel, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than one nor more than three years. If the person charged with such crime shall prove on his trial that he had reasonable ground to believe such charge was true, and did believe it was true, and that he was not actuated by malice in making such publication, it shall be a sufficient defense to such charge. But in that event, and as a part of such defense, the author and the printer or publisher or other person charged with such crime shall also prove that, at least fifteen days before such letter, circular, poster, bill, or placard containing such false statement or statements was printed or circulated, he or they caused to be served personally and in person upon the candidate to whom it relates a copy thereof in writing, and calling his attention particularly to the charges contained therein, and that, before printing, publishing, or circulating such charges, he received and read any denial, defense, or explanation, if any, made or offered to him in writing by the accused candidate within ten days after the service of such charge upon the accused person.

The name of a candidate chosen at a primary nominating election, or otherwise, shall not be printed on the official ballot for the ensuing election, unless there has been filed by or on behalf of said candidate the statements of accounts and expenses relating to nominations required by this act, as well as a statement by his political agent and by his political committee or committees in his behalf, if his statement discloses the existence of such agent, committee, or committees. The officer or board entrusted by law with the preparation of the official ballots for any election shall, as far as practicable, warn candidates of the danger of the omission of their names by reason of this provision, but delay in making any such statement beyond the time prescribed shall not preclude its acceptance or prevent the insertion of the name on the ballot, if there is reasonable time therefor after the receipt of such statements. Any such vacancy on the ballot shall be filled by the proper committee of his political party in the manner authorized by law, but not by the use of the name of the candidate who failed to file such statements. No person shall receive a certificate of election until he shall have filed the statements required by this act.

History: En. Sec. 36, Init. Act, Nov. 1912; re-en. Sec. 10801, R. C. M. 1921.

Upon complaint made to any district court, if the judge shall be convinced that any person has sought the nomination, or seeks to have his name presented to the voters as a candidate for nomination by any political party, for any mercenary or venal consideration or motive, and that his candidacy for the nomination is not in good faith, the judge shall forthwith issue his writ of injunction restraining the officer or officers whose duty it is to prepare the official ballots for such nominating election from placing the name of such person thereon as a candidate for nomination to any office. In addition thereto, the court shall direct the county attorney to institute criminal proceedings against such person or persons for corrupt practice, and upon conviction thereof he and any person or persons combining with him shall be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year.

10803. Forfeiture of nomination or office for violation of law, when not worked. Where, upon the trial of any action or proceeding under the provisions of this act for the contest of the right of any person declared nominated or elected to any office, or to annul or set aside such nomination or election, or to remove a person from his office, it appears from the evidence that the offense complained of was not committed by the candidate, or with his knowledge or consent, or was committed without his sanction or connivance, and that all reasonable means for preventing the commission of such offense at such election were taken by and on behalf of the candidate, or that the offense or offenses complained of were trivial, unimportant, and limited in character, and that in all other respects his participation in the election was free from such offenses or illegal acts, or that any act or omission of the candidate arose from inadvertence or from accidental miscalculation, or from some other reasonable cause of a like nature, and in any case did not arise from any want of good faith, and under the circumstances it seems to the court to be unjust that the said candidate shall forfeit his nomination or office, or be deprived of any office of which he is the incumbent, then the nomination or election of such candidate shall not by reason of such offense or omission complained of be void, nor shall the candidate be removed from or deprived of his office.

If, upon the trial of any action or proceeding under the provisions of this act, for the contesting of the right of any person declared to be nominated to an office, or elected to an office, or to annul and set aside such election, or to remove any person from his office, it shall appear that such person was guilty of any corrupt practice, illegal act, or undue influence, in or about such nomination or election, he shall be punished by being deprived of the nomination or office, as the case may be, and the vacancy therein shall be filled in the manner provided by law. The only exception to this judgment shall be that provided in the preceding section of this act. Such judgment shall not prevent the candidate or officer from being proceeded against by indictment or criminal information for any such act or acts.

A contest of the nomination or office of governor or representative or senator in congress must be commenced within twenty days after the declaration of the result of the election, but this shall not be construed to apply to any contest before the legislative assembly.

If any county attorney shall be notified by any officer or other person of any violation of any of the provisions of this act within his jurisdiction, it shall be his duty forthwith to diligently inquire into the facts of such violation, and if there is reasonable ground for instituting a prosecution, it shall be the duty of such county attorney to file a complaint or information in writing, before a court of competent jurisdiction, charging the accused person with such offense; if any county attorney shall fail or refuse to faithfully perform any duty imposed upon him by this act, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall forfeit his office. It shall be the duty of the county attorney, under penalty of forfeiture of his office, to prosecute any and all persons guilty of any violation of the provisions of this act, the penalty of which is fine or imprisonment, or both, or removal from office.

History: En. Sec. 44, Init. Act, Nov. 1912; re-en. Sec. 10809, R. C. M. 1921.

10810. Grounds for contest of nomination or office. Any elector of the state, or of any political or municipal division thereof, may contest the right of any person to any nomination or office for which such elector has the right to vote, for any of the following causes:

1. On the ground of deliberate, serious, and material violation of any of the provisions of this act, or of any other provision of the law relating to nominations or elections.
2. When the person whose right was contested was not, at the time of the election, eligible to such office.
3. On account of illegal votes or an erroneous or fraudulent count or canvass of votes.

History: En. Sec. 45, Init. Act, Nov. 1912; re-en. Sec. 10810, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

This section permits a nomination as well as an election to be made the subject of contest, and in this respect extends the law upon the subject. This addition was doubtless made in anticipation that the general primary election law would be adopted. Cadle v. Town of Baker, 51 M 176, 181, 149 P 960.

10811. Nomination or election not to be vacated, when. Nothing in the third ground of contest specified in the preceding section is to be so construed as to authorize a nomination or election to be set aside on account of illegal votes, unless it appear, either that the candidate or nominee whose right is contested had knowledge of or connived at such illegal votes, or that the number of illegal votes given to the person whose right to the nomination or office is contested, if taken from him, would reduce the number of his legal votes below the number of votes given to some other person for the same nomination or office, after deducting therefrom the illegal votes which may be shown to have been given to such other person.

History: En. Sec. 46, Init. Act, Nov. 1912; re-en. Sec. 10811, R. C. M. 1921.

10812. Reception of illegal votes, allegations and evidence. When the reception of illegal votes is alleged as a cause of contest, it shall be sufficient to state generally that in one or more specified voting precincts illegal votes were given to the person whose nomination or election is contested, which, if taken from him, will reduce the number of his legal votes below the number of legal votes given to some other person for the same office; but no testimony shall be received of any illegal votes, unless the party contesting such election deliver to the opposite party, at least three days before such trial, a written list of the number of illegal votes, and by whom given, which he intends to prove on such trial. This provision shall not prevent the contestant from offering evidence of illegal votes not included in such statement, if he did not know and by reasonable diligence was unable to learn of such additional illegal votes, and by whom they were given, before delivering such written list.

History: En. Sec. 47, Init. Act, Nov. 1912; re-en. Sec. 10812, R. C. M. 1921.

10813. Contents of contest petition—amendment—bond—costs—citation—precedence. Any petition contesting the right of any person to a nomination or election shall set forth the name of every person whose election is contested, and the grounds of the contest, and shall not thereafter be amended, except by leave of the court. Before any proceeding thereon the petitioner shall give bond to the state in such sum as the court may order, not exceeding two thousand dollars, with not less than two sureties, who shall justify in the manner required of sureties on bail-bonds, conditioned to pay all costs, disbursements, and attorney's fees that may be awarded against him if he shall not prevail. If the petitioner prevails, he may recover his costs, disbursements, and reasonable attorney's fees against the contestee. But costs, disbursements, and attorney's fees, in all such cases, shall be in the discretion of the court, and in case judgment is rendered against the petitioner, it shall also be rendered against the sureties on the bond. On the filing of any such petition, the clerk shall immediately notify the judge of the court, and issue a citation to the person whose nomination or office is contested, citing them to appear and answer, not less than three nor more than seven days after the date of filing the petition, and the court shall hear said cause, and every such contest shall take precedence over all other business on the court docket, and shall be tried and disposed of with all convenient despatch. The court shall always be deemed in session for the trial of such cases.

History: En. Sec. 48, Init. Act, Nov. 1912; re-en. Sec. 10813, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Under this section and the following section, the prevailing party in an election contest, whether the petitioner or respondent, is entitled to attorney's fees in addition to his other costs and disbursements, the amount to be awarded in that behalf resting upon the sound discretion of the trial court. Doty v. Reece, 53 M 404, 407, 164 P 542.

Id. This section and the following section, awarding the successful party in an election contest attorney's fees, etc., are not open to constitutional objections that they deny to the unsuccessful one the equal protection of the laws, grant to the former a special privilege not enjoyed by successful litigants in other cases, violate the provision that justice shall be administered without sale, denial, or delay, and constitute an attempt to delegate legislative power to the courts.

10814. Hearing of contest. The petitioner (contestant) and the contestee may appear and produce evidence at the hearing, but no person, other than the petitioner and contestee, shall be made a party to the proceedings on such petition; and no person, other than said parties and their attorneys, shall be heard thereon, except by order of the court. If more than one petition is pending, or the election of more than one person is contested, the court may, in its discretion, order the cases to be heard together, and may apportion the costs, disbursements, and attorney's fees between them, and shall finally determine all questions of law and fact, save only that the judge may, in his discretion, impanel a jury to decide on questions of fact. [In the case of a contested nomination or election for senator or representative in the legislative assembly, or for senator or representative in congress, the court shall forthwith certify its findings to the secretary of state, to be by him transmitted to the presiding officer of the body in question.] In the case of other nominations or elections, the court shall forthwith certify its decision to the board or official issuing certificates of nomination or election, which board or official shall thereupon issue certificates of nomination or election to the person or persons entitled thereto by such decision. If judgment of ouster against a defendant shall be rendered, said judgment shall award the nomination or office to the person receiving next the highest number of votes, unless it shall be further determined in the action, upon appropriate pleading and proof by the defendant, that some act has been done or committed which would have been ground in a similar action against such person, had he received the highest number of votes for such nomination or office, for a judgment of ouster against him; and if it shall be so determined at the trial, the nomination or office shall be by the judgment declared vacant, and shall thereupon be filled by a new election, or by appointment, as may be provided by law regarding vacancies in such nomination or office.

History: En. Sec. 49, Init. Act, Nov. 1912; re-en. Sec. 10814, R. C. M. 1921.

NOTE.—So much of the above section as is inclosed in brackets was held unconstitutional in State ex rel. Smith v. District Court, 50 M 134, 145 P 721.

Constitutionality

If this section permits a candidate who did not receive the highest number of legal votes to be declared elected upon a judgment of ouster in a contest proceeding, it is void as in contravention of section 13, article IX, of the constitution. Cadle v. Town of Baker, 51 M 176, 185, 149 P 960.

10815. Corporations—proceedings against, for violation of act. In like manner as prescribed for the contesting of an election, any corporation organized under the laws of or doing business in the state of Montana may be brought into court on the ground of deliberate, serious, and material violation of the provisions of this act. The petition shall be filed in the district court in the county where said corporation has its principal office, or where the violation of law is averred to have been committed. The court, upon conviction of such corporation, may impose a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars, or may declare a forfeiture of the charter and franchises of the corporation, if organized under the laws of this state, or if it be a foreign corporation, may enjoin said corporation from further transacting business in this state, or by both such fine and forfeiture, or by both such fine and injunction.

10817. Advancement of cases—dismissal, when—privileges of witnesses. Proceedings under this act shall be advanced on the docket upon request of either party for speedy trial, but the court may postpone or continue such trial if the ends of justice may be thereby more effectually secured, and in case of such continuance or postponement, the court may impose costs in its discretion as a condition thereof. No petition shall be dismissed without the consent of the county attorney, unless the same shall be dismissed by the court. No person shall be excused from testifying or producing papers or documents on the ground that his testimony or the production of papers or documents will tend to criminate him; but no admission, evidence, or paper made or advanced or produced by such person shall be offered or used against him in any civil or criminal prosecution, or any evidence that is the direct result of such evidence or information that he may have so given, except in a prosecution for perjury committed in such testimony.

10821. Acting in a public capacity without having qualified. Every person who exercises any function of a public office without taking the oath of office, or without giving the required bond, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

10822. Acts of officers de facto not affected. The last section does not affect the validity of acts done by a person exercising the functions of a public office in fact, where other persons than himself are interested in maintaining the validity of such acts.

10823. Giving or offering bribes to executive officers. Every person who gives or offers any bribe to any executive officer of this state, with intent to influence him in respect to any act, decision, vote, opinion, or other proceeding as such officer, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one nor more than ten years, and is disqualified from holding any office in this state.

Operation and Effect

To charge an officer (a sheriff) with bribery under this section, the accusation must allege that defendant had asked, received or agreed to receive the bribe upon an understanding that his official action should be influenced thereby; hence a charge that the briber gave the officer money with intent to influence the latter's official action, while sufficient to charge bribery against the giver, was insufficient to charge the offense against the accused, and therefore insufficient to charge him with willful or corrupt malfeasance in office. State ex rel. Beazley v. District Court, 75 M 116, 119, 120, 241 P 1075.

CHAPTER 11

LARCENY AND FALSIFICATION OF PUBLIC RECORDS AND JURY-LISTS

- Section 10873. Larceny, destruction, etc., of records by officers.
 10874. Larceny, destruction, etc., of records by others.
 10875. Offering forged or false instruments to be recorded.
 10876. Adding names, etc., to the jury-lists.
 10877. Falsifying jury-lists, etc.

10873. Larceny, destruction, etc., of records by officers. Every officer having the custody of any record, map, or book; or of any paper or proceeding of any court, filed or deposited in any public office, or placed in his hands for any purpose, who is guilty of stealing, wilfully destroying, mutilating, defacing, altering, or falsifying, removing, or secreting the whole or any part of such record, map, book, paper, or proceeding, or who permits any other person so to do, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one nor more than fourteen years.

Operation and Effect

An indictment under this section, for wilfully secreting a public record, need not allege an intent to injure any particular person, in view of section 10713 providing that an act may be done "wilfully" without any intent to injure another, nor is it necessary that it allege the means used to secrete the record. State v. Bloor, 20 M 574, 583, 52 P 611.

Id. Where a bill was placed in the hands of the secretary of the senate after its passage in that body, to be transmitted by him in his official capacity to the house, and he wilfully withheld it, he was guilty of secreting a public record, though he was not the officer required by law to take charge of bills.

This section refers to mutilating, defacing, or altering books, maps, and other documents which are matters of evidence, and has no reference to the making of a correct index of the contents of any books in a public office. State ex rel. Coad v. District Court, 23 M 171, 175, 57 P 1095.

10874. Larceny, destruction, etc., of records by others. Every person not an officer such as is referred to in the preceding section, who is guilty of any of the acts specified in that section, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or in a county jail not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, or both.

10875. Offering forged or false instruments to be recorded. Every person who knowingly procures or offers any false or forged instrument to be filed, registered, or recorded in any public office within the state, which instrument, if genuine, might be filed, or registered, or recorded under any law of this state, or of the United States, is guilty of felony.

10876. Adding names, etc., to the jury-lists. Every person who adds any names to the list of persons selected to serve as jurors for the county, either by placing the same in the jury-box or boxes, or otherwise, or extracts any name therefrom, or destroys the jury-box or boxes, or any of the pieces of paper containing the names of jurors, or mutilates or defaces such names so that the same cannot be read, or changes such names on the pieces of paper, except in cases allowed by law, is guilty of a felony.

10877. Falsifying jury-lists, etc. Every officer or person required by law to certify to the list of persons selected as jurors, who maliciously, corruptly, or wilfully certifies to a false and incorrect list, or a list containing other names than those selected, or who, being required by law to write down the names placed on the certified lists on separate pieces of paper, does not write down and place in the jury-box or boxes, the same names that are on the certified list, and no more and no less than are on such lists, is guilty of a felony.

CHAPTER 12

PERJURY AND SUBORNATION OF PERJURY

- Section 10878. Perjury defined.
 10879. Oath defined.
 10880. Oath of office.
 10881. Witnesses before legislative assembly.
 10882. Penalty for testifying falsely.
 10883. Irregularity in administering oath.
 10884. Incompetency of witness no defense.
 10885. Knowledge of materiality of testimony, not necessary.
 10886. Making depositions, etc., when deemed complete.
 10887. Statement of that which one does not know to be true.
 10888. Punishment of perjury.
 10889. Subornation of perjury.
 10890. Procuring the execution of innocent person.

10878. Perjury defined. Every person who, having taken an oath that he will testify, declare, depose, or certify truly before any competent tribunal, officer, or person, in any of the cases in which an oath may by law be administered, wilfully and contrary to such oath, states as true any material matter which he knows to be false, is guilty of perjury.

History: Earlier acts were Sec. 89, p. 198, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 101, p. 292, Ccd. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 101, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 109, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887.

This section en. Sec. 240, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8234, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10878, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 118.

Must Relate to a Material Matter

Under this section, the giving of false testimony does not constitute perjury unless the alleged false testimony related to a material matter. State v. Hall, 88 M 297, 303, 292 P 734.

Id. Under a charge of perjury based on alleged false testimony given by defendant in a murder trial as to when on the day after the homicide he arrived in the town where the crime had been committed, held, that, conceding that anything so connected with the matter at issue as to have a legitimate tendency to prove or disprove some material issue by giving weight or probability to, or detracting from, the testimony of a witness is material, and that if testimony is circumstantially material it is sufficient to sustain a perjury charge, the testimony in question was wholly immaterial to the homicide case and therefore conviction of defendant was not supported by the evidence.

Id. The fact that testimony conflicts with that of another witness who testified to a material matter does not make the evidence material within the meaning of this section, when otherwise immaterial.

Operation and Effect

Held, that a recital in an affidavit for a search-warrant, "I personally saw a keg of intoxicating beverages in said barn," without disclosing the means employed by affiant for ascertaining the contents of the keg, was a statement of fact for the making of which, if untrue, a charge of perjury could be lodged against him, and therefore sufficient, if believed by the magistrate, to show probable cause for the issuance of the warrant. (Mr. Justice Galen dissenting.) State ex rel. Baracker v. District Court, 75 M 476, 479, 244 P 280.

Sufficiency of Evidence

Where the testimony of an attorney, charged with perjury, that at the time he gave certain testimony he did not know the statement made was false but firmly believed it to be true, giving plausible reasons for the statement, the finding of the referee, in view of the favorable position occupied by him in seeing the witness and hearing him testify, that the charge was not supported by the evidence, cannot be said on review to have been erroneous. In re McCue, 80 M 537, 552, 261 P 341.

Sufficiency of Information

An information charging perjury as having been committed in swearing at a criminal trial that a certain event happened at 11 o'clock, without stating whether it was in the morning or at night, held not insufficient, where any person of ordinary intelligence could not, from a reading of other portions of the pleading, have arrived at any other conclusion than that it meant 11 o'clock in the forenoon; nor was it rendered insufficient by the ungrammatical use of the word "knowing" where "knowingly" should have been employed. State v. Jackson, 88 M 420, 430 et seq., 293 P 309.

Id. If an information for perjury sets forth the substance of the matter in respect to which the offense was committed, in what court and before whom the oath alleged to have been false was taken, and that the court or the person before whom it was taken had authority to administer it, with proper allegations of the falsity of the matter on which perjury is assigned, it is sufficient.

10879. Oath defined. The term "oath," as used in the last section, includes an affirmation and every mode authorized by law of attesting the truth of that which is stated.

10880. Oath of office. So much of an oath of office as relates to the future performance of official duties is not such an oath as is intended by the two preceding sections.

10881. Witnesses before legislative assembly. Every person appearing before a committee of either house of the legislature for the purpose of testifying before, or giving or furnishing information to, such committee, with reference to any matter then pending before such committee, shall, upon the request of such committee, take an oath or affirmation, which such oath or affirmation shall be administered by the chairman, or acting chairman of such committee, and shall be in the following form: "You do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that the evidence you shall give in the matter now pending before this committee, shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God."

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 7, L. 1917; re-en. Sec. 10881, R. C. M. 1921.

10882. Penalty for testifying falsely. Every person who, having taken the oath or affirmation required by the preceding section, knowingly or wilfully, and contrary to such oath or affirmation, states as true any material matter which he knows to be false, is guilty of perjury.

History: En. Sec. 2, Ch. 7, L. 1917; re-en. Sec. 10882, R. C. M. 1921.

10883. Irregularity in administering oath. It is no defense to a prosecution for perjury that the oath was administered or taken in an irregular manner.

10884. Incompetency of witness no defense. It is no defense to a prosecution for perjury that the accused was not competent to give the testimony, deposition, or certificate of which falsehood is alleged. It is sufficient that he did give such testimony or make such deposition or certificate.

10885. Knowledge of materiality of testimony not necessary. It is no defense to a prosecution for perjury that the accused did not know the materiality of the false statement made by him; or that it did not, in fact, affect the proceeding in or for which it was made. It is sufficient that it was material, and might have been used to affect such proceeding.

10886. Making depositions, etc., when deemed complete. The making of a deposition or certificate is deemed to be complete, within the provisions of this chapter, from the time when it is delivered by the accused to any other person, with the intent that it be uttered or published as true.

10887. Statement of that which one does not know to be true. An unqualified statement of that which one does not know to be true is equivalent to a statement of that which one knows to be false.

History: En. Sec. 247, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8241, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10887, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 125. State v. Jackson, 88 M 420, 431 et seq., 293 P 309.

Operation and Effect

Perjury consisting not merely of swearing to some material statement which is not true, but in wilfully, intentionally and corruptly falsifying under oath, an instruction (given after one embodying the words of this section, that an unqualified statement of that which one does not know to be true is equivalent to a statement of that which one knows to be false), that the issue in such a prosecution is whether defendant knowingly or wilfully made a false answer, and that if the answer was in fact untrue but was made in good faith and in the belief of its truth, conviction could not follow, held not in conflict with, but supplementing, the one preceding it.

Id. Held, that where the trial court in a prosecution for perjury had instructed the court in the words of this section, stating the abstract proposition that an unqualified statement of that which one does not know to be true is equivalent to a statement of that which one knows to be false, and at the request of defendant followed it with one explaining it, its action in thereafter withdrawing the latter under the circumstances set forth in this case was error.

Every person who, upon any trial, proceeding, inquiry, or investigation whatever, authorized or permitted by law, offers in evidence, as genuine or true, any book, paper, document, or record, or other instrument in writing, knowing the same to have been forged, or fraudulently altered or antedated, is guilty of felony.

Operation and Effect

Where the evidence showed that defendant had planned to commit robbery by taking personal property from the custody of an officer who had seized it as stolen property, an instruction offered on the theory based on section 10865, R. C. M. 1921, and this section, that he had merely committed a misdemeanor in attempting to take and destroy evidence, and therefore could not be held guilty of murder in the first degree in the absence of a showing of premeditation, deliberation and malice, was properly refused as not applicable to the evidence. State v. Reagin, 64 M 481, 489, 210 P 86.

Operation and Effect

The action of a party in secreting and forcibly keeping in hiding a witness of his adversary until the trial was concluded, and thus suppressing material testimony, constituted a misdemeanor under this section. Buntin v. Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry. Co., 54 M 495, 496, 172 P 330.

10896. Bribing witness. Every person who gives, or offers or promises to give, to any witness, or person about to be called as a witness, any bribe, upon any understanding or agreement that the testimony of such witness shall be thereby influenced, or who attempts by any other means fraudulently to induce any person to give false or withhold true testimony, is guilty of a felony.

CHAPTER 14

CRIMINAL CONSPIRACY AND ILLEGAL PRACTICES IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE—TRUSTS—DISCRIMINATIONS—POOLING GRAIN WAREHOUSES—DESTROYING FOOD

- Section 10898. Criminal conspiracy defined and punishment fixed.
 10899. No other conspiracies punishable criminally.
 10900. Overt act, when necessary.
 10901. Unlawful trusts and monopolies—penalty.
 10902. Certain agreements between laborers excepted.
 10903. Persons not to be excused from testifying.
 10904. Unfair discrimination in purchase price of commodities.
 10905. Prosecutions by attorney-general.
 10906. Penalty for violation of law.
 10907. Act is cumulative.
 10908. What constitutes unfair competition or discrimination in sale of commodities.
 10909. Prosecutions by attorney-general.
 10910. Penalty for violation of law.
 10911. Act is cumulative.
 10912. Pooling in purchase, sale, or handling of grain by warehousemen.
 10913. Penalty for violation of law—notice to grain inspector.
 10914. Destruction of food in restraint of trade.
 10915. Penalty for violation of act.

10898. Criminal conspiracy defined and punishment fixed. If two or more persons conspire:

1. To commit any crime;
 2. Falsely and maliciously to indict another for any crime, or to procure another to be charged or arrested for any crime;
 3. Falsely to move or maintain any suit, action, or proceeding;
 4. To cheat and defraud any person of any property, by any means which are in themselves criminal, or to obtain money or property by false pretenses; or,
 5. To commit any act injurious to the public health, to public morals, or for the perversion or obstruction of justice, or due administration of the laws,
- they are punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or both.

History: En. Sec. 109, p. 204, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 123, p. 297, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 123, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 132, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 320, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8284, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10898, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 182.

Operation and Effect

An indictment for a conspiracy to cheat and defraud a county must allege the means by which the conspiracy was to be accomplished. An allegation that the defendants conspired "to cheat and defraud" is not sufficient. Territory v. Carland, 6 M 14, 15, 9 P 578.

Where, at the time of the making of an agreement to assign certain mining leases, options, and bonds, the assignor had made explorations along the vein, and had concluded that an adjoining mine owner was trespassing on a vein having its apex within the boundaries of the mine leased and assigned, either the assignor or the assignee might have prosecuted such alleged trespass. The fact that the assignment required the assignor to prosecute such action for the benefit of the assignee, who agreed to pay the expenses of the litigation, did not render the contract void as a conspiracy under this section. Finley v. Heinze, 28 M 548, 567, 73 P 123.

10899. No other conspiracies punishable criminally. No conspiracies other than those enumerated in the preceding section are punishable criminally.

10900. Overt act, when necessary. No agreement, except to commit a felony upon the person of another, or to commit arson or burglary, amounts to a conspiracy, unless some act, besides such agreement, be done to effect the object thereof, by one or more of the parties to the agreement.

10901. Unlawful trusts and monopolies—penalty. Every person, corporation, stock company, or association of persons in this state, who, directly or indirectly, combine or form what is known as a trust, or make any contract with any person or persons, corporation, or stock companies, foreign or domestic, through their stockholders, directors, officers, or in any manner whatever, for the purpose of fixing the price or regulating the production of any article of commerce—the phrase "articles of commerce," as herein employed, shall and does include not only those articles which are generally, popularly, and legally known as articles of commerce, but also gas, water, water power, electric light, and electric power, for whatever purpose used or employed—or of the product of the soil for consumption by the people, or to create or carry out any restriction in trade, to limit productions, or increase or reduce the price of merchandise or commodities, or to prevent competition in merchandise or commodities, or to fix a standard or figure whereby the price of any article of merchandise, commerce, or product, intended for sale, use, or consumption, will be in any way controlled, or to create a monopoly in the manufacture, sale, or transportation of any such article, or to enter into an obligation by which they shall bind others or themselves not to manufacture, sell, or transport any such articles below a common standard or figure, or by which they agree to keep such article or transportation at a fixed or graduated figure, or by which they settle the price of such article, so as to preclude unrestricted competition, is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not less than twenty-four hours or more than one year, or by fine not exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars, or both.

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 97, L. 1909; re-en. Sec. 10901, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

A lease of a service station owned by an oil company under which the lessee bound himself to maintain the price established by the lessor at the various service stations owned by it in the same city, held not void as in violation of this section, prohibiting unlawful trusts and monopolies. Quinlivan v. Brown Oil Co. et al., 96 M 147, 151, 29 P 2d 374.

Id. A contract fixing the price of an article of commerce in a community does not offend against the provisions of this section, if it is reasonable and does not include all of a commodity or trade, or create such restrictions as to materially affect the freedom of commerce.

Plaintiffs in an action seeking the forfeiture of an oil and gas lease, on the ground, among others, that the lessee failed to fulfill the provision of the lease making it its duty to market the gas found, could properly urge that a contract entered into by the lessee with a natural gas company under which the former bound itself not to sell gas to others within a certain market, was invalid as creating a monopoly contrary to the provisions of section 20, Article XV, Constitution, and section 7559 and this section. Stranahan v. Independent Nat. Gas Co., 98 M 597, 609, 41 P 2d 39.

10942. Grand juror acting after challenge has been allowed. Every grand juror who, with a knowledge that a challenge interposed against him by a defendant has been allowed, is present at, or takes part, or attempts to take part in the consideration of the charge against the defendant who interposed the challenge, or the deliberations of the grand jury thereon, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

10943. Bribing members of city or town councils, boards of county commissioners, or trustees. Every person who gives or offers a bribe to any member of any city or town council, board of county commissioners, or board of trustees of any county, city, or corporation, with intent to corruptly influence such member in his action on any matter or subject pending before the body of which he is a member, and every member of any of the bodies mentioned in this section who receives, or offers to receive, any such bribe, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than one nor more than fourteen years, and is disqualified from holding any office in this state.

10944. Criminal contempt. Every person guilty of any contempt of court, of any of the following kinds, is guilty of a misdemeanor:

Nature of Contempt

Proceedings in contempt are of a criminal nature. State ex rel. B. & M. Co. v. Judges, 30 M 193, 198, 76 P 10.

Operation and Effect

One guilty of a contempt of court by a wilful disobedience of an injunction order lawfully issued, concerning the use of water, may be punished under this section as for a misdemeanor. State ex rel. Flynn v. District Court, 24 M 33, 35, 60 P 493.

Acts constituting contempts are referred to in this section, which are not mentioned in section 9908. State ex rel. Metcalf v. District Court, 52 M 46, 48, 155 P 278.

The publication of an article in a newspaper, in effect charging a district judge with wrongdoing in connection with his decision in a cause disposed of by him six months before, did not constitute contempt of court under this section, but fell within the constitutional provision guaranteeing the liberty of the press, for the violation of which privilege the law provides redress for libel by civil, or punishment by criminal, action. State ex rel. Metcalf v. District Court, 52 M 46, 54, 155 P 278.

Power to Punish for Contempt as Such Not Abrogated

Although the publication of a contemptuous report of the proceedings of a court is punishable as a misdemeanor, this does not deprive the court of the power to punish such act as a contempt. State ex rel. Haskell v. Faulds, 17 M 140, 148, 42 P 285.

Power to Punish for Contempt is Inherent in the Courts

The power to punish for contempt is inherent in the courts of record of this state, is a part of their very life, and a necessary incident to the exercise of judicial functions. It exists independently of statutes, and cannot be taken away or so far abridged by the legislature as to leave such courts without proper and vigorous means of protecting themselves from insult or actually enforcing their lawful orders. Territory v. Murray, 7 M 251, 257, 15 P 145; State ex rel. B. & M. Co. v. Judges, 30 M 193, 200, 76 P 10; In re Mettler, 50 M 299, 302, 146 P 747; State ex rel. Metcalf v. District Court, 52 M 46, 48, 155 P 278.

"Report of the Proceedings of a Court"

The publication of an editorial referring to decisions of the supreme court in certain cases, and charging the court with dealing out injustice in such cases and entering into a "dirty deal" in order to do so, constitutes a report of the proceedings of a court within subdivision 7 of this section. State ex rel. Haskell v. Faulds, 17 M 140, 142, 42 P 285.

10945. False certificates by public officers. Every public officer or board authorized by law to make or give any certificate or other writing, who makes and delivers as true any such certificate or writing, containing statements which he knows to be false, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

HOMICIDE

 10965. Justifiable homicide by other persons.
 10966. Bare fear not to justify killing.
 10967. Justifiable and excusable homicide not punishable.

10953. Murder defined. Murder is the unlawful killing of a human being with malice aforethought.

History: En. Sec. 15, p. 178, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 18, p. 273, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 18, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 18, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 350, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8290, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10953, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 187.

Distinction Between Murder and Manslaughter

The distinction between murder and manslaughter is that the element of malice aforethought enters into the former, while it is wanting in the latter. State v. Sloan, 22 M 293, 302, 56 P 364.

Sufficiency of Indictment or Information

An indictment for murder, good at common law, is good under the statute. Territory v. Stears, 2 M 324, 327; Territory v. Young, 5 M 242, 243, 5 P 248; State v. Lu Sing, 34 M 31, 35, 85 P 521; State v. McGowan, 36 M 422, 428, 93 P 552.

In an information for murder, it is sufficient to allege that the killing was with malice aforethought. The elements of premeditation and deliberation are matters of proof. Territory v. Stears, 2 M 324, 327; Territory v. McAndrews, 3 M 158, 161; State v. Metcalf, 17 M 417, 420, 43 P 182; State v. Lu Sing, 34 M 31, 35, 85 P 521; State v. Hayes, 38 M 219, 221, 99 P 434; State v. Nielson, 38 M 451, 454, 100 P 229. See also State v. Guerin, 51 M 259, 257, 152 P 747.

An information charging a husband with a wilful failure to provide for his wife and to protect her from the cold and inclement weather, as a result of which she died, will sustain a conviction for murder in the second degree. Territory v. Manton, 7 M 162, 168, 14 P 637.

An information charging that accused committed a murder wilfully, unlawfully, feloniously, and premeditatedly, and of his malice aforethought, charges murder in the first degree, though it fails to use the word "deliberately." State v. Hliboka, 31 M 455, 457, 78 P 965.

An information stating that the defendant unlawfully, feloniously, wilfully, premeditatedly, deliberately, and of his malice aforethought, shot and killed a person named, a human being, sufficiently charges murder. State v. Crean, 43 M 47, 53, 114 P 603.

10954. Malice defined—express or implied. Such malice may be express or implied. It is express when there is manifested a deliberate intention unlawfully to take away the life of a fellow-creature. It is implied, when no considerable provocation appears, or when the circumstances attending the killing show an abandoned and malignant heart.

History: Ap. p. Secs. 16, 17, pp. 178, 179, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Secs. 19, 20, p. 273, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Secs. 19, 20, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Secs. 19, 20, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 351, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8291, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10954, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 188.

Operation and Effect

It is not essential to a conviction of murder that a motive for the crime be shown. Malice may be inferred from the fact that no considerable provocation appears, or that the circumstances attending the killing show an abandoned and malignant heart. State v. Roberts, 44 M 243, 245, 119 P 566.

In a prosecution for murder, the jury is justified in finding a malicious intent to take human life, where the defendant, a short time prior to the killing, declared his intention of shooting the person whom he should see in possession of his saddlehorse, and where he did do so, though the victim was a stranger to him. State v. Leakey, 44 M 354, 366, 120 P 234.

The malice which brands a homicide as murder may be express or implied, and on proof of the homicide by defendant, in the absence of evidence tending to show that the act amounted only to manslaughter or that the killing was justifiable or excusable, malice is presumed and the crime is presumed to be murder in the second degree. State v. Chavez, 85 M 544, 549, 281 P 352.

10955. Degrees of murder. All murder which is perpetrated by means of poison, or lying in wait, torture, or by any other kind of wilful, deliberate, and premeditated killing, or which is committed in the perpetration or attempt to perpetrate arson, rape, robbery, burglary, or mayhem, or perpetrated from a deliberate and premeditated design, unlawfully and maliciously, to effect the death of any human being other than him who is killed, is murder of the first degree; and all other kinds of murder are of the second degree.

Burden of Proof

To sustain a conviction of murder in the first degree, it is incumbent upon the state to show by the record not only that it discharged the burden resting upon it to establish the killing by defendant, but also that it proved deliberation and premeditation on his part. State v. Gunn, 85 M 553, 555, 281 P 757.

After the state has made proof of the homicide charged, the crime is presumed to be murder in the second degree, the burden then resting upon the state to introduce evidence satisfying the jury beyond a reasonable doubt that there was deliberation and premeditation to raise the crime to murder in the first degree. State v. Le Due, 89 M 545, 562, 300 P 919.

Circumstantial Evidence will Warrant First Degree

Evidence, entirely circumstantial in character, in a prosecution for murder in the first degree charged to have been committed by defendant and another, transients traveling on a freight train while robbing, or attempting to rob, another transient, held sufficient to warrant conviction of the crime as charged. State v. Miller, 91 M 596, 598, 9 P 2d 474.

Evidence Insufficient to Warrant Murder in First Degree

Defendant, keeper of a roadhouse where intoxicating liquor was sold, several hours after three men, with two of whom he had had a quarrel, had left the place, and about 1 o'clock in the morning, was driving in an automobile to a neighboring town when he observed the car of the three stalled in the road. A fight ensued with the two with whom he had quarreled, in the course of which he killed one. His defense was self-defense. While the testimony of the other two made little mention of an encounter, the ground where the shooting occurred showed evidence of a desperate struggle; it also appeared that defendant, among other injuries, sustained a broken leg and was confined in a hospital for nearly six months. Held, that the evidence was insufficient to sustain a verdict of murder in the first degree. State v. Gunn, 85 M 553, 555, 281 P 757.

Evidence reviewed and held insufficient to warrant a verdict of murder in the first degree, the state having failed to sustain the burden resting upon it to establish the killing by the defendant, who had pleaded self-defense, with deliberation and premeditation, but sufficient, in view of the rule that a verdict of murder in the first degree necessarily implies the finding of all the essential elements of murder in the second degree, to establish the latter crime. State v. Gunn, 89 M 453, 463 et seq., 300 P 212.

Instructions on Degrees of Murder

In a prosecution for murder in the first degree, appellant may not complain of the failure of the court to instruct on the subjects of manslaughter or murder of the second degree in the absence of an offer by him of instructions on those subjects. State v. Reagin, 64 M 481, 490, 210 P 86.

Id. Murder committed in the perpetration or attempt to perpetrate robbery, burglary, etc., is murder of the first degree, and murder so committed is not divisible into degree; hence the court need not in such a prosecution instruct as to murder of the second degree or manslaughter.

Where a homicide is committed in the perpetration of or attempt to perpetrate any of the crimes mentioned in this section, it is murder in the first degree, and the court need not in its instructions define murder of the second degree, or manslaughter. State v. Bolton, 65 M 74, 81, 212 P 504.

As a general rule the district court, in a trial for homicide, need not give an instruction on second degree murder where the killing is charged to have been perpetrated in the commission of one of the felonies enumerated in this section, or where there is no evidence tending to show a lesser offense than murder in the first degree. State v. Le Due, 89 M 545, 562, 300 P 919.

Id. Held, under the evidence, that the trial court did not err in giving an instruction on murder in the second degree, as against the contention of defendant that under his plea of self-defense he was either guilty of murder in the first degree or not guilty. (Mr. Justice Angstman dissenting.)

Id. Where defendant was convicted of murder in the second degree, he was not prejudiced by an instruction that the deliberation and premeditation necessary to raise the crime to murder in the first degree may be formed in an instant, even though it be assumed that the instruction was erroneous.

In a prosecution for crime including offenses of lesser degree than that charged, the jury need not be instructed on such lesser degrees unless the evidence would warrant a conviction of such other crimes. State v. Miller, 91 M 596, 598, 9 P 2d 474.

Id. Where the evidence in a prosecution for homicide discloses that the crime was committed during a robbery or an attempt to commit it, or fails to show that fact beyond a reasonable doubt, the only permissible verdict, under this section, on the one hand, is one of murder in the first degree, or, on the other, of acquittal, and under such conditions the court is not required to instruct on murder in the second degree; the rule being the same where the state relies on circumstantial evidence for conviction.

Lying in Wait

Where defendant had robbed a bank and in the course of his escape drove his automobile into a coulee, stopped his machine and when deceased, one of the pursuers, appeared on the top of a hill, shot him, an instruction that homicide committed by lying in wait constitutes murder in the first degree was correct. State v. Jackson, 71 M 421, 428, 230 P 370.

Murder Committed in Perpetration of Certain Crimes is First Degree

Where homicide is committed in the perpetration of or attempt to perpetrate robbery the result is murder in the first degree (this section), irrespective of the absence of intent in the accused to commit the latter crime, it being sufficient for conviction if he was capable of entertaining the felonious intent to commit robbery.

State v. Reagin, 64 M 481, 490, 210 P 86.

Where two defendants, tried separately, had entered into a conspiracy to commit robbery by taking incriminating evidence from the possession of an officer in the perpetration of which the latter was killed by one of them, the information against the other charging a premeditated killing need not set forth the facts constituting the crime of robbery or allege that in the attempt to commit the latter crime the homicide was committed. State v. Bolton, 65 M 74, 81, 212 P 504.

Id. Under this section, making all murder committed in the perpetration of or attempt to perpetrate any of the crimes therein mentioned murder in the first degree, an information charging that the killing was wilful, deliberate, premeditated and with malice aforethought is sufficient to admit of proof that the killing was committed in the perpetration or attempt to perpetrate any one of such felonies.

Where defendant, after robbing a bank, escaped in an automobile with the money, pursuit being at once begun and continued uninterruptedly for about thirty miles, and shot one of the pursuers, an instruction that if the jury believed that defendant committed the crime of robbery and while escaping killed deceased, he was guilty of murder in the first degree, was proper under this section, the robbery at the time of the shooting having then still been in the process of commission. State v. Jackson, 71 M 421, 428, 230 P 370.

All who participate in a robbery, or an attempted robbery, during which a homicide is committed, are guilty of murder in the first degree, irrespective of which one of the participants fired the fatal shot. State v. Miller, 91 M 596, 598, 9 P 2d 474.

Evidence in a prosecution for murder committed at night-time in the perpetration of burglary, supported by a full confession by defendant, held sufficient to warrant the extreme penalty. State v. Zorn, 99 M 63, 71, 41 P 2d 513.

Murder in the Second Degree

To constitute murder in the second degree it is not necessary that the specific intent to take life must have accompanied the act of killing. If the killing was done unlawfully with malice aforethought it is sufficient; hence where one fires at the assailant of another but by reason of poor marksmanship or change of position of the combatants kills the one whom he sought to protect, the crime is murder in the second degree. State v. Chavez, 85 M 544, 550, 281 P 352.

Id. Defendant convicted of murder in the second degree on appeal contended that the evidence warranted a verdict of guilty of no greater crime than manslaughter. Evidence showing that defendant, angry at being awakened from sleep by a quarrel in an adjoining room between his cousin and one of the three other men there present, intentionally fired three bullets into the room either in reckless disregard of the safety of the men or directly at the cousin or at the man with whom he was fighting, killing the former, held sufficient to warrant a verdict of guilty of murder, in the second degree, under the above rules.

Sufficiency of Indictment Charging First Degree Murder

It is not necessary to allege that the acts of the accused were done deliberately to sustain a conviction of murder of the first degree, and allegations sufficient for a common-law indictment will be sufficient for an information. State v. Lu Sing, 34 M 31, 35, 85 P 521. See also State v. McGowan, 36 M 422, 428, 93 P 552; State v. Wolf, 56 M 493, 496, 185 P 556.

All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to relieve any person from prosecution for murder which shall have been committed prior to the approval of this act, but the same shall be prosecuted under the provisions of the preceding section, notwithstanding such repeal, and said section shall be continued in force for the purpose of such prosecutions only.

Every person guilty of murder in the first degree shall suffer death, or shall, in the discretion of the jury, or of the court, if the punishment be left to the court, be imprisoned in the state prison for the term of his natural life; and every person guilty of murder in the second degree is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than ten years.

Operation and Effect

Where the accused, in a prosecution for murder, fails to raise in the minds of the jurors a reasonable doubt as to his guilt, the jury is justified in finding the highest degree of the crime, and in fixing the death penalty. State v. Leakey, 44 M 354, 366, 120 P 234.

10958. Petit treason abolished. The rules of the common law, distinguishing the killing of a master by his servant, and of a husband by his wife, as petit treason, are abolished, and these offenses are homicides, punishable in the manner prescribed by this chapter.

10959. Manslaughter—voluntary and involuntary. Manslaughter is the unlawful killing of a human being, without malice. It is of two kinds:

1. Voluntary, upon a sudden quarrel or heat of passion.
2. Involuntary, in the commission of an unlawful act, not amounting to felony; or in the commission of a lawful act which might produce death, in an unlawful manner, or without due caution or circumspection.

History: Prior to 1895, the law governing manslaughter and excusable and justifiable homicide differed materially from the present law. See Secs. 18-31, pp. 179-181, Bannack Stat.; re-en. as Secs. 26-38, pp. 274-276, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. as Secs. 26-38, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. as Secs. 26-38, 4th Div. Comp. Operation and Effect

The negligent handling of a loaded firearm causing or contributing to the death of another person, is involuntary manslaughter within the meaning of subdivision 2 of this section. State v. Kuum, 55 M 436, 446, 178 P 288.

Where there is evidence showing defendant to be guilty of either murder of the first or second degree or manslaughter, the court must explicitly instruct the jury that a verdict of manslaughter may be returned, under the rule that where the evidence warrants it, instructions must be given upon every offense included in the crime charged. State v. Mumford, 69 M 424, 435, 222 P 447.

Held, that an information charging that defendant "did wilfully, unlawfully, knowingly and feloniously kill one B., a human being, contrary to the form," etc., was sufficient to charge manslaughter, as against the objection that it was fatally defective in not alleging that the crime had been either voluntarily or involuntarily committed. State v. Gondeiro, 82 M 530, 538, 268 P 507.

10961. Deceased must die within a year and a day. To make the killing either murder or manslaughter, it is requisite that the party die within a year and a day after the stroke received or the cause of death administered; in the computation of which the whole of the day on which the act was done shall be reckoned the first.

History: En. Sec. 23, p. 180, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 30, p. 275, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 30, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 30, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 357, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8297, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10961, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 194.

Operation and Effect

It is not necessary to allege in an information for murder the date upon which the death occurred as distinguished from the date of assault. All that is necessary in order to constitute the crime of murder, the other requisite facts being proven, is that the death of the party occurred within a year and a day after the stroke received or the cause of death administered. State v. Powers, 39 M 259, 267, 102 P 583.

10962. Proof of corpus delicti. No person can be convicted of murder or manslaughter unless the death of the person, alleged to have been killed, and the fact of the killing by the defendant as alleged, are established as independent acts; the former by direct proof, and the latter beyond a reasonable doubt.

History: En. Sec. 358, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8298, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10962, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Since the corpus delicti is directly proved when a dead body is found under circumstances warranting an inference that a person has been feloniously killed, direct proof of the identity of the victim is not required, but only direct proof of death. State v. Pepo, 23 M 473, 481, 59 P 721.

In prosecutions for murder, proof of the corpus delicti involves the establishment of the fact that a murder has been committed, but includes neither the identity of the person alleged to have been killed, nor the killing by the person accused. State v. Calder, 23 M 504, 513, 59 P 903; State v. Nordall, 38 M 327, 338, 99 P 960; State v. Riggs, 61 M 25, 52, 201 P 272.

Where, on a trial for murder, the identity of the person alleged to have been killed was proved by the direct evidence of an accomplice, who was an eye-witness, and the death of a human being was directly proved, and there was circumstantial evidence to prove the identity of the deceased, the evidence was sufficient to satisfy the requirements of this section, that the "death" of the person alleged to have been killed must be established by "direct proof," as an independent fact, and of section 10496. State v. Calder, 23 M 504, 508, 59 P 903.

In a prosecution for murder, this section does not require direct proof of the identity of the victim, or of the fact that the killing was done by the defendant, but only of the fact of death. State v. Nordall, 38 M 327, 338, 99 P 960.

Under this section, the only fact required to be proved directly to establish the corpus delicti in a murder case is the death of the person alleged to have been killed, but the identity of such person, if in doubt, and the fact that defendant did the killing may be proved by direct, or by indirect or circumstantial evidence. State v. Kindle et al, 71 M 58, 64, 227 P 65.

Held, that the corpus delicti in all criminal prosecutions (except in cases of homicide, this section) need not be established by direct and positive proof but may be proved by circumstantial evidence, and that in the instant case (burglary) it was so proven, the fact that there was no evidence to show how the entry was made being immaterial. State v. Dixon, 80 M 181, 192, 260 P 138.

10963. Excusable homicide. Homicide is excusable in the following cases:

1. When committed by accident or misfortune, in lawfully correcting a child or servant, or in doing any other lawful act by lawful means, with usual and ordinary caution, and without any unlawful intent.

2. When committed by accident or misfortune, in the heat of passion, upon any sudden or sufficient provocation, or upon a sudden combat, when no undue advantage is taken, nor any dangerous weapon used, and when the killing is not done in any cruel or unusual manner.

History: En. Sec. 359, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8299, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10963, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 195. See History, Sec. 10950, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

To justify a finding that a homicide by shooting was excusable, where defendant and deceased were strangers, the evidence must show that, when the shot was fired, defendant was doing a lawful act, by lawful means, with usual and ordinary caution, and without any unlawful intent. State v. Kuum, 55 M 436, 444, 178 P 288.

The question whether defendant, while intoxicated and in the act of exhibiting his revolver to the deceased, also under the influence of liquor, exercised that usual and ordinary caution in handling the weapon made necessary by this section to render the killing excusable, was one for the determination of the jury. State v. Kuum, 55 M 436, 446, 178 P 288.

10964. Justifiable homicide by public officers. Homicide is justifiable when committed by public officers, and those acting by their command in their aid and assistance, either:

1. In obedience to a judgment of a competent court; or

2. When necessarily committed in overcoming actual resistance to the execution of some legal process, or in the discharge of any other legal duty; or,

3. When necessarily committed in retaking felons who have been rescued or have escaped, or when necessarily committed in arresting persons charged with felony, and who are fleeing from justice or resisting such arrest.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 28, p. 181, Ban-nack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 35, p. 275, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 35, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 35, 4th Div. Comp.

10965. Justifiable homicide by other persons. Homicide is also justifiable when committed by any person in any of the following cases:

1. When resisting any attempt to murder any person, or to commit a felony, or to do some great bodily injury upon any person; or,

2. When committed in defense of habitation, property, or person, against one who manifestly intends and endeavors, in a violent, riotous, or tumultuous manner, to enter the habitation of another for the purpose of offering violence to any person therein; or,

3. When committed in the lawful defense of such person, or of a wife, or husband, parent, child, master, mistress, or servant of such person, when there is reasonable ground to apprehend a design to commit a felony, or to do some great bodily injury, and imminent danger of such design being accomplished; but such person, or the person in whose behalf the defense was made, if he was the assailant or engaged in mortal combat, must really and in good faith have endeavored to decline any further struggle before the homicide was committed; or,

4. When necessarily committed in attempting, by lawful ways and means, to apprehend any person for any felony committed, or in lawfully suppressing any riot, or in lawfully keeping and preserving the peace.

Defense of a Wife

On the issue whether defendant, when he killed deceased, believed that deceased was about to assault his wife—defendant's sister—testimony showing that, to defendant's knowledge, deceased had made prior assaults on his wife, was admissible, and the fact that the prior assaults occurred before November 30th, while the homicide occurred December 15th, did not make the evidence inadmissible as too remote. State v. Felker, 27 M 451, 458, 71 P 668.

Defense of Others

The provisions of this section put persons acting in defense of others upon the same plane as those acting in defense of themselves. Every fact, therefore, which would be competent to establish justification in the one case would, for the same reasons, be competent to establish it in the other. State v. Felker, 27 M 451, 458, 71 P 668.

Prior Threats Admissible

Testimony of prior threats by deceased, though not communicated to defendant, was admissible. State v. Felker, 27 M 451, 460, 71 P 668. See also State v. Hanlon, 38 M 557, 571, 100 P 1035; State v. Whitworth, 47 M 424, 435, 133 P 364; Trapp v. Territory of New Mexico, 225 Fed. 968, 971.

Self-Defense

Where, on a trial for murder, in which the accused pleaded self-defense, it was shown that the deceased had previously threatened the accused, an instruction directing the jury to disregard such prior threats unless the accused, at the time of the killing, was actually assailed, or believed he was in great bodily danger, was erroneous. State v. Shadwell, 26 M 52, 55, 66 P 508. See also State v. Hanlon, 38 M 557, 570, 571, 100 P 1035; State v. Whitworth, 47 M 424, 435, 133 P 364; State v. Jones, 48 M 505, 519, 139 P 441; Trapp v. Territory of New Mexico, 225 Fed. 968, 971, 141 C. C. A. 28.

Where the trial court, in a prosecution for murder, instructed the jury that the right of self-defense was to be measured by what a reasonable person would have done under like or the same circumstances, the charge conformed to the requirements of this section, and was sufficient. State v. Houk, 34 M 418, 423, 87 P 175.

Under this section and the following section, if the party committing the homicide was the assailant, or engaged in mortal combat, he must in good faith have endeavored to decline any further struggle before the killing was done, otherwise he cannot invoke self-defense. State v. Merk, 53 M 454, 460, 164 P 655.

Id. A person assailed may act upon appearances as they present themselves to him, meet force with force, and even slay his assailant; and, though in fact he was not in any actual peril, yet if the circumstances were such that a reasonable man would be justified in acting as he did, the slayer will be held blameless.

Id. A person assailed with apparent murderous intent need not retreat and seek a place of safety before slaying his assailant.

One claiming self-defense in a prosecution for murder had a right to act upon appearances and determine for himself whether there was real danger to himself from decedent, and he should be allowed to prove every fact and circumstance known to him and connected with decedent which was fairly calculated to create an apprehension for his own safety when attacked by the latter. State v. Jennings, 96 M 80, 88, 28 P 2d 448.

Id. Under the last rule above, held that where defendant charged with murder at the time of the affray was sitting in a pool-hall with his back to the wall, on one side of him a hot stove, and on the other a table, so that there was no avenue of escape when deceased, a much larger man than defendant, and who had threatened to kill him, approached from the front and struck at defendant with a cast-iron cuspidor, whereupon defendant drew a small pocket-knife and inflicted several wounds upon his assailant, one of which penetrated the brain tissue, the trial court committed error in refusing an offer of proof to show that defendant prior to the affray had been advised by the offered witness that he had been severely cut by deceased about a year prior to defendant's encounter with him.

Id. Where defendant pleading self-defense to a charge of murder was a much smaller and weaker man than deceased, the fact that after the first blow the latter lost his weapon did not deprive defendant of his right to claim self-defense in thereafter retaliating with a knife, since in view of the disparity in physique he could reasonably apprehend great bodily harm to himself even though his assailant was unarmed.

10966. Bare fear not to justify killing. A bare fear of the commission of any of the offenses mentioned in subdivisions 2 and 3 of the preceding section, to prevent which homicide may be lawfully committed, is not sufficient to justify it. But the circumstances must be sufficient to excite the fears of a reasonable person, and the party killing must have acted under the influence of such fears alone.

History: En. Sec. 26, p. 180, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 33, p. 275, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 33, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 33, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 362, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8302, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10966, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 198.

Operation and Effect

In a prosecution for murder, where the defendant relies upon the plea of self-defense, an instruction which makes the measure of justification "the sense of danger appearing to the defendant, and to men or individuals of his race," is properly refused. State v. Cadotte, 17 M 315, 320, 42 P 857.

Whether the circumstances attending the homicide claimed by defendant to have been committed in self-defense, were such as to justify his fears, as a reasonable person, in the belief that he was in imminent danger of losing his life or suffering great bodily harm at the hands of deceased, is a question of fact for the jury; bare fear on his part of an assault by the latter, of a quarrelsome and violent disposition, not alone being insufficient to justify the killing. State v. Harkins, 85 M 585, 602, 281 P 551.

Where self-defense is pleaded to a charge of homicide the question whether the circumstances attending it were such as to justify defendant's fears, as a reasonable person, in the belief that he was in imminent danger of losing his life or suffering great bodily harm at the hands of deceased, is one of fact for the jury. 10970.2. Kidnaping with intent to send person from state or confine within state—penalty—place of trial.

10970.3. Enticing away child—penalty.

10970.1. Kidnaping—penalty—place of trial. If any person or persons shall wilfully, without lawful authority, seize, confine, inveigle, decoy, kidnap or abduct or take or carry away by any means whatever, or attempt so to do, any child of any age, or any person or persons and attempt or cause such child or person or persons to be secretly confined against their will, or abducted for the purpose and with the intention of causing the father or mother or any other relative of the person so abducted, or anyone else, to pay or offer to pay any sum as ransom or reward for the return or release of any such child or person or persons, said person or persons so guilty of the above mentioned acts or act, shall, on conviction, be punished by death or imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than five (5) years, at the option of the court or the jury assessing the punishment. Any person or persons charged with such offense may be tried in any county into or through which the person or child so seized, inveigled, decoyed, kidnaped, abducted or otherwise taken shall have been carried or brought.

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 102, L. 1933.

10970.2. Kidnaping with intent to send person from state or confine within state—penalty—place of trial. If any person shall wilfully and without lawful authority, forcibly seize, confine, inveigle, decoy or kidnap any person, with intent to cause such person to be sent or taken out of this state, or to be secretly confined within the same against his will, or shall forcibly carry or send such person out of this state against his will, he shall, upon conviction, be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not exceeding ten (10) years. Any person charged with such offense may be tried in any county into or through which the person so seized, inveigled, decoyed or kidnaped shall have been taken, carried or brought.

History: En. Sec. 2, Ch. 102, L. 1933.

10970.3. Enticing away child—penalty. Every person who shall maliciously, forcibly or fraudulently lead, take or carry away or decoy or entice away any child under the age of twelve (12) years, with the intent to detain or conceal such child from its parent, guardian or other person having the lawful charge of such child, shall, upon conviction, be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not exceeding twenty (20) years, or in a county jail not less than six (6) months, or by fine not less than five hundred dollars ($500).

CHAPTER 19

ROBBERY

Section 10973. Robbery defined.

10974. What fear may be an element in robbery.

10975. Punishment of robbery.

10973. Robbery defined. Robbery is the felonious taking of personal property in the possession of another, from his person or immediate presence, and against his will, accomplished by means of force or fear.

History: En. Sec. 59, p. 188, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 71, p. 282, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 71, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 77, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 390, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8309, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10973, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 211.

"Accompanied"

An instruction defining robbery in the language of this section except using the word "accompanied" instead of the word "accomplished," is reversible error. State v. Johnson, 26 M 9, 10, 66 P 290. See also State v. Pemberton, 39 M 530, 533, 104 P 556.

Evidence Admissible

Where defendant, while engaged in attempting to rob the safe on a train, robbed a mail clerk, on a prosecution for the robbery of the mail clerk it was proper to admit evidence as to all the details of the attempted robbery of the train, and a conspiracy therefor. State v. Howard, 30 M 518, 524, 77 P 50.

"Felonious Taking"

An instruction defining robbery, which omits to state "the taking" must be felonious, is prejudicial error. State v. Oliver, 20 M 318, 319, 50 P 1018. See also State v. Rodgers, 21 M 143, 144, 53 P 97.

Under the rule that once a fact is established, it is presumed to have remained as proved to exist until the contrary is shown, held, in a prosecution for robbery, in which defendant on appeal contended that the felonious taking of a sum of money from the person of the complaining witness had not been proven, that evidence that defendant knew that the witness nine days before had placed his wallet containing the money in his inside vest pocket where he kept his money, which pocket had been cut out after the witness had been knocked down, etc., was sufficient to establish the taking. State v. Olson, 87 M 389, 393, 287 P 938.

Force or Fear

The taking of personal property from the person or immediate presence of another, without resistance on his part, does not bring the offense within the definition of robbery, it being necessary that the element of force or fear should be present to constitute the crime. State v. Paisley, 36 M 237, 244, 92 P 566.

Id. Since this section does not define the degree of force necessary to constitute the taking of personal property from the person or immediate presence of another the crime of robbery, an information charging such offense need not allege the degree of force used in accomplishing it.

Though the crime of robbery can be accomplished only by means of force or fear, and is most frequently accompanied by an assault, proof of an assault without circumstances tending to show that it was resorted to as a means to prevent resistance, and in order to obtain property from the person or immediate presence of the one assaulted, falls far short of establishing the crime of an attempt to commit robbery. State v. Hanson, 49 M 361, 368, 141 P 669.

Sufficiency of the Indictment

An indictment which charges that the defendant committed the robbery by force and intimidation and by putting the person robbed in fear, is sufficient. State v. Clancy, 20 M 498, 501, 52 P 267.

An information on a prosecution for robbery, which charged that the property was taken by means of force and putting in fear, and that it was taken from the person and possession, and from the immediate presence of a specified person, does not charge more than one offense. State v. Howard, 30 M 518, 522, 77 P 50.

10974. What fear may be an element in robbery. The fear mentioned in the last section may be either:

1. The fear of an unlawful injury to the person or property of the person robbed, or of any relative of his, or member of his family; or,

2. The fear of an immediate and unlawful injury to the person or property of any one in the company of the person robbed at the time of the robbery.

Operation and Effect

Example of an information sufficiently charging the fear necessary to constitute the crime of robbery as defined in this section. State v. Gill, 21 M 151, 153, 53 P 184.

Assuming that an information charging robbery was defective in not stating facts sufficient to allege fear, within the definition given in this section, on the part of the person robbed, still, the allegation of force, the alternative element of the crime, having been sufficient, the pleading was not vulnerable to attack. State v. Paisley, 36 M 237, 245, 92 P 566.

10975. Punishment of robbery. Robbery is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than one year.

History: En. Sec. 392, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8311, Rev. C. 1907; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 102, L. 1921; re-en. Sec. 10975, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 213.

Operation and Effect

A sentence to fifty years' imprisonment of one convicted of robbery, who is also found to have been previously convicted in another state of burglary, is warranted by the law. State v. Paisley, 36 M 237, 248, 92 P 566.

CHAPTER 20

ASSAULTS

Section 10976. Assault in the first degree defined—penalty.

10977. Assault in second degree.

10978. Assault in third degree.

10979. Assaults with caustic chemicals, etc.

10980. Use of force not unlawful.

10976. Assault in the first degree defined—penalty. Every person who, with intent to kill a human being, or to commit a felony upon the person or property of the one assaulted or of another:

1. Assaults another with a loaded firearm, or any other deadly weapon, or by any other means or force likely to produce death; or,

2. Administers or causes to be administered to, or taken by another, poison, or any other destructive or noxious thing, so as to endanger the life of such other, is guilty of assault in the first degree, and is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than five nor more than twenty years.

History: Earlier acts were Secs. 45-47, p. 185, Bannack Stat.; Secs. 55-59, p. 278, Cod. Stat. 1871; Secs. 55-59, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; Secs. 58-62, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887.

This section en. Sec. 400, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8312, Rev. C. 1907; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 5, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 10976, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Secs. 217, 245.

Operation and Effect

In cases of assault of the first degree, where the specific charge in the information is "assault with intent to kill," the instruction should omit all reference to murder or manslaughter, and advise juries, in lieu thereof, that, to sustain the information, they must find, beyond a reasonable doubt, that the assault was committed with intent to kill. State v. Schaefer, 35 M 217, 222, 88 P 792.

In a prosecution for assault in the first degree, the court may properly submit to the jury the question whether, on the evidence, the defendant, if not guilty as charged, was not guilty of assault in the second degree. State v. Papp, 51 M 405, 409, 153 P 279.

An information charging assault in the first degree with a deadly weapon was sufficient, the words following descriptive of the weapon, "to wit, an instrument about a foot long with a knob on the striking end," being surplusage, the only effect of which was to confine the prosecution to proof that the assault was committed with the instrument described and not with some other. State v. Maggert et al., 64 M 331, 334, 209 P 989.

10977. Assault in second degree. Every person who, under circumstances not amounting to the offense specified in the last section:

1. With intent to injure unlawfully, administers to, or causes to be administered to, or taken by another, poison, or any other destructive or noxious thing, or any drug or medicine, the use of which is dangerous to life or health; or,

2. With intent thereby to enable or assist himself, or any other person, to commit any crime, administers to, or causes to be administered to, or taken, by another, chloroform, ether, laudanum, or any other intoxicating narcotic, or anesthetic agent; or,

3. Wilfully or wrongfully wounds or inflicts grievous bodily harm upon another, either with or without a weapon; or,

4. Wilfully and wrongfully assaults another by the use of a weapon, or other instrument or thing likely to produce grievous bodily harm; or,

5. Assaults another with intent to commit a felony, or to prevent or resist the execution of any lawful process or mandate of any court or officer, or the lawful apprehension or detention of himself, or of any other person, is guilty of an assault in the second degree, and is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for not less than one nor more than five years, or by a fine not exceeding two thousand dollars, or both.

History: En. Sec. 401, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8313, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10977, R. C. M. 1921. Cal Pen. C. Secs. 216, 222, and 245.

General Essential Elements

Under this section, to constitute an assault other than one which involves a technical battery without which the offense is not complete, there must be present both the element of attempt and the element of present ability to inflict the injury. The absence of the latter element does not prevent a conviction for the attempt, for, under a charge of assault, the defendant may be convicted either of the assault or of the attempt, because the former includes all the elements of the latter. State v. Stone, 40 M 88, 91, 105 P 89.

Instructions on this Section

Where one charged with assault in the second degree was convicted of that crime in the third degree, he was not prejudiced by an instruction which comprised all of the subdivisions of this section, setting forth the various circumstances under which the crime in the higher degree may be committed. State v. Farnham, 35 M 375, 378, 89 P 728.

An instruction in a prosecution for assault in the second degree that if the jury believed that defendant exhibited a pistol to the complaining witness and threatened to kill him, and that the pistol was a weapon likely to produce grievous bodily harm, that defendant was then within shooting distance of the witness, that the latter was actually put in fear of injury and the circumstances were such as ordinarily to induce fear in the mind of a reasonable man, defendant should be found guilty, correctly stated the law. State v. Karri, 84 M 130, 137, 276 P 427.

Assault with intent to commit a felony (rape) constituting, under this section, subdivision 5, assault in the second degree, an instruction given in a case in which the information charged assault with intent to commit a felony, to-wit, rape, that the jury could find defendant guilty of either assault in the second degree or not guilty, was correct, as against the contention that the instruction should have been that defendant was either guilty of assault with intent to commit rape or not guilty. State v. Collins, 88 M 514, 528, 294 P 957.

Sufficiency of Information

It is not necessary to allege, in an information for an assault and battery in the second degree, as defined in subdivision 3 of this section, that "the assault was committed with the intent to inflict grievous bodily harm," because the statutes do not include the word "intent" in defining the crime. State v. Broadbent, 19 M 467, 471, 48 P 775. See also State v. Bloor, 20 M 574, 583, 52 P 611; State ex rel. Webb v. District Court, 37 M 191, 197, 95 P 593.

An information charging defendant with having wilfully, unlawfully, and feloniously assaulted a person with a piece of iron pipe, with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, was sufficient to charge the defendant with an assault with intent to commit a felony, and gave the district court jurisdiction to try the cause. State v. Farnham, 35 M 375, 377, 89 P 728.

An information charging that defendant "did wilfully, unlawfully, wrongfully, intentionally, and feloniously assault one S., by throwing said S. from a moving street-car, with intent in him, the said defendant, to inflict grievous bodily harm upon said S.," was sufficient to charge assault in the second degree, under subdivision 3 of this section. State v. Tracey, 35 M 552, 554, 90 P 791.

10978. Assault in third degree. Every person who commits an assault or an assault and battery, not such as is specified in the foregoing sections of this chapter, is guilty of assault in the third degree, and is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not more than six months, or by a fine not more than five hundred dollars, or both.

History: En. Sec. 402, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8314, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10978, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

A verdict finding a defendant guilty of an assault with corrosive acids and caustic chemicals, which fails to find that the assault is committed wilfully or maliciously, or with intent to injure, is a verdict of guilty of assault in the third degree.

State v. District Court, 35 M 321, 324, 89 P 63.

Where the evidence introduced showed that defendant was guilty of assault in the second degree or not guilty at all, and there was none warranting an instruction on the law applicable to assault in the third degree as defined in this section, the giving of such an instruction was error. State v. Karri, 84 M 130, 137, 276 P 427.

10979. Assaults with caustic chemicals, etc. Every person who wilfully and maliciously places or throws, or causes to be placed or thrown upon the person of another, any vitriol, corrosive acid, or caustic chemical of any nature, with the intent to injure the flesh or disfigure the body of such person, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one nor more than fourteen years.

Operation and Effect

Wilfulness, malice, and intent to injure are necessary to constitute an assault, with corrosive acids or caustic chemicals, a felony; and, in the absence of a finding as to these necessary requisites, a verdict finding the defendant guilty of an assault with corrosive acids and caustic chemicals will not support a conviction for a felony. State v. District Court, 35 M 321, 323, 89 P 63.

10980. Use of force not unlawful. To use or attempt or offer to use force or violence upon or towards the person of another is not unlawful in the following cases:

1. When necessarily committed by a public officer in the performance of a legal duty, or by any other person assisting him or acting under his direction.

2. When necessarily committed by any person in arresting one who has committed a felony and delivering him to a public officer competent to receive him in custody.

3. When committed either by the party about to be injured, or by another person in his aid or defense, in preventing or attempting to prevent an offense against his person, or a trespass or other unlawful interference with real or personal property in his possession, if the force or violence used is not more than sufficient to prevent such offense.

4. When committed by a parent, or an authorized agent of any parent, or by a guardian, master, or teacher, in the exercise of a lawful authority to restrain or correct his child, ward, apprentice, or pupil, and the force or violence used is reasonable in manner and moderate in degree.

5. When committed by a carrier of passengers, or the authorized agent or servants of such carrier, or by any person assisting them at their request in expelling from a carriage, coach, railway car, vessel, or other vehicle, a passenger who refuses to obey a lawful and reasonable regulation prescribed for the conduct of passengers, if such vehicle has first been stopped at any usual stopping place or near any dwelling-house, and the force or violence used is not more than sufficient to expel the offending passenger with a reasonable regard to his personal safety.

6. When committed by any person when preventing an idiot, lunatic, insane person, or other person of unsound mind, including persons temporarily or partially deprived of their reason, from committing an act dangerous to himself or to another, or in enforcing such restraint as is necessary for the protection of his person or for his restoration to health, during such period only as shall be necessary to obtain legal authority for the restraint and custody of his person.

History: En. Sec. 404, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8316, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10980, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Evidence held to show that the defendant had been in possession of the premises, as owner thereof, for months, and that, under subdivision 3 of this section, he had the right to defend such possession, provided he used no more force than was necessary for that purpose; and that it was error to refuse an instruction to that effect. State v. Howell, 21 M 165, 169, 53 P 314.

Provocative acts, conduct or words, if unaccompanied by any overt act of hostility, are not justification for assault; hence, where, in an action for damages for assault, there was no evidence showing an occasion where defendant, under this section, could lawfully use force, an instruction leaving it to the jury to say whether the assault was without legal justification was erroneous. Hageman v. Arnold, 79 M 91, 94, 254 P 1070.

The law of self-defense is applicable in assault cases, at least in a case where defendant is charged with feloniously shooting the complaining witness, the law being that where a person assaulted in such a manner as to induce in him a reasonable belief of danger of losing his life or suffering great bodily harm, he is justified in defending himself though the danger be not real but only apparent; if the circumstances were such that a reasonable man would have acted as defendant did, he will be held blameless. State v. Daw, 99 M 232, 238, 43 P 2d 240.

Id. Where the trial court, in a prosecution for assault in the second degree, failed in all of its instructions to advise the jury on the law of self-defense that defendant was entitled to measure the apparent threatening danger by the judgment which would have been exercised by a reasonable man, but because of the state of the record such error was not reviewable, judgment nevertheless reversed for refusal of an instruction correctly stating the law of self-defense.

Id. Where the evidence in a prosecution for assault warrants the giving of an instruction on the matter of self-defense with relation to the rights of defendant in resisting an attack by rioters or by three or more persons committing a tumultuous trespass, the court should point out to the jury the essential differences between an assault by such a body of men and that committed by an individual.

DUELS AND CHALLENGES—FALSE IMPRISONMENT

- Section 10981. Duel defined.
 10982. Punishment for fighting a duel, when death ensues.
 10983. Punishment for fighting a duel, although death does not ensue.
 10984. Posting for not fighting.
 10985. Duties of officers to prevent duels.
 10986. Leaving the state with intent to evade laws against dueling.
 10987. Witness' privilege.
 10988. False imprisonment, definition and punishment.

10981. Duel defined. A duel is any combat with deadly weapons, fought between two or more persons, by previous agreement or upon a previous quarrel.

10982. Punishment for fighting a duel, when death ensues. Every person guilty of fighting any duel, from which death ensues within a year and a day, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one nor more than seven years.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 38, p. 183, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 23, p. 274, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 23, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 23, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 411, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8318, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10982, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 226.

10983. Punishment for fighting a duel, although death does not ensue. Every person who fights a duel, or accepts or sends a challenge to fight a duel, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison or in a county jail not exceeding one year.

10984. Posting for not fighting. Every person who posts or publishes another for not fighting a duel, or for not sending or accepting a challenge to fight a duel, or who uses any reproachful or contemptuous language, verbal, written, or printed, to or concerning another, for not sending or accepting a challenge to fight a duel, or with intent to provoke a duel, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

History: En. Sec. 124, p. 207, Bannack 1887; amd. Sec. 414, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Stat.; re-en. Sec. 138, p. 300, Cod. Stat. Sec. 8321, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10985, 1871; re-en. Sec. 138, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 230. 1879; re-en. Sec. 153, 4th Div. Comp. Stat.

10986. Leaving the state with intent to evade laws against dueling. Every person who leaves this state with intent to evade any of the provisions of this chapter, and to commit any act out of this state, such as is prohibited by this chapter, and who does any act, although out of this state, which would be punishable by such provisions if committed within this state, is punishable in the same manner as he would have been in case such act had been committed within this state.

10987. Witness' privilege. No person shall be excused from testifying or answering any question upon any investigation or trial for a violation of any of the provisions of the six preceding sections, upon the ground that his testimony might tend to convict him of a crime. But no evidence given upon any examination of a person so testifying shall be received against him in any criminal prosecution or proceeding.

10988. False imprisonment, definition and punishment. False imprisonment is the unlawful violation of the personal liberty of another, and is punishable by fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than one year, or both.

Nature of Crime

False imprisonment is treated as a tort and also as a crime, the definition being the same in either case. The liability of a wrongdoer does not depend primarily upon his mental attitude. Kroeger v. Passmore, 36 M 504, 508, 93 P 805.

Treating false imprisonment as a tort, as distinguished from a crime, the only defenses which may be interposed are a denial of the imprisonment and a justification of the imprisonment. Kroeger v. Passmore, 36 M 504, 510, 93 P 805.

Operation and Effect

If an arrest and imprisonment have been accomplished without legal process, it is false imprisonment. Gorud v. Losel, 48 M 274, 283, 136 P 1069.

Id. False imprisonment is an unlawful violation of the personal liberty of another, and is the subject of an action, whether the wrongful act is prompted by malice or not.

The gist of the offense of false imprisonment, as defined in this section, is the unlawful detention. Stephens v. Conley, 48 M 352, 364, 138 P 189.

False imprisonment is any unlawful violation of the personal liberty of another, both at common law and under the statute. In re McDonald, 50 M 348, 351, 146 P 942.

The statutory provision, defining the crime of false imprisonment, defines also the civil wrong resulting from it; therefore, in order to make out a case for damages, the plaintiff must allege a violation of his personal liberty, and that such violation was without legal justification. Slifer v. Yorath, 52 M 129, 132, 155 P 1113.

LIBEL

- Section 10989. Libel defined.
 10990. Punishment of libel.
 10991. Malice presumed.
 10992. Truth may be given in evidence—jury to determine law and fact.
 10993. Publication defined.
 10994. Liability of editors and publishers.
 10995. Publishing a true report of public proceedings privileged.
 10996. Extent of privilege.
 10997. Other privileged communications.
 10998. Threatening to publish libel—offer to prevent publication, with intent to extort money.
 10999. Giving false information for publication.

10989. Libel defined. A libel is a malicious defamation, expressed either by writing, printing, or by signs or pictures, or the like, tending to blacken the memory of one who is dead, or to impeach the honesty, integrity, virtue, or reputation, or to publish the natural or alleged defects of one who is alive, and thereby to expose him to public hatred, contempt, or ridicule.

History: En. Sec. 125, p. 207, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 139, p. 301, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 139, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 154, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 430, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8325, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 10989, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 248.

Operation and Effect

In determining whether a publication is libelous per se, the language complained of must be construed in its relation to the entire article in which it appears; so construed, held that the statement published in a newspaper that the publisher would "continue to expose all graft and corruption," taken in connection with preceding assertions that an attachment proceeding had been brought against the paper in revenge for exposing the "dirty work" of plaintiff, a constable, and another, that plaintiff had acted unlawfully in other cases, and that he had formed a collusive partnership with such other person, in effect charged plaintiff with graft in connection with the administration of his office and was, therefore, libelous per se. State v. Winterrowd, 77 M 77, 249 P 664.

Id. The word "graft," when used in connection with the conduct of a public officer, implies sometimes actual theft and always want of integrity, and its use in that respect is actionable per se.

10990. Punishment of libel. Every person who wilfully, and with a malicious intent to injure another, publishes, or procures to be published, any libel, is punishable by fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year.

10991. Malice presumed. An injurious publication is presumed to have been malicious if no justifiable motive for making it is shown.

Operation and Effect

Where a publication by a newspaper is libelous per se, the law presumes malice, in the absence of lawful excuse, even though no spite or ill-will be shown. Kelly v. Independent Publishing Co., 45 M 127, 141, 122 P 735. See also Cooper v. Romney, 49 M 119, 127, 141 P 289.

10992. Truth may be given in evidence—jury to determine law and fact. In all criminal prosecutions for libel, the truth may be given in evidence to the jury, and if it appears to the jury that the matter charged as libelous is true, and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted. The jury have the right to determine the law and the fact.

10993. Publication defined. To sustain a charge of publishing a libel, it is not needful that the words or things complained of should have been read or seen by another. It is enough that the accused knowingly parted with the immediate custody of the libel, under circumstances which exposed it to be read or seen by any other person than himself.

10994. Liability of editors and publishers. Each author, editor, or proprietor of any book, newspaper, or serial publication, is chargeable with the publication of any words contained in any part of such book, or number of such newspaper or serial.

10995. Publishing a true report of public proceedings privileged. No reporter, editor, or proprietor of any newspaper is liable to any prosecution for a fair and true report of any judicial, legislative, or other public official proceedings, or of any statement, speech, argument, or debate in the course of the same, except upon proof of malice in making such report, which is not implied from the mere fact of publication.

10996. Extent of privilege. Libelous remarks or comments connected with matter privileged by the last section receive no privilege by reason of their being so connected.

10997. Other privileged communications. A communication made to a person interested in the communication, by any one who was also interested, or who stood in such relation to the former, as to afford a reasonable ground for supposing his motive innocent, is not presumed to be malicious, and is a privileged communication.

10998. Threatening to publish libel—offer to prevent publication, with intent to extort money. Every person who threatens another to publish a libel concerning him, or any parent, husband, wife, or child of such person, or member of his family, and every person who offers to prevent the publication of any libel upon another person, with intent to extort money or other valuable consideration from any person, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

10999. Giving false information for publication. Any person who wilfully states, delivers, or transmits, by any means whatsoever, to the manager, editor, publisher, or reporter of any newspaper, magazine, publication, periodical, or serial, for publication therein, any false or libelous statement concerning any person or corporation, and thereby secures the actual publication of the same, is hereby declared guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or confined in the county jail not exceeding six months, or both.

 - 11012. Paying money for procuring women for immoral purposes a felony.
 - 11013. Receiving money for procuring women for immoral purposes a felony.
 - 11014. Unlawful restraint of women in houses of prostitution and elsewhere a felony.
 - 11015. Accepting money from earnings of prostitute a felony.
 - 11016. Living with a common prostitute a felony.

11000. Rape defined. Rape is an act of sexual intercourse, accomplished with a female, not the wife of the perpetrator, under any of the following circumstances:

1. When the female is under the age of eighteen years.
2. Where she is incapable, through lunacy or any other unsoundness of mind, whether temporary or permanent, of giving legal consent.
3. Where she resists, but her resistance is overcome by violence or force.

4. Where she is prevented from resisting by threats of immediate and great bodily harm, accompanied by apparent power of execution, or by any intoxicating narcotic, or other anesthetic substance, administered by or with the privity of the accused.

5. Where she is, at the time, unconscious of the nature of the act, and this is known to the accused.

6. Where she submits, under a belief that the person committing the act is her husband, and this belief is induced by any artifice, pretense, or concealment practiced by the accused, with the intent to induce such belief.

Effect of Age of Prosecutrix on Evidence Admitted

In a prosecution for rape under subdivision 1 of this section, (an act of sexual intercourse accomplished with a female under the age of eighteen years), it is immaterial that she consented to the act, that defendant was ignorant of her age or that she misrepresented her age to him, or that she was lacking in chastity, or at the time was an inmate of a house of prostitution, nonage on her part being sufficient to warrant conviction. State v. Duncan, 82 M 170, 184, 266 P 400.

Sufficiency of Evidence

Where an information in a rape case charges defendant with carnal knowledge of a female under the statutory age of consent, violently, and against her will, and there is ample evidence that the female was under that age, it is not incumbent on the state to also prove that she resisted defendant's assault, and that he violently overcame her resistance, even though it has been so alleged. State v. Mahoney, 24 M 281, 285, 61 P 647.

Evidence held insufficient to justify a conviction for rape charged to have been accomplished by violence and force, but rather to show that the prosecuting witness failed to offer any physical resistance which it required force to overcome, within the meaning of subdivision 3 of this section. State v. Needy, 43 M 442, 444, 117 P 102.

To warrant conviction for an attempt to commit rape by force, the evidence must be sufficient to establish beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant assaulted the prosecutrix with the intention to accomplish his purpose at all events and notwithstanding any resistance on her part; hence if intent in the mind of the assailant to overcome by force all resistance which might be offered is absent, defendant is entitled to an acquittal. State v. Hennessy, 73 M 20, 22, 234 P 1094.

Id. Evidence adduced in a prosecution for an attempted rape by force reviewed and held insufficient to sustain a verdict of guilty, it presenting a case of urgent solicitation rather than of an intention by the use of force to overcome the resistance of the prosecutrix.

Id. Proof of indecency, immorality and grossly offensive and reprehensible conduct on the part of the defendant sufficient to constitute simple assault is alone insufficient to establish an attempt to commit rape by force.

An information charging rape accomplished by violence and force, and against the will and consent of the prosecuting witness, is sufficient and warrants proof either of resistance overcome by violence or superior force, or of threats of a nature to excuse nonresistance. State v. Whitmore, 94 M 119, 121, 21 P 2d 58.

Sufficiency of Indictment or Information

In an indictment for rape, it is not necessary to allege that the female injured is not the wife of the defendant. State v. Williams, 9 M 179, 180, 23 P 335; State v. Morrison, 46 M 84, 88, 125 P 649.

An information for rape, alleging that the act was committed by force and against the will and consent of the female, is sufficient, under subdivisions 3 and 4 of this section, and authorizes proof that the act was committed under the circumstances provided for in either subdivision. State v. Morrison, 46 M 84, 88, 125 P 649.

Held, that there was no variance between an information charging the commission of rape by violence and force, and the evidence of the prosecutrix that she was rendered helpless by a blow in the face which stunned her prior to the commission of the offense, even though she was unconscious or semi-conscious during its commission; such proof of her condition as a reason for nonresistance bringing the case within subdivision 3 of this section, i. e., rape, where the resistance of the female is overcome by violence or force. State v. Whitmore, 94 M 119, 121, 21 P 2d 58.

"Unconscious" Defined

The term "unconscious" as used in subdivision 5 of this section, defining the crime of rape, held not to have reference to the loss of physical or mental faculties on the part of the female through assault and violence; that subdivision having to do only with a situation where she is unconscious of the nature of the act. State v. Whitmore, 94 M 119, 121, 21 P 2d 58.

When Force is Immaterial

The question of force is immaterial where the prosecuting witness is under the statutory age of consent. State v. Bowser, 21 M 133, 141, 53 P 179.

History: En. Sec. 48, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 451, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8337, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11001, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 262.

11002. Penetration sufficient. The essential guilt of rape consists in the outrage to the person and feelings of the female. Any sexual penetration, however slight, is sufficient to complete the crime.

History: En. Sec. 47, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 452, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8338, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11002, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 263.

11004. Abduction of women. Every person who takes any woman unlawfully, against her will, and by force, menace, or duress compels her to marry him, or to marry any other person, or to be defiled, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than two nor more than fourteen years.

11005. Lewd and lascivious acts upon children. Any person over the age of eighteen (18) years, who shall wilfully and lewdly commit any lewd or lascivious act, other than the acts constituting other crimes provided in sections 11000 to 11007, upon or with the body or any part or member thereof, of a child under the age of sixteen (16) years, with the intent of arousing, appealing to, or gratifying the lust or passions or sexual desires of such person, or of such child, shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be imprisoned in the state prison not exceeding five (5) years.

11006. Open and notorious adultery and fornication. Every person who lives in open and notorious cohabitation, in a state of adultery or fornication, is punishable by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or both.

The intermarriage of the parties subsequent to the commission of the offense is a bar to the prosecution.

History: For earlier acts, see Sec. 127, p. 208, Bannack Stat.; Sec. 146, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; Sec 161, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 457, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8343, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11006, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 269a.

Instance of a complaint, charging an offense under this section, having been filed as required by section 12302. In re Graye, 36 M 394, 400, 93 P 266.

The offense of living together in open and notorious cohabitation, in a state of fornication, is a misdemeanor, and falls within the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace. Hosoda v. Neville, 45 M 310, 312, 123 P 20.

11007. Seduction—penalty. Every person who, under promise of marriage, seduces and has sexual intercourse with an unmarried female of previous chaste character, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not more than five years, or by a fine not more than five thousand dollars, or both. The intermarriage of the parties subsequent to the commission of the offense is a bar to the prosecution.

11008. Importation and exportation of females for immoral purposes. The importation of women and girls into this state or the exportation of women and girls from this state for immoral purposes is hereby prohibited, and whoever shall induce, entice, or procure, or attempt to induce, entice, or procure to come in this state, or to go from this state, any woman or girl for the purpose of prostitution or concubinage, or for any other immoral purpose, or to enter any house of prostitution in this state, or any one who shall aid any such woman or girl in obtaining transportation to or within this state, for the purpose of prostitution or concubinage, or for any other immoral purpose, shall be deemed guilty of a felony and, on conviction thereof, shall be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a period of not less than two years nor more than twenty years, or by fine not less than one thousand dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 1, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 11008, R. C. M. 1921.

Constitutionality

So much of the foregoing section as related to transportation of women into this state from without the state was held unconstitutional in State v. Harper, 48 M 456, 138 P 495.

Held, that Chapter 1, Laws of 1911, known as the "White Slave Act," is not unconstitutional as violative of section 23, Article V, of the constitution, which provides that the title of an act shall not embrace more than one subject. State v. Pippi, 59 M 116, 119 et seq., 195 P 556.

Operation and Effect

An attempt to induce a female to take up her residence in another state for immoral purposes, which was complete before transportation had commenced, was punishable under this act, and not under the federal statute. State v. Reed, 53 M 292, 297, 163 P 477.

Where, under an information charging defendant with a violation of the White Slavery Act, in aiding an unmarried woman to obtain transportation from one county to a point in another county, the evidence of the state disclosed no more than that the accused on a certain day conveyed the woman from one point to another in the same county after which they were not again seen together until some five months thereafter, when they were found in another state living together in a state of adultery, it was insufficient to warrant conviction under the information. State v. Berndt, 60 M 377, 378, 199 P 444.

11009. Procuring women to reside in houses of prostitution or for immoral purposes a felony. Any person who shall place any female in the charge or custody of any other person for immoral purposes or in a house of prostitution or elsewhere with intent that she shall live a life of prostitution; or any person who shall compel or shall induce, entice, or procure, or attempt to induce, entice, procure or compel any female to reside with him or with any other person for immoral purposes, or for the purpose of prostitution, or shall compel any such female to reside in a house of prostitution, or compel or attempt to induce, entice, procure or compel her to live a life of prostitution, shall be guilty of a felony and, on conviction thereof, shall be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a period of not less than two years nor more than twenty years, or by fine not less than one thousand dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

History: En. Sec. 2, Ch. 1, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 11009, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

An attempt to induce a female to take up her residence in another state for immoral purposes, which was complete before transportation had commenced, was punishable under the Donlan, and not under the Mann, act. State v. Reed, 53 M 292, 163 P 477.

11010. Same—procuring women for concubinage and other immoral purposes a felony. Any person who shall induce, entice, or procure, or attempt to induce, entice or procure any woman or girl for the purpose of prostitution or concubinage, or for any other immoral purpose, or to enter any house of prostitution in this state, shall be deemed guilty of a felony and, on conviction thereof, shall be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a period of not less than two years nor more than twenty years, or by fine not less than one thousand dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

History: En. Sec. 3, Ch. 1, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 11010, R. C. M. 1921.

11011. Receiving money for causing immoral acts of women a felony. Any person who shall receive any money or other valuable thing for or on account of placing in a house of prostitution or elsewhere any female for the purpose of causing her to cohabit with any male person or persons to whom she is not married shall be guilty of a felony and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a period of not less than two years nor more than twenty years, or by fine not less than one thousand dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

History: En. Sec. 4, Ch. 1, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 11011, R. C. M. 1921.

11012. Paying money for procuring women for immoral purposes a felony. Any person who shall pay any money or other valuable thing to procure any female for the purpose of placing her for immoral purposes in any house of prostitution or elsewhere, with or without her consent, shall be guilty of a felony, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a period of not less than two years nor more than twenty years, or by fine not less than one thousand dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

History: En. Sec. 5, Ch. 1, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 11012, R. C. M. 1921.

11013. Receiving money for procuring women for immoral purposes a felony. Any person who shall knowingly receive any money or other valuable thing for or on account of procuring and placing in the custody of another person for immoral purposes any woman, with or without her consent, shall be guilty of a felony and, on conviction thereof, shall be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a period of not less than two years nor more than twenty years, or by fine not less than one thousand dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

History: En. Sec. 6, Ch. 1, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 11013, R. C. M. 1921.

11014. Unlawful restraint of women in houses of prostitution and elsewhere a felony. Any person who shall hold, detain, restrain, or attempt to hold, detain, or restrain in any house of prostitution or other place, any female for the purpose of compelling such female, directly or indirectly, by her voluntary or involuntary service or labor to pay, liquidate or cancel any debt, dues or obligations incurred in such house of prostitution, or in any other place, shall be deemed guilty of a felony and, on conviction thereof, shall be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a period of not less than two years nor more than twenty years, or by fine not less than one thousand dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

History: En. Sec. 7, Ch. 1, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 11014, R. C. M. 1921.

11015. Accepting money from earnings of prostitute a felony. Any person who shall knowingly accept, receive, levy, or appropriate any money or other valuable thing without consideration, from the proceeds or earnings of any woman engaged in prostitution shall be deemed guilty of a felony and, on conviction thereof, shall be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a period of not less than two years nor more than twenty years, or by fine of not less than one thousand dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any such acceptance, receipt, levy, or appropriation of such money or valuable thing shall, upon any proceeding or trial for violation of this section, be presumptive evidence of lack of consideration.

History: En. Sec. 8, Ch. 1, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 11015, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Where defendant had given his note for money he obtained from a prostitute, he was not guilty of a violation of this section, prohibiting the accepting of money from such persons without consideration, even though he later refused to pay the note placed in a bank for collection. State v. Jones, 51 M 390, 393, 153 P 282.

Knowingly and without consideration taking or receiving from a prostitute any of her earnings is a separate and distinct offense, under this statute, from that of living upon her earnings. State v. Kanakaris, 54 M 180, 182, 169 P 42.

Under this case, held that, the provision of this section making the acceptance of money from a prostitute presumptive evidence of lack of consideration is valid, and in enacting it the legislature did not transgress its power. State v. Pippi, 59 M 116, 119 et seq., 195 P 556.

CHAPTER 28

SUNDRY OFFENSES AGAINST GOOD MORALS

- Section 11039. Keeping open certain places on Sunday a misdemeanor.
 11039.1. Permitting minors under age of sixteen to frequent dance-halls constitutes misdemeanor.
 11040. Conducting barber business on Sunday.
 11041. Penalty.
 11042. Disturbing religious meeting.

 11044. Limitation of preceding section.

 11047. Penalty for selling tobacco to minors.
 11048.1. Penalty for giving or selling liquor to minors.
 11048.2. "Intoxicating liquor" defined.

11039. Keeping open certain places on Sunday a misdemeanor. Every person who on Sunday, or the first day of the week, keeps open or maintains, or who aids in opening or maintaining any dance-hall, dance-house, racetrack, gambling-house or pool-room, variety-hall, or any other place of amusement where any intoxicating liquors are sold or dispensed, is guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, however, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to such dancing-halls or pavilions as are maintained or conducted in public parks or playgrounds where no admission is charged, and where good order is maintained, and where no intoxicating liquors are sold.

Constitutionality

It is competent for the legislature to recognize different degrees of the possible evil tendencies inherent in different forms of amusement or entertainment, and classify the subjects for the purpose of appropriate regulation, without being open to the charge that the Act is arbitrary or unwarranted; and in making selections for classification a wide latitude is permitted. State v. Loomis, 75 M 88, 92, 242 P 344.

Id. Under the above, held that this section, prohibiting the keeping open of dance-halls, dance-houses, etc., on Sunday, is not invalid as making an arbitrary classification between dance-halls and theaters by exempting the latter places of amusement from the operation of the Act, although prior thereto they had been included in one class subject to police regulation.

Id. The state has the right to prescribe the territorial limits within which dance-houses or dance-halls may be conducted on Sunday; therefore this section, providing that a dance-hall or pavilion in a public park or playground may operate on Sunday under certain conditions, while one located outside thereof must remain closed on that day, does not arbitrarily discriminate between subjects of the same class, but does create two distinct classes based upon location, and hence is not objectionable as denying the equal protection of the law.

"Dance-House"

A dance-house or dance-hall is a place maintained for promiscuous and public dancing, the rules for admission to which are not based upon personal selection or invitations. State v. Loomis, 75 M 88, 92, 242 P 344.

Operation and Effect

This section, prohibiting the operation of dance-halls, dance-houses, etc., on Sunday, "or any other place of amusement where any intoxicating liquors are sold", construed, on application for writ of habeas corpus, and held, in view of the history of the legislation on Sunday observance and the rule of construction infra, to interdict the operation of a dance-hall on Sunday, even though intoxicating liquors are not sold therein. In re Klune, 74 M 332, 333, 240 P 286.

In view of the fact that the legislature has by statute recognized public dances as proper forms of public entertainment, subject only to reasonable regulation, it may not be said that the renting of school buildings for such dances is contrary to public policy. Young v. Board of Trustees et al., 90 M 576, 583, 4 P 2d 725.

11048.1. Penalty for giving or selling liquor to minors. Any person who shall sell, give away or dispose of intoxicating liquors to a minor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and for the first offense, be punishable by a fine of not less than two hundred and fifty dollars ($250.00), nor more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) and by imprisonment for not less than six (6) months nor more than one (1) year in the county jail, and for the second and subsequent offenses, he shall be guilty of a felony and punishable by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars ($500.00), nor more than two thousand dollars ($2000.00), and by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not less than one (1) year, nor more than two (2) years. Nothing herein contained shall prohibit the furnishing of intoxicating liquor to minors upon any physician's prescription where authorized by the laws of the United States nor the furnishing of wine for sacramental purposes.

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 122, L. 1927.

Operation and Effect

The information in a prosecution charging sale of intoxicating liquor to a minor under this section, need not specify the particular kind of liquor, the allegation that defendant sold certain intoxicating liquor, etc., being sufficient to advise defendant of the charge against him within the meaning of section 11843, R. C. M. 1921, declaring that the information must contain a statement of facts constituting the offense, in ordinary and concise language so as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended. State v. Baker, 87 M 295, 297, 286 P 1113. See also State v. Clark, 87 M 416, 421, 288 P 186.

11048.2. "Intoxicating liquor" defined. When used in this act, or in any other laws of the state relating to intoxicating liquors, the word "liquor" or the phrase "intoxicating liquor" shall be construed to include alcohol, brandy, whiskey, rum, gin, beer, ale, porter, and wine, and in addition thereto any spirituous, vinous, malt, or fermented liquor, liquids, and compounds, whether medicated, proprietary, patented or not, and by whatever name called containing one-half of one per centum, or more of alcohol by volume which are fit for use for beverage purposes; provided, that the foregoing definition shall not extend to dealcoholized wine, nor to any beverage or liquid produced by the process by which beer, ale, porter, or wine is produced, if it contains less than one-half of one per centum of alcohol by volume.

History: En. Sec. 2, Ch. 122, L. 1927.

CHAPTER 29

MAINTENANCE OF COMMON NUISANCES IN CONNECTION WITH THE SALE OF INTOXICATING LIQUORS, OPIUM, PROSTITUTION, AND GAMBLING

- Section 11123. Definition of "person" and "building."
 11124. Certain buildings declared nuisances.
 11125. County attorney to abate nuisance—when warrant may issue.
 11126. Verification of complaint—temporary injunction.
 11127. Precedence of actions—dismissal—costs.
 11128. Violation of injunction—punishment.
 11129. Order of abatement—sale of fixtures—closing of buildings—fees—service.
 11130. Proceeds of sale, how applied.
 11131. Owner may give bond—terms of bond—release of property.
 11132. Fine a lien on building.
 11133. Repealing clause.

11123. Definition of "person" and "building." The term "person" as used in this act shall be deemed and held to mean and include individuals, corporations, associations, partnerships, trustees, lessees, agents, and assignees. The term "building" as used in this act shall be deemed and held to mean and include so much of any building or structure of any kind as is or may be entered through the same outside entrance.

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 95, L. 1917; re-en. Sec. 11123, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

While the prior definition of a nuisance is enlarged, no new remedy is created, and the effect of this law is not to supplant the attorney-general as a proper party who may invoke the remedy on behalf of the state, but to extend the law by conferring upon a private citizen the right, and upon the county attorney the duty, to suppress the nuisances defined. State ex rel. Ford v. Young, 54 M 401, 404, 170 P 947.

11124. Certain buildings declared nuisances. Every building or place used for the purpose of lewdness, assignation, or prostitution, and every building or place wherein or upon which acts of lewdness, assignation, or prostitution are held or occur, and any building wherein gambling is carried on or occurs, contrary to any of the laws of the state of Montana, or wherein any wine rooms are conducted or maintained, contrary to the laws of the state of Montana, or wherein any opium or coca leaves, their salts, derivatives, and preparations thereof are sold or given away or used contrary to the laws of the state of Montana, is a nuisance which shall be enjoined, abated, and prevented as hereinafter provided, whether the same be a public or private nuisance.

History: En. Sec. 2, Ch. 95, L. 1917; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 76, L. 1921; re-en. Sec. 11124, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Since "abatement" of a common nuisance calls for the doing away of the nuisance, and to enjoin or suppress it is tantamount to abatement, the fact that a judgment in such a proceeding merely ordered that hereafter the keeping of liquor and the conducting of gambling games be prohibited therein and the building closed for one year, did not render it insufficient on the alleged ground that it contained no provision ordering the nuisance abated. State ex rel. Lamey v. Young, 72 M 408, 416, 234 P 248.

11125. County attorney to abate nuisance—when warrant may issue. Whenever there is a reason to believe that such nuisance is kept, maintained, or exists in any county of the state of Montana, the county attorney must, or any citizen of the county may, maintain an action in equity in the name of the state of Montana upon the relation of such county attorney or citizen as the case may be to abate and prevent such nuisance and to perpetually enjoin the person or persons conducting or maintaining the same, and the owner, lessee, or agent of the building, or place, in or upon which such nuisance exists, from directly or indirectly maintaining or permitting such nuisance.

No warrant shall be issued against the owner of a private dwelling occupied as such, unless some part of it is used as a store or shop, hotel or boarding-house, or for any other purpose than a private residence, or unless such residence is a place of public resort.

11127. Precedence of actions—dismissal—costs. The action when brought shall have precedence over all other actions, excepting criminal proceedings, election contests, and hearings on injunction, and in such action evidence of the general reputation of the place shall be admissible for the purpose of proving the existence of said nuisance. If the complaint is filed by a citizen, it shall not be dismissed by the plaintiff or for want of prosecution except upon a sworn statement made by the complainant and his attorney, setting forth the reasons why the action should be dismissed, and the dismissal ordered by the court. In case of failure to prosecute any such action with the reasonable diligence, or at the request of the plaintiff, the court, in its discretion, may substitute any such citizen consenting thereto for such plaintiff. If the action is brought by a citizen and the court finds there was no reasonable ground or cause for said action, the costs shall be taxed against such citizen.

11128. Violation of injunction—punishment. Any violation or disobedience of either any injunction or order expressly provided for by this act shall be punished as a contempt of court by a fine of not less than two hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than one month nor more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

11129. Order of abatement—sale of fixtures—closing of buildings—fees—service. If the existence of the nuisance be established in an action as provided herein, an order of abatement shall be entered as a part of the judgment in the case, which order shall direct the removal from the building or place of all fixtures, musical instruments, gambling paraphernalia, and movable property used in conducting, maintaining, aiding, or abetting the nuisance, and shall direct the sale thereof in the manner provided for the sale of chattels under execution, and the effectual closing of the building or place against its use for any purpose, and so keeping it closed for a period of one year; unless sooner released, as hereinafter provided. While such order remains in effect as to closing, such building or place shall be and remain in the custody of the court. For removing and selling the movable property, the officer shall be entitled to charge and receive the same fees as he would for levying upon and selling like property on execution, and for closing the premises, and keeping them closed, a reasonable sum shall be allowed by the court; provided, however, that any such fixtures, musical instruments, goods, wares, or merchandise, or other movable property, which has not been the active means of conducting such nuisance, shall, at any time prior to the sale thereof by the sheriff as above provided, be subject to attachment or execution at the instance of a bona fide creditor of the owner thereof, and may be subjected to bankruptcy or insolvency proceedings, the same as if such order of abatement had not been entered. When any such writ of attachment, execution, or other process is placed in the sheriff's hands for service upon any such property, his possession thereof under the order of abatement shall thereupon be deemed to be possession under such writ or process and equivalent to levy, attachment, and seizure thereof.

History: En. Sec. 7, Ch. 95, L. 1917; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 59, L. 1919; re-en. Sec. 11129, R. C. M. 1921.

11130. Proceeds of sale, how applied. The proceeds of the sale of the property, as provided in the preceding section, shall be applied as follows:

1. To the fees and costs of such removal and sale.
2. To the allowance and costs of so closing and keeping closed such building or place.
3. To the payment of the plaintiff's costs in such action.
4. The balance, if any, shall be paid into the common school fund of the school district in which the said property was seized.

If the proceeds of such sale do not fully discharge all such costs, fees, and allowances, the said building and place shall then also be sold under execution issued upon the order of the court or judge and the proceeds of such sale applied in like manner.

History: En. Sec. 8, Ch. 95, L. 1917; re-en. Sec. 11130, R. C. M. 1921.

11131. Owner may give bond—terms of bond—release of property. If the owner of the building or place has not been guilty of any contempt of court in the proceedings, and appears and pays all costs, fees, and allowances which are a lien on the building or place and files a bond in the full value of the property, to be ascertained by the court, with sureties, to be approved by the court or judge, conditioned that he will immediately abate any such nuisance that may exist at such building or place and prevent the same from being established or kept thereat within a period of one year thereafter, the court, or judge thereof, may, if satisfied of his good faith, order the premises closed, under the order of abatement, to be delivered to said owner, and said order of abatement canceled so far as the same may relate to said property. The release of the property under the provisions of this section shall not release it from any judgment, lien, penalty, or liability to which it may be subject by law.

History: En. Sec. 9, Ch. 95, L. 1917; re-en. Sec. 11131, R. C. M. 1921.

11132. Fine a lien on building. Whenever the owner of a building or place upon which the act or acts constituting the contempt shall have been committed, or of any interest therein has been guilty of a contempt of court and fined therefor in any proceedings under this act, such fine shall be a lien upon such building and place to the extent of the interest of such person therein enforceable and collectible by execution issued by the order of the court.

History: En. Sec. 10, Ch. 95, L. 1917; re-en. Sec. 11132, R. C. M. 1921.

11133. Repealing clause. All acts and parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed; provided, that nothing herein shall be construed as repealing any laws of the state of Montana for the suppression of lewdness, assignation, and prostitution, or for the suppression and prevention of gambling, or the suppression and regulation of wine rooms.

Amount of the Stakes Immaterial

This section makes no distinction as to the amount of the stakes involved; hence it is immaterial that the stakes were merely treats or cigars. State v. Dumphy, 57 M 229, 187 P 897.

Disposal of Money Found in Slot-Machines

From the fact that the Anti-gambling Law (this section through Sec. 11183), while providing for the seizure and destruction of apparatus used for gaming (Secs. 11166, 11167), does not authorize seizure of money contained in slot-machines and not found by the officer seizing them until they were about to be destroyed by order of court, it does not follow, in an action for its conversion by the operator of the machines, that the taking was unlawful or that plaintiff was entitled to its return. Dorrell v. Clark et al., 90 M 585, 593, 4 P 2d 712.

Id. The power of courts, whether at law or in equity, may not be invoked by a violator of the law to aid him in securing the fruits of his unlawful acts; hence an operator of slot-machines seized under authority of law may not maintain an action to recover money found in them upon their destruction and ordered by the court to be placed in the custody of the clerk of court. (Mr. Justice Angstman dissenting.)

Slot-Machines

A so-called mint vending machine which by the insertion of a nickel and pulling a lever will bring the operator a package of mint of the value of five cents, and which may or may not in addition bring to him trade checks good for five cents in trade (and which also may be operated by the insertion of a trade check, in which event trade checks but not mint may or may not be paid), is a gambling device; the machine appeals to the operator's propensities to gamble and lures him into continuing his play in the hope that he may gain an amount much greater than the amount risked. Marvin v. Sloan et al., 77 M 174, 178, 250 P 443.

Sufficiency of the Information

An information charging a violation of the anti-gambling law in the words of this section was sufficient, and it was not necessary to describe the game in detail, or set out the means by which it was carried on. State v. Ross, 38 M 319, 325, 99 P 1056.

An information charging defendant with permitting a game of chance to be played upon his premises is not defective because of its failure to set forth the names of the persons permitted to play. State v. Radmilovich, 40 M 93, 98, 105 P 91.

The particular name of a game of chance played with cards for money, checks, etc., need not be stated in the information. State v. Duncan, 40 M 531, 535, 107 P 510.

The allegation that the defendant did carry on, conduct, and cause to be conducted the game described is sufficient to charge an offense without regard to the expression "as owner and proprietor thereof", which may be regarded as surplusage. State v. Tudor, 47 M 185, 131 P 632.

11160. Possession of gambling implements prohibited. Any person who has in his possession, or under his control, or who permits to be placed, maintained or kept in any room, space, enclosure or building, owned, leased or occupied by him, or under his management or control, any faro box, faro lay-out, roulette-wheel, roulette-table, crap-table, slot-machine, or any machine or apparatus of the kind mentioned in the preceding section of this act, is punishable by a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars, and may be imprisoned for not less than three months nor more than one year in the discretion of the court; provided, however, that this section shall not apply to a public officer, or to a person coming into possession thereof in or by reason of the performance of an official duty and holding the same to be disposed of according to law.

Operation and Effect

The anti-gambling law was not rendered invalid by the insertion of this section, creating a right of action in favor of one losing at any of the prohibited games, to recover the amount lost, together with exemplary damages. The right thus given is in the nature of a penalty and constitutes a part of the penalty provided by the act. State v. Ross, 38 M 319, 324, 99 P 1056.

Under this case, held, that the complaint in an action to recover the amount of two dollars lost by plaintiff as an alleged bet on a horse-race, with exemplary damages, under this section, alleging in substance that defendant Fair Association had given notice that it would conduct horse-racing for purses, at which any owner or co-owner of a horse competing in the races would be required to pay an entrance fee of two dollars and that no person other than such owner or co-owners would be permitted to pay an entrance fee; that plaintiff representing himself to be a co-owner of a certain horse paid the required fee for that horse in a race to be run; that the horse did not win; that the purse plus an amount equal to the entrance fees for that horse was paid to the owners or co-owners of the winning horse; that the purse was made up of funds belonging to the association and that the association did not have any interest in the outcome of the race, etc., did not state a cause of action and that a demurrer thereto was properly sustained. Toomey v. Penwell et al., 76 M 166, 170, 245 P 943.

11174. Action may be brought by any dependent person. If any person losing such money or thing of value does not, within sixty days, without collusion or deceit, sue and with effect prosecute for the money or thing of value so lost and paid or delivered, any person, or a guardian of any person, dependent in any degree for support upon or entitled to the earnings of such persons losing said money or thing of value, or any citizen for the use of the person so dependent, may, within one year, sue for and recover the same, with costs of suit and exemplary damages as aforesaid, against any and all persons having any interest, direct or contingent, in the said game as backers, owners, or otherwise, as aforesaid.

Operation and Effect

Evidence held insufficient to justify conviction of a telegraph company for transmitting information for the purpose of having a bet or wager made upon a horserace in violation of this act. State v. Postal Telegraph Cable Co., 53 M 104, 107, 161 P 953.

Id. Since the offense denounced by this act consists of transmitting information concerning a horserace for the purpose of having bets or wagers made, an instruction would be given in a prosecution for such an offense that it is not wrongful to transmit such information if bets or wagers are not to be made.

Under this case, held, that the district court erred in enjoining a county attorney, at the instance of an association promoting dog races, from applying for an injunction to prevent it from proceeding with the holding of races, and from causing the arrest of its officers and agents for violating the provisions of this section, no contention being advanced that the Act is invalid, and the allegations that the association would be irreparably damaged by the threatened action of the attorney and that the latter was insolvent being insufficient to warrant the equitable relief granted. State v. District Court et al., 85 M 439, 279 P 234.

Superseded by Section 3189

Held, that section 3189, R. C. M. 1921, enacted in 1921 as section 1, Chapter 202, Laws of 1921, prohibiting the sale, inter alia, of coca leaves or a derivative thereof, supersedes section 3186, enacted in 1911, and this section, enacted in 1895, so far as it comprehends or conflicts with the subject matter of the two latter sections, and that the trial court's holding that an information charging the unlawful sale "of cocaine, a derivative of coca leaves" was based upon that section was correct. *State v. packages, by weight, puts in or conceals therein anything whatever, for the purpose of increasing the weight of such bag, bale, box, barrel, or package, with intent thereby to sell the goods therein, or to enable another to sell the same, for an increased weight, is punishable by fine of not less than twenty-five dollars for each offense.

inch square each, the word "oleomargarine," or the words "imitation cheese," as the case may be; and in the retail sale of such article or substance, in parcels or otherwise, the seller must deliver to the purchaser therewith a printed label, bearing the plainly printed words "oleomargarine" or "imitation cheese," plainly marked as aforesaid.

not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, or both, and the building or buildings owned by such persons may by order of the court be closed until the doors thereof be made to conform to the provision of this section.

Every person who sinks any shaft or runs any drift or cut, or causes the same to be done, within the limits of any city or town or village in this state, or within one mile of the corporate limits of any city or town, or within three hundred feet of any street, road, or public highway, and who shall fail to place a substantial cover over or tight fence around the same, is punishable by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars. The owner of any property, or his agent in charge thereof, or any person in possession of the same shall be deemed to be within the provisions of this act if he permit any such shaft, drift, or cut to remain open, exposed, or unprotected upon his property, or the property in his charge or possession, for a period of more than ten days. Mining, irrigating, and other ditches may be dug or cut to a depth not exceeding ten feet without incurring the penalty of this section.

City or Town

An illustration is found in this section of the frequent legislative use of the term "city or town" without any definite prefix, but under circumstances which would render it absurd to hold that only incorporated cities and towns are meant. State ex rel. Powers v. Dale, 47 M 227, 230, 131 P 670.

Constitutes Negligence Per Se

Failure to observe the duty imposed by this section, upon the person owning or in possession of property within the limits of a city or town, or within one mile of such limits, on which there is a mining shaft, to place a cover over or a tight fence around the same, is negligence per se. Conway v. Monidah Trust, 47 M 269, 278, 132 P 26. See Nixon v. Montana, Wyoming & Southwestern Ry. Co., 50 M 95, 100, 145 P 8; Kelley v. John R. Daily Co., 56 M 63, 73, 181 P 326.

Liability as to Trespasser

Though a plaintiff infant was a technical trespasser upon defendant's mining claim, into an unguarded shaft on which he fell, the defendant's omission to comply with the requirement imposed upon him by this section rendered him liable to damages for injuries suffered by the plaintiff. Conway v. Monidah Trust, 47 M 269, 279, 132 P 26. See Nixon v. Montana, Wyoming & Southwestern Ry. Co., 50 M 95, 100, 145 P 8.

Not Applicable to a Temporary Sewer Ditch

This section has no application to a ditch or trench temporarily opened for the purpose of laying sewer-pipe. McLaughlin v. Bardsen et al., 50 M 177, 145 P 954.

Owner Liable Even Though He Did Not Sink Shaft

The fact that defendant had not sunk the shaft into which plaintiff fell did not relieve him of liability, this section making it unlawful for the owner or possessor to permit the shaft to remain open or unprotected for a period of more than ten days, without regard to when or by whom it was sunk. Conway v. Monidah Trust, 47 M 269, 281, 132 P 26.

Within a Mile of the Corporate Limits

Evidence held insufficient to show that the shaft into which plaintiff fell was situated within a mile of the corporate limits of a city, a fact necessary to be shown to bring defendant within the purview of this section. Conway v. Monidah Trust, 47 M 269, 282, 132 P 26.

11268. Cages in mines must be cased in. It is unlawful for any corporation or person to sink or work, through any vertical shaft where mining cages are used, to a greater depth than three hundred feet, unless said shaft shall be provided with an iron-bonneted safety cage, to be used in the lowering and hoisting of the employees thereof, said cage to be also provided with sheet iron or steel casing not less than one-eighth inch in diameter; doors to be made of the same material shall be hung on hinges, or may be made to slide and shall not be less than five feet high from the bottom of the cage, and said door must be closed when lowering or hoisting the men. Provided, that when such cage is used for sinking only, it need not be equipped with such doors as are hereinbefore provided for. The safety apparatus, whether consisting of eccentrics, springs, or other device, must be securely fastened to the cage, and must be of sufficient strength to hold the cage loaded at any depth to which the shaft may be sunk. The iron bonnet of the aforesaid cage must be made of boiler sheet iron, of good quality, of at least three-sixteenths of an inch in thickness, and must cover the top of such cage in such manner as to afford the greatest protection to life and limb from anything falling down said shaft. It shall be the duty of the mining inspector and his assistant to see that all cages are kept in compliance with this section and to also see that the safety dogs are kept in good order. Every person or corporation failing to comply with any of the provisions of this section is punishable by a fine of not less than three hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars.

Effect of Failure to Comply on the Ordinary Rules and Standards of Negligence

Where the legislature has declared, as in the above section, that the master shall adopt certain precautions to guard against danger to his employees, the common-law rule of reasonable care is no longer the measure of his duty, and any failure on his part to observe the required precautions is such a breach of duty as will render him liable to the servant for any injury caused to the latter by his disobedience. Monson v. La France Copper Co., 39 M 50, 60, 101 P 243. See Westlake v. Keating Gold Min. Co., 48 M 120, 128, 136 P 38; Ball Ranch Co. v. Hendrickson, 50 M 220, 226, 146 P 278; Kelley v. John R. Daily Co., 56 M 63, 72, 181 P 326.

The failure of a mining company to equip the cage upon which plaintiff was being hoisted with doors, as required by this section, did not deprive said company of the right to interpose the defense of assumption of risk or contributory negligence. Osterholm v. Boston etc. Min. Co., 40 M 508, 527, 107 P 499.

The duty imposed on the employer by this statute is a continuing one, and where the employee has no choice, as where he is in a deep mining shaft and has no means of egress other than that provided by the employer, and must use a mining cage from which the doors are missing, contrary to the provisions of this section, he will be presumed to have submitted to its use from necessity, and, therefore, not to have assumed the attendant risk. Monson v. La France Copper Co., 43 M 65, 71, 114 P 778.

In an action in which damages were sought to be recovered for the death of a mine employee, charged to have been due to legal negligence of defendant in attempting to hoist him to the surface of the mine in a cage, the doors of which had not been closed as provided in this section, defendant was not, because of the fact that the statute makes omission in this respect punishable by a fine, limited to those defenses available in a criminal action, but could plead any of the defenses ordinarily interposed in negligence cases. Maronen v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 48 M 249, 261, 136 P 968.

Inadmissible Evidence on a Prosecution Under This Section

In a prosecution for the violation of this section, evidence that the devices or cages therein referred to would be dangerous is inadmissible, since the question whether such appliances were the best or wisest method is for the legislature to decide. State v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 23 M 498, 503, 59 P 854.

"Men" as Used Herein

The word "men" applies to the hoisting or lowering of one man, as well as to the men in a body when going on or off shift. Osterholm v. Boston etc. Min. Co., 40 M 508, 520, 107 P 499.

Nature of Section

This section is penal statute, and its violation is a crime; but the fact that a penalty is attached for its violation does not render the violator immune from civil liability under section 9076. Maronen v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 48 M 249, 258, 136 P 968.

Operation and Effect

In an action to recover damages for death of an employee by reason of having fallen out of a cage alleged to be due to defendant's negligence in failing to see that the doors of the cage were in place, the evidence must show that the alleged negligence was the efficient cause of the injury. Monson v. La France Copper Co., 39 M 50, 61, 101 P 243.

Plaintiff, whose limb was crushed by reason of an unguarded door, cannot be said to have waived the absence of the door by a request that it be removed, made by him some three months before the accident, where, between the time it was removed and the date of the injury, he had left the defendant's service, and where in the meantime much sinking had been done, during which operations there was no necessity for a door. Osterholm v. Boston etc. Min. Co., 40 M 508, 522, 107 P 499.

This section does not create any right of action or destroy any defense available at the time of its enactment. Maronen v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 48 M 249, 258, 136 P 968.

This section does not make it obligatory upon mine operators to employ a station-tender at each station to open and close the cage doors, where only a small number of miners is engaged in active mining, and does not prohibit, either expressly or impliedly, the imposition of the duty of opening and closing them upon a miner, provided he be capable, understands the method pursued in fulfilling the additional requirement, and is not encumbered with work which would interfere with its discharge. Maronen v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 48 M 249, 266, 136 P 968.

NOTE.—See sections 4551 to 4562 of the Political Code relating to licensing of athletic contests.

Operation and Effect

To hold that the provisions of this section relating to wrestling and slugging matches were intended to be repealed by chapter 97, act of 1913, known as the Kiley law, would be to give countenance to repeals by implication, inasmuch as the latter deals only with boxing contests, which it sanctions, but it does not touch the provisions of this section, which prohibits wrestling and slugging matches. State ex rel. Esgar v. District Court, 56 M 464, 467, 185 P 157.

Id. The Kiley law permitting boxing matches, which was referred to and rejected by the people, did not repeal this section.

11341. Burning defined. To constitute a burning within the meaning of this chapter it is not necessary that the building set on fire should have been destroyed. It is sufficient that fire is applied so as to take effect upon any part of the substance of the building.

11342. Ownership of the building. To constitute arson it is not necessary that a person other than the accused should have had ownership in the building set on fire. It is sufficient that at the time of the burning another person was rightfully in possession of or was actually occupying such building or any part thereof.

11343. Degrees of arson. Arson is divided into two degrees.

11344. Arson of the first degree—arson of the second degree. Maliciously burning in the night-time an inhabited building in which there is at the time some human being is arson in the first degree. All other kinds are arson of the second degree.

CHAPTER 41

BURGLARY AND HOUSEBREAKING—POSSESSION OF BURGLARIOUS INSTRUMENTS AND DEADLY WEAPONS

- Section 11346. Burglary defined.
 11347. Degrees of burglary.
 11348. Penalty.
 11349. Word "enter" defined.
 11350. Night-time defined.
 11351. Burglary with explosives.
 11352. Penalty.
 11353. Possession of burglarious instruments.
 11354. Carrying deadly weapon with intent to assault—penalty.

11346. Burglary defined. Every person who enters any house, room, apartment, tenement, shop, warehouse, store, mill, barn, stable, outhouse, or other building, tent, vessel, railroad car, with intent to commit grand or petit larceny or any felony, is guilty of burglary.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 58, p. 188, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 69, p. 281, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 69, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; amd. Sec. 1, p. 50, L. 1885; re-en. Sec. 73, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 820, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8620, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11346, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 459.

Act of Entry Must be a Trespass

Under this section the act of entry, to constitute a crime, must be itself a trespass, and the information should therefore negative the idea that the defendant, at the time of entry, had the right to enter. State v. Mish, 36 M 168, 170, 92 P 459. See State v. Rodgers, 40 M 248, 251, 106 P 3.

In order to constitute a burglarious entry within the meaning of this section, defining burglary, the nature of the entry must be itself a trespass, i. e., the invasion of the possession of another. State v. Starkweather, 89 M 381, 385, 297 P 497.

Id. Defendant, convicted of burglary in the night-time, was operating a barber-shop, located in the front part of a pool-hall, under a lease; he had a key to the back door leading into the pool-hall, in which cigars were kept for sale, through which door he was required to go to gain access to the basement for the purpose, among others, of keeping fire in a heater which provided hot water for the shop. The lessor, suspecting defendant of stealing cigars, wired the back door and discovered him early in the morning climbing through the transom above the door into the pool-hall and abstracting two cigars from the case. Held, that under the lease defendant had the unrestricted right to enter the pool-hall at any time during the day or night, and the prosecuting witness had no right to wire shut the door; that defendant in gaining entrance into the pool-hall as he did, did not invade the possession of the owner, and hence was not guilty of any greater offense than petit larceny.

Corpus Delicti may be Proven by Circumstantial Evidence

Held, that the corpus delicti in all criminal prosecutions (except in cases of homicide, Sec. 10962, R. C. M. 1921), need not be established by direct and positive proof but may be proven by circumstantial evidence, and that in the instant case (burglary) it was so proven, the fact that there was no evidence to show how the entry was made being immaterial. State v. Dixon, 80 M 181, 260 P 138.

Elements of Burglary

The entry of a building with the intent to commit a larceny or some felony is all that by the statute is made essential to the crime of burglary. The gravamen of the charge is the entry with this criminal intent. State v. Rogers, 31 M 1, 3, 77 P 293.

In a prosecution for burglary it is not necessary to prove that a larceny was committed, the gravamen of the offense being the entry with intent to commit that or some other crime mentioned in the statute. State v. Ebel, 92 M 413, 416, 15 P 2d 233.

Evidence Showing Sufficient Entry

Evidence in a prosecution for burglary committed by entering a barn the opening into which was guarded by a canvas curtain instead of by a door, for the purpose of stealing parts of an automobile, examined and held sufficient to show an entry with intent to commit larceny. State v. Larson, 75 M 274, 277, 243 P 566.

"House" or "Building"

A structure which has walls on all sides and is covered by a roof is a "house" or a "building" within the meaning of this section, defining the crime of burglary as the entry therein with intent to commit grand or petit larceny or any felony. State v. Ebel, 92 M 413, 416, 15 P 2d 233.

Id. Held, that a sheep-herder's wagon, designed for the purpose of habitation by the herder and the housing of his goods and chattels, being inclosed with four walls and roofed over, meets the above definition of a house or building, the fact that it was not affixed to the soil, but movable from place to place, being immaterial; hence an information charging unlawful entry of such a wagon was sufficient to state a public offense.

Ownership of Building—Pleading

While the ownership of the room or building, charged in an information for burglary to have been entered by defendant, need not be specifically alleged, it is the safer practice to do so, if known to the pleader. State v. Mish, 36 M 168, 173, 92 P 459. See State v. Rodgers, 40 M 248, 251, 106 P 3.

Sufficiency of the Information

In an information charging burglary, the time during the twenty-four hours of the day at which the entry into any of the structures enumerated in this section was made need not be alleged, inasmuch as the degree of the offense, whether committed in the day or night-time, is to be determined by the jury under proper instructions. State v. Copenhagen, 35 M 342, 344, 89 P 61; State v. Mish, 36 M 168, 175, 92 P 459.

Value of Article not Essential to Pleadings

Since it is burglary under this section to enter a house or room with intent to commit petit as well as grand larceny, it is unnecessary to allege the value of the articles sought to be stolen in an information charging an attempt to enter a certain room in a lodging-house with intent to commit larceny. State v. Mish, 36 M 168, 174, 92 P 459. See State v. Rodgers, 40 M 248, 251, 106 P 3.

In a prosecution for burglary, under a charge that defendant feloniously entered the building in question with intent to commit larceny therein, the state was not required to prove the value of the articles taken therefrom; but where the articles taken consisted of gold watches, fountain pens, etc., introduced at the trial as exhibits, the jury must be held to have been sufficiently advised that they had some value. State v. Dixon, 80 M 181, 260 P 138.

11347. Degrees of burglary. Every burglary committed in the night-time is burglary in the first degree, and every burglary committed in the daytime is burglary in the second degree.

History: En. Sec. 1, p. 50, L. 1885; 8621, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11347, amd. Sec. 74, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 460. amd. Sec. 821, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec.

Operation and Effect

Where the defendant was specifically charged with burglary in the night-time, constituting the first degree of the offense of burglary, the jury could not convict him of the crime in its second degree, as having been committed in the day-time. State v. Copenhaver, 35 M 342, 344, 89 P 61.

11349. Word "enter" defined. The word "enter," as used in this chapter, includes the entrance of the offender into such house, room, apartment, tenement, shop, warehouse, stable, outhouse, or other building, tent, vessel, or railroad car, or the insertion therein of any part of his body, or of any instrument or weapon held in his hand, or used or intended to be used, to threaten or intimidate the inmates, or to detach or remove the property.

Operation and Effect

Evidence in a prosecution for burglary committed by entering a barn the opening to which was guarded by a canvas curtain instead of by a door, for the purpose of stealing parts of an automobile, examined and held sufficient to show an entry with intent to commit larceny. State v. Larson, 75 M 274, 277, 243 P 566.

11350. Night-time defined. The phrase "night-time," as used in this chapter, means the period between sunset and sunrise.

11351. Burglary with explosives. Any person who enters a building belonging to another with intent to commit a felony or other crime by the use of nitroglycerine, dynamite, gunpowder, or other high explosives, or who commits a burglary by the use of any such explosives, is guilty of burglary with explosives.

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 107, L. 1907; Sec. 8625, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11351, R. C. M. 1921.

11352. Penalty. Burglary with explosives is punishable by imprisonment in state prison for not less than fifteen years, and not more than forty years.

History: En. Sec. 2, Ch. 107, L. 1907; Sec. 8626, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11352, R. C. M. 1921.

11353. Possession of burglarious instruments. Every person having upon him or in his possession a picklock, crow, key, bit, or other instrument or tool with intent feloniously to break or enter into any building, or who shall knowingly make or alter or shall attempt to make or alter any key or other instrument above named so that the same will fit or open the lock of a building without being requested so to do by some person having the right to open the same, or who shall make, alter, or repair any instrument or thing, knowing or having reason to believe that it is intended to be used in committing a misdemeanor or felony, is guilty of a misdemeanor. Any of the structures mentioned in section 11346 of these codes shall be deemed to be a building within the meaning of this section.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 132, p. 210, Ban- Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 830, Pen. C. 1895; nack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 149, p. 304, Cod. re-en. Sec. 8627, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 149, 4th Div. Rev. 11353, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 174, 4th Div. Comp. 466.

11354. Carrying deadly weapon with intent to assault—penalty. Every person having upon him a deadly weapon with intent to assault another is guilty of a felony, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison for a term of not less than one year nor more than five years.

History: En. Sec. 831, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8628, Rev. C. 1907; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 79, L. 1919; re-en. Sec. 11354, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 467.

Operation and Effect

To constitute the crime of carrying a deadly weapon with intent to commit an assault (this section), evidence that an assault was committed is not alone sufficient, but it devolves upon the state to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that defendant armed himself for the specific purpose of committing the assault, and it is not permissible to infer such intent from the bare fact that he bore a weapon at the time of the assault. State v. Hodge, 84 M 24, 27, 273 P 1049.

Id. Held, under the above rule, that conviction of defendant charged with the offense therein mentioned, who on observing another driving a herd of cattle toward his range, intercepted them on a public road and, flourishing his revolver over his head, threatened violence if they were driven farther, was unwarranted in the absence of proof that he had armed himself for the specific purpose of committing the assault, and that therefore the trial court properly granted defendant a new trial.

Essential Elements

The essential elements of the crime of forgery are: A false making of an instrument in writing; a fraudulent intent, and a writing which, if genuine, might apparently be of legal efficacy or the foundation of legal liability. State v. Alexander et al., 73 M 329, 332, 236 P 542.

To constitute the crime of forgery there must have been a false writing, the intent to defraud, and it must appear that the instrument, if genuine, would have validity, i. e., if genuine, it would expose a particular person to legal process, apparent legal efficiency being sufficient. Ex parte Solway, 82 M 89, 93, 265 P 21.

Instrument Must be Legally Valid

To constitute forgery, the instrument, alleged to have been forged, must be one which, if genuine, would have legal validity; hence, if an instrument, though falsely made, shows upon its face that it has no legal validity, it cannot be made the basis of a charge of forgery. State v. Evans, 15 M 539, 541, 39 P 850; In re Farrell, 36 M 254, 260, 92 P 785. See also County of Silver Bow v. Davies, 40 M 418, 425, 107 P 81, and American Bonding Co. v. State Sav. Bank, 47 M 332, 337, 133 P 367.

A juror's certificate, which did not bear the seal required by the statute, did not constitute a legal liability against the county, and, being void on its face, a charge of forgery could not be predicated upon it. In re Farrell, 36 M 254, 266, 92 P 785. See also County of Silver Bow v. Davies, 40 M 418, 425, 107 P 81, and American Bonding Co. v. State Sav. Bank, 47 M 332, 337, 133 P 367. Compare Choate v. Spencer, 13 M 127, 132, 32 P 651; Sharman v. Huot, 20 M 555, 557, 52 P 558; Kipp v. Burton, 29 M 96, 103, 74 P 85.

Sufficiency of Alteration

The changing of an order for school supplies by detaching a portion thereof so as to create, out of what was not intended as a promissory note, a negotiable instrument, is such a material alteration of the original instrument as to constitute a forgery, if done with a criminal intent. State v. Mitten, 37 M 366, 376, 96 P 926. See First National Bank v. Barrett, 52 M 359, 365, 157 P 951.

Sufficiency of Information

An information charging the forgery of an indorsement of a certificate of deposit, which was set out in full in the information and contained the words "H. D. & Co., Bankers" at the top and above the date, and was signed "H. D. & Co." and was made payable to the order of the depositor, is sufficient, although no bank is referred to in the information, and there is no allegation therein of extrinsic facts to show that "H. D. & Co." had any bank in which money was deposited. State v. Patch, 21 M 534, 536, 55 P 108.

It is necessary that the information shall set forth the particulars in which the instrument is alleged to have been altered, in order that the trial court may say, as a matter of law, whether the alteration is of such a character as to constitute the crime of forgery. State v. Mitten, 36 M 376, 382, 92 P 969.

Id. One charged with forgery in fraudulently making an instrument cannot be proved guilty by showing that he altered the same.

Where the information charging forgery in alleging criminal intent on the part of the defendant names a number of persons as having been defrauded, among them the bank upon which the check in question was drawn and which paid it, and the person to whom it was given in payment of a debt, neither one of whom could be damaged because the signature was genuine, proof that the remaining two suffered loss was sufficient to justify a verdict of guilty; under such circumstances the allegation as to the first two may be disregarded as surplusage. State v. Daems, 97 M 486, 497, 37 P 2d 322.

What Constitutes a Sufficient Forgery

Since the acts constituting forgery as stated in this section are in the disjunctive, any one of the acts named, if done with the intent to defraud another, constitutes the crime; hence where one forges a check, with such intent, he is guilty of forgery even though he makes no attempt to publish, utter or pass it; and indorsement on a check being no part of the instrument, it is immaterial that a forged check was not indorsed. Ex Parte Solway, 82 M 89, 93, 265 P 21.

What Does not Constitute

A bank in this state had in its possession travelers' checks which it held in trust for a New York bank with authority to sell them under agreement to immediately remit the price to the latter bank. An officer of the former, who had authority to do so, issued one of the checks when the bank was insolvent without requiring the purchaser to pay therefore or remitting the price. Held, that since the officer issuing the check, which the New York bank was compelled to pay, was authorized to "make" the writing by inserting the date, the amount and the name of the selling bank, and the purchaser who signed it was a real and not a fictitious person, there was no false making of the instrument and the information charging the officer with forgery was properly dismissed on general demurrer. State v. Alexander et al., 73 M 329, 332, 236 P 542.

What may be Forged

A city warrant, regular on its face, and apparently drawn according to law on the city treasurer, signed by the mayor and countersigned by the city clerk, for the payment of moneys out of a specific fund, is a draft, and is therefore the subject of forgery under a statute making it a forgery to "falsely make, alter, forge, or counterfeit any writing obligatory, draft," etc. State v. Brett, 16 M 360, 369, 40 P 873.

When Just the Passing of a Forged Instrument May be Forgery

To justify a conviction of one charged with uttering a note while knowing it to be forged, it is not necessary to show that the forgery in the first instance was committed by the defendant. If, knowing that the instrument was in fact a forgery, he passed it as true and genuine with a felonious intent, he is guilty of forgery. State v. Mitten, 37 M 366, 372, 96 P 926. See First National Bank v. Barrett, 52 M 359, 365, 157 P 951.

11368. Larceny defined. Every person who, with the intent to deprive or defraud the true owner of his property, or of the use and benefit thereof, or to appropriate the same to the use of the taker, or of any other person either—

1. Takes from the possession of the true owner, or of any other person; or obtains from such possession by color or aid of fraudulent or false representation or pretense, or of any false token or writing, or secretes, withholds, or appropriates to his own use, or that of any other person other than the true owner, any money, personal property, thing in action, evidence of debt or contract, or article of value of any kind; or,

2. Having in his possession, custody, or control, as a bailee, servant, attorney, agent, clerk, trustee, or officer of any person, association, or corporation, or as a public officer, or as a person authorized by agreement or by competent authority to hold, or take such possession, custody, or control, any money, property, evidence of debt, or contract, article of value of any nature, or thing in action or possession, appropriates the same to his own use, or that of any other person other than the true owner, or person entitled to the benefit thereof, steals such property and is guilty of larceny.

Criminal Intent

Since, to constitute the crime of larceny there must have been a criminal intent to permanently deprive the owner of the property taken, evidence showing that defendant cashier delivered a Liberty Bond held in trust by his bank for a subscriber, in behalf of his bank, as collateral security to another bank, with the intention that it should be redeemed within a short time, which was done before the information against him for larceny was filed, held insufficient to support a verdict of guilty. State v. Wallin, 60 M 332, 341, 199 P 285.

Larceny by Bailee

A partner cannot commit larceny of the funds or property of the partnership of which he is a member; but, until an agreement to form a partnership ripens into a consummation of the agreement, a person who contemplates becoming a partner may become the bailee of his prospective partner, and, if he feloniously appropriates the latter's property to his own use, he may be convicted of larceny as bailee. State v. Brown, 38 M 309, 315, 99 P 954.

Where a party let defendant have a check under an agreement that he would use the proceeds in his own business for cashing miners' pay checks and repay the amount on a certain day, the transaction amounted to a loan for exchange and title to the money was transferred to the borrower, the loan to be repaid at some future time. The appropriation of it by the defendant, therefore, to a use other than that for which it was advanced did not render him liable to a prosecution for larceny as bailee under subdivision 2 of this section. State v. Karri, 51 M 157, 162, 149 P 956.

Where the legal title to a bond was in a bank as trustee and in the possession of it in the cashier only by virtue of his office, a prosecution against the latter under subdivision 2 of this section, under a charge of larceny by bailee, could not be maintained. State v. Wallin, 60 M 332, 341, 199 P 285.

Larceny or Embezzlement—What Constitutes

Where the secretary-treasurer of a corporation entered into a contract with his principal to sell unsold treasury stock on a commission to be paid only when cash for the stock had been received, and he made fictitious sales, forged notes given in payment, manipulated the books so as to show him entitled to commissions and drew checks against the corporation's account for such commissions although not earned, converting the money to his own use, he violated his duty to his employer, which violation amounted to larceny or embezzlement within the meaning of this section, and his acts constituted a breach of defendant surety company's bond insuring the employer against such acts. Montana A. F. Corp. v. Federal Surety Co., 85 M 149, 162, 278 P 116.

Owner Must Have Been Deprived of Title as Well as Possession to Constitute Larceny

To convict under this section it is necessary to prove that the defendant obtained the money or property in question under circumstances showing that the owner parted with the title thereto, and not merely with the possession thereof. State v. Dickinson, 21 M 595, 55 P 539.

Proof of Ownership—Sufficiency

While the ownership of property (live-stock) charged to have been stolen must be alleged, its particular ownership is not of the essence of the crime, the allegation in this behalf being merely a matter of description which does not give character to the act, and the same strictness of proof is not required as in the proof of material facts. State v. Grimsley, 96 M 327, 330, 30 P 2d 85.

Id. In a prosecution for the larceny of calves, allegedly owned by a partnership, evidence, though falling short of technical proof that the two owners were partners, held sufficient to warrant a finding by the jury that the animals were partnership property.

Receiving Stolen Property

While one who steals property is not an accomplice of one who receives it knowing it to have been stolen, the two offenses constituting distinct crimes, where the thief and the receiver conspire together in advance of the larceny for one to steal and the other to receive, they are principals, and each is an accomplice of the other. State v. Keithley, 83 M 177, 181, 271 P 452.

Stock is Subject of Larceny

Shares of corporate stock are property and the subject of larceny. State v. Letterman, 88 M 244, 254, 292 P 717.

Sufficiency of the Information or Indictment

The ownership of property is not of the essence of the crime of larceny under this section, which abolishes the distinction recognized at common law between cases where the possession had been unlawfully obtained and those where the possession had been lawful, and an information is not bad for duplicity where it charges that the defendant had money in his possession as agent of three persons which he appropriated to his own use. State v. Mjelde, 29 M 490, 75 P 87.

An indictment charging defendant with larceny as bailee in the words of the statute, and in the form prescribed by section 11844, was sufficient, and not open to the objection that it failed to describe the character of the bailment. State v. Brown, 38 M 309, 312, 99 P 954.

Id. An indictment charging the defendant with larceny as bailee must contain an averment of the bailment, but the particulars of the bailment need not be averred.

Defendant was charged with the larceny (common theft) of a certificate of building and loan stock. The theory of the prosecution in making its case was that the theft was accomplished by means of deceit and artifice, and the evidence showed that the complaining witness knowingly parted with title to the certificate in making a new investment in a corporation in the conduct of which defendant was shown to have been guilty of fraud and bad faith. He was convicted of the crime as charged. Held, that the conviction was illegal because of the fatal variance between the crime charged and the proof offered in support thereof, entitling defendant to his discharge. State v. Lund, 93 M 169, 18 P 2d 603.

Information charging defendant, president of a brokerage firm, with larceny as bailee of a sum of money, couched substantially in the language of subdivision 2 of this section, was sufficient and not vulnerable to a general demurrer. State v. Lake, 99 M 128, 136, 43 P 2d 627.

Term "Feloniously" or its Equivalent is Essential

In a prosecution for the crime of grand larceny a charge to the jury which omits the terms "feloniously," or any other equivalent words which would indicate to the jury that in larceny a felonious intent is necessary to authorize a conviction, constitutes reversible error. State v. Rehnitz, 20 M 488, 52 P 264.

An information charging the defendant with grand larceny, in that he "wilfully, unlawfully, and feloniously, and with the intent then and there to steal, did take, steal, carry, and drive away" a certain mare and colt, is not open to the objection that it fails to allege that the taking was done with felonious intent—since the term "feloniously" imports criminal intent—but is sufficient both under the common law and under this section and section 11371. State v. Allen, 34 M 403, 406, 87 P 177.

Where, in a prosecution for grand larceny, the court gave a definition of "lar-cey" in the language of this section, and further charged the jury that in every crime or public offense there must exist a union or joint operation of act and intent, and that to find defendant guilty it was sufficient to show that he had appropriated the property mentioned in the information "without color of right or authority," the instructions were erroneous, for the reason that they omitted the element of felonious or criminal intent. State v. Peterson, 36 M 109, 110, 92 P 302.

11369. Uttering fraudulent checks or drafts—evidence. Any person who, with intent to defraud, shall make or draw or utter or deliver any check, draft, or order for the payment of money, upon any bank or other depository, knowing at the time of such making, drawing, uttering, or delivering that the maker or drawer has not sufficient funds in or credit with such bank or depository for the payment of such check, draft, or order, although no especial representation is made in reference thereto, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, if said check, draft, or order is for the sum of fifty dollars or less; and if said check, draft, or order is for more than fifty dollars, shall be deemed a felony and punished as provided for in section 11373 of this code, for grand larceny. In any prosecution under this section as against the maker, or drawer thereof, the making, drawing, uttering, or delivering of a check, draft, or order, payment of which is refused by the drawee because of lack of funds or credit, shall be prima facie evidence of intent to defraud and all knowledge of insufficient funds in or credit with such bank or depository, provided such maker or drawer shall not have paid the drawee thereof the amount due thereon, within five days after receiving notice that such check, draft, or order has not been paid by the drawee. The word "credit" as used herein shall be construed to mean an arrangement or an understanding with the bank or depository for payment of such check, draft, or order.

Evidence Insufficient to Convict

Defendant was convicted of uttering a fraudulent check. The check was post-dated and at the time it was given to the complaining witness he was advised by defendant that he did not then have sufficient funds in the bank on which it was drawn (located outside the state) but that by the time it was received by the bank it would be all right. Held, that the gist of the offense charged under this section being fraudulent intent, the evidence was insufficient to show such intent and that the representation made was more in the nature of a future promise than that of a misrepresentation of an existing fact and therefore did not warrant conviction. State v. Patterson, 75 M 315, 316, 243 P 355.

Held, that the charge of grand larceny against an attorney committed in issuing worthless checks, claimed by him to have been given without consideration, while intoxicated and to enable him to engage in a gambling game, was not supported by the evidence, as found by the referee. 11370. Grand and petit larceny. Larceny is divided into two degrees, the first of which is termed grand larceny, the second petit larceny.

11371. Grand larceny defined. Grand larceny is larceny committed with a felonious intent in either of the following cases:

1. When the property taken is of value exceeding fifty dollars.
2. When the property taken is from the person of another.
3. When the property taken is a stallion, mare, gelding, colt, foal, or filly, cow, steer, bull, stag, heifer, calf, mule, jack, jenny, goat, sheep, or hog.

4. If any person or persons shall steal, or with intent to steal shall take, carry, drive, lead, or entice away any mare, gelding, stallion, colt, foal, or filly, mule, jack or jenny, ox, cow, bull, stag, heifer, steer, calf, sheep, goat, or hog, being the property of another, he or they shall be deemed guilty of grand larceny; and shall be liable to the person or persons whose property is stolen for the said property or the value thereof, and for any expenses by him or them incurred in endeavoring to make reclamation thereof.

Refers to Live Animals

As this section refers to live animals only, defendants, who were charged with stealing certain heifers, the carcasses of which, dressed for beef, were found concealed on the range, could be convicted only upon evidence showing beyond a reasonable doubt that they killed, or took part in killing, the animals. State v. Keeland, 39 M 506, 512, 104 P 513.

Sufficiency of Information

An information, alleging that accused did take, steal, drive, lead, and entice away one steer, the property of a person named, with a felonious intent on the part of the accused to deprive the true owner thereof, and to steal the same, charges "grand larceny," as defined by subdivision 4 of this section. State v. Biggs, 45 M 400, 402, 123 P 410.

An information charging that defendant stole a "horse" is a sufficient charge of grand larceny under this section. State v. Collins, 53 M 213, 163 P 102.

Value of Animal Stolen Immaterial

Under this section, the value of a cow alleged to have been stolen is not a matter in issue; therefore refusal to permit a witness to be cross-examined as to the value of the animal was not an abuse of discretion. State v. McClain et al., 76 M 351, 357, 246 P 956.

Under this section, the stealing of a calf is made grand larceny, regardless of its value, and therefore the jury in such a case are not required to make a finding in their verdict as to the value of the animal stolen. State v. Ingersoll, 88 M 126, 131, 292 P 250.

Value of Several Articles may be Aggregated to Charge Grand Larceny

Where the larceny is of several different articles, taken in substantially the same transaction, their value may be aggregated, in order to make out a charge of grand larceny. In re Jones, 46 M 122, 125, 126 P 929.

Value When Material

The other elements of the crime of larceny being proven, if the property stolen is shown beyond a reasonable doubt to be of value, the amount of the value is material only in determining the degree of which defendant is guilty; and where there was testimony that stolen articles were of substantial value, the evidence was sufficient to sustain a verdict of guilty of petit larceny—the taking of a thing of the value of fifty dollars or less. State v. Dimond, 82 M 110, 114, 265 P 5.

11372. Petit larceny defined. Larceny in other cases is petit larceny.

Operation and Effect

Where there are two or more distinct larcenies, the general rule is that they cannot be aggregated so as to make the value of the property stolen sufficient to constitute grand larceny, where the value of the property taken at any one time was not sufficient for that purpose. But there is an exception to this rule, that though the larceny is of several different articles, if they are taken in substantially the same transaction, their value may be aggregated, in order to make out a charge of grand larceny. In re Jones, 46 M 122, 125, 126 P 929.

The other elements of the crime of larceny being proven, if the property stolen is shown beyond a reasonable doubt to be of value, the amount of the value is material only in determining the degree of which defendant is guilty; and where there was testimony that stolen articles were of substantial value, the evidence was sufficient to sustain a verdict of guilty of petit larceny—the taking of a thing of the value of fifty dollars or less. State v. Dimond, 82 M 110, 114, 265 P 5.

11373. Punishment of grand larceny. Grand larceny is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for not less than one nor more than fourteen years.

Operation and Effect

Grand larceny and petit larceny are but two separate degrees of the crime of larceny; there is no punishment prescribed for larceny as such, but the degree of punishment is made to depend upon the degree of the crime. State v. Wiley, 53 M 383, 386, 164 P 84.

11376. Larceny of lost property. One who finds lost property under circumstances which give him knowledge of or means of inquiry as to the real owner and who appropriates such property to his own use or to the use of another person not entitled thereto, without first making reasonable and just efforts to find the owner and restore the property to him, is guilty of larceny.

11377. Larceny of written instruments. If the thing stolen consists of any evidence of debt or other written instrument the amount of money due thereon or secured to be paid thereby and remaining unsatisfied, or which in any contingency might be collected thereon, or the value of the property, the title to which is shown thereby, or the sum which might be recovered in the absence thereof, is the value of the thing stolen

An instruction in a prosecution for the larceny of promissory notes that the amount of money due on the notes or secured to be paid thereby and remaining unsatisfied was their value, was correct under this section, and one offered by defendant to the effect that evidence relating to the instrument should be disregarded because it has not been shown that they had any value was properly refused, where one of the notes was introduced in evidence and the value of the other was shown by books of account, thus making out a prima facie case for the state. State v. Cassill et al, 71 M 274, 279, 229 P 716.

11378. Value of passage tickets. If the thing stolen is any ticket or other paper or writing entitling or purporting to entitle the holder or proprietor thereof to a passage upon any railroad or vessel, or other public conveyance, the price at which tickets entitling a person to a like passage are usually sold by the proprietors of such conveyance is the value of such ticket, paper, or writing.

11379. Written instruments completed but not delivered. All the provisions of this chapter apply where the property taken is an instrument for the payment of money, evidence of debt, public security, or passage ticket, completed and ready to be issued or delivered, although the same has never been issued or delivered by the makers thereof to any person as a purchaser or owner.

11380. Severing and removing part of the realty. The provisions of this chapter apply where the thing taken is a fixture or part of the realty, and is severed at the time of the taking, in the same manner as if the thing had been severed by another person at some previous time.

11381. Larceny and receiving stolen property out of the state. Every person who, in another state or country, steals the property of another, or receives such property knowing it to have been stolen, and brings the same into this state, may be convicted and punished in the same manner as if such larceny or receiving had been committed in this state.

Operation and Effect

In a prosecution under this section, the information need not allege when and where the taking actually occurred, such matters being evidentiary and open to proof without specific allegation; the charge is sufficient if it be the same in form as for a larceny committed in this state. State v. Willette, 46 M 326, 328, 127 P 1013.

11382. Conversion by trustee, larceny. Every person acting as executor, administrator, guardian, receiver, the officer of any bank or corporation, or trustee of any description appointed by a deed, will, or other instrument, or by an order or judgment of a court, judge, or officer, who secretes, withholds, or otherwise appropriates to his own use, or that of any person other than the true owner, or person entitled thereto, any money, goods, thing in action, security, evidence of debt or property, or other valuable thing, or any proceeds thereof, in his possession or custody, by virtue of his office, employment, or appointment, is guilty of larceny in such degree as is herein prescribed with reference to the value of such property.

History: En. Sec. 894, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8656, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11382, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Where a guardian, who had given ample security to account for all funds coming into his hands as such, and who was personally able to raise the amount thereof on demand, under a misapprehension that he had a right to do so, temporarily employed guardianship funds to repay a loan, thus technically appropriating them to his own use, he nevertheless could not be adjudged guilty of larceny under this section, especially where, at the settlement of the estate, he fully accounted for all moneys paid over to him as guardian. Smith v. Smith, 45 M 535, 580, 125 P 987.

An information charging that, while acting as cashier of a bank, defendant feloniously converted a Liberty Bond to his own use, was insufficient for failure to allege that the bond came into his possession by virtue of his office. State v. Wallin, 60 M 332, 339, 199 P 285.

Defendant, a bank officer, whose personal account with the bank was overdrawn, drew a draft on another bank and credited his account with the amount thereof; the draft was returned unpaid and he then charged it to the account of one of the bank's depositors. No actual money was taken and the cash account of the bank was not diminished. Held, that while defendant may have been guilty of falsifying the books of the bank or of misapplication of a credit belonging to another his act did not constitute larceny from the bank as charged in the information. State v. Rarey, 72-M 270, 275, 233 P 615.

11383. Verbal false pretense, not larceny. A purchase of property by means of false pretense is not criminal where the false pretense relates to the purchaser's means or ability to pay, unless the pretense is made in writing and signed by the party to be charged.

History: En. Sec. 895, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8657, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11383, R. C. M. 1921.

11384. Claim of title, ground of defense. Upon an indictment, information or complaint for larceny it is a sufficient defense that the property was appropriated openly and avowedly under a claim of title preferred in good faith, even though such claim is untenable. The fact that the defendant intended to restore the property taken is no ground of defense if it has not been restored before complaint, to a magistrate or court, charging the commission of the offense, has been made.

History: En. Sec. 896, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8658, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11384, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Though in a prosecution for larceny, appropriation by defendant of the property in question openly and under a claim of title preferred in good faith is, under this section, a sufficient defense, it lies within the jury's province to say whether or not he established the defense by his evidence. State v. Letterman, 88 M 245, 255, 292 P 717.

11385. Larceny of gas or electricity. Every person who, with intent to injure or defraud, procures, makes, or causes to be made, any pipe, tube, wire, or other conductor of gas or electricity, and connects the same, or causes it to be connected, with any main, service-pipe, or other pipe for conducting or supplying illuminating gas or any wires or other conductor of electricity, in such manner as to supply illuminating gas or electricity to any lamp, motor, burner, or orifice, by or at which illuminating gas or electricity is consumed, around or without passing through the meter provided for the measuring and registering the quantity consumed, or in any other manner so as to evade payment therefor, and every person who, with like intent, injures or alters any gas or electric meter, or obstructs its action, is guilty of a misdemeanor. In prosecutions for offenses under this section, proof that any of the acts herein forbidden have been done in, upon, or about the premises owned or used by the defendant charged with the commission of such offense in such a manner as to decrease or lessen the amount he should pay under his understanding or contract with any person or corporation engaged in the business of furnishing and selling gas or electricity, shall be prima facie evidence of the guilt of said defendant.

11386. Larceny of water, gas and electricity. Every person who, with intent to injure or defraud, connects or causes to be connected, any pipe, tube, wire, electrical conductor or other instrument with any main, service-pipe, or other pipe or conduit or flume for conducting water, or with any main, service-pipe, or other pipe or conduit for conducting gas, or with any main service wires or other electrical conductor used for the purpose of conducting electricity for light or motive service, for the purpose of taking therefrom water, gas, or electricity without the knowledge of the owner thereof and with intent to evade payment therefor, is guilty of a misdemeanor. In prosecutions for offenses under this section proof that any of the acts herein forbidden have been done in, upon, or about the premises owned or used by the defendant charged with the commission of such offense in such a manner as to provide for such defendant's use, water, gas or electricity shall be prima facie evidence of the guilt of the defendant.

11387. False device for measuring gas, water, or electricity. Every person or persons, or officer or officers, or employee or employees of any corporation or corporations who with intent to injure, or defraud, uses or causes to be used any false registering or false measuring device or meter for the measuring of any water, gas or electric current that is sold to any other person or persons, corporation or corporations, or who shall alter or change the record or measurement of any such meter or measuring device with intent to injure or defraud, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be fined in the sum of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars. In prosecutions for offenses under this section, proof of the use of such false registering meter or proof of an attempt to collect payment from any consumer for any falsified amount or quantity of gas, water, or electricity, shall be prima facie evidence of the guilt of such defendant.

11388. Receiver of stolen property. Every person who for his own gain or to prevent the owner from again possessing his own property buys or receives any personal property, knowing the same to have been stolen, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five (5) years or in a county jail not exceeding six (6) months; and it is presumptive evidence that such property was stolen if the same consists of jewelry, silver or plated ware or articles of personal ornaments, brass, bronze or copper fixtures, fittings or parts of machinery, or electrical supplies, or what is commonly termed junk, if purchased or received from a person under the age of twenty-one (21) years unless said property is sold by said minor at a fixed place of business carried on by said minor or his employer.

The jurisdiction of a criminal action for receiving stolen property is in any county wherein said property was received or into or through which such stolen property has been brought.

History: En. Sec. 899, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8662, Rev. C. 1907; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 137, L. 1915; re-en. Sec. 11388, R. C. M. 1921; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 30, L. 1931. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 496.

Effect of Statutory Presumption When Receiving Property From Minor

Under the provision of this section, declaring that where a person buys or receives any of the articles specifically enumerated therein from a minor other than at a fixed place of business carried on by the minor or his employer, it shall be presumptive evidence that the property was stolen, it is also to be presumed that the person bought or received it knowing it to be stolen, the rule applying to him at the time of its purchase or reception as well as upon his trial. State v. Sim, 92 M 541, 547, 16 P 2d 411.

Id. In a prosecution against the owner of a garage for buying radiator cores, coils of copper tubing, etc., from a minor at his, defendant's, place of business, which articles had been stolen by the boy from his father's automobile repair-shop, held, that in the absence of evidence on defendant's part to overcome the presumption adverted to in the preceding paragraph, the jury was justified in finding that defendant, bound, as he was, to know the law as declared by this section, knew when he purchased the articles that they were stolen.

Essential Elements of Crime

To make out the offense covered by this section, the evidence must establish that the property in question was stolen; that the defendant bought it or received it knowing it to have been stolen; and that he did so for his own gain, or to prevent the owner from regaining possession of it. State v. Moxley, 41 M 402, 407, 110 P 83.

To make out the offense of buying or receiving stolen property under this section, the state's evidence must establish that the property was stolen, that the defendant bought or received it knowing it was stolen, and that he did so for his own gain or to prevent the owner from regaining possession of it. State v. Sim, 92 M 541, 547, 16 P 2d 411.

In a prosecution for receiving stolen property, a distinct statutory offense, guilty knowledge on the part of the defendant that the property was stolen when he received it, which involves guilty intent, is essential to the constitution of the crime. State v. Keays, 97 M 404, 407 et seq., 34 P 2d 855.

May be Proved by Circumstantial Evidence

The crime of receiving stolen property, knowing it to have been stolen, may be proved by circumstantial evidence. State v. Moxley, 41 M 402, 408, 110 P 83.

Ownership Must be Proven as Alleged

In a prosecution for the crime of receiving stolen property, its ownership must be proved as alleged; hence, where the ownership, as laid in the information, was jointly in three persons named, and the evidence disclosed that most of the articles belonged to one of them, and the remaining ones to the other two individually, there was such a variance as amounted to a failure of proof. State v. Moxley, 41 M 402, 408, 110 P 83.

Receiver not an Accomplice

One who receives stolen property, as did the herder referred to in this case, but not for his own gain or to prevent the owner from regaining possession of it, is not a receiver of stolen property (this section), nor does the fact that one is a receiver of stolen property make him an accomplice of the one committing the larceny. State

v. McComas et al., 85 M 428, 434, 278 P 993.

Receiving of Stolen Property and Larceny Separate Crimes

While one who steals property is not an accomplice of one who receives it knowing it to have been stolen, the two offenses constituting distinct crimes, where the thief and the receiver conspire together in advance of the larceny for one to steal and the other to receive, they are principals, and each is an accomplice of the other. State v. Keithley, 83 M 177, 180, 182, 271 P 452.

The crime of receiving stolen property defined in this section is a distinct statutory crime, and one who, after the crime of larceny is completed, being present, aids and abets others in receiving the stolen property, with knowledge that it was stolen and with the intent, either for his own gain or to prevent the owner from again possessing the property, is a principal and properly prosecuted as such. State v. Huffman, 89 M 194, 201, 296 P 789.

Receiving Stolen Property of the U. S. is a Crime Against the State

Under an information charging the crime of receiving stolen property belonging to the United States, held, on application for writ of habeas corpus based upon the contention that since the property belonged to the federal government, it had exclusive jurisdiction of the offense, that the fact that the offense is also indictable under section 101, Title 18, U. S. C. A., does not oust the state district court of jurisdiction to try defendant under this section, which makes it a crime against the state to receive stolen property regardless of ownership. Ex parte Groom, 87 M 377, 379 et seq., 287 P 638.

Sufficiency of Information

As in charging the offense of larceny, so in charging that of receiving stolen property, the information must identify the offense by a description of the things stolen, and state the name of the owner, if known. State v. Moxley, 41 M 402, 408, 110 P 83.

Value Immaterial

In an information under this section, value need not be alleged, and proof of some value is enough. The penalty does not depend upon value. State v. Moxley, 41 M 402, 409, 110 P 83.

Instruction on This Section

The giving of an instruction defining the word "extortion" in the language of the statute held not objectionable as a bare statement of a proposition of law, in an action to recover money paid under duress, it not being error to give instructions containing abstract statements of statutory law where the facts are few and simple. Edquest v. Tripp & Dragstedt Co. et al., 93 M 446, 461, 19 P 2d 637.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 98, p. 201, Ban-nack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 110, p. 294, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 110, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 118, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 932, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8682, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11409, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 530.

11410. Obtaining money or property by false pretenses. Every person who knowingly and designedly, by false or fraudulent representation or pretenses, defrauds any other person of money or property, including evidence of indebtedness, or who causes or procures others to report falsely of his wealth or mercantile character, and by thus imposing upon any person obtains credit, and thereby fraudulently gets into possession of money or property, is punishable in the same manner and to the same extent as for larceny of the money or property so obtained.

History: En. Sec. 933, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8683, Rev. C. 1907; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 60, L. 1921; re-en. Sec. 11410, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 532.

Operation and Effect

The crime of attempting to obtain money by false pretense is complete whenever the false representation is made, with the requisite criminal intent, under such circumstances that, if the thing of value had been obtained, a deprivation would have been the result; the information need not allege that the person attempted to be defrauded believed the representation, nor that the fraud was completed. State v. Phillips, 36 M 112, 117, 92 P 299.

To convict of the crime of obtaining property by false pretenses, the prosecution must allege and prove the making by the accused to the person defrauded of one or more representations of past events or existing facts; that such person believed the representations to be true and, relying thereon, parted with money or property which was received by the accused; that the representations were false and were made knowingly and designedly with intent to defraud such person. State v. Bratton et al., 56 M 563, 186 P 327.

The information charged defendant with obtaining money from a bank by false pretenses. The evidence showed that the bank had made a loan to him on his false representations, that he was the owner of a large amount of property, he drawing checks on the amount of his note placed to his credit. Held, that there was no fatal variance between the allegations of the information and the evidence. State v. Mason, 62 M 180, 186, 188, 204 P 358.

To constitute the crime of obtaining money by false pretenses, denounced by this section, the accused must have made such representations of past events or existing facts to the injured person knowing them to be false when he made them, that the defrauded party believed them to be true and, relying thereon, parted with money or property which was received by the accused, and that the latter intended to defraud the accuser. State v. Woolsey, 80 M 141, 155, 259 P 826.

11411. Confidence games. Every person who obtains or attempts to obtain from another any money or property, by means or use of brace faro, or any false or worthless checks, or by any other means, artifice, device, instrument or pretense, commonly called confidence games or bunco, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years.

History: En. Sec. 934, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8684, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11411, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

The essence of the crime of "bunco," or confidence game, is deceit and false pretense of which the injured party has no suspicion, upon which he relies and upon the faith of which he parts with his property. State v. Moran et al., 56 M 94, 182 P 110.

History: En. Sec. 137, p. 212, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 162, p. 307, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 162, 4th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 200, 4th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 935, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8685, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11412, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 533.

Operation and Effect

To make out the offense denounced by this section, it must be alleged and proven: That a sale and conveyance, or an agreement therefor, have been made; that a second sale and conveyance, or an agreement therefor, have been made for a valuable consideration; and that such second sale has been knowingly made, and with a felonious intent to defraud either the first or second purchaser. In re Weed, 26 M 241, 248, 67 P 308.

11413. Married person selling land under false representations. Every person who falsely represents himself or herself as competent to sell or mortgage any real estate, to the validity of which sale or mortgage the assent or concurrence of his wife or her husband is necessary, and under such representation wilfully conveys or mortgages the same, is guilty of a felony.

11414. Mock auction. Every person who obtains any money or property from another, or obtains the signature of another to any written instrument, the false making of which would be forgery, by means of any false or fraudulent sale of property or pretended property, by auction, or by any of the practices known as mock auctions, is punishable by imprisonment, in the state prison not exceeding three years, or in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment; and in addition thereto, forfeits any license he may hold as auctioneer, and is forever disqualified from receiving a license to act as auctioneer within this state.

Operation and Effect

To constitute the act of "maiming" an animal a felony within the meaning of this section, permanent injury must have been inflicted. State v. Benson, 91 M 21, 24, 5 P 2d 223.

Id. Evidence showing that defendant, charged with attempt to maim horses, had fired a load of shot into each at a point nearest the heart from a distance of ten feet, was sufficient to warrant the inference that he intended to either kill or maim them, held sufficient to support the judgment of conviction, as against the contention that the evidence showed an intent to kill and not to maim, and that therefore the judgment should be reversed.

The provisions of this act, and all other regulations and laws of this state in effect at the time and not inconsistent with this act, shall apply to all goods, wares and merchandise manufactured, produced or mined, wholly or in part, by convicts or prisoners outside the state (except prisoners on parole or probation), or in, or by, any penal or reformatory institution of the United States, or any state or foreign country, and transported into this state for use or consumption therein, to the same extent and in the same manner as if such goods and merchandise were so manufactured, produced or mined within the state of Montana: Provided, that where farm machinery now owned in this state requires repairs, and repairs for such machinery is manufactured in whole or in part without the state of Montana, the sale and transportation into the state of such repairs shall not be prohibited by this act.

History: En. Sec. 4, Ch. 172, L. 1933.

11573.5. Manufacture of license plates by penal institutions not prohibited—sale of surplus raised exclusively for inmates not prohibited. History: En. Sec. 5, Ch. 172, L. 1933.

11573.6. Price of prison-made goods to be same as that of goods manufactured by private industry. The sale price of products made in any penal or reformatory institution for the sale to or the use of any of the institutions hereinbefore mentioned, shall be as nearly as practicable the same as the sale price of similar merchandise manufactured in the private industry.

History: En. Sec. 7, Ch. 172, L. 1933.

11573.8. Sales in open market defined. The words, "sales in the open market," as used in this act, shall mean all sales made to the consuming public, through the medium of stores, shops, sales offices, sales agents or agencies, whether retail or wholesale, or in any other manner.

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 147, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 11574, R. C. M. 1921.

11575. Same—control of logs on navigable lake. Any person or corporation using the waters of any navigable lake for floating logs or timber, shall so dispose of such logs and timber along the shore, or in any bay, of any such navigable lake within the state of Montana, that a free passageway from high-water mark to the unobstructed surface of such lake shall at all times be left open, and such passageway shall not be less than one hundred and fifty feet in width of open water along the shore of such lake, provided that said logs may be held at a distance of less than one hundred and fifty feet from the shore, where the land abutting the water is owned by the same party owning the logs, but if such logs occupy the water for a distance of six hundred feet or more along the shore of such lake, then and in that event an open channel not less than one hundred feet in width shall be maintained through said logs from the shore, to the open waters of the lake, and one such open channel shall be maintained for each six hundred feet of the shore line that is so obstructed.

Every person, persons, corporation or association conducting a hospital or hospitals not held for private or corporate profit or a hospital or hospitals that are institutions of purely public charity, that exempt themselves or are exempted from any state, county or municipal tax by reason thereof, shall not in any manner discriminate between the patients of any regularly licensed physician by reason of the fact that said physician is not a member of the medical staff of said hospital, or for any other reason, and such hospitals are hereby compelled to admit and care for the patients of any regularly licensed physician or physicians under the same terms and conditions as may be promulgated by the management of said hospital for the patients of any other regularly licensed physician.

11578. Penalty for violation of act. Every person, persons, corporation or association who with the intent to injure any patient or to injure the practice of any physician or surgeon is found guilty of violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars and not exceeding one thousand dollars, and shall forthwith forfeit its right of exemption from taxation.

11581. Acts made punishable by different provisions of this code. An act or omission which is made punishable in different provisions of this code may be punished under either of such provisions, but in no case can it be punished under more than one; an acquittal or conviction and sentence under either one bars a prosecution for the same act or omission under any other. In the cases specified in sections 11525, 11594, and 11595, the punishment therein prescribed must be substituted for those prescribed for a first offense, if the previous conviction is charged in the indictment or information and found by the jury.

Operation and Effect

For a discussion of the history and application of this section, see State v. Marchindo, 65 M 431, 435, 211 P 1093.

11582. Acts punishable under foreign laws. An act or omission declared punishable by this code is not less so because it is also punishable under the laws of another state, government, or country, unless the contrary is expressly declared.

11583. Foreign conviction or acquittal. Whenever on the trial of an accused person it appears that upon a criminal prosecution under the laws of another state, government, or country, founded upon the act or omission in respect to which he is on trial, he has been acquitted or convicted, it is a sufficient defense.

11584. Contempts, how punishable. A criminal act is not the less punishable as a crime because it is also declared to be punishable as a contempt.

History: En. Sec. 1223, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8888, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11584, R. C. M. 1921.

11585. Mitigation of punishment in certain cases. When it appears, at the time of passing sentence upon a person convicted upon indictment or information, that such person has already paid a fine or suffered an imprisonment for the act of which he stands convicted, under an order judging it a contempt, the court authorized to pass sentence may mitigate the punishment to be imposed, in its discretion.

11586. Aiding in misdemeanor. Whenever an act is declared a misdemeanor, and no punishment for counseling or aiding in the commission of such act is expressly prescribed by law, every person who counsels or aids another in the commission of such act is guilty of a misdemeanor.

11587. Sending letters, when deemed complete. In the various cases in which the sending of a letter is made criminal by this code, the offense is deemed complete from the time when such letter is deposited in any postoffice, or any other place, or delivered to any person, with intent that it shall be forwarded.

11588. Removal from office for neglect of official duty. In addition to the penalty affixed by express terms, to every neglect or violation of official duty on the part of public officers—state, county, city, town, or township—where it is not so expressly provided, they may, in the discretion of the court, be removed from office.

11589. Omission to perform duty, when punishable. No person is punishable for an omission to perform an act, where such act has been performed by another person acting in his behalf, and competent by law to perform it.

11590. Attempts to commit crime, when punishable. An act done with intent to commit a crime, and tending but failing to effect its commission, is an attempt to commit that crime. Any person may be convicted of an attempt to commit a crime, although it appears on the trial that the crime intended or attempted was perpetrated by such person in pursuance of such attempt, unless the court, in its discretion, discharges the jury and directs such person to be tried for such crime.

Operation and Effect

Testimony of a witness that accused, charged with an attempt to rob, had solicited the witness some six days before the assault to join in committing robbery, was too remote to supply the basis for an inference of the specific intent required, under this section, to be present at the time of the alleged crime. State v. Hanson, 49 M 361, 368, 141 P 669.

One charged with an attempt to commit a crime (maiming of an animal) may properly be convicted as charged, under this section, even though the evidence shows that the crime was completed. State v. Benson, 91 M 21, 25, 5 P 2d 223.

11591. Attempts to commit crime, how punishable. Every person who attempts to commit any crime, but fails, or is prevented or intercepted in the perpetration thereof, is punishable, where no provision is made by law for the punishment of such attempt, as follows:

1. If the offense so attempted is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for five years, or more, or by imprisonment in the county jail, the person guilty of such attempt is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, or in the county jail, as the case may be, for a term not exceeding one-half the longest term of imprisonment prescribed upon a conviction of the offense so attempted.

2. If the offense so attempted is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for any term less than five years, the person guilty of such attempt is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year.

3. If the offense so attempted is punishable by a fine, the offender convicted of such an attempt is punishable by a fine not exceeding one-half the largest fine which may be imposed upon a conviction for the offense so attempted.

4. If the offense so attempted is punishable by a fine and imprisonment, the offender convicted of such attempt may be punished by both such imprisonment and fine, not exceeding one-half the longest term of imprisonment and one-half the largest fine which may be imposed upon a conviction for the offense so attempted.

Operation and Effect

Where the evidence is not before the appellate court, it will be presumed that the trial court properly fixed the punishment on a conviction for attempt to commit burglary. State v. Mish, 36 M 168, 175, 92 P 459.

In view of this section and of section 11030 and of section 11598, the court had authority to fix the punishment of one found guilty of an attempt to commit the infamous crime against nature, at fifteen years, since, in its discretion, it could have sentenced defendant, if guilty of the infamous crime itself, to a term of thirty years, and hence could, with propriety, fix one-half that term upon conviction for the attempt. State v. Stone, 40 M 88, 92, 105 P 89.

11592. Restrictions upon the preceding sections. The last two sections do not protect a person who, in attempting unsuccessfully to commit a crime, accomplishes the commission of another and different crime, whether greater or less in guilt, from suffering the punishment prescribed by law for the crime committed.

11593. Second offense, how punished after conviction of former offense. Every person who, having been convicted of any offense punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, commits any crime after such conviction, is punishable therefor as follows:

1. If the offense of which such person is subsequently convicted is such that, upon a first conviction, an offender would be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for any term exceeding five years, such person is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than ten years.

2. If the subsequent offense is such that, upon a first conviction, the offender would be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for five years, or any less term, then the person convicted of such subsequent offense is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years.

3. If the subsequent conviction is for petit larceny, or any attempt to commit an offense which, if committed, would be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, then the person convicted of such subsequent offense is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years.

Operation and Effect

Under this section and sections 9325, 12023, and 12028, a judgment that defendant "be imprisoned in the state prison for the term of ten years, five years upon the conviction for assault in the second degree, and five years for the prior conviction of a felony as by the statute made and provided," is not void as to the five years for former conviction. The division of the term into equal parts, and the assignment of each part to its supposed function as a measure of punishment is merely redundant, and not ground for reversal, under sections 12125 and 11874. State v. Connors, 27 M 227, 228, 70 P 715.

A sentence to fifty years' imprisonment of one convicted of robbery, who is also found to have been previously convicted in another state of burglary, is warranted by the law. State v. Paisley, 36 M 237, 248, 92 P 566.

Held, that where defendant, charged with burglary and three prior convictions, at the opening of the trial admitted the prior convictions, the court did not err in permitting knowledge of the prior convictions to go to the jury by allowing the county attorney to read the information charging such convictions, in overruling an objection to the question asked defendant on cross-examination as to the prior convictions, or in instructing the jury that if they found the defendant guilty of burglary they should then consider the matter of the former convictions, giving the provisions of the statute fixing punishment for that crime when aggravated by prior convictions of felonies, in view of the provisions of section 11969, R. C. M. 1921, requiring the county attorney to state the case and offer evidence in support of the prosecution, and the fact that without such knowledge the jury could not intelligently fix the punishment to fit the crime. State v. O'Neill, 76 M 526, 534, 248 P 215.

11594. Second offense, how punished after conviction of attempt to commit a state prison offense. Every person who, having been convicted of petit larceny, or attempt to commit an offense which, if perpetrated, would be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, commits any crime after such conviction, is punishable as follows:

1. If the subsequent offense is such that, upon a first conviction, the offender would be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for life, at the discretion of the court, such person is punishable by imprisonment in such prison during life.

2. If the subsequent offense is such that, upon a first conviction, the offender would be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for any term less than life, such person is punishable by imprisonment in such prison for the longest term prescribed upon a conviction for such first offense.

3. If the subsequent conviction is for petit larceny, or for an attempt to commit an offense which, if perpetrated, would be punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, then such person is punishable by imprisonment in such prison not exceeding five years.

11595. Foreign conviction for former offense. Every person who has been convicted in any other state, government, or country, of an offense which, if committed within this state, would be punishable by the laws of this state by imprisonment in the state prison, is punishable for any subsequent crime committed in this state in the manner prescribed in the last two sections, and to the same extent as if such first conviction had taken place in a court of this state.

Operation and Effect

It is immaterial whether the crime for which the defendant is alleged to have been previously convicted is a felony in the foreign state. State v. Paisley, 36 M 237, 247, 92 P 566.

11596. Second term of imprisonment, when to commence. When any person has been convicted of two or more crimes before sentence has been pronounced upon him for either, the imprisonment to which he is sentenced upon the second or other subsequent conviction must commence at the termination of the first term of imprisonment to which he shall be adjudged, or at the termination of the second or other subsequent term of imprisonment, as the case may be.

11597. When term of imprisonment commences, etc. The term of imprisonment fixed by the judgment in a criminal action commences to run only upon the actual delivery of the defendant at the place of imprisonment, and if, thereafter, during such term, the defendant by any legal means is temporarily released from such imprisonment, and subsequently returned thereto, the time during which he was at large must not be computed as part of such term.

5. A speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county or district in which the offense is alleged to have been committed, subject to the right of the state to have a change of venue for any of the causes for which the defendant may obtain the same.

History: Earlier acts are Sec. 9, p. 190, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 9, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 9, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887.

This section en. Sec. 1355, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8915, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11611, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 686.

Operation and Effect

Under a statute providing that the accused, in a criminal prosecution, is entitled to meet the witnesses against him face to face, it is error where the prosecuting witness was not within the state, to admit in evidence the committing magistrate's general recollection of the testimony which such witness gave at the preliminary examination. State v. Lee, 13 M 248, 249, 33 P 690. See also State v. Byers, 16 M 565, 569, 41 P 708; State v. Vanella, 40 M 326, 336, 106 P 364.

At the date of the adoption of the constitution, in 1889, while the right to a trial by jury existed by virtue of the territorial statutes in all cases of felonies and misdemeanors, it did not exist under the provisions of the statutes in force for the prevention of public offenses, and there has not been any change in this respect. State ex rel. Jackson v. Kennie, 24 M 45, 57, 60 P 589.

11612. Second prosecution for the same offense prohibited. No person can be subjected to a second prosecution for a public offense for which he has once been prosecuted and convicted or acquitted.

History: En. Sec. 10, p. 190, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 10, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 10, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1356, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8916, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11612, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 687.

Operation and Effect

Where a person charged with crime, after a trial, is neither convicted nor acquitted, but, owing to a mistrial, the jury is discharged and the trial ended, he may again be put upon trial for the same offense, and the defense of once in jeopardy will not lie. State v. Keerl, 33 M 501, 511, 85 P 862.

Id. After a verdict on a judgment of conviction or acquittal, the defendant in a criminal case has been in jeopardy and may not be tried again for the same offense, except where a new trial has been granted or ordered.

11613. No person to be a witness against himself in a criminal action, or to be unnecessarily restrained. No person can be compelled, in a criminal action, to be a witness against himself; nor can a person charged with a public offense be subjected, before conviction, to any more restraint than is necessary for his detention to answer the charge.

History: En. Secs. 11, 12, p. 190, Cod. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8917, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Stat. 1871; re-en. Secs. 11, 12, 3d Div. Rev. Sec. 11613, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. Stat. 1879; re-en. Secs. 11, 12, 3d Div. 688.
Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 1357, Pen. C.

11614. No person to be convicted but upon verdict or judgment. No person can be convicted of a public offense unless by the verdict of a jury, accepted and recorded by the court, or upon a plea of guilty, or upon a judgment of a court, a jury having been waived, in a criminal case not amounting to felony.

History: En. Sec. 1358, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8918, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11614, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 689.

Operation and Effect

Held, that a proceeding looking to the imposition of a fine for the violation of a city ordinance is one for a "public offense" within the meaning of this section giving the police magistrate power to issue a warrant for the arrest of a person charged with a public offense, and of section 12302, R. C. M. 1921, providing the procedure in an action before the police court for a public offense, justifying the issuance of a warrant of arrest under section 12303, R. C. M. 1921. State ex rel. Marquette v. Police Court, 86 M 297, 309, 283 P 430.

References

State v. Johnson et al., 69 M 38, 43, 220 P 82.

11623. Prosecutions by information. Prosecutions in the district court must be by information:

1. In all cases where there has been an examination and commitment or admission to bail by a magistrate on a charge of crime; or,
2. In any case where there has been no examination or commitment or admission to bail, upon leave granted by the court for that purpose.

History: En. Sec. 1382, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8927, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11623, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Prosecutions in the district court may be either by information, in cases where there has been an examination and commitment or admission to bail by magistrate, in which case an order of the court is not necessary; or by information filed by order of the court upon the written motion of the county attorney, which may be done without such examination. State v. Bowser, 21 M 133, 134, 53 P 179. See State v. Vinn, 50 M 27, 32, 144 P 773.

Where the information is filed by leave of court, it need not be entered in writing before the filing of the information; but, after the arrest of the defendant, the minutes of the court may be corrected so as to amend the order. State v. Bowser, 21 M 133, 137, 53 P 179.

11624. Leave to file information. Application for leave to file an information before an examination, commitment, or admission to bail must be made to the court on written motion by the county attorney.

History: En. Sec. 1383, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8928, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11624, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

A warrant may issue on an information filed by the county attorney by leave of court on a motion in writing not verified, and the information verified only on information and belief. State v. Shafer, 26 M 11, 15, 66 P 463.

Under this section and the next preceding section, it is only where there has been no examination or commitment by a magistrate that the county attorney must move for leave to file an information. State v. Byrd, 41 M 585, 591, 111 P 407.

The district court may grant leave to file an information without previous examination of defendant by a committing magistrate. State v. Vuckovich, 61 M 480, 491, 203 P 491.

Where a deputy county attorney appeared in open court and orally moved for leave to file an information presenting at the same time a written request signed by the county attorney which was filed immediately upon granting of the request, the court properly overruled defendant's motion to quash the information based upon the ground that leave to file had been granted on oral request, contrary to this section. State v. Kacar, 74 M 269, 273, 240 P 365.

Id. A motion by the county attorney for leave to file an information need not set forth with technical accuracy the facts constituting a formal charge, nor, since the statements made therein are made under his official oath, is it necessary that the motion be accompanied by an affidavit.

11625. Order of court granting. The court by an order may grant such leave, or may require an examination before a magistrate, or may, upon affidavits filed by any person, order the county attorney to file an information against the persons charged with a public offense.

History: En. Sec. 1384, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8929, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11625, R. C. M. 1921.

11626. County attorney to file information. If leave is granted, the county attorney may at any time thereafter file an information against the person named in the order granting leave to file the same, and thereupon the defendant named in the information must be arrested, as upon the finding of an indictment.

History: En. Sec. 1385, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8930, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11626, R. C. M. 1921.

11627. Order entered in minutes of court. After the arrest of such defendant the clerk must immediately enter the order granting leave to file the information in the minutes of the court.

History: En. Sec. 1386, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8931, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11627, R. C. M. 1921.

11628. Officers not to disclose. The fact that such leave has been granted, or that an information has been filed, must not be disclosed until after the defendant has been arrested.

History: En. Sec. 1387, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8932, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11628, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

The law forbids, not only the disclosure of the fact that an information has been filed, but even the fact that leave to file has been granted by the court, until after arrest, and also contemplates that, if the defendant is at large, the minutes of the court shall be silent as to the order of the court therefore made granting leave to file the information. State v. Bowser, 21 M 133, 138, 53 P 179.

11629. Prosecutions by indictment, when. History: En. Sec. 1388, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8933, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11629, R. C. M. 1921.

11630. Jurisdiction of justices of the peace. The justices' courts shall have jurisdiction of the following public offenses, committed within their respective counties, in which such courts are established:

1. Petit larceny.
2. Assault in the third degree, as specified in section 10987 of this code.
3. Breaches of the peace, riots, routs, affrays, committing a wilful injury to property, and all misdemeanors punishable by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both such fine and imprisonment.

History: Earlier acts relating to giving security to keep the peace were Secs. 1-11, pp. 218-220, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Secs. 20-29, pp. 192-193, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Secs. 20-29, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Secs. 20-29, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887.

Operation and Effect

The person complained of is not entitled to a jury trial in a proceeding to compel him to give security to keep the peace. State ex. rel. Jackson v. Kennie, 24 M 45, 56, 60 P 589.

The fact that the defendant, in a prosecution for murder, had the deceased arrested and confined in peace proceedings, does not supply any motive for the murder; on the contrary, it tends to show the absence of motive. State v. Suitor, 43 M 31, 45, 114 P 112.

11638. Examination of complainant and witnesses. When the complaint is laid before such magistrate, he must examine on oath the complainant, and any witness he may produce, and must take their testimony in writing, and cause them to subscribe the same.

11639. Warrant of arrest. If it appears upon such examination that there is just reason to fear the commission of the offense threatened, by the person so complained of, the magistrate must issue a warrant, directed generally to the sheriff of the county, or any constable, marshal, or policeman in the state, reciting the substance of the complaint, and commanding the officer forthwith to arrest the person complained of and bring him before the magistrate.

11640. Proceedings on charge being controverted. When the person complained of is brought before the magistrate, if the charge be controverted, the magistrate must take testimony in relation thereto. The evidence must be reduced to writing, and subscribed by the witnesses.

11641. Person complained of, when to be discharged. If it appears that there is no just reason to fear the commission of the offense alleged to have been threatened, the person complained of must be discharged.

11642. Security to keep the peace, when required. If, however, there is just reason to fear the commission of the offense, the person complained of may be required to enter into an undertaking in such sum, not exceeding five thousand dollars, as the magistrate may direct, with one or more sufficient sureties, to keep the peace toward the state, and particularly toward the complainant. The undertaking is valid and binding for one year, and may, upon the renewal of the complaint, be extended for a longer period, or a new undertaking may be required.

11643. Effect of giving or refusing to give security. If the undertaking required by the last section is given, the party complained of must be discharged. If he does not give it, the magistrate must commit him to prison, specifying in the warrant the cause of commitment, the requirement to give security, the amount thereof, and the omission to give the same.

Operation and Effect

An order of commitment is not insufficient because it does not fix the term of the imprisonment. State ex rel. Jackson v. Kennie, 24 M 45, 55, 60 P 589.

Held under this section, declaring that an order of a justice of the peace committing one to jail for failure to give bond to keep the peace must specify the cause of commitment, the requirement to give security, the amount thereof and the omission to give it, that a commitment which failed to state that the accused had not given security, and which was not directed to the sheriff and did not contain any direction as to what he should do under it was so defective as to afford the sheriff no protection in an action for damages for false imprisonment. Folsom v. Fisco et al., 62 M 194, 198, 204 P 367.

11644. Person committed for not giving security. If the person complained of is committed for not giving the undertaking required, he may be discharged by any magistrate, upon giving the same.

11645. Undertaking to be filed in clerk's office. The undertaking must be filed by the magistrate in the office of the clerk of the district court.

11646. Security required for assault committed in court. A person who, in the presence of a court or magistrate, assaults or threatens to assault another, or to commit an offense against his person or property, or who contends with another with angry words, may be ordered by the court or magistrate to give security, as in this chapter provided, and if he refuse so to do, may be committed as provided in section 11643.

11647. Undertaking, when broken. Upon the conviction of the person complained against of a breach of the peace, the undertaking is broken.

11648. Undertaking, when and how to be prosecuted. Upon the county attorney's producing evidence of such conviction to the district court of the county, the court must order the undertaking to be prosecuted, and the county attorney must thereupon commence an action upon it in the name of the state.

11649. Evidence of breach. In the action, the offense stated in the record of conviction must be alleged as a breach of the undertaking, and such record is conclusive evidence of the breach.

11650. Costs taxed against complainant. When any person complained of is discharged by the magistrate, if it appears that the prosecution was malicious, or that there were no reasonable grounds for the complaint, it is the duty of the magistrate to adjudge that the complainant pay all costs of the proceedings, and judgment must thereupon be entered against him.

History: En. Sec. 1443, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8954, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11650, R. C. M. 1921.

11651. Appeal by complainant. A complainant against whom costs are adjudged may appeal from such decision to the district court in the county in which such proceedings were had, upon filing an undertaking as provided for in civil actions.

History: En. Sec. 1444, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8955, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11651, R. C. M. 1921.

11652. Security for the peace. Security to keep the peace, or be of good behavior, cannot be required except as prescribed in this chapter.

History: Our present impeachment laws are substantially the same as the territorial acts which provided for trial by the council. See Secs. 41-62, pp. 196-199, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. as Secs. 41-62, 3rd Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. as Secs. 41-63, 3rd Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 1500, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8972, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11668, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 737.

Operation and Effect

This section having the same language as section 17, article V of the constitution, is given the same construction, and does not include senators within the terms "judicial officers" or "state officers." State ex rel. Haviland v. Beadle, 42 M 174, 180, 111 P 720.

11669. Sole power of impeachment. The sole power of impeachment vests in the house of representatives; the concurrence of a majority of all the members being necessary to the exercise thereof. Impeachment shall be tried by the senate sitting for that purpose, and the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation to do justice according to law and evidence. When the governor or lieutenant-governor is on trial, the chief justice of the supreme court shall preside. No person shall be convicted without a concurrence of two-thirds of the senators elected.

History: En. Sec. 1501, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8973, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11669, R. C. M. 1921.

11670. Articles, how prepared—trial by senate. All impeachments must be by resolution adopted, originated in, and conducted by managers elected by the house of representatives, who must prepare articles of impeachment, present them at the bar of the senate, and prosecute the same.

11671. Articles of impeachment. When an officer is impeached by the house of representatives, the articles of impeachment must be delivered to the president of the senate.

11672. Time of hearing—service of defendant. The senate must assign a day for the hearing of the impeachment, and inform the house of representatives thereof. The president of the senate must cause a copy of the articles of impeachment, with a notice to appear and answer the same at the time and place appointed, to be served on the defendant not less than ten days before the day fixed for the hearing.

11673. Service, how made. The service must be made upon the defendant personally, or if he cannot, upon diligent inquiry, be found within the state, the senate, upon proof of that fact, may order publication to be made, in such manner as it may deem proper, of a notice requiring him to appear at a specified time and place and answer the articles of impeachment.

11674. Proceedings on failure to appear. If the defendant does not appear, the senate, upon proof of service or publication, as provided in the last two sections, may, of its own motion or for cause shown, assign another day for hearing the impeachment, or may proceed, in the absence of the defendant, to trial and judgment.

11675. Counsel may be appointed. If the defendant appear, and is unable to procure the assistance of counsel, it is the duty of the president of the senate to appoint some suitable person to assist him in his defense; if the defendant is served by publication and fails to appear, it is the duty of the president of the senate to appoint some person or counsel to appear in his behalf and make defense for him.

History: En. Sec. 1507, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 8979, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11675, R. C. M. 1921.

11676. Defendant, after appearance, may answer or demur. When the defendant appears, he may in writing object to the sufficiency of the articles of impeachment, or he may answer the same by an oral plea of not guilty, which plea must be entered upon the journal, and puts in issue every material allegation of the articles of impeachment.

11677. If demurrer is overruled, defendant must answer. If the objection to the sufficiency of the articles of impeachment is not sustained by a majority of the members of the senate, the defendant must be ordered forthwith to answer the articles of impeachment. If he then pleads guilty, the senate must render judgment of conviction against him. If he plead not guilty or refuses to plead, the senate must, at such time as it may appoint, proceed to try the impeachment.

11678. Senate to be sworn. At the time and place appointed, and before the senate proceeds to act on the impeachment, the secretary must administer to the president of the senate, and the president of the senate to each of the members of the senate then present, an oath truly and impartially to hear, try, and determine the impeachment; and no member of the senate can act or vote upon the impeachment, or upon any question arising thereon, without having taken such oath.

11679. Two-thirds necessary to a conviction. The defendant cannot be convicted on impeachment without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected, voting by ayes and noes, and if two-thirds of the members elected do not concur in a conviction, he must be acquitted.

11680. Judgment on conviction, how pronounced. After conviction, the senate must, at such time as it may appoint, pronounce judgment, in the form of a resolution entered upon the journals of the senate.

11681. The same. On the adoption of the resolution by a majority of the members present who voted on the question of acquittal or conviction, it becomes the judgment of the senate.

11682. Nature of the judgment. The judgment may be that the defendant be suspended, or that he be removed from office and disqualified to hold any office of honor, trust, or profit under the state.

11683. Effect of judgment of suspension. If judgment of suspension is given, the defendant, during the continuance thereof, is disqualified from receiving the salary, fees, or emoluments of the office.

11684. Impeachment disqualifies until acquittal—vacancy, how filled. Whenever articles of impeachment against any officer subject to impeachment are presented to the senate, such officer is temporarily suspended from his office, and cannot act in his official capacity until he is acquitted. Upon such suspension of any officer, other than the governor, his office must be at once temporarily filled by an appointment made by the governor, with the advice and consent of the senate, until the acquittal of the party impeached; or, in case of his removal, until the vacancy is filled at the next election as required by law.

11685. Presiding officer when lieutenant-governor is impeached. If the lieutenant-governor is impeached, notice of the impeachment must be immediately given to the senate by the house of representatives, that another president may be chosen.

11686. Impeachment not a bar to indictment. If the offense for which the defendant is convicted on impeachment is also the subject of an indictment or information, the indictment or information is not barred thereby.

11688. Accusation to be presented by the grand jury. An accusation in writing against any district, county, township, or municipal officer, for wilful or corrupt misconduct or malfeasance in office, may be presented by the grand jury of the county for which the officer accused is elected or appointed.

Operation and Effect

This section was intended to apply to those cases only in which the accused has been guilty of wilful or corrupt misconduct or malfeasance. State ex rel. Rowe v. District Court, 44 M 318, 323, 119 P 1103.

The power granted to the district court by section 11701 in a proceeding looking to the removal of the county attorney, to appoint the county attorney of an adjoining county to act as prosecuting officer, may only be exercised when charges are preferred by a grand jury under this section. State ex rel. McGrade v. District Court, 52 M 371, 374, 157 P 1157.

Where removal of a district, township or county officer is sought for wilful or corrupt misconduct or malfeasance in office—acts of commission—the jurisdiction of the district court can, under this section, be invoked only by an accusation presented by the grand jury; where, however, the charge is wilful refusal or neglect to perform official duties, constituting non-action, jurisdiction may be invoked by the filing of a verified petition by any person, under section 11702, whereupon the court may try the accused summarily without the aid of a jury. State ex rel. Hess- ler v. District Court, 64 M 296, 297, 209 P 1052; State ex rel. Beazley v. District Court, 75 M 116, 118 et seq., 241 P 1075.

C. M. 1921, and convicted on proof of malfeasance, the prosecution charging which must be instituted in pursuance of this section. State v. Beazley, 77 M 430, 440 et seq., 250 P 1114.

Public officers who are not subject to impeachment may be removed for misconduct or malfeasance only by proceedings had under an indictment of a grand jury, and for nonfeasance or for the collection of illegal fees under an accusation in writing. *State ex rel. In any proceeding instituted under the provisions of sections 11687 to 11702, both inclusive, an appeal may be taken to the supreme court by the plaintiff from a judgment in favor of the defendant, and by the defendant from a judgment removing him from his office, which appeal shall be taken in the same manner as from a judgment in a civil action; but if the appeal be from a judgment of removal, the defendant is suspended from his office pending such appeal, during which time the office must be filled as in case of a vacancy.

11701. Proceedings for the removal of a county attorney. The same proceedings may be had on like grounds for the removal of a county attorney, except that the accusation must be delivered by the foreman of the grand jury to the clerk, and by him to a judge of the district court of the county, who must thereupon appoint some one to act as prosecuting officer in the matter, or place the accusation in the hands of the county attorney of an adjoining county, and require him to conduct the proceedings.

McGrade v. District Court, 52 M 371, 374, 157 P 1157.

Operation and Effect

The power to appoint a prosecuting officer under this section applies only to proceedings instituted by the grand jury under section 11688; it does not confer upon the court the power to impose any duty upon a county attorney of another county as such, except in the particular emergency named, nor does it authorize the calling in of a county attorney from any other than an adjoining county. State ex rel.

Id. A county attorney called into an adjoining county by appointment under this section, to act as prosecuting officer in a proceeding for the removal of a county attorney upon an accusation by a taxpayer charging neglect of duty, is not entitled to compensation for services thus rendered.

11702. Removal of public officers by summary proceedings. When an accusation in writing, verified by the oath of any person, is presented to the district court, alleging that any officer within the jurisdiction of the court has been guilty of knowingly, wilfully, and corruptly charging and collecting illegal fees for services rendered, or to be rendered, in his office, or has wilfully refused or neglected to perform the official duties pertaining to his office, the court must cite the party charged to appear before the court at a time not more than ten nor less than five days from the time the accusation was presented; and on that day, or some other subsequent day not more than forty days from the date on which the accusation was presented, must proceed to hearing, in a summary manner, or trial, upon the accusation and evidence offered in support of the same, and the answer and evidence offered by the party accused; provided, if the charge be for the charging and collecting of illegal fees or salaries, the trial must be by jury, if the defendant so demands, and conducted in all respects and in the same manner as the trial of an indictment for a misdemeanor, and the defendant shall be entitled, as a matter of defense, to offer evidence of, and the jury under proper instructions shall consider, his good faith or honest mistake, if any be shown, and the value received by the state, county, township, or municipality against whom the charges or fees were made. If, upon such hearing or trial, the charge is sustained, the court must enter a judgment that the party accused be deprived of his office, and for such costs as are allowed in civil cases; and if the charge is not sustained, the court may enter a judgment against the complaining witness for costs as are allowed in civil cases.

Constitutionality

This section is not unconstitutional on the ground that the prosecution is not by information or indictment. The proceedings therein prescribed do not necessarily partake of the nature of a criminal prosecution, and the legislature was left entirely free to enact such statutes as it might see fit providing for the removal of officers other than those who may be removed by impeachment. State ex rel. Payne v. District Court, 53 M 350, 356, 165 P 294.

Costs

In an action for the removal of county officers brought by the attorney-general in the name and on behalf of the state, the county, and not the attorney-general personally, is liable for the payment of witness fees. Griggs v. Glass, 58 M 476, 479, 193 P 564.

Disqualification of Judge When not Permitted

Held, that proceedings for the removal of civil officers under this section are criminal in their nature, and that therefore neither party has the right to file an affidavit disqualifying a district judge for imputed bias or prejudice under section 8868, R. C. M. 1921. (Mr. Justice Holloway dissenting.) State v. District Court, 61 M 558, 559, 202 P 756.

Evidence Admissible as a Defense

Where among other defenses to an accusation against a county commissioner charging the collection of illegal fees for supervising road and kindred work, defendant set up the plea of value received by the county, the court erred in restricting testimony offered for the purpose of showing that the county had been saved large sums in the construction of roads by reason of his services, to a showing what like services were reasonably worth, the offered evidence having been made admissible by the express terms of this section, in such a proceeding. State v. Russell, 84 M 61, 65, 274 P 148.

Fees Illegally Collected—Effect

The district court may remove a police judge from office for illegally collecting a fee from a defendant for approving a bond filed in support of an appeal from a judgment of conviction for a violation of a city ordinance. State ex rel. Rowe v. District Court, 45 M 205, 209, 122 P 270.

"Illegal Fees" Defined

The term "fees," used in the codes, is somewhat elastic, and as employed in this section is broad enough to comprehend both per diem and expenses. State ex rel. Payne v. District Court, 53 M 350, 353, 165 P 294; State v. Story, 53 M 573, 575, 576, 165 P 748.

Fees are illegal within the meaning of this section if collected for services never rendered, or never intended to be rendered; if collected for services rendered for which no compensation is allowed by law; or if collected for services at a rate higher than the law allows therefor. State ex rel. Payne v. District Court, 53 M 350, 354, 165 P 294.

A county commissioner is not entitled to a fee for attending to business of the county, other than meeting with the board of commissioners, and for "inspecting and overseeing road-work," where he is not acting pursuant to any previous direction of the board; hence, if he makes a charge against the county for such services, as county commissioner, and collects the money therefor, he is guilty of charging and collecting illegal fees by virtue of his official position, and he may be removed from office therefor under this section. State v. Story, 53 M 573, 165 P 748; State v. Callahan, 53 M 584, 165 P 753; State v. Overstreet, 53 M 585, 165 P 753.

"Illegal fees" are any moneys collected or attempted to be collected by such officer from any source whatever, whether as mileage, per diem, or specific charge for service rendered in his office, without authority of law for such collection, though done in good faith and for efficient service performed for the public. State v. Story, 53 M 573, 576, 165 P 748.

Illegal Fees for Services Rendered in Office—What Does not Constitute

Under this section, a county officer may summarily be removed for corruptly collecting "illegal fees for services rendered in his office." Held, that under this section a county commissioner may not be removed unless it be alleged and proved that he collected illegal fees for services rendered in his office while acting in his official capacity, and that an accusation charging the collection of his expenses and per diem during his attendance at a state meeting of county commissioners, though under Chapter 48, Laws of 1927, another member of the board had been designated to attend such meeting, was properly demurrable, the fees alleged to have been illegally received not having been received by defendant for services rendered in his office. State ex rel. King v. Smith, 98 M 171, 174, 38 P 2d 274.

In no way can it be ascertained whether an officer has collected illegal fees within the meaning of this section without a reference to the various code sections in the chapter on "Salaries and Fees of Officers." State v. Story, 53 M 573, 578, 165 P 748.

Intent

The amendment of this section, by making a criminal intent the gist of the offense, deprived the district court of jurisdiction of a prosecution instituted prior thereto, since no saving clause is provided by the constitution or statute. State ex rel. Paige v. District Court, 54 M 332, 169 P 1180.

Jury Trial not Authorized

The proceeding authorized by this section is quasi-criminal in character, but the accused is not entitled to a jury trial. State ex rel. Rowe v. District Court, 44 M 318, 327, 119 P 1103; State ex rel. Payne v. District Court, 53 M 350, 356, 165 P 294. See also State ex rel. McGrade v. District Court, 52 M 371, 373, 157 P 1157.

Held, that an officer (county clerk), charged with wilful neglect of duty is not entitled to a trial by jury in a proceeding for his removal from office. State v. District Court et al., 62 M 600, 602 et seq., 205 P 955.

Where removal of a county, district or township officer is sought for wilful or corrupt misconduct or malfeasance in office—acts of commission—the jurisdiction of the district court can, under section 11688, R. C. M. 1921, be invoked only by an accusation presented by the grand jury; where, however, the charge is wilful refusal or neglect to perform official duties, constituting non action, jurisdiction may be invoked by the filing of a verified petition by any person, under this section, whereupon the court may try the accused summarily without the aid of a jury. State ex rel. Hessler v. District Court, 64 M 296, 297 et seq., 209 P 1052.

Where wilful or corrupt malfeasance in office is charged, ouster proceedings must be had under the provisions of section 11688, R. C. M. 1921, and the accused officer is entitled to a jury trial; where the charge is nonfeasance only, the proceeding is, under this section, triable summarily by the court without the intervention of a jury. State ex rel. Beazley v. District Court, 75 M 116, 117 et seq., 241 P 1075.

Nature of Action

The proceeding under this section, though it may be instituted by a private person, is a public proceeding, and, except that it is summary in its nature, is to be classed as a prosecution for crime. State ex rel. Rowe v. District Court, 44 M 318, 324, 119 P 1103; State v. Driscoll, 49 M 558, 560, 144 P 153; State ex rel. McGrade, 52 M 371, 373, 157 P 1157.

A proceeding brought for the removal of a public officer under this section is not a criminal action in the sense that it must be brought in the name of the state, that the public prosecutor must conduct it, or a jury be called to try the accused. State ex rel. Payne v. District Court, 53 M 350, 356, 357, 165 P 294; State ex rel. McGrade v. District Court, 52 M 371, 373, 157 P 1157, distinguished.

A proceeding to remove a public officer (county commissioner) for collecting illegal fees is not a quasi-criminal one, hence the rules of pleading governing in a criminal action are not applicable; on the contrary, a wide liberality in the matter of pleading in such a proceeding is allowable. State ex rel. King v. District Court, 95 M 400, 404, 26 P 2d 966.

A proceeding to oust a board of county commissioners for neglect of duty, joined with accusations against each member thereof charging corrupt collection of illegal fees and salary, brought under this section, was dismissed without prejudice on motion of counsel for the plaintiff because of illness of principal counsel. Within a few months thereafter another taxpayer filed accusations identical with those theretofore dismissed, adding two new charges against the officers individually alleging collection of illegal fees. On the theory that the several accusations constituted misdemeanors and were criminal in nature, the accused interposed pleas in bar to the renewed accusations in reliance upon section 12229. The pleas were sustained. Held, on application for writ of supervisory control, that such proceedings are neither criminal nor quasi-criminal; that all steps (other than those on the trial) are governed by the rules of practice in civil cases, and that therefore the pleas in bar were improperly sustained. State ex rel. Odenwald v. District Court, 98 M 1, 7, 38 P 2d 269; State ex rel. King v. Smith, 98 M 171, 38 P 2d 274.

Operation in General

One of the methods provided by law for the removal of an officer from office is a summary proceeding, as prescribed in this section, initiated upon a written accusation verified by the oath of "any person." State v. Driscoll, 49 M 558, 561, 144 P 153.

Remedy to Review Action of Court

As this section makes no provision for an appeal or other means of review, mandamus lies to compel the district court to proceed with the trial of an accusation for the removal of a public officer under this section. State ex rel. Payne v. District Court, 53 M 350, 357, 165 P 294.

Held, that where proceedings for the removal of county commissioners under this section which, hereunder, were required to be heard within forty days after presentation of the accusation, were disposed of by a judgment of dismissal sustaining pleas in bar interposed by the accused on the theory that the proceedings were of a criminal nature, and an appeal from the judgment could not be disposed of before the expiration of the above time limit, an exigency existed making the remedy by appeal inadequate and requiring summary action by the supreme court, and that, therefore, the writ of supervisory control was the proper remedy. State ex rel. Odenwald v. District Court, 98 M 1, 5, 38 P 2d 269.

See section 11700 as amended by Ch. 141, L. 1931, which allows an appeal from judgment.

Requisites of Accusation

To charge the existence of a riot for failure to suppress which a sheriff was sought to be removed from office, it was not necessary to employ the language of the statute defining riot; a statement of facts from which its existence was inferable being sufficient. State v. Driscoll, 49 M 558, 565, 144 P 153.

Id. An accusation against a sheriff for neglect of duty, in failing to suppress a riot, and asking his removal from office, is not objectionable because specific crimes therein mentioned as having been committed during the riot were not described with the particularity required in an indictment or information against the perpetrators thereof, their commission having been incidental only, and in nowise affecting the duty of the sheriff in the premises.

Id. An accusation for the removal of a sheriff from office because of neglect of official duty, which was entitled in the name of the state "on the accusation" of certain persons, was sufficient in form where it was apparent from the whole body of the document that a public proceeding and not a private action was thereby initiated, and it was not necessary to allege therein that the accuser was an elector of the county in which the accused held office.

The gist of the offense condemned by this section is the collection of illegal fees by virtue of official position. To constitute the offense it must be made to appear that the accused is the incumbent of a public office, that, acting by virtue of his office, he collected certain fees, and that the fees were illegal; that is, not authorized by law under the circumstances of the particular case. State ex rel. Payne v. District Court, 53 M 350, 353, 354, 165 P 294.

An accusation charging an officer with collecting illegal fees will be held sufficient if it clearly and distinctly sets forth the facts constituting the offense in ordinary and concise language and in such manner that a person of common understanding may know what is intended. It will also be sufficient if it shows on its face that the fees collected were illegal, and a statement that they were illegal is not required. State ex rel. Payne v. District Court, 53 M 350, 354, 355, 165 P 294; State v. Story, 53 M 573, 575, 165 P 748.

One charging a district or county officer with an act of misfeasance of malfeasance in office, a matter of which the grand jury must take cognizance, cannot by pleading that after such act had been done the officer wilfully refused and neglected to undo it, bring the accusation within the purview of section 11702, R. C. M. 1921, under which an officer may be tried summarily for such refusal or neglect, nor may he justify the procedure followed by the argument ab inconvenienti. State ex rel. Hessler v. District Court, 64 M 296, 297 et seq., 209 P 1052.

Summary Removal for Nonfeasance on Evidence Showing Malfeasance not Permissible

A sheriff was sought to be removed summarily under this section, under a charge of alleged nonfeasance in office preferred by the county attorney. The evidence introduced at the trial showed his active participation in the crime of bribery, demanding money to prevent official action on his part. Held, that his offense constituted malfeasance in office which was triable only, on accusation presented by the grand jury, with the aid of a jury, and that the trial judge was without jurisdiction to remove him on the proof submitted. State v. Beazley, 77 M 430, 437 et seq., 250 P 1114.

Time Limit Within Which Hearing to be Had not Statute of Limitations

The provision of this section that a proceeding for the removal of a public officer within the jurisdiction of the court in which brought must be brought to trial within forty days after the filing of the accusation, simply means a speedy trial and is in no sense a statute of limitation against the prosecution of the charges made. State ex rel. Odenwald v. District Court, 98 M 1, 13, 38 P 2d 269.

When Court may Appoint an Attorney to Prosecute

Proceedings under this section being of a criminal nature, the district court is empowered by section 12007 to appoint some attorney in such a proceeding to perform the duties of the county attorney whenever the latter is absent on account of either neglect or sickness, or is disqualified for any reason. State ex rel. McGrade v. District Court, 52 M 371, 373, 374, 157 P 1157.

 11720. Conviction or acquittal in another county a bar, where the jurisdiction is concurrent.
 11721. Jurisdiction of prizefight.

11703. Jurisdiction of offenses committed in this state. Every person is liable to punishment by the laws of this state, for a public offense committed by him therein, except where it is by law cognizable exclusively in the courts of the United States.

11704. Offenses commenced without, but consummated within this state. When the commission of a public offense, commenced without the state, is consummated within its boundaries, the defendant is liable to punishment therefor in this state though he was out of the state at the time of the commission of the offense charged. If he consummated it in this state, through the intervention of an innocent or guilty agent, or any other means proceeding directly from himself, in such case the jurisdiction is in the county in which the offense is consummated.

Operation and Effect

Under this section and sections 11712 and 11715, permitting conviction in any county into which the guilty person takes stolen property, there is no variance between the venue as laid in an information charging larceny of horses in a certain county of this state, and proof that the horses were stolen in Canada, and driven into said county. State v. De Wolfe, 29 M 415, 421, 74 P 1084.

Id. Under this section and sections 11712 and 11715, one who commits larceny may be convicted of that crime in any county into which he takes the stolen property.

11705. When an inhabitant of this state is concerned in a duel out of the same, and a party wounded dies therein. When an inhabitant or resident of this state, by previous appointment or engagement, fights a duel or is concerned as a second therein, out of the jurisdiction of this state, and in the duel a wound is inflicted upon a person, whereof he dies in this state, the jurisdiction of the offense is in the county where the death happens.

11706. Leaving the state to evade the statute against dueling. When an inhabitant of this state leaves the same for the purpose of evading the operation of the provisions of the code relating to dueling and challenges to fight, with the intent or for the purpose of doing any of the acts prohibited therein, the jurisdiction is in the county of which the offender was an inhabitant when the offense was committed.

11707. Offense committed partly in one county and partly in another. When a public offense is committed in part in one county and in part in another, or the acts or effects thereof constituting or requisite to the consummation of the offense occur in two or more counties, the jurisdiction is in either county.

History: En. Sec. 14, p. 220, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 32, p. 194, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 32, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 32, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1564, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9011, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11707, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 781.

Operation and Effect

An information stating generally that a crime was committed in Missoula county, but containing no other allegation as to venue, is sufficient; it not being necessary that it should allege that the crime was not committed on the Fort Missoula military reservation, which is situated within that county. Judicial notice may be taken of the fact that the reservation in question is situated in Missoula county. State v. Tully, 31 M 365, 369, 78 P 760.

Under the rule declared by this section, that where the acts constituting or requisite to the consummation of an offense occurred in two counties, trial may be had in either, held that where defendants, president and cashier of a bank, prepared an alleged false report to the superintendent of banks in P. county and transmitted it by mail to the superintendent of banks in L. & C. county, the district court of the former county had jurisdiction. State v. Cassill et al., 70 M 433, 227 P 49.

11708. Committed on the boundary, etc., of two or more counties. When a public offense is committed on the boundary of two or more counties, or within five hundred yards thereof, the jurisdiction is in either county.

11709. Jurisdiction of an offense on board a vessel or car. When an offense is committed in this state, on board a vessel navigating a river, bay, slough, lake, or canal, or lying therein, in the prosecution of her voyage, the jurisdiction is in any county through which the vessel is navigated in the course of her voyage, or in the county where the voyage terminates; and when the offense is committed in this state, on a railroad train or car prosecuting its trip, the jurisdiction is in any county through which the train or car passes in the course of her trip, or in the county where the trip terminates.

11710. Jurisdiction for kidnaping or abduction. The jurisdiction of the following cases is in any county in which the offense was committed, or into or out of which the person upon whom the offense was committed has been brought:

1. For forcibly, fraudulently taking, inveigling, or kidnaping any person to be sent out of the state for any purpose;

2. For the taking or enticing away of any female for the purpose of prostitution or concubinage;

3. For the taking, decoying, or enticing away a child under the age of fifteen years, with intent to conceal or detain it from its parents, guardians, or other person having lawful charge thereof.

11711. Jurisdiction of an indictment for bigamy or incest. When the offense, either of bigamy or incest, is committed in one county and the defendant is apprehended in another, the jurisdiction is in either county.

11712. Property feloniously taken in one county and brought into another. When property taken in one county by burglary, robbery, or larceny has been brought into another, the jurisdiction of the offense is in either county. But if at any time before the conviction of the defendant in the latter, he is indicted in the former county, the sheriff of the latter county must, upon demand, deliver him to the sheriff of the former.

11715. Jurisdiction for stealing, etc., property out of state, and brought therein. The jurisdiction of a criminal action for stealing in any other state the property of another, or receiving it, knowing it to have been stolen, and bringing the same into this state, is in any county into or through which such stolen property has been brought.

11716. Jurisdiction for murder, etc., where the injury was inflicted in one county, and the party dies out of that county. The jurisdiction of a criminal action for murder or manslaughter, when the injury which caused the death was inflicted in one county, and the party injured dies in another county, or out of the state, is in the county where the injury was inflicted.

Operation and Effect

Where a person is shot in one county but dies in another, and is charged with murder in the former county, it is unnecessary to allege where the deceased died; and, though it is alleged that he died in the county where the fatal shot was fired, while the evidence shows that he died in another county, there is no variance. That term refers to a disagreement between the allegations in the information and the proof, with reference to some matter that is legally essential to the charge. State v. Crean, 43 M 47, 54, 114 P 603.

11717. On an indictment against an accessory. In the case of an accessory in the commission of a public offense, the jurisdiction is in the county where the offense of the accessory was committed, notwithstanding the principal offense was committed in another.

11718. Of principals who are not present, etc., at commission of the principal offense. The jurisdiction of a criminal action against a principal in the commission of a public offense, when such principal is not present at the commission of the principal offense, is in the same county it would be under this code if he were present and aiding and abetting therein.

11719. Conviction or acquittal in another state a bar, where the jurisdiction is concurrent. When an act charged as a public offense is within the jurisdiction of another state or county as well as of this state, a conviction or acquittal thereof in the former is a bar to the prosecution or indictment therefor in this state.

 11725. Exception when defendant is out of the state.
 11726. Indictment found, when presented and filed.
 11727. Time not counted.

11722. Prosecution for murder may be commenced at any time. There is no limitation of time within which a prosecution for murder or manslaughter must be commenced. It may be commenced at any time after the death of the person killed.

11723. Limitation of five years in all other felonies. An indictment for any other felony than murder or manslaughter must be found, or an information filed, within five years after its commission.

History: En. Sec. 22, p. 221, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 39, p. 195, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 39, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 39, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1581, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9027, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11723, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 800.

Operation and Effect

Unless time is a material ingredient in the offense or in charging the same, it is only necessary to prove that it was committed prior to the findings or filing of the information or indictment. State v. Rogers, 31 M 1, 4, 77 P 293.

Held, that where an offense which is not divisible into degrees and does not include a lesser offense, is punishable either as a misdemeanor or as a felony in the discretion of the court or jury, it is the possible sentence which determines the grade of the crime; hence it is to be deemed a felony up to the time of judgment, whereupon, if the punishment inflicted be other than imprisonment in the state prison, it is to be considered a misdemeanor for all purposes, under this section. State v. Atlas, 75 M 547, 550, 244 P 477.

11724. Limitation of one year in misdemeanors. An indictment for any misdemeanor must be found, or an information filed or complaint made, within one year after its commission.

Operation and Effect

This is a general statute of limitations, applicable to misdemeanors, and an exception to it cannot be enlarged beyond what its plain language imports, and whenever the exception is invoked the case must clearly and unequivocally fall within it. State v. Clemens, 40 M 567, 569, 107 P 896. See Smith v. Smith, 224 Fed. 1, 5, 139 C. C. A. 465.

Where a person committed a misdemeanor while within this state and afterwards departed therefrom, an information not filed until one year and ten months after the date of its commission was barred by this section. State v. Clemens, 40 M 567, 569, 107 P 896.

Id. The mere fact that a defendant is absent from the state does not constitute any justification or excuse for delay in filing an information against him, particularly in view of the very liberal rules of this state applicable to extradition proceedings.

Under this section, providing that an information for a misdemeanor must be filed within one year after its commission, and under the next section, declaring that if defendant after commission of the offense leaves the state the information may be filed within the time limited after his return, the time during which he was absent not being part of the limitation, held, that the state's burden of proving that defendant, who had left the state with intention of going to Ireland, was outside the state for a period of at least twenty days was met by testimony a legitimate inference from which was that a trip to Ireland, where defendant visited a number of cities, and return must have involved an absence from the state for at least that length of time. State v. Knilians, 69 M 8, 15, 220 P 91.

Defendant was charged with taking and using an automobile without the consent of the owner, under section 11478, R. C. M. 1921, which makes the offense punishable by fine or imprisonment in the county jail, or by imprisonment in the state penitentiary not exceeding five years. The information was not filed until fourteen months after the commission of the offense. Held, under the rule of this case, that the district court erred in sustaining a demurrer to the pleading on the ground that, the offense being a misdemeanor, the limitation of one year fixed by this section, within which the information could be filed had expired, and holding that it was without jurisdiction to proceed. State v. Atlas, 75 M 547, 550 et seq., 244 P 477.

11725. Exception when defendant is out of the state. If, after the offense is committed, the defendant leaves the state or resides outside the state, the indictment may be found or an information or complaint filed within the time herein limited, after his coming within the state, and no time during which the defendant is not an inhabitant of or actually a resident within this state is part of the limitation.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 23, p. 221, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 40, p. 195, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 40, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 40, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 1583, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9029, Rev. C. 1907; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 5, L. 1917; re-en. Sec. 11725, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 802.

Operation and Effect

For a construction of this section prior to its amendment, see State v. Clemens, 40 M 567, 569, 107 P 896.

Under the preceding section, providing that an information for a misdemeanor must be filed within one year after its commission, and under this section, declaring that if defendant after commission of the offense leaves the state the information may be filed within the time limited after his return, the time during which he was absent not being part of the limitation, held, that the state's burden of proving that defendant who had left the state with the intention of going to Ireland, was outside the state for a period of at least twenty days was met by testimony a legitimate inference from which was that a trip to Ireland, where defendant visited a number of cities, and return must have involved an absence from the state for at least that length of time. State v. Knilians, 69 M 8, 15, 220 P 91.

11726. Indictment found, when presented and filed. An indictment is found within the meaning of this chapter when it is presented by the grand jury in open court, and there received and filed.

11727. Time not counted. When an indictment, complaint, or information is quashed or set aside, or judgment thereon is reversed, the time during which the same was pending must not be computed as part of the time of the limitation prescribed for the offense.

CHAPTER 66

THE COMPLAINT

Section 11728. Complaint, must contain what.
 11729. Duty to make complaint.
 11730. Duty of magistrate.
 11731. Arrest without warrant.
 11732. Magistrate must issue subpoenas.

11728. Complaint, must contain what. The complaint must state:

1. The name of the person accused, if known, or if not known, he may be designated by any other name;
2. The county in which the offense was committed;
3. The general name of the offense;
4. The person against whom, or against whose property, the offense was committed, if known; and,
5. If the offense be against the property of any person, a general description of such property.

The complaint must be subscribed and sworn to by the complainant.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 76, p. 202, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 76, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 76, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1590, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9032, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11728, R. C. M. 1921.

11729. Duty to make complaint. Every person who has reason to believe that a public offense has been committed and that a certain person has committed such offense, must make complaint of such person before a magistrate of the township in which the offense was committed, or if there is no magistrate in such township, before the nearest magistrate.

History: En. Sec. 75, p. 202, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 75, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 75, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1591, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9033, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11729, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

The provisions of this section that a person who has reason to believe that a crime has been committed and that a certain person has committed it, must make complaint before a magistrate, does not require one to disclose to a county attorney evidence within his knowledge tending to disprove the defendant's guilt, and an instruction that it does was erroneous. State v. Jackson, 71 M 421, 434, 230 P 370.

References

Cited or applied as section 1591, Penal Code, in State v. O'Brien, 35 M 482, 494, 90 P 514.

11730. Duty of magistrate. When a complaint is made before a magistrate charging a person with the commission of a public offense, such magistrate must examine the complainant, under oath, as to his knowledge of the commission of the offense charged, and he may also examine any other person. If from such examination, or from any other facts which may lawfully come to the knowledge of the magistrate, it appears to him probable that the alleged offense has been committed within his jurisdiction and that the person accused committed it, such magistrate must immediately issue his warrant for the arrest of such person.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 77, p. 202, Cod. en. Sec. 1592, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9034, Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 77, 3d Div. Rev. Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11730, R. C. M. Stat. 1879; amd. Sec. 1, p. 40, L. 1885; 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Secs. 811 and 813. re-en. Sec. 77, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; 11731. Arrest without warrant. When any officer or private person shall bring any person he has arrested, without a warrant, before a magistrate, it is the duty of such officer or person to specify the charge upon which he has made the arrest; it is then the duty of the magistrate or county attorney to make and file a complaint of the offense charged, and cause the officer or person, or some other person, to subscribe and make oath to such complaint; and the proceedings must be the same thereafter as are had in cases where arrests are made under warrant.

History: En. Sec. 1593, Pen. C. 1895; References re-en. Sec. 9035, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. State v. Johnson et al., 69 M 38, 44, 220 P 82. 11731, R. C. M. 1921.

11732. Magistrate must issue subpoenas. Any person making complaint of a public offense must inform the magistrate of all persons who have any knowledge of the commission of the offense, and the magistrate, at the time of issuing the warrant, must issue subpoenas for each person, requiring them to attend, at a specified time, as witnesses.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 79, p. 203, Cod. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1594, Pen. C. 1895; Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 79, 3d Div. Rev. re-en. Sec. 9036, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 79, 3d Div. Comp. 11732, R. C. M. 1921.

11746. Proceedings for offenses triable in another county. When a complaint is made before a magistrate of the commission of a public offense triable in another county of the state, but showing that the defendant is in the county where the complaint is made, the same proceedings must be had as prescribed in this chapter, except that the warrant must require the defendant to be taken before the nearest or most accessible magistrate of the county in which the offense is triable, and the complaint must be delivered by the magistrate to the officer to whom the warrant is delivered.

11747. Duty of officer. The officer who executes the warrant must take the defendant before the nearest or most accessible magistrate of the county in which the offense is triable, and must deliver to him the complaint and the warrant, with his return indorsed thereon, and the magistrate must then proceed in the same manner as upon a warrant issued by himself.

11749. Officer in charge of prisoner. An officer who has arrested a defendant on a criminal charge, in any county, may carry such prisoner through such parts of any county or counties as shall be in the ordinary route of travel from the place where the prisoner shall have been arrested, to the place where he is to be conveyed and delivered under the process by which the arrest shall have been made; and such conveyance shall not be deemed an escape.

History: En. Sec. 1616, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9053, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11749, R. C. M. 1921.

11750. Same. While passing through such other county or counties the officers having the prisoner in their charge shall not be liable to arrest on civil process; and they have the like power to require any citizen to aid in securing such prisoner, and to retake him if he escapes, as if they were within their own county; and a refusal or neglect to render such aid shall be an offense, in the same manner as if they were officers of the county where such aid shall be required.

C. M. 1921. State v. Hum Quock, 89 M 503, 519, 300 P 220.

11752. How an arrest is made and what restraint allowed. An arrest is made by an actual restraint of the person of the defendant or by his submission to the custody of an officer. The defendant must not be subjected to any more restraint than is necessary for his arrest and detention.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 111, p. 234, Ban-nack Stat.; en. Sec. 71, p. 202, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 71, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 71, 3d Div. Comp. Stat.

11753. Arrests by peace officers. A peace officer may make an arrest in obedience to a warrant delivered to him, or may, without a warrant, arrest a person—

1. For a public offense committed or attempted in his presence;
2. When a person arrested has committed a felony, although not in his presence;
3. When a felony has in fact been committed, and he has reasonable cause for believing the person arrested to have committed it;
4. On a charge made, upon a reasonable cause, of the commission of a felony by the party arrested;
5. At night, when there is reasonable cause to believe that he has committed a felony.

Operation and Effect

The person named in a warrant of arrest must submit even though not guilty of any offense, and the officer, after making his purpose known and exhibiting the warrant, if requested to do so, may use such force as is necessary to effect the arrest without subjecting himself to a charge of trespass. State v. Bradshaw, 53 M 96, 98, 161 P 710.

Id. Where any of the circumstances defined by this section do not exist, an arrest by an officer without warrant constitutes a trespass upon the personal liberty of the one arrested, against which he may use such force as is necessary to prevent the arrest, or to effect his escape, and in a prosecution for resisting an officer it is not sufficient if the officer believed there was a violation of the law, but it must appear that the conditions described in the statute existed.

11754. Arrests by private persons. A private person may arrest another—

1. For a public offense committed or attempted in his presence;
2. When the person arrested has committed a felony, although not in his presence;
3. When a felony has in fact been committed, and he has reasonable cause for believing the person arrested to have committed it.

History: En. Sec. 67, p. 201, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 67, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 67, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1633, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9058, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11754, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 837.

Operation and Effect

In an action to recover damages for false imprisonment, it is proper to refuse the defendant an instruction to the effect that the law gives a private person the right mere possession of narcotics is prima facie evidence of guilt and therefore lack of knowledge, on the part of the recipient of a package through the mails, that it contained morphine did not render her arrest unlawful, her lack in that respect being a matter of defense at the trial. State v. District Court et al., 82 M 515, 519, 268 P 501.

One acting under authority of the county attorney as special investigator of offenses against the narcotic law, who made an arrest without a warrant, held not a "peace officer" within the meaning of section 11751, R. C. M. 1921, providing that an arrest may be made by a peace officer or a private person in the manner set forth in this section and the following section. State v. Hum Quock, 89 M 503, 519, 300 P 220.

to make an arrest when the person arrested has committed, or is about to commit, a public offense in his presence, and that, if the jury believes that the plaintiff had taken from the defendant property of the latter which he was attempting to recover at the time of the alleged imprisonment, the verdict should be for the defendant. Kroeger v. Passmore, 36 M 504, 510, 93 P 805.

Id. In connection with this section there must also be read section 11764, which is a part of the same chapter of the code, relates to the same subject-matter, and may rightly be said to be a limitation upon the provisions of this section.

To entitle a private person to make an arrest under this section, for a public offense committed or attempted in his presence, the facts and circumstances must be such that upon them alone he would be justified in making a complaint upon which a warrant might issue, i. e., the facts and circumstances must be sufficient to warrant the conclusion that there is probable cause for believing that an offense is being committed. State ex rel. Sadler v. District Court et al., 70 M 378, 386, 225 P 1000.

Id. The authority of a private person to make an arrest without a warrant is more limited than that of an officer to make a like arrest.

In determining whether a private person had "reasonable cause" for believing that a crime had been or was being committed in his presence when he made an arrest, under authority of this section, without a warrant, a liberal rather than a strict course should be followed; if he acted in good faith and the facts and circumstances were such as to warrant a man of prudence and caution in believing as he did when making the arrest, it should be held lawful. State v. Hum Quock, 89 M 503, 519, 300 P 220.

Id. While the legality of an arrest by a private person without a warrant cannot depend upon what is found in the possession of the person arrested, the fact that his belief that a crime was being committed is found to be correct accredits the belief and gives weight to the evidence upon which he acted.

11755. Magistrate may order arrest. A magistrate may orally order a peace officer or private person to arrest any one committing or attempting to commit a public offense in the presence of such magistrate.

11757. When the arrest may be made. If the offense charged is a felony, the arrest may be made on any day, and at any time of the day or night. If it is a misdemeanor, the arrest cannot be made at night, unless upon the direction of the magistrate, endorsed upon the warrant.

11758. Arrest, how made. The person making the arrest must inform the person to be arrested of the intention to arrest him, of the cause of the arrest, and the authority to make it, except when the person to be arrested is actually engaged in the commission of or an attempt to commit an offense, or is pursued immediately after its commission, or after an escape.

11760. What force may be used. When the arrest is being made by an officer under the authority of a warrant, after information of the intention to make the arrest, if the person to be arrested either flees or forcibly resists, the officer may use all necessary means to effect the arrest.

Operation and Effect

11780. Examination of defendant's witnesses. When the examination of witnesses on the part of the state is closed, any witnesses the defendant may produce must be sworn and examined.

11781. Exclusion and separation of witnesses. While a witness is under examination, the magistrate may exclude all witnesses who have not been examined. He may also cause the witnesses to be kept separate, and to be prevented from conversing with each other until they are all examined.

11782. Who may be present at the examination. The magistrate must also, upon the request of the defendant, exclude from the examination every person except his clerk, the prosecutor and his counsel, the attorney-general, the county attorney of the county, the defendant and his counsel, and the officer having the defendant in custody.

11783. Reduction to writing and authentication of testimony. The testimony of each witness, in case of homicide, must be reduced to writing, as a deposition, by a stenographer appointed by the county attorney, under the direction of the magistrate; and in other cases the testimony of each witness shall be taken by a stenographer appointed by the county attorney upon demand of the prosecuting attorney, or the defendant, or his counsel. The deposition or testimony of the witness must be authenticated in the following form:

1. It must state name of the witness, his place of residence, and his business or profession.
2. It must contain the questions put to the witness, and his answers thereto, each answer being distinctly read to him as it is taken down, and being corrected or added to until it conforms to what he declares is the truth.
3. If the question put be objected to on either side and overruled, or the witness decline answering it, that fact, with the ground on which the question was overruled or the answer declined, must be stated.
4. The deposition must be signed by the witness, or, if he refuses to sign it, his reason for refusing must be stated in writing as he gives it.
5. It must be signed and certified by the magistrate when reduced to writing by him, or under his direction, and certified as being a correct statement of such testimony and proceedings in the case, and shall be prima facie a correct statement of such testimony and proceedings.

The deposition or testimony of the witness must be authenticated in the manner and form provided in this section.

11784. Testimony, by whom and how kept. The magistrate or his clerk must keep the testimony taken on the examination until it is returned to the proper court; and must not permit such testimony to be examined or copied by any person except a judge of a court having jurisdiction of the offense or authorized to issue writs of habeas corpus, the attorney-general, county attorney, or other prosecuting attorney, and the defendant and his counsel.

11785. Defendant, when and how discharged. If, after hearing the proofs, it appears either that no public offense has been committed or that there is not sufficient cause to believe the defendant guilty of a public offense, the magistrate must order the defendant discharged, by an indorsement on the testimony or warrant signed by him, to the following effect: "There being no sufficient cause to believe the within-named A B guilty of the offense within mentioned, I order him to be discharged."

Operation and Effect

The best evidence of plaintiff's discharge after preliminary examination on a charge of grand larceny was the indorsement on the warrant on which he was arrested, and not the entries on the magistrate's docket; but, upon proof of the loss of the warrant, parol evidence was admissible to prove the fact of his discharge. Hawley v. Richardson, 60 M 118, 126, 198 P 450.

11786. When and how to be committed. If, however, it appears from the examination that a public offense has been committed, and there is sufficient cause to believe the defendant guilty thereof, the magistrate must make or indorse on the testimony or warrant an order, signed by him, to the following effect: "It appearing to me that the offense in the within testimony mentioned (or any offense, according to the fact, stating generally the nature thereof) has been committed, and that there is sufficient cause to believe the within-named A B guilty thereof, I order that he be held to answer to the same."

Operation and Effect

On a preliminary examination, all that is required of the county attorney is to submit proof sufficient to show probable cause to believe the defendant to be guilty of the charge. In re Jones, 46 M 122, 126, 126 P 929.

11789. Commitment, how made and to whom delivered. If the magistrate order the defendant to be committed, he must make out a commitment, signed by him, with his name of office, and deliver it, with the defendant, to the officer to whom he is committed, or, if that officer is not present, to a peace officer, who must deliver the defendant into the proper custody, together with the commitment.

11792. Security for the appearance of witnesses. When the magistrate or judge of the court in which the action is pending is satisfied, by proof on oath, that there is reason to believe that any such witness will not appear and testify unless security is required, he may order the witness to enter into a written undertaking, with sureties, in such sum as he may deem proper, for his appearance as specified in the preceding section.

11793. Infants and married women may be required to give security.

When any married woman or minor is a material witness, any other person may be allowed to give an undertaking for the appearance of such witness; or the magistrate may, in his discretion, take the undertaking of such married woman or minor in a sum not exceeding fifty dollars, which is valid and binding in law, notwithstanding the disability of coverture or minority.

11794. Witnesses to be committed on refusal to give security for their appearance—how discharged. Any witness required to enter into an undertaking, either with or without sureties must, if he refuse, be committed to prison by the magistrate, there to remain until the deposition of such witness can be taken. After the deposition is taken the witness must be immediately discharged.

11795. Witness unable to give security may be conditionally examined—not applicable to prosecutor or accomplice. Such deposition must be taken in the presence of the accused and his counsel, or without their presence if they fail to attend the examination after reasonable notice of the time and place thereof, upon written notice to the defendant or his attorney, or the attorney prosecuting, as the case may be, and the deposition so taken must be transmitted to the clerk of the district court and may be used on the trial in the district court subject to objections as to the materiality or competency of the evidence as in case of other depositions, if the witness be dead or absent from the state at the time of the trial.

11796. Magistrate to return testimony, etc., to the court. CHAPTER 70

PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS—FILING THE INFORMATION

Section 11798. Offenses, how prosecuted.

11799. What by accusation or information.

11800. Indictments and accusations, in what court found.

11801. Information to be filed.

11802. Duty of county attorney.

11803. Duty of court when county attorney does not file information.

11804. Information may be amended.

11805. Indorsement on information.

11798. Offenses, how prosecuted. All public offenses triable in the district courts must be prosecuted by indictment or information, except as provided in the next section.

History: En. Sec. 1720, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9102, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11798, R. C. M. 1921. References State v. District Court, 61 M 558, 563, 202 P 756.

11799. What by accusation or information. When the proceedings are had for the removal of district, county, municipal, or township officers, they may be commenced by an accusation or information, in writing, as provided in sections 11688 and 11702 of this code.

History: En. Sec. 1721, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9103, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11799, R. C. M. 1921. References State v. District Court, 61 M 558, 563, 202 P 756.

11800. Indictments and accusations, in what court found. All accusations, informations, or indictments against district, county, municipal, and township officers, must be found or filed in the district court.

11801. Information to be filed. When the defendant has been examined and committed, or admitted to bail, as provided in this code, or upon leave of court, the county attorney must, within thirty days after the delivery of the complaint, warrant, and testimony to the proper district court, or after such leave, file in such court an information charging the defendant with the offense for which he is held to answer, or any other offense disclosed by the testimony. In case the county attorney fails to file the information within the time specified he is guilty of contempt, and may be prosecuted for neglect of duty as in other cases.

History: En. Sec. 2, p. 249, L. 1891; amd. Sec. 1730, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9105, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11801, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 809.

Operation and Effect

Under this section and the two following sections, no leave of court is necessary to file an information after commitment on preliminary examination, and a writ of supervisory control will not issue to compel the granting of leave. State ex rel. Donovan v. District Court, 26 M 275, 278, 67 P 943.

Id. Under this section and the two following sections, leave to file an information without a preliminary examination may be granted or refused, within the sound discretion of the court, when no statement is made to the court of the evidence upon which the state relies for a conviction, and a writ of supervisory control to revise such discretion will be denied.

Where the county attorney fails to comply with this section, any advantage thereof must be taken by defendant by motion to set aside the information, which must be done before demurrer or plea, and failure to so take advantage of the irregularity waives it. The negligence of the county attorney in this respect cannot be taken advantage of by the sureties on defendant's bail-bond. State v. Lagoni, 30 M 472, 480, 76 P 1044.

The objection that an information was filed, without leave of court, more than thirty days after the committing magistrate had lodged the papers with the clerk of the district court, must be made in writing and before demurrer or plea, or it is waived; hence, where defendant did not raise such an objection to the jurisdiction of the court until after plea, and then orally, he was not in a position to complain of the action of the court in overruling his objection. State v. Chevigny, 48 M 382, 384, 138 P 257.

11802. Duty of county attorney. The county attorney of the proper county must inquire into and make full examination of all facts and circumstances, touching the commission of any public offense, whenever the offender has been held to answer, and must file an information setting forth the crime committed, according to the facts ascertained on such examination and from the written testimony taken thereon, whether it be the offense charged in the complaint on which the examination was held or not.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 2, p. 249, L. 1891; en. Sec. 1731, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9106, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11802, R. C. M. 1921.

11803. Duty of court when county attorney does not file information. If the county attorney determines in any such case that an information ought not to be filed, he must make, subscribe, and file with the clerk of the court a statement in writing containing his reasons in fact and in law for not filing an information in such case; such statement must be filed at and during the term or session of the court to which the offender is held to appear for trial; and in such case the court must examine such statement together with the evidence filed in the case, and if upon such examination the court is not satisfied with such statement, the county attorney must be directed and required by the court to file the proper information and bring the case to trial.

History: En. Sec. 2, p. 249, L. 1891; amd. Sec. 1732, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9107, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11803, R. C. M. 1921.

11804. Information may be amended. An information may be amended in matter of substance or form at any time before the defendant pleads, without leave of court. The information may be amended at any time thereafter and on the trial as to all matters of form, at the discretion of the court, where the same can be done without prejudice to the rights of the defendant. No amendment must cause any delay of the trial unless for good cause shown by affidavit.

History: En. Sec. 1733, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9108, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11804, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

The statute authorizes an information to be amended, as to a mere matter of form; thus, an information charging "the malicious destruction of property" may properly be amended by substituting the word "burning" for the word "destruction." State v. Sieff, 54 M 165, 168, 168 P 524.

Under this section, an information may be amended in matter of substance or form at any time before the defendant pleads, without leave of court, but after plea it may be amended as to form only when it can be done without prejudice to the rights of defendant, and as to substance not at all. State v. Fisher, 79 M 46, 49, 254 P 872.

11805. Indorsement on information. The county attorney must indorse upon the information at the time of filing the same, the names of the witnesses for the state, if known.

History: En. Sec. 1734, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9109, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11805, R. C. M. 1921.

Duty of County Attorneys

While this section, requiring the county attorney to indorse the names of all witnesses known to him upon an information at the time of its filing, does not require the names of subsequently discovered witnesses to be so indorsed, he should do so, to avoid complaint that the accused did not have sufficient opportunity to meet the testimony of witnesses of whom he had no knowledge; concealment of names of material witnesses may, on a proper showing, constitute prejudice. State v. Harkins, 85 M 585, 281 P 551.

Effect of Indorsing Defendant's Wife on Information

Where the name of defendant's wife was indorsed on the information among the names of the witnesses for the state, over his objection that she was incompetent, but on the trial she was excluded from testifying, on a renewal of the objection, defendant was not prejudiced by being compelled to object to her competency before the jury. State v. Sloan, 22 M 293, 297, 56 P 364. See also State v. Biggs, 45 M 400, 403, 123 P 410.

Operation and Effect

The act of the county attorney in indorsing, under the directions of the court, the names of other witnesses on the infor-

Id. Under the above, held, that where defendant was charged by information with a misdemeanor (liquor violation) and some four months after plea of not guilty the county attorney was permitted, over objection, to amend the information by adding a charge of prior conviction thereby changing the grade of the offense from a misdemeanor to a felony—a matter of substance—the action of the court in allowing the amendment constituted error, the fact that defendant after amendment was re-arraigned and pleaded over not changing the rule.

mation is not error, as such witnesses were subject to be examined whether their names were indorsed on the information or not. State v. Schnepel, 23 M 523, 524, 59 P 927. See also State v. Newman, 34 M 434, 437, 87 P 462; State v. Biggs, 45 M 400, 403, 123 P 410.

Where a county attorney violated the express injunction of this section by indorsing the name of a witness as "John Doe Mitchell," whereas he knew his true name to be "James Mitchell," defendant was not entitled to a new trial in the absence of a showing that he had been prejudiced by the officer's delinquency. State v. McDonald, 51 M 1, 6, 149 P 279.

Purpose

The purpose of this section is to advise the defendant, so far as reasonably possible, of the witnesses known to the county attorney when the information is filed, whom the state intends to call against him, in order that he may have the opportunity to make inquiry with respect to them and prepare himself to meet their testimony. State v. McDonald, 51 M 1, 4, 149 P 279. See also State v. Gaimos, 53 M 118, 121, 162 P 596.

This provision was intended as a safeguard to the accused against surprise and unfair advantage by the prosecuting officer, and to serve the same purpose as a like provision relating to the disclosure of the names of witnesses upon whose testimony an indictment is found and returned by a grand jury, as provided in section 11836. State v. McDonald, 51 M 1, 5, 149 P 279.

When it is Proper to Allow Indorsement After Filing

Where the name of a witness known to the county attorney at the time of filing the information was omitted, but there was no evidence of bad faith, it was proper to permit it to be indorsed thereon the day before the trial. State v. Calder, 23 M 504, 507, 59 P 903.

Where the name of a witness known to the county attorney at the filing of the information was omitted, but there was no evidence of bad faith, the court properly permitted it to be indorsed on the day before trial. State v. Calder, 23 M 504, 506, 59 P 903. See also State v. Biggs, 45 M 400, 403, 123 P 410.

Where a county attorney at the time of filing an information did not know that a certain person would be a witness and therefore did not indorse his name thereon, his application to permit him to make the indorsement at the beginning of the trial, held to have been properly granted. State v. Harkins, 85 M 585, 281 P 551.

When Witnesses May be Examined Even Though They Are Not Indorsed on Information

It is error to deny the county attorney the right to examine witnesses because their names do not appear on the information, in the absence of a showing on the part of the defendant that the county attorney did in fact know of their existence at the time the information was filed. State v. Schnepel, 23 M 523, 525, 59 P 927.

A witness in a criminal prosecution may not be prevented from testifying because his name was not indorsed on the information, where it does not appear from the record that the county attorney knew of the witness at the time he filed the information. State v. Newman, 34 M 434, 437, 87 P 462. See also State v. Biggs, 45 M 400, 403, 123 P 410.

Omission by the county attorney to indorse the names of material witnesses for the state upon an information, as required by this section, either because not known to him at the inception of the prosecution, or through negligence or ignorance, is not sufficient reason to make their testimony inadmissible. State v. McDonald, 51 M 1, 4, 149 P 279.

Id. Even though a county attorney knew of witnesses whose names he did not indorse upon the information at the time of its filing, it was still within the discretion of the trial court to allow them to be examined.

11823. Evidence receivable before the grand jury. In the investigation of a charge for the purpose of an indictment, the grand jury must receive no other evidence than such as is given by witnesses produced and sworn before them, or furnished by legal documentary evidence. 11824. Grand jury not bound to hear evidence for the defendant. The grand jury is not bound to hear evidence for the defendant, but may do so, and it is their duty to weigh all the evidence submitted to them, and when they have reason to believe that other evidence within their reach will explain away the charge, they should order such evidence to be produced, and for that purpose may require the county attorney to issue process for the witnesses.

11825. Degree of evidence to warrant indictment. The grand jury ought to find an indictment when all the evidence before them, taken together, if unexplained or uncontradicted, would, in their judgment, warrant a conviction by a trial jury.

History: En. Sec. 147, p. 213, Cod. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1784, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. 1871; re-en. Sec. 147, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. Sec. 9129, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11825, 1879; re-en. Sec. 147, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 921.

11826. Grand jurors must declare their knowledge as to commission of public offense. If a member of a grand jury knows, or has reason to believe, that a public offense, triable by indictment within the county has been committed, he must declare the same to his fellow jurors, who must thereupon investigate the same.

History: En. Sec. 148, p. 213, Cod. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1785, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. 1871; re-en. Sec. 148, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. Sec. 9130, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11826, 1879; re-en. Sec. 148, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 922.

11827. Must inquire into cases of persons imprisoned, etc. The grand jury must inquire into the case of every person imprisoned in the jail of the county on a criminal charge, not indicted, or against whom an information has not been filed; into the condition and management of the public prisons in the county, and into the wilful and corrupt misconduct in office, of public officers of every description, within the county.

11829. When and from whom they may ask advice, and who may be present during their sessions. The grand jury may, at all reasonable times, ask the advice of the court, or the judge thereof, or of the county attorney; but unless such advice is asked, the judge of the court must not be present during the sessions of the grand jury. The county attorney of the county may, at all times, appear before the grand jury for the purpose of giving information or advice relative to any matter cognizable by them, and may interrogate witnesses before them whenever they or he thinks it necessary; but no other person is permitted to be present during the sessions of the grand jury except the members and witnesses actually under examination, and no person must be permitted to be present during the expression of their opinions or giving their votes upon any matter before them.

Operation and Effect

The objects of this section are to preserve to the body alone clothed with authority of indicting for public offenses—the grand jury—a right to have witnesses interrogated by official counsel at its sessions, and to keep the proceedings of that body as secret as possible by excluding therefrom those not vested with official authority. It does not affect the right of the attorney-general to be present before the grand jury. State ex rel. Nolan v. District Court, 22 M 25, 31, 55 P 916.

11830. Secrets of grand jury to be kept, except, etc. Every member of the grand jury must keep secret whatever he himself or any other grand juror may have said, or in what manner he or any other grand juror may have voted on a matter before them; but may, however, be required by any court to disclose the testimony of a witness examined before the grand jury, for the purpose of ascertaining whether it is consistent with that given before the court, or to disclose the testimony given before them by any person, upon a charge against such person for perjury in giving his testimony, or upon trial therefor.

History: Ap. p. Secs. 67, 68, p. 229, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Secs. 128, 129, p. 211, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Secs. 128, 129, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 1789, Pen.

C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9134, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11830, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 926.

11831. Grand juror not to be questioned for his conduct, except, etc. A grand juror cannot be questioned for anything he may say, or any vote he may give in the grand jury relative to a matter legally pending before the jury, except for a perjury of which he may have been guilty, in making an accusation or giving testimony to his fellow jurors.

11832. To examine books of county officers. It is the duty of the grand jury, whenever summoned, to make a complete examination of the books, records, and accounts of all the officers of the county, and especially those pertaining to the revenue, and report thereon; and if, in their judgment, the services of an expert are necessary, the grand jury has power to employ one at an agreed compensation not to exceed five dollars per day, payable as other county charges. The judge, upon the impanelment of a grand jury, must charge them especially as to their duties under this section.

11833. Indictment must be found by five jurors, indorsed, etc. An indictment cannot be found without the concurrence of at least five grand jurors. When so found, it must be indorsed, "A true bill," and the indorsement must be signed by the foreman of the grand jury.

History: En. Sec. 71, p. 229, Bannack Stat.; amd. Sec. 150, p. 213, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 150, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 150, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1810, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9137, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11833, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 940.

11835. Effect of dismissal. The dismissal of the charge does not prevent its resubmission to a grand jury as often as the court may direct. But without such direction it cannot be resubmitted, nor can an information be filed.

11836. Names of witnesses inserted at foot of indictment. When an indictment is found, the names of the witnesses examined before the grand jury must be inserted at the foot of the indictment, or indorsed thereon, before it is presented to the court, also the name of the prosecuting witness as such; but no such indictment must be quashed for want of such indorsement if the indorsement is made before the motion to quash is disposed of.

Operation and Effect

Witnesses whose names are not indorsed on the indictment may testify at the trial where the indictment was not found upon their testimony. But if the names of all of the witnesses upon whose testimony the indictment is found are not indorsed, the indictment will be set aside upon timely motion. State v. McDonald, 51 M 1, 6, 149 P 279.

11837. Indictment, how presented and filed. An indictment, when found by the grand jury, must be presented by their foreman, in their presence, to the court, and must be filed with the clerk.

11838. Indictment to be signed by prosecuting attorney and foreman. An indictment must be signed by the attorney prosecuting; and when the grand jury returns any indictment into court, the judge must examine it, and if the foreman has neglected to indorse it, "A true bill," with his name signed thereto, or if the attorney prosecuting has neglected to sign his name, the court must cause the foreman to indorse, or the attorney prosecuting to sign it, as the case may require, in the presence of the grand jury.

11839. Warrant to issue. When an indictment is found against a defendant, a warrant must issue for his arrest, and he must be immediately brought before the court, unless the court order otherwise.

11840. Indorsement of bail. If the offense is bailable, the court may indorse on the back of the warrant the amount in which the defendant is to be held, or admitted to bail, pending the action; or he may order the clerk to enter the amount in which the defendant is admitted to bail, in the minutes of the court, and then the clerk must indorse the amount of the warrant.

Operation and Effect

Under this section, an information is sufficient where it conforms substantially to the form laid down in section 11844, and to the rules prescribed in section 11852, and there is no imperfection in matter or form thereof tending to the prejudice of a substantial right of the defendant on its merits, as provided in section 11853. State v. Stickney, 29 M 523, 528, 75 P 201.

11842. First pleading by the state is indictment, or information. The first pleading on the part of the state is either an indictment or an information.

11843. Indictment, or information, what to contain. The indictment or information must contain:

1. The title of the action, specifying the name of the court in which the same is filed, and the names of the parties;
2. A statement of the facts constituting the offense, in ordinary and concise language, and in such manner as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended.

Clerical Mistake Not Vital

Information inadvertently charging that defendant on a certain day in the year

"19122" sold intoxicating liquor held not to have prejudiced him in any substantial right, where evidence of a sale made on that day in the year 1922 was admitted without objection by defendant and he was prepared to meet the charge on the assumption that that was the correct date, introduced evidence tending to establish an alibi and offered no objection to an instruction advising the jury that if they found that the sale was made on that day they must find him guilty. State v. Polich, 70 M 523, 526, 226 P 519.

Declaratory of the Common Law

This section is but a paraphrase of the common-law rules covering the requisites of criminal pleading. State v. Wolf, 56 M 493, 496, 185 P 556.

Essentials in General

An information stating the proper title of court and cause and containing a statement of the facts constituting the offense, charged in ordinary and concise language so as to enable a person of common understanding to know what was intended, is sufficient. State v. Paine, 61 M 270, 273, 202 P 203.

If an information for perjury sets forth the substance of the matter in respect to which the offense was committed, in what court and before whom the oath alleged to have been false was taken, and that the court or the person before whom it was taken had authority to administer it, with proper allegations of the falsity of the matter on which perjury is assigned, it is sufficient. State v. Jackson, 88 M 420, 428, 293 P 309.

Name of County Material

Where, in an information for murder, the only mention of the county in which the crime was committed appeared in the caption describing the court in which, and the officer by whom, the charge was preferred, while in the charging part of the document the word "county" was not used at all, and the only reference words found there were in the expression "then and there," the first of which referred to a preceding date alleged as the date of the crime, while the latter indicated some place, not described, where the defendant then was, it was held that, in the absence of an expression such as "in the county aforesaid" or "said county," thus referring to the caption, the information did not allege the county in which the offense had been committed, and was fatally defective. State v. Beesskove, 34 M 41, 50, 85 P 376.

The charge in the information that the seditious language alleged to have been used by defendant was uttered in M. county was a sufficient allegation of the place. State v. Fowler, 59 M 346, 352, 196 P 992.

An information which charged that defendant at the county of M., state of Montana, "then and there being, then and there did willfully, etc., possess" certain liquor, etc., was not open to the objection that it failed to allege that the act was committed in M. county, "then" referring to the time and "there" to that county. State v. Polich, 70 M 523, 526, 226 P 519.

Name of Parties

Where an information was against one as George Howard, alias James Howard, alias Joe Kirby, the same was in compliance with the requirements of this section and section 11845; the information having charged his prior conviction, and the different names being for the purpose of identifying him as the person previously convicted. State v. Howard, 30 M 518, 520, 77 P 50.

Statement of Facts Constituting the Offense

If a person of common understanding would, from the reading of an information, know that the defendant in a given case was charged with murder in the first degree, the defendant will be presumed to have had a like knowledge, and be held not to have been prejudiced by the use of peculiar phraseology in it. State v. McGowan, 36 M 422, 425, 93 P 552.

Allegations sufficient for a common-law indictment for murder are sufficient for an information under the code. State v. Hayes, 38 M 219, 221, 99 P 434.

An information alleging that at a specified time and place defendant did "willfully, unlawfully, feloniously, premeditatedly, and of his malice aforethought kill and murder" a designated person, is sufficient to charge murder, though it does not set forth facts showing how and by what means the actual killing was accomplished. State v. Hayes, 38 M 219, 221, 99 P 434. See also State v. Nielson, 38 M 451, 454, 455, 100 P 229; State v. Guerin, 51 M 250, 257, 152 P 747.

An information alleging that accused assaulted deceased, violently threw her to the ground, and otherwise assaulted her until she became unconscious, and then permitted her to lie exposed to inclement weather, and neglected to provide her with necessary clothing and protection, by reason of which assault and exposure she died, charged murder, and the state was not bound to elect whether it would proceed on the theory of assault, or exposure, or both. State v. Rees, 40 M 571, 575, 107 P 893.

An information charging a violation of the sedition act is sufficient under this section and the two following sections, in stating that the defendant had said that the American soldiers "would act in the same way and commit the same atrocities as have been reported of the German soldiers," without setting out the atrocities reported to have been committed by the German soldiers. State v. Wyman, 56 M 600, 607, 186 P 1.

Where two defendants, tried separately, had entered into a conspiracy to commit robbery by taking incriminating evidence from the possession of an officer in the perpetration of which the latter was killed by one of them, the information against the other charging a premeditated killing need not set forth the facts constituting the crime of robbery or allege that in the attempt to commit the latter crime the homicide was committed. State v. Bolton, 65 M 74, 80, 212 P 504.

An information must charge the crime alleged to have been committed, with certainty and precision, setting forth all the affirmative facts which constitute a prima facie case under the statute charged to have been violated. State v. Hem, 69 M 57, 62, 63, 220 P 80.

Neither the time of day, the means of conveyance, the particular brand of liquor transported nor the termini of the route over which it is carried are made constituent elements of the completed offense of illegal transportation, and therefore an information charging that crime is sufficient without allegations to that effect. State v. Dow, 71 M 291, 298, 229 P 402.

Under subdivision 2 of this section, providing that an information charging a criminal offense must contain a statement of the facts constituting the crime in ordinary and concise language so as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended, held, that an information charging defendant with stealing "five Ford wire wheels and tires" was sufficient to advise him that five wire wheels and tires for a Ford automobile were the articles charged to have been stolen, and therefore sufficient to enable him to prepare for his defense. State v. Dimond, 82 M 110, 112, 265 P 5.

The information in a prosecution charging sale of intoxicating liquor to a minor, under Chapter 122, Laws of 1927, need not specify the particular kind of liquor, the allegation that defendant sold "certain intoxicating liquor," etc., being sufficient to advise defendant of the charge against him within the meaning of this section, declaring that the information must contain a statement of facts constituting the offense, in ordinary and concise language so as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended. State v. Baker, 87 M 295, 298, 286 P 1113.

Information charging unlawful sale of morphine hydrochloride held sufficient to meet the requirements of this section, sections 11845 and 11852, R. C. M. 1921, relative to the statement of facts constituting the offense and the degree of certainty which will enable the court to pronounce judgment upon a conviction. State v. Brennan, 89 M 479, 487, 300 P 273.

Information charging defendant, president of a brokerage firm, with larceny as bailee of a sum of money, couched substantially in the language of subdivision 2 of section 11368, was sufficient and not vulnerable to a general demurrer. State v. Lake, 99 M 128, 136, 43 P 2d 627.

11844. Form of. It may be substantially in the following form: The State of Montana against A B. In the district court of the district in and for the county of, the day of, A. D. nineteen A B is accused by the grand jury of the county of, by this indictment (or by the county attorney by this information), of the crime of (giving its legal appellation, such as murder, arson, or the like, or designating it as felony or misdemeanor), committed as follows: The said A B on the day of, A. D. nineteen, at the county of (here set forth the act or omission charged as an offense), contrary to the form, force and effect of the statute in such case made and provided, and against the peace and dignity of the State of Montana.

Operation and Effect

An information need not necessarily contain a specific allegation that the prosecution is conducted in the name and by authority of the state, as required by the constitution, where it appears from the record that it is so conducted, is in the form prescribed by this section, and meets the requirements of section 11852. State v. Barry, 45 M 582, 585, 124 P 774.

An information charging illegal transportation of intoxicating liquor in the language of this section, that defendant "at the county of M. did willfully, wrongfully and unlawfully transport certain intoxicating liquors," etc., was sufficient as against the contention that it was fatally defective for failure to charge that the offense was committed within the jurisdiction of the court; if deemed insufficient it was the duty of defendant to apply for a bill of particulars in advance of the trial. State v. Redmond, 73 M 376, 378, 237 P 486.

11845. It must be direct and certain. The indictment or information must be direct and certain, as it regards—

1. The party charged;
2. The offense charged;

3. The particular circumstances of the offense charged, when they are necessary to constitute a complete offense.

Declaratory of Common Law

This section is but a paraphrase of the common-law rules covering the requisites of criminal pleading. State v. Wolf, 56 M 493, 496, 185 P 556.

Direct and Certain

An information not objectionable on the ground that it did not contain a statement of facts constituting the offense in ordinary and concise language, or that it was not direct and certain in its statements. State v. Phillips, 36 M 112, 118, 92 P 299.

Particular Circumstances of the Offense

An information charging sedition, in that defendant knowingly, unlawfully, etc., uttered and published disloyal, profane, violent, scurrilous, contemptuous, and abusive language concerning the soldiers and the uniform of the United States, was defective, under this section, for failure to set out the specific words characterizing his remarks as disloyal, contemptuous, etc. State v. Wolf, 56 M 493, 500, 185 P 556.

In view of the provision of this section, requiring that the information must be direct and certain, inter alia, as to the particular circumstances of the offense charged when they are necessary to constitute a complete offense, an information charging one with seditious utterances should set forth the fact whether the words were uttered in private conversation with a single person or from a public platform, or were disseminated through the medium of printed articles. State v. McGlynn, 60 M 416, 420, 199 P 708.

Sufficiency of Information

An information for murder should directly allege that death resulted from the mortal wounds inflicted by defendant. State v. Keerl, 29 M 508, 511, 75 P 362.

An information which, after charging forgery of a promissory note, added that defendant, knowing that the instrument was false, uttered, passed, and published the same as true and genuine, with intent to defraud, etc., while dangerously near invading the provisions of this section, is not fatally defective. State v. Mitten, 36 M 376, 381, 92 P 969.

11846. When defendant is indicted by fictitious name, etc. When a defendant is charged by a fictitious or erroneous name, and in any stage of the proceedings his true name is discovered, it must be inserted in the subsequent proceedings, referring to the fact of his being charged by the name mentioned in the indictment or information.

11847. Must charge but one offense and in one form, except where it may be committed by different means. The indictment or information must charge but one offense, but the same offense may be set forth in different forms under different counts, and when the offense may be committed by the use of different means, the means may be alleged in the alternative in the same counts.

Operation and Effect

Under this section, the information can charge but one offense, and it is only for that offense that a conviction can be had. State v. Gaimos, 53 M 118, 124, 162 P 596.

While under this section, an information must charge but one offense, under section 11908, R. C. M. 1921, any number of offenses against the Prohibition Act may be charged in separate counts in one information and where defendant pleaded to the information in a liquor prosecution containing a number of counts, any informality in that respect did not tend to his prejudice and must, therefore, under section 11874, R. C. M. 1921, be disregarded on appeal. State v. Grasswick, 77 M 326, 329, 250 P 613.

Waived by Failure to Demur

Any objection to the inclusion in one count of the statement of different forms of the same offense must be made in the district court, and before plea. The objection that the information charges two offenses is waived by a failure to demur. State v. Mahoney, 24 M 281, 285, 61 P 647.

11848. Statement as to time when offense was committed. The precise time at which the offense was committed need not be stated in the indictment or information, but it may be alleged to have been committed at any time before finding or filing thereof, except where the time is a material ingredient in the offense.

History: En. Sec. 84, p. 231, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 166, p. 216, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 166, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 166, 3d Div. Comp. Stat.

What Constitutes Two Offenses

An information charging forgery in two counts, the first by the false making of the instrument, and the second by uttering it, is not vulnerable to attack by demurrer for charging two offenses, the inhibition of this section, that the indictment or information must charge but one offense, being directed to pleadings which charge more than one distinct offense and not to one which in each of two counts charges the same offense. State v. Mitton, 37 M 366, 370, 96 P 926. See First National Bank v. Barrett, 52 M 359, 365, 157 P 951.

In a criminal prosecution, different acts of the same sort may be proved for the purpose of corroboration. State v. Gaimos, 53 M 118, 124, 162 P 596.

An information against a defendant for knowingly and without consideration taking or receiving from a prostitute any of her earnings, and also with living upon the earnings of a prostitute, charges two distinct offenses in violation of this section. State v. Kanakaris, 54 M 180, 182, 169 P 42.

Operation and Effect

An indictment for rape, which charges the commission of the offense "on or about" a certain day, sufficiently states the time. State v. Thompson, 10 M 549, 557, 27 P 349.

Unless time is a material ingredient in the offense or in charging the same, it is only necessary to prove that it was committed prior to the finding or filing of the information or indictment. State v. Rogers, 31 M 1, 4, 77 P 293.

Id. A conviction for burglary will not be disturbed because it appears it was committed on a day prior to that alleged in the information, where defendant was not prejudiced.

In a prosecution for homicide, where all the evidence showed that, if committed at all, the offense was committed on the day alleged in the information, the court was warranted in charging the jury that it was not necessary that the homicide should have been committed on the precise date laid in the pleading, but it was sufficient if it appeared that it had been committed prior to the filing of the information. State v. Vanella, 40 M 326, 342, 106 P 364.

If the information charging rape fixes a definite date, and the evidence discloses that a mistake occurred in the pleading, and that the identical crime charged was committed upon another date, but before the information was filed, the prosecution will not necessarily fail, though defendant may be entitled to a continuance because of the variance. State v. Gaimos, 53 M 118, 123, 162 P 596.

Id. The statute does not require the prosecution, in a trial for rape, to prove the crime to have been committed on the very day named in the indictment or information as that of its commission.

Held, that defendant, convicted of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor, was not prejudiced by the variance between the allegation in the information that the offense was committed on the 10th of December and the state's proof of its commission on the 12th of the same month. State v. Sorenson, 65 M 65, 210 P 752.

Under the Prohibition Act it is a public offense to possess liquor unlawfully at any time, hence time is not an ingredient of the offense within the meaning of this section, providing that the precise time at which it was committed need not be stated in the information, it being sufficient if it is alleged that its commission occurred at any time before filing thereof, except where the time is a material ingredient in the offense. State v. Terry, 77 M 297, 299, 250 P 612.

11849. Statement as to person injured, or intended to be. When an offense involves the commission of, or attempt to commit, a private injury, and is described with sufficient certainty in other respects to identify the act, an erroneous allegation as to the person injured, or intended to be injured, is not material.

Operation and Effect

Where a defendant was convicted of crime upon an information stating the name of the injured person as "Frank Rex," whereas his own testimony showed that it was "Frank Röck," and there was not any showing that he was named or had been known as Frank Rex, it was held that, the names being unlike in sound or spelling, and the information having failed to disclose any description which made it at all certain that "Frank Rex" and "Frank Röck" were one and the same person, the variance was fatal to conviction. State v. Lee, 33 M 203, 205, 83 P 223.

While a mistake in the name of the person injured is not to be deemed material, if the injury is so described in other respects as to identify it, yet if it is not so identified by the evidence as that it can be said to be the same, there is such a variance as amounts to a failure of proof, and the conviction cannot be sustained. State v. Moxley, 41 M 402, 409, 110 P 83.

11851. Words used in a statute need not be strictly followed. Words used in a statute to define a public offense need not be strictly pursued in the indictment or information, but other words conveying the same meaning may be used.

Operation and Effect

An information charging defendant with having permitted a female to be or remain in his saloon for the purpose of being there supplied with liquor, which alleged that defendant was "then and there" the owner and manager having charge and control, was sufficient to apprise him that he was accused of being in control "for the time being," the words used in the statute under which the prosecution was brought, and was therefore sufficient under this section. State v. Conway, 38 M 42, 43, 98 P 654.

11852. Indictment or information, when sufficient. The indictment or information is sufficient, if it can be understood therefrom—

1. That it is entitled in a court having authority to receive it, though the name of the court be not stated;

2. If an indictment, that it was found by a grand jury of the county in which the court was held; or if an information, that it was subscribed and presented to the court by the county attorney of the county in which the court was held;

3. That the defendant is named, or, if his name cannot be discovered, that he is described by a fictitious name, with a statement that his true name is to the jury or county attorney, as the case may be, unknown;

4. That the offense was committed at some place within the jurisdiction of the court, except where the act, though done without the local jurisdiction of the county, is triable therein;

5. That the offense was committed at some time prior to the time of finding the indictment or filing of the information;

6. That the act or omission charged as the offense is clearly and distinctly set forth in ordinary and concise language, without repetition, and in such manner as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended;

7. That the act or omission charged as the offense is stated with such a degree of certainty as to enable the court to pronounce judgment upon a conviction, according to the right of the case.

Subd. 4

Operation and Effect

Subdivision 4 of this section has no application to an information charging larceny. State v. De Wolfe, 29 M 415, 422, 74 P 1084.

The exception named in subdivision 4 of this section refers to offenses committed in the manner named in sections 11707 and 11708. State v. Tully, 31 M 365, 369, 78 P 760.

An information charging illegal transportation of intoxicating liquor in the language of section 11844, R. C. M. 1921, that defendant "at the county of M. did willfully, wrongfully and unlawfully transport certain intoxicating liquors," etc., was sufficient as against the contention that it was fatally defective for failure to charge that the offense was committed within the jurisdiction of the court; if deemed insufficient it was the duty of defendant to apply for a bill of particulars in advance of the trial. State v. Redmond, 73 M 376, 378, 237 P 486.

Subd. 6

Operation and Effect

Stating facts, charging a crime, in the form of participial clauses, though that is a method of pleading not to be commended, does not render an information abortive. The proper way, however, to make the charge is by direct allegation. State v. Pemberton, 39 M 530, 532, 104 P 556.

Id. An information for robbery is sufficient, with respect to the crime, if it enables a person of ordinary understanding to know what is intended to be charged.

Id. It is sufficient, in an information for robbery, to charge that the taking was accomplished "with" force and fear, instead of "by means of force and fear." The word "with," in this connection, is equivalent to the expression "by means of."

An information must charge the crime alleged to have been committed, with certainty and precision, setting forth all the affirmative facts which constitute a prima facie case under the statute charged to have been violated. State v. Hem, 69 M 57, 62, 63, 220 P 80.

Subd. 7

Operation and Effect

Where an indictment for secreting a public record alleged that defendant, being an officer and having in his custody a certain public record, and which said record came into and was in his hands, and was by him feloniously secreted, and defendant contended that the charging part was an unfinished sentence, and that the allegation respecting secretion was merely descriptive of the record, the offense was charged with "such a degree of certainty" that judgment might be pronounced according to the right of the case, as required by this section. State v. Bloor, 20 M 574, 582, 52 P 611.

An information in charging the crime of sedition is fatally defective on the ground of uncertainty where it is alleged that the offense consists of the statement that "she wished the people would revolt and that she would shoulder a gun and get the president the first one," for the reason that a presumption must be indulged in to determine whether the defendant meant the people or the president of the United States or the people or president of some other country. State v. Smith, 58 M 567, 572, 194 P 131.

Information charging unlawful sale of morphine hydrochloride held sufficient to meet the requirements of sections 11843 and 11845, R. C. M. 1921, and this section, relative to the statement of facts constituting the offense and the degree of certainty which will enable the court to pronounce judgment upon a conviction. State v. Brennan, 89 M 479, 487, 300 P 273.

Operation in General

An information need not necessarily contain a specific allegation that the prosecution is conducted in the name and by authority of the state, as required by the constitution, where it appears from the record that it is so conducted, is in the form prescribed by section 11844, and meets the requirements of this section. State v. Barry, 45 M 582, 584, 124 P 774.

Purpose

This section, and sections 11841 and 11844 were intended to relax the technical rules which prevailed at the common law, and to simplify the procedure to the end that regard to substance rather than form should be the rule of interpretation. State v. Brown, 38 M 309, 312, 99 P 954.

11853. Not insufficient for defect of form not tending to prejudice defendant. No indictment or information is insufficient, nor can the trial, judgment, or other proceedings thereon be affected by reason of any defect or imperfection in matter of form which does not tend to the prejudice of a substantial right of the defendant upon its merits.

Clerical Mistake Immaterial

Information inadvertently charging that defendant on a certain day in the year "19122" sold intoxicating liquor held not to have prejudiced him in any substantial right, where evidence of a sale made on that day in the year 1922 was admitted without objection by defendant and he was prepared to meet the charge on the assumption that that was the correct date, introduced evidence tending to establish an alibi and offered no objection to an instruction advising the jury that if they found that the sale was made on that day they must find him guilty. State v. Polich, 70 M 523, 526, 226 P 519.

Date of Offense Held Immaterial

A conviction for burglary will not be disturbed because it appears it was committed on a day prior to that alleged in the information, where defendant was not prejudiced. State v. Rogers, 31 M 1, 5, 77 P 293.

Information Signed by Deputy County Attorney Held Immaterial

A deputy county attorney may present an information in his own name; hence the fact that an information was signed by him instead of by the county attorney did not render it invalid; at most his act, while perhaps improper from an ethical standpoint, was no more than an irregularity which could not affect appellant's substantial rights and was therefore insufficient to warrant reversal of the judgment under this section. State v. Larson, 75 M 274, 276, 243 P 566.

Misspelling of "Deliberately" Held Immaterial

Under this section and section 11874 an information alleging that defendant feloniously, wilfully, and of his "deliberately" premeditated malice aforethought committed the homicide in question, was not fatally defective because of the mere misspelling of the word "deliberately." State v. Lu Sing, 34 M 31, 35, 85 P 521.

Operation and Effect Generally

An information charging an attempt to obtain money by false pretenses, though defective in form and containing immaterial averments, is held sufficient to sustain a conviction, when it is apparent that the defendant has suffered no prejudice. State v. Phillips, 36 M 112, 118, 92 P 299.

Superfluous Words or Sentences Held Immaterial

Superfluous words or sentences inserted in an information charging crime may be treated as surplusage and disregarded, if, without such words and sentences, it sufficiently charges the offense alleged to have been committed. State v. McGowan, 36 M 422, 427, 93 P 552.

An information charging murder in the first degree, otherwise sufficient, was not rendered insufficient by the absence of the words "a felony," after the words "murder in the first degree," hence the insertion of the two words by order of court upon complaint that the copy served upon defendant did not contain them did not render the information subject to a motion to quash. State v. Vuckovich, 61 M 480, 491, 203 P 491.

Time and Place Are Essential

While in this state much of the particularity required at the common law has been dispensed with, and no defect or imperfection in form, which does not prejudice the substantial rights of the defendant, can affect a judgment of conviction, still time and place are essential elements, and must be so alleged as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended by the charge. State v. Beeskove, 34 M 41, 50, 85 P 376.

When Remarks by Trial Judge Will Be Held Immaterial

While not subscribing to the doctrine that only objectionable remarks addressed to the jury and not those addressed to counsel during the trial in the presence of the jury may be considered prejudicial, where the court after each of such remarks cautions the jury to disregard them in arriving at their verdict, the error will be deemed cured except in instances of gross impropriety. State v. Dixon, 80 M 181, 213, 260 P 138.

11854. Presumptions of law, etc., need not be stated. Neither presumptions of law, nor matters of which judicial notice is taken, need be stated in an indictment or information.

Operation and Effect

Held that the courts take judicial notice of the fact that morphine is a derivative of opium, and therefore under this section providing that matters of which judicial notice is taken need not be alleged in an information or indictment, a charge that defendant unlawfully, feloniously, etc., sold a certain quantity of morphine was sufficient, as against the contention that it was fatally defective for failure to aver that morphine is a derivative of opium. In pleading a judgment or other determination of, or proceeding before a court or officer of special jurisdiction, it is not necessary to state the facts constituting jurisdiction; but the judgment or determination may be stated as given or made, or the proceedings had. The facts constituting jurisdiction, however, must be established on the trial.

11857. Pleading for libel. An indictment or information for libel need not set forth any extrinsic facts for the purpose of showing the application to the party libeled, of the defamatory matter on which the indictment or information is founded; but it is sufficient to state generally, that the same was published concerning him, and the fact that it was so published must be established on the trial.

11858. Pleading for forgery, where instrument has been destroyed or withheld by defendant. When an instrument which is the subject of an indictment or information for forgery has been destroyed or withheld by the act or the procurement of the defendant, and the fact of such destruction or withholding is alleged in the indictment or information, and established on the trial, the misdescription of the instrument is immaterial.

11859. Pleading for perjury or subornation of perjury. In an indictment or information for perjury, or subornation of perjury, it is sufficient to set forth the substance of the controversy or matter in respect to which the offense was committed, and in what court and before whom the oath alleged to be false was taken, and that the court, or person before whom it was taken, had authority to administer it, with proper allegations of the falsity of the matter on which the perjury is assigned; but the indictment or information need not set forth the pleadings, record, or proceedings with which the oath is connected, nor the commission or authority of the court or person before whom the perjury was committed.

Operation and Effect

An information charging perjury as having been committed in swearing at a criminal trial that a certain event happened at 11 o'clock, without stating whether it was in the morning or at night, held not insufficient, where any person of ordinary intelligence could not, from a reading of other portions of the pleading, have arrived at any other conclusion than that it meant 11 o'clock in the forenoon; nor was it rendered insufficient by the ungrammatical use of the word "knowing" where "knowingly" should have been employed. State v. Jackson, 88 M 420, 428, 293 P 309.

Id. If an information for perjury sets forth the substance of the matter in respect to which the offense was committed, in what court and before whom the oath alleged to have been false was taken, and that the court or the person before whom it was taken had authority to administer it, with proper allegations of the falsity of the matter on which perjury is assigned, it is sufficient.

11860. Pleading for larceny or embezzlement. In an indictment or information for the larceny or embezzlement of money, banknotes, certificates of stock, or valuable securities, or for a conspiracy to cheat or defraud a person of any such property, it is sufficient to allege larceny or embezzlement, or the conspiracy to cheat and defraud, to be of money, banknotes, certificates of stock, or valuable securities, without specifying the coin, number, denomination, or kind thereof.

Operation and Effect

In an information charging larceny by a bailee it is not necessary to describe the money. State v. Hall, 45 M 498, 125 P 639.

While shares of stock of a corporation constitute the property and a certificate representing them, is only evidence of the property, yet since title to the shares may be transferred by the certificate and the distinction between the stock and the certificate is largely artificial, the certificate like the stock, is the subject of larceny. State v. Letterman, 88 M 244, 255, 292 P 717.

11861. Pleading for selling, exhibiting, etc., lewd and obscene books. An indictment or information for exhibiting, publishing, passing, selling, or offering to sell, or having in possession, with such intent, any lewd or obscene book, pamphlet, picture, print, card, paper, or writing, need not set forth any portion of the language used or figures shown upon such book, pamphlet, picture, print, card, paper, or writing; but it is sufficient to state generally the fact of the lewdness or obscenity thereof.

11863. Distinction between accessory before the fact and principal abrogated. The distinction between an accessory before the fact and a principal, and between principals in the first and second degree, in cases of felony, is abrogated; and all persons concerned in the commission of a felony, whether they directly commit the act constituting the offense, or aid and abet in its commission, though not present, must be prosecuted, tried, and punished as principals, and no other facts need be alleged in any indictment or information against such an accessory, than are required in an indictment or information against his principal.

"Advise and Encourage"

An instruction should follow the language of the statute, and state that accessories are those who "advise and encourage," instead of "advise or encourage," the commission of crime. State v. Geddes, 22 M 68, 88, 55 P 919.

Constitutionality

This section does not violate the provision of the constitution guaranteeing to an accused the right to demand the nature and cause of the accusation. State v. Geddes, 22 M 68, 87, 55 P 919.

Object of Statute

The object of the code was to put the principal and the agent upon the same legal ground, and to authorize the principal to be charged as if he himself had committed the felony in fact perpetrated by his agent by his advice and encouragement. State v. Geddes, 22 M 68, 88, 55 P 919.

Operation and Effect

An indictment for murder, charging defendant as principal, is sustained by proof that he was guilty of advising and encouraging the crime. State v. Geddes, 22 M 68, 86, 55 P 919.

The distinction between accessories before the fact and principals is abrogated, and all are treated as principals. State v. De Wolfe, 29 M 415, 423, 74 P 1084.

In a prosecution for arson, where there is some testimony that defendant procured another to set the fire, the giving of instructions, embodying the provisions of this section and section 10732, is proper; as is also the refusing of others, directing the jury to find for the defendant, unless they are satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that he was present personally and set the fire himself. State v. Chevigny, 48 M 382, 385, 138 P 257.

Instructions substantially in the words of this section and section 10732, defining a principal and telling the jury that the distinction between a principal and an accessory had been abrogated by statute, were not improper as implying that a felony had been committed. State v. Wiley, 53 M 383, 387, 164 P 84.

Under an information charging receipt of stolen property by one who became a principal because he aided and abetted another in receiving it, the claim of fatal variance between the crime as alleged and the proof, showing him to have taken part only as an accessory, has no merit. State v. Huffman, 89 M 194, 203, 296 P 789.

Where a stock detective solicited one to assist him in the larceny of cattle for the purpose of convicting another of the crime, and the person so solicited on arrival at the scene of the intended taking declined to participate, he was not a principal to the crime, and hence, the one upon whom the crime was sought to be fastened, could not, under this section, have become his accessory. State v. Neely, 90 M 199, 211, 300 P 561.

11864. Indictment against accessory. An indictment or information against any accessory to any felony may be found in any county where the offense of such accessory may have been committed, notwithstanding the principal offense may have been committed in another county, and the like proceeding may be had therein in all respects, as if the principal offense had been committed in the same county.

11865. Accessory may be indicted and tried, though principal has not been. An accessory to the commission of a felony may be prosecuted, tried, and punished, though the principal may be neither prosecuted nor tried, and though the principal may have been acquitted.

11866. Record of indictment or information. Every indictment or information must be recorded by the clerk within five days after the same is filed, in a book to be kept for that purpose. The judge must compare the record with the original indictment or information and certify the correctness thereof. In case the original indictment or information is lost or destroyed, the defendant may be tried upon a copy taken from the record, and certified by the clerk.

11867. No disclosure prior to arrest. No grand juror, county attorney, clerk, judge, or other officer must disclose the fact that an indictment is found or an information filed until the defendant has been arrested, except any disclosure that may be necessarily incident to the issue and service of a warrant to arrest the defendant. A violation of this section may be punished as a misdemeanor by fine or imprisonment, or both.

11868. Of what offense a defendant may be convicted. Upon the trial of an indictment or information, the defendant may be convicted of the crime charged therein, or of a lesser degree of the same crime, or of any crime included in the crime charged, or of an attempt to commit the crime charged, or of an attempt to commit a lesser degree of the crime charged, or of an attempt to commit any crime included in the crime charged.

Operation and Effect

While the offense of kidnaping includes the minor offenses of false imprisonment and assault in the third degree, the court need not so formulate the charge that the jury may find the defendant guilty of a lower offense or of an included offense, where the evidence is such as to show that defendant is guilty of the offense charged or is entitled to an acquittal. State v. McDonald, 51 M 1, 16, 149 P 279.

11869. Allegation as to partnership property. When any offense is committed upon, or in relation to, any personal property belonging to several partners or owners, the indictment or information for such offense is sufficient if it allege such property to belong to any one or more of such partners or owners without naming them all.

History: En. Sec. 103, p. 233, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 185, p. 218, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 185, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 185, 3d Div. Comp. Stat.

11870. Amendment allowed on trial, when. Upon the trial of an indictment or information, when a variance between the allegation therein and the proof, in respect to time, or in name or description of any place, person or thing, shall appear, the court may, in its judgment, if the defendant cannot be thereby prejudiced in his defense on the merits, direct the indictment or information to be amended, according to the proof, on such terms as to the postponement of the trial, to be had before the same or another jury, as the court may deem reasonable.

Operation and Effect

An information for the crime of robbery may be amended at the close of the testimony for the state, so as to change the name of the person from whom it is alleged the property was feloniously taken. State v. Oliver, 20 M 318, 321, 50 P 1018.

If a crime is charged as having been committed on one date, while the evidence shows that it was done at another time, but within the statute of limitations, the prosecution does not fail, but there is a variance which may be material enough to justify a continuance. State v. Gaimos, 53 M 118, 124, 162 P 596.

Power to grant permission to the county attorney in a prosecution under the liquor law to amend the information at the close of the state's case by changing the date on which the offense was charged to have been committed is conferred by this section, and this section is not open to constitutional objection. State v. Terry, 77 M 297, 298, 250 P 612.

11871. Trial to proceed. After such amendment, the trial, whenever the same shall be proceeded with, must proceed in the same manner and with the same consequences as if no such variance had occurred.

History: En. Sec. 1860, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9175, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11871, R. C. M. 1921.

11872. Effect of verdict. A verdict and judgment which is given after the making of any such amendment is of the same force and effect as if the indictment or information had originally been found in its amended form.

History: En. Sec. 1861, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9176, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11872, R. C. M. 1921.

11873. Affidavits defectively entitled, valid. It is not necessary to entitle an affidavit or deposition in the action, whether taken before or after information, or after indictment, or upon an appeal; but if made without a title, or with an erroneous title, it is as valid and effectual for every purpose as if it were duly entitled, if it intelligibly refer to the proceeding, indictment, information, or appeal in which it is made.

11874. When not material. Neither a departure from the form or mode prescribed by this code in respect to any pleading or proceeding, nor an error or mistake therein, renders it invalid, unless it has actually prejudiced the defendant, or tended to his prejudice, in respect to a substantial right.

Apex Juris not Sufficient to Reverse

Where no substantial right of the defendant has been disregarded, a mere apex juris is not sufficient cause for the reversal or modification of the judgment. State v. Connors, 27 M 227, 229, 70 P 715.

Clerical Mistake not Reversible Error

Information inadvertently charging that defendant on a certain day in the year "19122" sold intoxicating liquor held not to have prejudiced him in any substantial right, where evidence of a sale made on that day in the year 1922 was admitted without objection by defendant and he was prepared to meet the charge on the assumption that that was the correct date, introduced evidence tending to establish an alibi and offered no objection to an instruction advising the jury that if they found that the sale was made on that day they must find him guilty. State v. Polich, 70 M 523, 526, 226 P 519.

Improper Remark of Judge

A remark of the trial judge in passing upon an objection to a question asked a witness for the defense in a criminal cause to the effect: "I don't think that is very material; let him answer," while improper, held technical error and nonprejudicial when considered in connection with the particular circumstances. State v. Cassill et al., 71 M 274, 283, 229 P 716.

Misspelling of "Deliberately" not Sufficient to Make Invalid

Under this section and section 11853 an information alleging that defendant feloniously, wilfully, and of his "deliberately" premeditated malice aforethought, committed the homicide in question, was not fatally defective because of the mere misspelling of the word "deliberately." State v. Lu Sing, 34 M 31, 35, 85 P 521.

Omission from Minutes Relative to Calling of Names of Jurors not Reversible

Where the record in a criminal cause did not show that the jurors were not all present when the verdict was delivered, and from the minutes no other fair inference could be drawn than that they were actually present at the time, the omission from the minutes of a statement that their names were called prior to the delivery of the verdict was not an error which prejudiced defendant in his substantial rights. State v. De Lea, 36 M 531, 536, 93 P 814.

Operation and Effect

Query, as to whether the rule, that "error appearing, prejudice will be presumed," as announced prior to the adoption of the codes in 1895, was abrogated by this section and section 12125, which declare the law to be that no judgment shall be held invalid for mere technical errors not affecting the substantial rights of the defendant. State v. Gordon, 35 M 458, 466, 90 P 173.

An information charging an attempt to obtain money by false pretenses, though defective in form and containing immaterial averments, is sufficient to sustain a conviction, when it is apparent that the defendant has suffered no prejudice. State v. Phillips, 36 M 112, 118, 92 P 299.

A judgment of conviction will not be reversed for error in the trial proceedings, unless it has prejudiced, or tended to prejudice, the defendant in respect to a substantial right. State v. Rhys, 40 M 131, 134, 105 P 494.

While under section 11847, R. C. M. 1921, an information must charge but one offense, under section 11908, R. C. M. 1921, any number of offenses against the Prohibition Act may be charged in separate counts in one information and where defendant pleaded to the information in a liquor prosecution containing a number of counts, any informality in that respect did not tend to his prejudice and must, therefore, be disregarded on appeal. State v. Grasswick, 77 M 326, 329, 250 P 613.

Technical Error in Instruction not Reversible Error

Where, under the evidence submitted at a trial for assault in the second degree, the defendant might have been convicted of assault in either the second or third degree, but was found guilty of the lower degree, the judgment will not be reversed for a purely technical error in giving an instruction. State v. Tracey, 35 M 552, 555, 90 P 791.

Technical Error in Pleading a Prior Conviction not Reversible Error

A technical error in pleading a prior conviction in another state will not work a reversal if the punishment imposed does not exceed the proper limit. State v. Paisley, 36 M 237, 248, 92 P 566.

Time and Place are Essential

While in this state much of the particularity required at the common law has been dispensed with, and no defect or imperfection in form, which does not prejudice the substantial rights of the defendant, can affect a judgment of conviction, still time and place are essential elements, and must be so alleged as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended by the charge. State v. Beesskove, 34 M 41, 50, 85 P 376.

Variance not Reversible Error When

While defendant was furnished a bill of particulars showing that while the information charged the violation of the liquor law on a certain date, the state would rely on proof of a sale made on a different date and during the trial the court inquired of him whether he had been taken by surprise, and he declined to state that he was surprised and did not ask for a continuance, he was in no position to claim prejudice by the introduction of proof relating to a sale made on the latter date, he not having been injured by the variance, if any. State v. Knilians, 69 M 8, 13, 220 P 91.

Where the information charged defendant with a sale of "certain spirituous liquid containing more than one-half of one per centum of alcohol by volume which was fit for beverage purposes," but the proof showed the sale of moonshine whisky, a liquor different from that described in the information, there was a variance which, however, was not fatal, it appearing that defendant was as fully prepared to meet the proof made by the state as he would have been to meet that of the charge contained in the information. State v. Sedlacek, 74 M 201, 208, 239 P 1002.

Wrongful Indorsement of Name of Witness not Reversible Error

Where a county attorney violated the express injunction of section 11805 by indorsing the name of a witness as "John Doe Mitchell," whereas he knew his true name to be "James Mitchell," defendant was not entitled to a new trial in the absence of a showing that he had been prejudiced by the officer's delinquency. State v. McDonald, 51 M 1, 7, 149 P 279.

11878. If discharged on bail, warrant to issue. If the defendant has been discharged on bail, or has deposited money instead thereof, and does not appear to be arraigned when his personal attendance is necessary, the court, in addition to the forfeiture of the undertaking of bail or of money deposited, may direct the clerk to issue a warrant for his arrest.

11879. Warrant, by whom and how issued. The clerk on the application of the county attorney may, at any time after the order, whether the court is sitting or not, issue a warrant to one or more counties.

11880. Form of warrant. The warrant upon the indictment or information must, if the offense is a felony, be substantially in the following form:

"In the district court of the.....district in and for the county of..... The State of Montana: To any sheriff, constable, marshal, or policeman in this state: An indictment having been found (or information filed) on the.....day of....., A. D. nineteen....., in the district court of the county of....., charging C D with the crime of.....(designating it generally); you are, therefore, commanded forthwith to arrest the above named C D, and bring him before that court (or if the indictment or information has been sent to another court, then before that court, naming it) to answer said indictment (or information); or if the court be not in session, that you deliver him into the custody of the sheriff of the county of.....

Given under my hand, with the seal of said court affixed, this.....day of....., A. D.Clerk."

[Seal.]

11881. Directions in the warrant. The defendant, when arrested under a warrant for an offense not bailable, must be held in custody by the sheriff of the county in which the indictment is found on information filed, unless admitted to bail after an examination upon a writ of habeas corpus; but if the offense is bailable, there must be added to the body of the warrant a direction to the following effect: "Or, if he require it, that you take him before any magistrate in that county, or in the county in which you arrest him, that he may give bail to answer to the indictment or information," and the court, upon directing it to issue, must fix the amount of bail, and an indorsement must be made thereon and signed by the clerk, to the following effect: "The defendant is to be admitted to bail in the sum of.....dollars."

11882. Warrant, how served. The warrant may be served in any county, in the same manner as a warrant of arrest, as provided in sections 11733 to 11750 of this code.

11883. Proceedings on giving bail in another county. If the defendant is brought before a magistrate of another county for the purpose of giving bail, the magistrate must proceed in respect thereto, in the same manner as if the defendant had been brought before him upon a warrant of arrest, and the same proceedings must be had thereon.

11884. Ordering defendant into custody or increasing bail when information is for felony. When the information is for a felony, and the defendant before the filing thereof, has given bail for his appearance to answer the charge, the court to which the information is presented, or in which it is pending, may order the defendant to be committed to actual custody, unless he gives bail in an increased amount, to be specified in the order.

11885. Defendant, if present when order made, to be committed; if not, warrant to issue. If the defendant is present when the order is made, he must be forthwith committed. If he is not present, a warrant must be issued and proceeded upon in the manner provided in this chapter.

11886. Right to counsel on arraignment. If the defendant appear for arraignment without counsel, he must be informed by the court that it is his right to have counsel before being arraigned, and must be asked if he desires the aid of counsel. If he desires and is unable to employ counsel, the court must assign counsel to defend him.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 196, p. 220, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 196, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 196, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 1891, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9188, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11886, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 987.

Operation and Effect

On his arraignment defendant informed the court that he did not wish to employ counsel, and was admitted to bail, furnishing a $10,000 cash bail bond. On the day of trial, four months thereafter, he stated to the court that he was without counsel to defend him, but did not ask for time to procure counsel. Held, that nothing short of refusal by the court, on application for time to procure counsel will justify a conclusion that defendant was denied his constitutional right to be heard by counsel. State v. Fowler, 59 M 346, 354, 196 P 992.

Where defendant accused of crime did not make a motion to have the minutes of the court corrected to show, as he claimed, that he was arraigned before he was advised of his right to have counsel, contrary to this section, his affidavit contradicting the court minutes in that regard, held insufficient, in the absence of a showing of prejudice, to overcome the presumption that the court performed its judicial duty seasonably and with due regularity. State v. Murphy, 68 M 427, 429, 219 P 629.

History: En. Sec. 1, p. 12, L. 1881; re-en. Sec. 197, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1892, Pen. C. 1895; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 33, L. 1903; re-en. Sec. 9189, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11887, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Held, that under this section providing that when an attorney by order of court defends an indigent person charged with crime, the county is liable for the attorney's fee to be fixed by the court not exceeding in a capital case, the sum of $100, the court is not limited to the appointment of one attorney but may appoint more if the gravity of the offense warrants it, and if so each is entitled to compensation. Huntington v. Yellowstone County, 80 M 20, 25, 257 P 1041.

11888. Arraignment, how made. The arraignment must be made by the court, or by the clerk or county attorney under its direction, and consists in reading the indictment or information to the defendant and delivering to him a copy thereof, and of the indorsements thereon, including the list of witnesses, and asking him whether he pleads guilty or not guilty to the indictment or information.

Operation and Effect

The "copy" of the information required to be delivered to the defendant by this section means a true copy, and there can be no arraignment unless such true copy is furnished. State v. De Wolfe, 29 M 415, 418, 74 P 1084.

It would appear from this section that the indorsements on the information are not considered part of the information. State v. De Lea, 36 M 531, 533, 93 P 814.

11889. Proceedings on arraignment, when defendant is not indicted by his true name. When the defendant is arraigned, he must be informed that if the name by which he is prosecuted is not his true name, he must then declare his true name, or be proceeded against by the name in the indictment or information. If he gives no other name, the court may proceed accordingly; but if he alleges that another name is his true name, the court must direct an entry thereof in the minutes of the arraignment, and the subsequent proceedings on the information or indictment may be had against him by that name, referring also to the name by which he was first charged therein.

History: En. Secs. 200-202, p. 221, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Secs. 200-202, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Secs. 201-203, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1894, 11890. Time allowed, and how defendant may answer on arraignment. If, on the arraignment, the defendant requires it, he must be allowed a reasonable time, not less than one day, to answer the indictment or information. He may, in his answer to the arraignment, move to set aside, demur, or plead to the indictment or information.

History: En. Secs. 203, 204, p. 221, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Secs. 203, 204, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Secs. 204, 205, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1895, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9192, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11890, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 990.

Operation and Effect

Where defendant, in a prosecution for grand larceny, raised the objection that the copy of the information furnished him was materially different from the information on which he was about to be tried, which objection the court sustained, and required defendant to be furnished with a true copy, as required by section 11888, a refusal of the request constitutes reversible error under this section; the record showing that no plea was entered at the trial. State v. De Wolfe, 29 M 415, 418, 74 P 1084.

CHAPTER 74

SETTING ASIDE THE INDICTMENT OR INFORMATION

- Section 11891. Indictment, when set aside on motion.
 11892. Defendant waives objections, unless he makes the motion.
 11893. Motion, when heard—if denied or granted, what proceedings are to be had.
 11894. Effect of order for resubmission.
 11895. Order no bar to another prosecution.

11891. Indictment, when set aside on motion. The indictment or information must be set aside by the court in which the defendant is arraigned, upon his motion, in either of the following cases: If it be an indictment—

1. Where it is not found, indorsed, and presented as prescribed in this code;
2. When the names of the witnesses examined before the grand jury are not inserted at the foot of the indictment or indorsed thereon;
3. When a person is permitted to be present during the session of the grand jury, and when the charge embraced in the indictment is under consideration, except as provided in section 11829;
4. That the names of the witnesses for the state are not indorsed thereon;
5. On any ground which would have been good ground for challenge, either to the panel or to any individual grand juror.

If it be an information—

1. That leave to file the same had not been granted by the court;
2. That before the filing thereof the defendant had not been legally committed by a magistrate;
3. That it was not subscribed by the county attorney, or attorney prosecuting.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 205, p. 221, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 205, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 206, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 1910, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9193, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11891, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 995.

Motion Must be in Writing

The motion must be in writing, subscribed by the defendant or his counsel, and must specify the particular ground of objection. State v. Chevigny, 48 M 382, 384, 138 P 257.

Motion Proper Remedy When Information Has Been Filed Without Leave of Court

When an information has been filed without leave of court and before the examination and commitment of the defendant, an appropriate remedy is by motion to quash, upon the ground that the information was not presented as prescribed by law. State v. McCaffery, 16 M 33, 37, 40 P 63.

Operation and Effect

This section must be construed, not as prescribing one indispensable method of procedure, and one only, but as pertaining to the two constitutional methods of procedure where an information is filed, neither one of which is indispensable, yet either of which is correct, as the conditions and facts of the case may warrant. State v. Bowser, 21 M 133, 136, 53 P 179.

The right of the attorney-general to be present before the grand jury is not affected by this section. State ex rel. Nolan v. District Court, 22 M 25, 31, 55 P 916.

Smith*, 12 M 378, 30 P 679; as section 1910, Penal Code, in State v. Calder, 23 M 504, 506, 59 P 903; State v. Schnepel, 23 M 523, 528, 59 P 927; *State v. 11892. Defendant waives objections, unless he makes the motion. The motion to set aside the indictment or information must be in writing, subscribed by the defendant, or his attorney, and must specify clearly the ground of objection to the indictment or information, and such motion must be made before the defendant demurs or pleads, or the grounds of the objection are waived.

History: En. Sec. 207, p. 221, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 207, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 208, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1911, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9194, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11892, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 996.

Operation and Effect

If a defendant, on a second trial, does not ask to withdraw the plea of not guilty, interposed at the first trial, and have another and different plea substituted, it is a waiver of any grounds of objection to the information which might have been properly raised by motion to quash. State v. McCaffery, 16 M 33, 37, 40 P 63.

An omission to make a motion to set aside an information in the manner prescribed by this section on the ground that it had not been subscribed by the county attorney constitutes a waiver by the defendant of the objection to the action of the court in permitting the information to be subscribed before demurrer or plea. State v. Peterson, 24 M 81, 85, 60 P 809.

The defendant, in a criminal case, may insist that the provisions of sections 11801, 11803 and 11891 be observed, as they are all mandatory, but he need not do so. If he does not, the court is authorized and required by this section to proceed upon the assumption that all antecedent requirements have been observed. State v. Chevigny, 48 M 382, 384, 138 P 257.

By entering his plea without a written motion to set aside the information, and consenting to go to trial, defendant waived his right to question the propriety of proceedings prior to the filing of the information. State v. Vinn, 50 M 27, 32, 144 P 773.

By his failure to object to the information charging him with a violation of the Prohibition Act, before demurrer or plea, on the ground that it was filed prior to a preliminary hearing, defendant waived his right to challenge the foundation of the information. State v. Sorenson, 65 M 65, 70, 210 P 752.

11893. Motion, when heard—if denied or granted, what proceedings are to be had. The motion must be heard at the time it is made, unless, for cause, the court postpones the hearing to another time. If the motion is denied, the defendant must immediately answer the indictment or information, either by demurring or pleading thereto. If the motion is granted, the court must order that the defendant, if in custody, be discharged therefrom, or, if admitted to bail, that his bail be exonerated, or, if he has deposited money instead of bail, that the same be refunded to him, unless it directs that the case be resubmitted to the same or another grand jury, or that another or amended information be filed by the county attorney.

History: Ap. p. Secs. 208, 209, p. 221, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Secs. 208, 209, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Secs. 209, 210, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 1912, 11894. Effect of order for resubmission. If the court directs the case to be resubmitted, or another or amended information be filed, the defendant, if already in custody, must so remain, unless he is admitted to bail; or, if already admitted to bail, or money has been deposited instead therefor, the bail or money is to be answerable for the appearance of the defendant to answer a new indictment or information; and, unless a new indictment is found by the same or another grand jury, or another or an amended information filed within thirty days from the date of the order, the court must make the order discharging the defendant, as prescribed by the preceding section.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 210, p. 222, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 210, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 211, 3d Div. Comp.

11895. Order no bar to another prosecution. An order to set aside an indictment or information, as provided in this chapter, is no bar to a future prosecution for the same offense.

CHAPTER 75

DEMURRER

- Section 11896. Pleading on part of defendant.
 11897. Demurrer on plea, when put in.
 11898. Grounds of demurrer.
 11899. Demurrer, how put in and its form.
 11900. When heard.
 11901. Judgment on demurrer.
 11902. If allowed, bar to another prosecution, when.
 11903. If resubmission not ordered, defendant discharged, etc.
 11904. Proceedings, if resubmission ordered.
 11905. Proceedings, if demurrer is disallowed.
 11906. Objections, forming ground of demurrer, when taken.

11896. Pleading on part of defendant. The only pleading on the part of the defendant is either a demurrer or a plea.

11897. Demurrer on plea, when put in. Both the demurrer and plea must be put in, in open court, either at the time of the arraignment or at such other time as may be allowed to the defendant for that purpose.

11898. Grounds of demurrer. The defendant may demur to the indictment or information, when it appears upon the face thereof, either—

1. If an indictment, that the grand jury by which it was found had no legal authority to inquire into the offense charged, by reason of its not being within the legal jurisdiction of the county; or, if an information, that the court has no jurisdiction of the offense charged therein;

2. That it does not substantially conform to the requirement of sections 11843, 11844 and 11845 of this code;

3. That more than one offense is charged;

4. That the facts stated do not constitute a public offense;

5. That it contains any matter, which if true, would constitute a legal justification or excuse of the offense charged, or other legal bar to the prosecution.

Demurrer Because Uncertain and Indirect

If a charge of crime is not direct and certain, it is open to attack on special demurrer. State v. Pemberton, 39 M 530, 533, 104 P 556.

Demurrer on the Grounds that the Action is Barred by the Statute of Limitations

Where an information for a misdemeanor was filed more than one year and ten months after the time of the alleged offense, and it contains an allegation that, on or about that time, the defendant left the state and afterwards resided without the state, the defendant, under subdivision 5 of this section, may properly demur to the information on the ground that it appears upon the face thereof that the prosecution is barred by the statute of limitations. State v. Clemens, 40 M 567, 571, 107 P 896.

How to Object to Information on the Grounds of Duplicit

An objection to an information on the grounds of duplicity is addressed to the jurisdiction of the court rather than to the form of the information and may be raised by an objection to the introduction of evidence and a motion to compel on election. State v. Mjelde, 29 M 490, 75 P 87.

More Than One Offense

Where an information charges two offenses, the only method by which this fault can be taken advantage of is by demurrer interposed under subdivision 3 of this section. The failure to demur is a waiver of the objection. State v. Mahoney, 24 M 281, 285, 61 P 647. See also State v. Rodgers, 40 M 248, 251, 106 P 3.

Where defendant's objection that an information is bad, as charging more than one offense, under subdivision 3 of this section, is not taken in the trial court, it will not be considered for the first time on appeal. State v. Mahoney, 24 M 281, 285, 61 P 647.

The objection that several offenses are improperly united under separate counts in an information cannot be raised by a motion to require the prosecution to elect upon which one count it would rely for conviction, but must be taken by demurrer. State v. Marchindo, 65 M 431, 435, 211 P 1093.

Motion in Arrest of Judgment

A motion in arrest of judgment must be founded on some defect in the information mentioned in this section, and extrinsic evidence cannot be received on the hearing of such motion. State v. Tully, 31 M 365, 371, 78 P 760. See State v. Van, 44 M 374, 383, 120 P 479; State v. Caterni, 54 M 456, 458, 171 P 284.

A motion in arrest lies only for certain defects appearing on the face of the indictment or information, not waived by failure to demur. State v. Caterni, 54 M 456, 458, 171 P 284.

Waiver by Failure to Demurrer

By pleading to the information without interposing a demurrer that the facts stated did not constitute a public offense, defendant waived objections to its sufficiency. State v. Fowler, 59 M 346, 352, 196 P 992.

The objection that the information states more than one offense can only be made by demurrer, and when not made before, plea is waived. State v. Toy, 65 M 230, 233, 211 P 303.

11901. Judgment on demurrer. Upon considering the demurrer, the court must give judgment, either allowing or disallowing it, and an order to that effect must be entered upon the minutes.

Operation and Effect

The record on appeal in a criminal case must, among other things, contain the judgment-roll in which must be included a copy of the judgment. The state, on the theory that an objection of defendant to the introduction of evidence on the ground of the insufficiency of the information is in effect a demurrer to the information and an order sustaining a demurrer constitutes the judgment, attempted to appeal from such an order as from the judgment, but the record did not contain a copy of the order in the form of a minute entry, which in such a case constitutes the judgment. Held, that the supreme court was without jurisdiction to entertain the appeal. State v. Nilan et al., 75 M 397, 400, 243 P 1081.

Where the record in a criminal case on appeal by the state from a judgment sustaining a demurrer to the information contains the minute entry allowing the demurrer, the appeal is not subject to dismissal on the ground that the transcript does not contain a copy of the judgment, the order entered in the minutes constituting the judgment in such a case. State v. Atlas, 75 M 547, 549, 244 P 477.

Id. Defendant was charged with taking and using an automobile without the consent of the owner, under section 11478, R. C. M. 1921, which makes the offense punishable by fine or imprisonment in the county jail, or by imprisonment in the state penitentiary not exceeding five years. The information was not filed until fourteen months after the commission of the offense. Held, that the district court erred in sustaining a demurrer to the pleading on the ground that, the offense being a misdemeanor, the limitation of one year fixed by section 11724, R. C. M. 1921, within which the information could be filed had expired, and holding that it was without jurisdiction to proceed.

11902. If allowed, bar to another prosecution, when. If the demurrer is allowed, the judgment is final upon the indictment or information demurred to, and is a bar to another prosecution for the same offense, unless the court, being of the opinion that the objection on which the demurrer is allowed may be avoided in a new indictment, or another or an amended information, directs the case to be submitted to another grand jury, or directs another or an amended information to be filed.

Operation and Effect

After dismissal of an indictment because of substantial defects therein, the district court may, but is not required to, submit the case to another grand jury, or permit, or order, the county attorney to file an information charging the defendant with the same offense ineffectually sought to be charged against him by the indictment. State v. Vinn, 50 M 27, 33, 144 P 773.

This section is intended to safeguard the rights of the accused against an altogether unwarranted prosecution, or the possible malice of the prosecuting officer, but it is not intended to shield an offender against prosecution merely because of some technical defect, irregularity, or insufficiency in the original information or indictment. State v. Vinn, 50 M 27, 34, 144 P 773; In re Palm, 52 M 558, 560, 160 P 348.

Where an information was dismissed on the motion of the county attorney because of the omission of a material allegation therefrom, and a new information ordered filed by the court that before making the order it entertained the opinion that the objection to the original information could be avoided in the new one—an entry which might properly have been made but was not required to be made by this section—was not sufficient ground for the release of the complainant from custody on habeas corpus. In re Palm, 52 M 558, 160 P 348.

11903. If resubmission not ordered, defendant discharged, etc. If the court does not permit the information to be amended, nor direct that another information be filed, or that the case be resubmitted, as provided in the preceding section, the defendant, if in custody, must be discharged, or if admitted to bail, his bail is exonerated, or if he has deposited money instead of bail, the money must be refunded to him.

11904. Proceedings, if resubmission ordered. If the court directs that the case be resubmitted, or that another or an amended information be filed, the same proceedings must be had thereon as are prescribed in sections 11893 and 11894.

11905. Proceedings, if demurrer is disallowed. If the demurrer is disallowed, the defendant must plead forthwith, or at such time as the court may direct.

History: En. Sec. 215, p. 222, Cod. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1929, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. 1871; re-en. Sec. 215, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. Sec. 9207, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11905, 1879; re-en. Sec. 216, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1011.

11906. Objections, forming ground of demurrer, when taken. When the objections mentioned in section 11898 appear on the face of the indictment or information, they can only be taken by demurrer, except that the objection to the jurisdiction of the court over the subject of the indictment or information, or that the facts stated do not constitute a public offense, may be taken at the trial, under the plea of not guilty, or after the trial, in arrest of judgment.

History: En. Sec. 216, p. 222, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 216, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 217, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1930, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9208, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11906, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1012.

What is Waived by Motion in Arrest of Judgment

Where an information is attacked in the trial court by motion in arrest of judgment, all questions arising upon alleged defects in the information, except that of want of jurisdiction and the sufficiency of the facts to state a public offense, are waived. State v. Pemberton, 39 M 530, 533, 104 P 556; State v. Fowler, 59 M 346, 352, 196 P 992.

The objection that the information does not state facts constituting a public offense is not waived by failure to demur, but may be raised by motion in arrest of judgment. State v. Wehr, 57 M 469, 188 P 930.

The objection that the facts stated in an information do not constitute a public offense may be taken either by demurrer or at the trial, under a plea of not guilty, or after the trial, in arrest of judgment. State v. Smith, 58 M 567, 570, 194 P 131.

When Failure to Demurrer Waives Objections

Defendant's failure to raise, by special demurrer, the question that an information charged two distinct offenses constituted a waiver of such objection. State v. Mahoney, 24 M 281, 285, 61 P 647; State v. Rodgers, 40 M 248, 251, 106 P 3.

Where an information charges two distinct offenses, the remedy is not by motion to compel the county attorney to elect, as between the two offenses charged, the one upon which he will seek conviction; the objection can only be taken by demurrer; and the objection, so far as any question of pleading is concerned, is waived by pleading over and failing to demur. State v. Kanakaris, 54 M 180, 182, 169 P 42.

The objection that the information states more than one offense can only be made by demurrer, and when not made before plea is waived. State v. Toy, 65 M 230, 233, 211 P 303.

The objection that several offenses are improperly united under separate counts in an information cannot be raised by a motion to require the prosecution to elect upon which one count it would rely for conviction, but must be taken by demurrer. State v. Marchindo, 65 M 431, 435, 211 P 1093.

When Failure to Object by Motion Waives Objection

Where an accused person pleads to an information, without interposing the objection, by motion, that, having already been prosecuted by indictment, he cannot be prosecuted by information, that objection is waived. State v. Vinn, 50 M 27, 33, 144 P 773.

CHAPTER 76

PLEAS

- Section 11907. The different kinds of pleas.
 11908. Plea, how put in and its form.
 11909. Plea of guilty, how put in and when withdrawn.
 11910. What plea of not guilty puts in issue.
 11911. What may be given in evidence under plea of not guilty.
 11912. What is not a former acquittal.
 11913. What is a former acquittal.
 11914. Conviction or acquittal for a higher offense, effect of.
 11915. Defendant refusing to answer, plea of not guilty.

11907. The different kinds of pleas. There are four kinds of pleas to an indictment or information.

A plea of—

1. Guilty;
2. Not guilty;
3. A former judgment of conviction or acquittal of the offense charged, which may be pleaded either with or without the plea of not guilty;
4. Once in jeopardy.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 217, p. 222, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 217, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 218, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 1940, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9209, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11907, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1016.

Conditional Pleas not Authorized

Held, that since the Codes make no provision permitting one charged with a criminal offense to enter a conditional plea to the effect that he pleads guilty provided the punishment imposed be not greater than that designated, the court has no authority to receive such a plea and its entry is a nullity. State v. Dow, 71 M 291, 299, 229 P 402.

Not Applicable to Action for Wrongful Death Under Section 9076

The provisions of this section are not applicable in an action for death by wrongful act under section 9076, where a violation of the statute requiring the use of safety-cages in mines is charged. Maronen v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 48 M 249, 261, 136 P 968.

Once in Jeopardy

The plea of "once in jeopardy" includes the plea of former conviction or acquittal and a judgment of conviction or acquittal. State v. Keerl, 33 M 501, 515, 85 P 862.

Id. In a criminal prosecution, there is only one jeopardy which continues in case of a discharge of the jury for disagreement, as also where a new trial is granted, from the beginning of the trial, after the swearing in of the first jury, until the particular case is finally determined.

Operation and Effect in General

Defendant was charged with liquor violations in four counts; he entered a plea of not guilty "to the offense charged." Two counts were dismissed and he was found guilty on the remaining two. Held, as against the contention that the conviction cannot be sustained because defendant never pleaded to the charges contained in the two counts on which conviction was had but had pleaded only to one offense, not ascertained, that his plea to the information as a whole was authorized by this section, and therefore sufficient. State v. Grasswick, 77 M 326, 328, 250 P 613.

Cited or applied as section 1940, Penal Code, in State v. Gordon, 35 M 458, 464, 90 P 173.

11908. Plea, how put in and its form. Every plea must be oral, and entered upon the minutes of the court in substantially the following form:

1. If the defendant plead guilty: "The defendant pleads that he is guilty of the offense charged."
2. If he plead not guilty: "The defendant pleads that he is not guilty of the offense charged."

3. If he plead a former conviction or acquittal: "The defendant pleads that he has already been convicted (or acquitted) of the offense charged by the judgment of the court of.....(naming it), rendered at.....(naming the place) on the.....day of....."

4. If he plead once in jeopardy: "The defendant pleads that he has been once in jeopardy for the offense charged (specifying the time, place, and court).

11909. Plea of guilty, how put in and when withdrawn. A plea of guilty can be put in by the defendant himself only in open court, unless upon indictment or information against a corporation or for a misdemeanor, in which case it may be put in by counsel. The court may, at any time before judgment, upon a plea of guilty, permit it to be withdrawn, and a plea of not guilty substituted.

When Plea of Guilty may be Withdrawn After Judgment

Held that while this section provides that the district court at any time before judgment may permit a plea of guilty to be withdrawn and a plea of not guilty to be substituted, the court is not prohibited by statute from permitting this to be done after judgment; that the power to permit the latter is inherent and may be exercised in the court's discretion to rectify an injustice, especially where occasioned through ignorance or lack of understanding of the gravity of the offense charged against the petitioner and its discretion in that behalf may not be disturbed on appeal except on a showing of abuse thereof. State ex rel. Foot v. District Court et al., 81 M 495, 501, 263 P 979.

11910. What plea of not guilty puts in issue. The plea of not guilty puts in issue every material allegation of the indictment or information.

Operation and Effect

The plea of not guilty of the offense charged in the information puts in issue allegations of prior convictions, as well as the other allegations therein contained, and there is no merit in the contention that defendant, never having pleaded to the charge of prior convictions, no issue was raised as to that allegation. State v. Gordon, 35 M 458, 464, 90 P 173.

11911. What may be given in evidence under plea of not guilty. All matters of fact tending to establish a defense other than that specified in the third and fourth subdivisions of section 11907, may be given in evidence under the plea of not guilty.

11912. What is not a former acquittal. If the defendant was formerly acquitted on the ground of variance between the indictment or information and the proof, or the indictment or information was dismissed upon an objection to its form or substance, or in order to hold the defendant for a higher offense, without a judgment of acquittal, it is not an acquittal of the same offense.

References

Cited or applied as section 223, Third Division Compiled Statutes 1887, in State v. Sullivan, 9 M 490, 24 P 23.

11913. What is a former acquittal. Whenever the defendant is acquitted on the merits, he is acquitted of the same offense, notwithstanding any defects in form or substance in the indictment or information on which the trial was had.

History: En. Sec. 223, p. 223, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 223, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 224, 3d Div. Comp. Stat.

11914. Conviction or acquittal for a higher offense, effect of. When the defendant is convicted or acquitted, or has been once placed in jeopardy upon an indictment or information, the conviction, acquittal, or jeopardy is a bar to another indictment or information for the offense charged in the former, or for an attempt to commit the same, or for an offense necessarily included therein, of which he might have been convicted under that indictment or information.

Operation and Effect

Where an information charging rape was dismissed after commencement of trial but before verdict, and a new one filed fixing the time of the commission of the crime fifty days later, the defense of once in jeopardy was not available, since the offense charged in the second information was neither the same but a new and independent one, not one "necessarily included" in the first charge, within the meaning of this section. State v. Gaimos, 53 M 118, 122, 162 P 596.

Id. The words "offense necessarily included," used in this section, mean a lower degree of the crime charged, or a minor offense of the same character, predicated on the same act or acts.

References

Cited or applied as section 1947, Penal Code, in State v. Keerl, 33 M 501, 514, 85 P 862.

11915. Defendant refusing to answer, plea of not guilty. If the defendant refuse to answer the indictment or information by demurrer or plea, a plea of not guilty must be entered.

History: En. Sec. 135, p. 237, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 198, p. 220, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 198, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 199, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 1948, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9217, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11915, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1024.

Operation and Effect

Where the record discloses that the defendant refused to plead to any charge contained in the indictment, this section is sufficiently complied with by the action of the court in ordering a plea of "not guilty to all charges contained in the indictment." State v. Clancy, 20 M 498, 502, 52 P 267.

CHAPTER 77

CHANGE OF PLACE OF TRIAL

Section 11916. What petition to contain.
11917. Petition, how supported.
11918. Application, when made.
11919. Order of court or judge.

- 11920. Application on part of state.
- 11921. When change of place of trial not granted.
- 11922. Order of removal, how entered.
- 11923. Custody of defendant.
- 11924. Trial.
- 11925. Order as to witnesses.
- 11926. Failure of duty by clerk.
- 11927. Change of place of trial as to other defendants.

11916. What petition to contain. A defendant in an indictment or information may be awarded a change of place of trial upon his petition, on oath (or upon the oath of some credible person), setting forth that he has reason to believe that he will not receive a fair trial in the court in which such indictment or information may be pending, which petition shall state the facts upon which the same is based, for—

1. That the judge is interested or prejudiced; or,
2. Is of kin to or has been counsel for either party; or,
3. That the prosecuting witness or the county attorney has an undue influence over the minds of the people of the county where the indictment or information is pending; or,
4. That the people of the county are so prejudiced against the defendant that he cannot have a fair trial; or,
5. That it is impossible to obtain a jury in the county that has not formed an opinion, as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant, such as would disqualify them as jurors.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 145, p. 238, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 225, p. 223, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 225, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 226, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Operation and Effect

In the expression "place of trial," the word "place" primarily means county, and not the immediate place where the trial court sits. In this connection it is equivalent to neighborhood or place of a crime, or a cause of action, or the political division within which a jury must be gathered for the trial, and is synonymous with the word "venue." State ex rel. Sackett v. Thomas, 25 M 226, 237, 64 P 503.

11917. Petition, how supported. The petition may be supported either by affidavits or oral testimony.

11918. Application, when made. A defendant may apply to the court or to a judge in vacation for a change of place of trial, upon reasonable notice to the county attorney.

11919. Order of court or judge. The court or judge, being satisfied that good cause exists therefor, may award a change of place of trial to some county where the causes complained of do not exist. But there shall be but one change of place of trial.

11920. Application on part of state. The state may have a change of place of trial for any of the causes for which the defendant may obtain the same. The petition therefor must be made by the county attorney, or attorney prosecuting, to the court or judge, supported by affidavits or oral testimony.

History: Ap. p. Secs. 227, 228, p. 224, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 1974, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Secs. 227, 228, 3d Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9223, Rev. C. Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Secs. 228, 229, 1907; re-en. Sec. 11920, R. C. M. 1921.

11921. When change of place of trial not granted. Change of place of trial must not be granted after the first term or session at which the party applying for the same might have been heard, unless the cause shall have arisen subsequent to such term or session. If one or more trials be had, and a new trial is necessary, either by reason of the discharge of a jury without a verdict, or of the granting of a new trial, the removal may be allowed at any time before the new trial.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 229, p. 224, Cod. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 1975, Pen. C. 1895; Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 229, 3d Div. Rev. re-en. Sec. 9224, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 230, 3d Div. Comp. 11921, R. C. M. 1921.

11922. Order of removal, how entered. The order of removal, whether made by the court or judge, must be entered upon the minutes, and the clerk must immediately make out and transmit to the court to which the action is removed, a certified copy of the order of removal, and of the record, pleadings and proceedings in the action, including the undertaking for the appearance of the defendant and of the witnesses.

11923. Custody of defendant. If the defendant is in custody, the order must direct his removal, and he must be forthwith removed by the sheriff of the county where he is imprisoned to the custody of the sheriff of the county to which the action is removed.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 146, p. 239, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 226, p. 224, Cod. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 1977, Pen. C. 1895; Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 226, 3d Div. Rev. re-en. Sec. 9226, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11923, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 227, 3d Div. Comp. 1037.

11924. Trial. The court to which the action is removed must proceed to trial and judgment therein as if the action had been commenced in such court. If it is necessary to have any of the original pleadings or other papers before such court, the court from which the action is removed must at any time, upon application of the county attorney or of the defendant, order such papers or pleadings to be transmitted by the clerk, a certified copy thereof being retained.

11925. Order as to witnesses. If the order of removal is made at a term or session of the court it is notice to every person who has entered into an undertaking to appear at such term or session. In other cases the witnesses must be subpoenaed as provided in this code.

History: En. Sec. 151, p. 240, Bannack 1887; amd. Sec. 1979, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Stat.; re-en. Sec. 233, p. 225, Cod. Stat. Sec. 9228, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11925, 1871; re-en. Sec. 233, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. R. C. M. 1921. 1879; re-en. Sec. 234, 3d Div. Comp. Stat.

11926. Failure of duty by clerk. If the clerk of the district court neglects or refuses to perform any duty in relation to the removal of a cause, he forfeits a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, to be recovered by an action in the name of and for the use of the state or the person injured.

11927. Change of place of trial as to other defendants. If there are several defendants in an indictment or information, and the place of trial is changed as to one or more of them, and not as to the others, the others must be tried as if the place of trial had not been changed as to any defendant.

MODE OF TRIAL—FORMATION OF JURY AND CALENDAR OF ISSUES— POSTPONEMENT OF TRIAL

- Section 11928. Issue of fact defined.
 11929. How tried.
 11930. Information or indictment against a judge.
 11931. When presence of defendant is necessary on the trial.
 11932. Formation of trial jury.
 11933. Clerk to prepare a calendar.
 11934. Order of disposing of issues on the calendar.
 11935. Defendant entitled to two days to prepare for trial.
 11936. Notice and affidavits for postponement.
 11937. Postponement for cause.
 11938. State may have continuance.
 11939. Effect of failure to apply.
 11940. Case set for trial.

11928. Issue of fact defined. An issue of fact arises—

1. Upon a plea of not guilty;
2. Upon a plea of a former conviction or acquittal of the same offense;
3. Upon a plea of once in jeopardy.

cannot be determined without a finding by a jury. State v. O'Brien, 19 M 6, 47 P 103.

Cited or applied as section 1990, Penal Code, in State v. Keerl, 33 M 501, 514, 85 P 862.

Operation and Effect

The pleas of former acquittal and once in jeopardy involve an issue of fact, and 11929. How tried. Issues of fact must be tried by jury, unless a trial by jury be waived in criminal cases not amounting to felony, by the consent of both parties expressed in open court and entered in its minutes.

In cases of misdemeanor the jury may consist of twelve, or any number less than twelve upon which the parties may agree in open court. In cases not amounting to a felony two-thirds in number of the jury may render a verdict.

Cited or applied as section 9232, Revised Codes, in State v. Hall, 55 M 182, 187, 175 P 267.

11930. Information or indictment against a judge. When an indictment is found, or an information filed in a district court against a judge thereof, a certificate of that fact must be transmitted by the clerk to the governor, who shall thereupon designate and direct a judge of the district court of another district to preside at the trial of such indictment or information, and hear and determine all pleas and motions affecting the defendant thereunder before and after judgment.

11931. When presence of defendant is necessary on the trial. The defendant must be personally present at the trial; but if for misdemeanor, the trial may be had in the absence of the defendant; if his presence is necessary for any purpose, the court may, upon application of the county attorney, by an order or warrant, require the personal attendance of the defendant at the trial.

Must Appear From Record

Under the constitutional and statutory provisions applicable, a defendant charged with crime must be present throughout the entire trial, including the rendition of the verdict, and the fact of his presence must be made to appear from the record. State v. Reed, 65 M 51, 55, 210 P 756.

Id. Minutes of the trial court in a capital case examined and held not to show even by reasonable inference that defendant or his counsel was present during the trial of the cause, in disregard of the statutory provisions entitling defendant to a reversal of the judgment.

Right Cannot be Waived

One charged with crime cannot waive his right to be present at his trial. State v. Reed, 65 M 51, 55, 210 P 756.

11932. Formation of trial jury. Trial juries for criminal actions are formed in the same manner as trial juries in civil actions.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 166, p. 243, Bannack Stat.; amd. Sec. 282, p. 234, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 282, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 283, 3d Div. Comp.

What is not Considered Part of the Trial

The settlement of instructions being no part of the "trial," within the meaning of this section, the absence of one charged with felony during such settlement does not constitute reversible error. State v. Hall, 55 M 182, 187, 175 P 267.

This section requires the personal presence of the defendant at the trial in felony cases. After the jury had retired to the jury-room for deliberation of their verdict they requested that certain exhibits consisting of a gun, a pair of shoes and other articles found in defendant's room, be sent to them. While defendant was not present in the courtroom, his counsel gave his consent. Held, that the proceeding did not constitute a part of the trial and therefore defendant's presence was not required, and that defendant's counsel having given his consent, the court did not abuse its discretion in complying with the jury's request, even though the exhibits were not of the nature of those authorized by section 12011, R. C. M. 1921, to be taken to the jury-room. State v. Olson, 87 M 389, 395, 287 P 938.

Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2000, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9234, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11932, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1046.

Operation and Effect

A jury panel in a criminal case must be drawn in substantial conformity with the requirements of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to trial juries in civil actions, and those requirements in their essential particulars are mandatory. State v. Landry, 29 M 218, 223, 74 P 418.

References

11933. Clerk to prepare a calendar. The clerk must keep a calendar of all criminal actions pending in the court, enumerating them according to the date of the filing of the indictment or information, specifying opposite the title of each action whether it is for a felony or a misdemeanor, and whether the defendant is in custody or on bail.

History: En. Sec. 2001, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9235, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11933, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1047.

Operation and Effect

This section requiring the clerk of the district court to keep a calendar of criminal actions enumerated according to the date of filing the information; section 11934, declaring that the calendar must be disposed of in the order therein named unless the court shall direct otherwise, and section 11940, providing that if a case is not postponed it must be set for hearing in the order in which it appears on the calendar, unless by consent it is set down for trial out of its order, are directory only, the district court having power to control its docket and the order in which it may try cases. State v. Quinlan, 84 M 364, 369, 275 P 750.

11934. Order of disposing of issues on the calendar. The issues on the calendar must be disposed of in the following order, unless for good cause the court shall direct an action to be tried out of its order:

1. Prosecutions for felony, when the defendant is in custody.
2. Prosecutions for misdemeanor, when the defendant is in custody.
3. Prosecutions for felony, when the defendant is on bail.
4. Prosecutions for misdemeanor, when the defendant is on bail.

History: En. Sec. 2002, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9236, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11934, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1048.

Operation and Effect

Section 11933, requiring the clerk of the district court to keep a calendar of criminal actions enumerated according to the date of filing the information; this section, declaring that the calendar must be disposed of in the order therein named unless the court shall direct otherwise, and section 11940, providing that if a case is not postponed it must be set for hearing in the order in which it appears on the calendar, unless by consent it is set down for trial out of its order, are directory only, the district court having power to control its docket and the order in which it may try cases. State v. Quinlan, 84 M 364, 369, 275 P 750.

11935. Defendant entitled to two days to prepare for trial. After his plea, the defendant is entitled to at least two days to prepare for trial.

History: En. Sec. 274, p. 233, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 274, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 275, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 2003, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9237, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11935, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1049.

Operation and Effect

Under this section the defendant is entitled to at least two days to prepare for trial; therefore where he had seven months from the day of entry of his plea to the day of trial for preparation, he had no cause for complaint in this regard. State v. Showen, 60 M 474, 478, 199 P 917.

11936. Notice and affidavits for postponement. At the time the defendant makes his plea to an indictment or information he must notify the court of his desire for a postponement of the trial to some particular day, or for the term, and must file his affidavit, showing good cause therefor, within such time as the court may grant.

History: En. Sec. 269, p. 232, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 269, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 270, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2010, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9238, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11936, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1052.

Operation and Effect

An affidavit, filed on the day set for trial, in support of a motion for a continuance on the ground of the absence of witnesses, which fails to disclose the date upon which such witnesses left the state, is insufficient. State v. Showen, 60 M 474, 476, 199 P 917.

Id. An affidavit of the character of the above must disclose specifically the facts expected to be proved by the absent witnesses, and set forth that if such witnesses were present they would testify to those facts; the general statement that, if present, they would testify to facts material to affiant's defense being insufficient.

Id. An affidavit of the nature above, must also disclose that the facts which defendant expects to prove by the absent witnesses cannot be proved by other witnesses available at the trial; since a continuance for the purpose of obtaining evidence which would be merely cumulative need not be granted.

11937. Postponement for cause. For good cause shown the court may postpone the trial for any number of days or for the term. Any cause which would be considered a good one for a postponement in a civil case, is sufficient in a criminal action.

History: En. Sec. 270, p. 232, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 270, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 271, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2011, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9239, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11937, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1052.

Operation and Effect

In the absence of a showing of abuse of discretion an order refusing continuance of a criminal trial, asked for on the grounds that a large portion of the persons qualified for jury duty in the county were prejudiced, will be affirmed. State v. Collins, 88 M 514, 519, 294 P 957.

References

Cited or applied as section 270, p. 232, Codified Statutes 1871, in Territory v. Perkins, 2 M 467.

11938. State may have continuance. The state may obtain a postponement for the same reasons, and must give the same notice therefor as the defendant, and be subject to the same restrictions; the county attorney, or any one acquainted with the facts, may make the proper affidavit.

History: En. Sec. 271, p. 232, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 271, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 272, 3d Div. Comp. Stat.

11939. Effect of failure to apply. If neither the defendant nor the state notify the court at the time the defendant pleads of a desire for a postponement, they shall not be entitled to make the application thereafter for any cause which existed at that time, and of which the party making the application had knowledge, or could have had knowledge; any application made after that time must be for cause which arose, or had come to the knowledge of the applicant, since the making of the plea.

History: En. Sec. 272, p. 233, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 272, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 273, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2013, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9241, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11939, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

A substantial compliance with the law is required in the work of procuring a jury. Anything less will vitiate such work. State v. Tighe, 27 M 327, 331, 71 P 3; State v. Landry, 29 M 218, 224, 74 P 418; State v. Groom, 49 M 354, 358, 141 P 858.

It is not every deviation from the strict letter of the law in drawing or returning a jury that will furnish ground for a challenge. The departure must be a material one. State v. Tighe, 27 M 327, 331, 71 P 3; State v. Groom, 49 M 354, 359, 141 P 858.

Evidence adduced on the trial of a challenge to the jury panel on the second ground of challenge specified in this section, the sheriff having testified that his omission to summon some of the jurors was occasioned by his imperfect knowledge of county lines incident to the creation of a new county, held sufficient to warrant the court in sustaining the challenge. State v. Groom, 49 M 354, 358, 141 P 858.

Id. Where defendant, charged with crime, interposed a challenge to the jury panel because the sheriff had intentionally omitted to summon some of the jurors drawn by the jury commission, to which the state took an exception, the court erred in overruling the challenge on the ground that defendant had failed to sustain the burden of establishing the truth of his assertion, since by its exception, which was in effect a demurrer, the facts stood admitted by the state, and no burden rested upon defendant.

11946. When and how taken. A challenge to the panel must be taken before the jurors are sworn, and must be in writing or be noted by the stenographer, and must plainly and distinctly state the facts constituting the ground of challenge.

11947. Exception, if sufficiency of the challenge be denied. If the sufficiency of the facts alleged as ground of the challenge is denied, the adverse party may except to the challenge. The exception need not be in writing, but must be entered on the minutes of the court, or of the stenographer, and thereupon the court must proceed to try the sufficiency of the challenge, assuming the facts alleged therein to be true.

Operation and Effect

In a criminal case, a demurrer to a challenge to the jury panel is equivalent to an exception to the challenge, the mere name not being important; and the action of the court in sustaining a demurrer to such challenge, and in impaneling the jury, amounted to a disallowance of the challenge, so as to render the question raised by the challenge reviewable on appeal. State v. Tighe, 27 M 327, 330, 71 P 3.

An exception to the challenge to a jury panel in a criminal case is, in effect, a demurrer, and admits all the facts stated to be true. State v. Groom, 49 M 354, 357, 141 P 858.

11948. If exception overruled, court may allow denial, etc. If, on the exception, the court finds the challenge sufficient, it may, if justice requires it, permit the party excepting to withdraw his exception, and to deny the facts alleged in the challenge. If the exception is allowed, the court may, in like manner, permit an amendment of the challenge.

11949. Denial of challenge, how made, and trial thereof. If the challenge is denied, the denial may be oral, and must be entered on the minutes of the court, or of the stenographer, and the court must proceed to try the question of fact; and, upon such trial, the officers, whether judicial or ministerial, whose irregularity is complained of, as well as any other persons, may be examined to prove or disprove the facts alleged as the ground of the challenge.

Operation and Effect

Where defendant's offer to submit a challenge to the panel on the testimony taken at a prior term of court was withdrawn, and no evidence whatever was offered, defendant's request to discharge the jury was properly denied. State v. Jones, 32 M 442, 449, 80 P 1095.

Query, whether a judge of the district court may be called as a witness when the regularity of the drawing of a jury in a criminal prosecution is questioned by a challenge to the panel, inasmuch as he orders such drawing and directs the clerk during its progress, under section 8903, and, under this section, both judicial and ministerial officers whose irregularity is complained of may be called upon to testify. State ex rel. Breen v. District Court, 34 M 107, 111, 85 P 870.

Where all parties treat a challenge to the panel as raising an issue of fact under this section, the supreme court will treat the matter as though an issue had been raised by a denial of the challenge. State v. Groom, 49 M 354, 357, 141 P 858.

11954. Peremptory challenge, what, and how taken. A peremptory challenge can be taken by either party, and may be oral. It is an objection to a juror for which no reason need be given, but upon which the court must exclude him.

11955. Number of peremptory challenges. The defendant is entitled to a peremptory challenge of jurors in the following cases, and to the number as follows:

1. If the offense charged be punishable with death, or by imprisonment for life, challenges to the number of ten.

2. If the offense be punishable with imprisonment in the state prison not less than a specified number of years, and no limit to the duration of such imprisonment is declared, to the number of eight.

3. In any other case punishable with imprisonment in the state prison, to the number of six.

4. In all other cases, to the number of four.

Operation and Effect

In a prosecution for murder, the accused was properly compelled to exhaust alternately two peremptory challenges to each one taken by the state, where none were taken until the panel was full. State v. Sloan, 22 M 293, 298, 56 P 364.

Defendant, on trial for grand larceny aggravated by a prior conviction of the same offense, was, under subdivision 2 of this section, entitled to eight—not six—peremptory challenges. State v. Collins, 53 M 213, 163 P 102.

11957. Definition and kinds of challenge, for cause. A challenge for cause may be taken by either party. It is an objection to a particular juror, and is either—

1. General—That the juror is disqualified from serving in any case; or,
2. Particular—That the juror is disqualified from serving in the action on trial.

History: En. Sec. 2046, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9259, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11957, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1071.

Operation and Effect

A juror who, upon examination, has shown no bias, either implied or actual, is not disqualified by reason of being a brother-in-law of the prosecuting attorney. State v. Cadotte, 17 M 315, 316, 42 P 857.

11958. General causes of challenge. General causes of challenge are—

1. A conviction for felony;
2. A want of any of the qualifications prescribed by law to render a person a competent juror;
3. Unsoundness of mind, or such defect in the faculties of the mind or organs of the body as renders him incapable of performing the duties of a juror.

11959. Particular causes of challenge. Particular causes of challenge are of two kinds—

1. For such a bias as, when the existence of the facts is ascertained, in judgment of law disqualifies the juror, and which is known in this code as implied bias.
2. For the existence of a state of mind on the part of the juror in reference to the case, or to either of the parties, which will prevent him from acting with entire impartiality and without prejudice to the substantial rights of either party, which is known in this code as actual bias.

Cause for Challenge Must be Alleged

The provision of section 11962, R. C. M. 1921, that in challenging a juror for implied bias one or more of the causes stated in section 11960, R. C. M. 1921, and in challenging for actual bias the cause stated in subdivision 2 of this section, must be alleged, is mandatory; hence where this is not done, denial of the challenge does not entitle appellant to allege error. State v. Vetter, 76 M 574, 584, 248 P 179.

Causes Enumerated Not Exclusive

The constitutional provision (Art. III, Sec. 16) that one accused of crime shall have the right to trial by an impartial jury is a limitation upon the power of the legislature and it is beyond its power to curtail it; hence, where it clearly appears from the examination of a juror on his voir dire that some circumstance or connection with the case renders him unfit to serve, he should be disqualified even though the cause does not fall within any of those specified in the statute. State v. Russell, 73 M 240, 244, 235 P 712.

Effect of Juror Admitting Bias

Where a juror in a criminal case on examination first admits bias in favor of defendant, but later states that notwithstanding such bias he can consider the evidence impartially, the latter statement should be received with caution. State v. Huffman, 89 M 194, 197, 296 P 789.

Nature of Right to Challenge

The right to challenge is the right to reject, not to select, a juror, and no person can acquire a vested right to have any particular member of a panel sit upon his case until such member has been accepted and sworn. State v. Huffman, 89 M 194, 197, 296 P 789.

Operation and Effect

After verdict, the accused must make it appear affirmatively that he is entitled to a new trial because he has been deprived of his constitutional right to an impartial jury, and the probability that one juror was incompetent is not sufficient to set aside the verdict. In the absence of a clear showing of an abuse of discretion by the trial court in passing on a motion for a new trial, based on the alleged incompetency of a juror, the supreme court will not interfere. State v. Mott, 29 M 292, 307, 74 P 728.

A juror who testified on his voir dire examination that he entertained a bitter prejudice against the Industrial Workers of the World and against every member of it, which would abide with him throughout the trial, that it would require evidence to remove the prejudice, and less evidence to convict defendant, who was a member of the organization, than if he were not a member, was not an impartial juror, and refusal to grant a challenge for cause was error. State v. Brooks, 57 M 480, 188 P 942.

Where one had served as a juror in a prosecution for rape he was not disqualified, as for actual bias, from serving in the same capacity in a later case of the same character against another defendant in which the prosecutrix was the same as in the first, by the fact that on the former trial evidence of the guilt of the latter defendant had been introduced. (Mr. Justice Galen dissenting.) State v. Russell, 73 M 240, 244, 235 P 712.

When Trial Judge Should Sustain Challenge

On the voir dire examination of a prospective juror the trial court is the judge of the weight to be given to his testimony, and if it has any doubt as to the existence of such a state of mind in a juror as would disqualify him, it should sustain a challenge to him in the interest of justice. State v. Huffman, 89 M 194, 197, 296 P 789.

11960. Ground of challenge for implied bias. A challenge for implied bias may be taken for all or any of the following causes, and for no other:

1. Consanguinity or relationship to the person alleged to be injured by the offense charged, or on whose complaint the prosecution was instituted, or to the defendant.

2. Standing in the relation of guardian and ward, attorney and client, master and servant, or landlord and tenant, debtor and creditor, to, or being a member of, the family of the defendant, or of the person alleged to be injured by the offense charged, or on whose complaint the prosecution was instituted, or in his employment.

3. Being a party adverse to the defendant in a civil action, or having complained against or been accused by him in a criminal prosecution.

4. Having served on the grand jury which found the indictment, or on a coroner's jury which inquired into the death of a person whose death is the subject of the indictment or information.

5. Having served on a trial jury which has tried another person for the offense charged.

6. Having been one of a jury formerly sworn to try the same charge, and whose verdict was set aside or which was discharged without verdict, after the case was submitted to it.

7. Having served as a juror in a civil action brought against the defendant for the act charged as an offense.

8. If the offense charged be punishable with death, the entertaining of such conscientious opinions as would preclude his finding the defendant guilty; in which case he must neither be permitted nor compelled to serve as a juror.

9. Having a belief that the punishment fixed by law is too severe for the offense charged.

History: En. Sec. 286, p. 234, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 286, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; amd. Sec. 1, p. 54, L. 1881; re-en. Sec. 287, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 2049, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9262, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11960, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1074.

Operation and Effect

It will be readily seen, by a comparison of the alleged cause for challenge in the first question presented with the above-quoted causes of challenge for "implied bias," that the challenge did not allege any one of the statutory causes, and therefore does not comply with the requirement of section 11962, R. C. M. 1921, that "one or more of the causes stated in section 11960" must be alleged. "A juror is not incompetent because he has previously served upon the trial of another defendant charged with a separate and distinct offense, although of the same character, and proved by the same witness or witnesses." State v. Russell, 73 M 240, 244, 235 P 712.

The provision of section 11962, R. C. M. 1921, that in challenging a juror for implied bias one or more of the causes stated in this section, and in challenging for actual bias the cause stated in subdivision 2 of section 11959, R. C. M. 1921, must be alleged, is mandatory; hence where this is not done, denial of the challenge does not entitle appellant to allege error. State v. Vetter, 76 M 574, 584, 248 P 179.

After conviction of defendant of murder in the first degree, which crime he confessed, pleading insanity, he moved for a new trial upon the ground, among others, that a member of the jury had been guilty of misconduct in concealing from the court, while under examination on his voir dire, the fact that after the arrest of defendant, he, as correspondent for the newspaper published at the county seat, had furnished it articles, which were published, in effect complimenting the officers for their quick action in apprehending the "murderer" whose "worthless carcass will lie to rot deeply buried when the wheels of justice cease to grind," etc. The motion was denied. Held, in answer to the contention that the court abused its discretion in denying it, that in view of the explanation of his conduct by the juror on the hearing of the motion that the articles were not intended to be personal as applied to defendant, whom he did not know, but applicable to anyone who committed homicide, and the advantageous position of the trial judge in passing upon the sincerity and truth of the statements of the juror on his examination touching his competency as well as on the hearing of the motion, that the court did not err in its ruling. (Justices Angstman and Stewart dissenting.) State v. Hoffman, 94 M 573, 586, 23 P 2d 972. See also State v. Huffman, 89 M 194, 197, 296 P 789.

11961. Exemption not a ground of challenge. An exemption from service on a jury is not a cause of challenge, but the privilege of the person exempted.

11962. Causes of challenge, how stated. In a challenge for implied bias, one or more of the causes stated in section 11960 must be alleged. In a challenge for actual bias, the cause stated in the second subdivision of section 11959 must be alleged; but no person shall be disqualified as a juror by reason of having formed or expressed an opinion upon the matter or cause to be submitted to such jury, founded upon public rumor, statements in public journals, or common notoriety, provided it appear to the court, upon his declaration, under oath or otherwise, that he can and will, notwithstanding such opinion, act impartially and fairly upon the matters to be submitted to him. The challenge may be oral, but must be entered in the minutes of the court or of the stenographer.

Constitutionality

This statute is constitutional. Territory v. Bryson, 9 M 32, 39, 22 P 147; State v. Sheerin, 12 M 539, 541, 31 P 543; State v. Martin, 29 M 273, 277, 74 P 725; State v. Mott, 29 M 292, 306, 74 P 728.

Juror With an Opinion Based on Newspaper Story or Hearsay

A juror who has formed and expressed an opinion on the case from reading newspaper statements and from hearsay, but who states that he does not know the defendant, has no prejudice, and, notwithstanding such opinion, can impartially try the case, is competent. State v. Sheerin, 12 M 539, 541, 31 P 543.

Where a venireman in a criminal case stated on his voir dire that he had read the newspaper accounts of the alleged robbery, and had formed an opinion, but not a fixed one, and on re-examination he said he could entirely discard the opinion thus formed, and give the defendant as fair a trial as if he had never heard of the case, he was competent as a juror. State v. Howard, 30 M 518, 523, 77 P 50.

General challenges of jurors "for the purposes of the record" who while stating on their voir dire that they had read the newspaper account of the killing of deceased and were of the opinion at the time that he had been murdered, did not state that they had any belief that defendant had committed the crime, but did say that they would follow the instructions of the court and render an impartial verdict, were properly denied. State v. Byrne, 60 M 317, 328, 199 P 262.

A juror who on his voir dire stated that he had read in the newspapers an account of the homicide for which plaintiff was on trial; that he had formed an opinion therefrom which it would take evidence to remove, but that in determining the case he would base his verdict upon the evidence and be bound by the court's instructions; that there was nothing known to him which would prevent his trying the case fairly, etc., held competent. State v. Juhrey, 61 M 413, 202 P 762.

Where a juror on his voir dire stated that from newspaper reports and conversations with others he had formed the opinion that murder had been committed, but had no opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant, that he would require the state to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the latter had killed deceased with malice aforethought before he would vote for a conviction, and that he could fairly and impartially try him, he was not disqualified from serving. State v. Vetter, 76 M 574, 585, 586, 248 P 179.

After conviction of defendant of murder in the first degree, which crime he confessed, pleading insanity, he moved for a new trial upon the ground, among others, that a member of the jury had been guilty of misconduct in concealing from the court, while under examination on his voir dire, the fact that after the arrest of defendant, he, as correspondent for the newspaper published at the county seat, had furnished it articles, which were published, in effect complimenting the officers for their quick action in apprehending the "murderer" whose "worthless carcass will lie to rot deeply buried when the wheels of justice cease to grind," etc. The motion was denied. Held, in answer to the contention that the court abused its discretion in denying it, that in view of the explanation of his conduct by the juror on the hearing of the motion that the articles were not intended to be personal as applied to defendant, whom he did not know, but applicable to anyone who committed homicide, and the advantageous position of the trial judge in passing upon the sincerity and truth of the statements of the juror on his examination touching his competency as well as on the hearing of the motion, that the court did not err in its ruling. 11963. Exceptions to challenge and denial thereof. The adverse party may except to the challenge in the same manner as to a challenge to the panel, and the same proceedings must be had thereon as are prescribed in section 11947, except that if the exception be allowed, the juror must be excluded. Operation and Effect

Where either party fails to challenge in his turn, he is deemed to waive the challenge or challenges he might use at that time, but this rule goes no further than is necessary to preserve the alternation required by the statute. State v. Peel, 23 M 358, 362, 59 P 169. See also Chenoweth v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 50 M 481, 485, 148 P 330.

Where the state waived its fourth peremptory challenge, and the defendant exhausted his peremptory challenges, it was not error, on the panel's being filled and passed for cause, to permit the state to peremptorily challenge a juror who was in the box when the state waived its fourth challenge; the state's waiver of its fourth challenge was not a waiver of any subsequent challenge to which it was entitled. State v. Peel, 23 M 358, 363, 59 P 169.

11969. Order of trial. 1. The county attorney must state the case and offer evidence in support of the prosecution.

2. The defendant, or his counsel, may then state his defense and offer evidence in support thereof.

3. The parties may respectively offer rebutting testimony only, unless the court, for good reason, in furtherance of justice, permit them to offer evidence upon their original case.

4. When the evidence is concluded, if either party desires special instructions to be given to the jury, such instructions shall be reduced to writing and numbered by the party, or his attorney, and together with a written request asking the same, and signed by the party, or his attorney, delivered to the court. At all times prior to the charging of the jury the instructions to be given shall be, without the presence of the jury, settled by the court, at which settlement counsel for the parties shall be allowed reasonable opportunity to examine the instructions requested and proposed to be given by the court, and to present and argue to the court objections and exceptions to the adoption or rejection of any instruction offered by counsel or proposed to be given to the jury by the court. On such settlement of the instructions the respective counsel, or the parties, shall specify and state the particular ground on which the instruction is objected or excepted to, and it shall not be sufficient in stating the ground of such objection or exception to state generally that the instruction does not state the law, or is against law, but such ground of objection or exception shall specify particularly wherein the instruction is insufficient, or does not state the law, or what particular clause therein is objected to. The court shall pass upon the objection to the instructions requested and also those proposed to be given by the court, and shall either give each instruction as requested or positively refuse to do so, or give the instruction requested with a modification, and shall mark or endorse upon each instruction offered and requested by the parties in such manner that it shall distinctly appear what instructions were given in whole or in part, and in like manner those refused or modified, and if modified, wherein the modification consisted. The court shall also give the instructions as originally proposed to be given by the court, or as modified, and all the instructions given by the court, together with those refused, must be filed as a part of the record of the cause.

The court stenographer shall be present at such settlement and shall take down all the objections and exceptions of the respective counsel to all or any of the instructions given or refused by the court together with the modifications made therein, and the ruling of the court thereon, and at the close of the trial such objections and exceptions taken during the settlement, together with the ruling of the court thereon, must be written out at length or printed in type by the stenographer and filed with the clerk forthwith, and thereafter such exceptions may be settled in a bill of exceptions as provided in section 12044 of this code.

No motion for new trial on the ground of errors in the instructions given shall be granted by the district court unless the error so assigned was specifically pointed out and excepted to at the settlement of the instructions, as herein provided; and no cause shall be reversed by the supreme court for any error in instructions which was not specifically pointed out and excepted to at the settlement of the instructions herein specified, and such error and exception incorporated in and settled in the bill of exceptions, as herein provided.

5. When the instructions have been passed upon and settled by the court, and before the arguments of counsel to the jury have begun, the court shall charge the jury in writing, giving in such charge only such instructions as are passed upon and settled at such settlement. In charging the jury, the court shall give to them all matters of law which it thinks necessary for its information in rendering a verdict.

6. When the jury has been charged, unless the case is submitted to the jury, on either side, or on both sides, without argument, the plaintiff must commence and may conclude the argument. If several defendants, having several defenses, appear by different counsel, the court must determine their relative order in the evidence and argument. Counsel, in arguing the case to the jury, may argue and comment upon the law of the case, as given in the instructions of the court, as well as upon the evidence of the case.

Instructions

Bill of Exceptions Required to Review Instructions

Under this section, errors in giving or refusing instructions cannot be reviewed on appeal unless they, with the proceedings had at the settlement thereof, are incorporated in a bill of exceptions, even though they constitute a part of the judgment-roll of technical record, section 12043, R. C. M. 1921, providing otherwise, having been superseded by this section. State v. Carmichael, 62 M 159, 161, 204 P 362; State v. Zorn, 99 M 63, 41 P 2d 513.

Duty of Court to Instruct

The defendant introduced testimony tending to show that "prior to the occasion in question" his reputation for "truth and veracity" in the community in which he lived was good, and his counsel offered an instruction on the subject. This the court refused, and it did not give any on that phase of the case. Whether the court was of the opinion that the offered instruction was not good, or that defendant was not entitled to an instruction upon the subject, the record does not disclose. Upon the evidence introduced defendant was entitled upon his request to the benefit of a proper instruction upon the subject; subject to the provisions of this section, the court is required to instruct a jury upon all matters of law necessary for its information in rendering a verdict. State v. Jackson, 88 M 420, 435, 293 P 309.

Duty to Object and Point Out Error and to Except

Where defendant fails to make objection to any portion of the charge or to any action of the trial court in its settlement during trial, he will not, on appeal, be heard to complain of error therein, or of any omission by the court to submit any special instruction. State v. Stone, 40 M 88, 93, 105 P 89.

Paragraph 4 of this section, prohibiting reversal by the supreme court for error in instructions where such error was not specifically pointed out and excepted to at the settlement of the instructions, and the error and exception incorporated and settled in a bill of exceptions, is mandatory, and error in instructions cannot be considered on appeal in a criminal case where the record does not contain a bill of exceptions. State v. Cook, 42 M 329, 331, 112 P 537.

The defendant, in a criminal case, is bound by instructions to which he does not object. State v. Crean, 43 M 47, 60, 114 P 603.

Errors in instructions must be specifically pointed out at the time the instructions are settled and the exceptions presented in a bill of exceptions before they will be considered on appeal. State v. Thomas, 46 M 468, 128 P 588.

Under this section, to entitle appellant in a criminal action to a review of an instruction given, the record must disclose that at the time of settlement of the instructions he made suitable objection and reserved an exception thereto. State v. Brodock, 53 M 463, 164 P 658; State v. Neidamier, 98 M 124, 37 P 2d 670.

Under the provisions of this section, errors in the instructions are not ground for reversal on appeal unless the same were specifically pointed out and excepted to. State v. Kahn, 56 M 108, 120, 182 P 107.

An erroneous instruction, given without objection, became the law of the case, the supreme court on appeal being precluded by this section from reversing a judgment for error in instructions not specifically pointed out and excepted to at the settlement of the instructions. Hawley v. Richardson, 60 M 118, 128, 198 P 450.

Where defendant, through his attorney, at the settlement of the instructions, stated that he had no objections to them, assignments based on alleged error in them cannot be considered on appeal. State v. Chronopoulos, 60 M 329, 330, 199 P 266; State v. Evans, 60 M 367, 374, 199 P 440.

Where a defect in an instruction given was not pointed out specifically by defendant at the settlement of the instructions, the supreme court on appeal may not, under this section, consider an objection not so pointed out. State v. Bolton, 65 M 74, 81, 212 P 504; State v. Cassill et al., 71 M 274, 279, 229 P 716; State v. Dougherty, 71 M 265, 266, 229 P 735; State v. Sawyer, 71 M 269, 272, 229 P 734; State v. Vallie, 82 M 456, 268 P 493.

An objection made at the settlement of the instructions in a criminal case that a certain paragraph thereof "is not applicable to the facts of this case" is insufficient, under this section, to warrant review of alleged errors urged under the specification relating thereto. State v. McClain et al., 76 M 351, 358, 246 P 956.

Held, that the provision of this section prohibiting the supreme court from reversing a judgment in a criminal cause for any error in instructions not specifically pointed out and excepted to at the settlement of instructions and incorporated and settled in the bill of exceptions, applies only to error in instructions given, and not to error allegedly committed in refusing to give offered instructions. State v. Daw, 99 M 232, 234, 43 P 2d 240.

Duty to Submit an Instruction if Desired

It is well settled in this state that, if a party is not satisfied with an instruction proposed to be given, he must submit an instruction which more fully covers the particular matter, or he cannot be heard to complain, unless the instruction given be inherently wrong. Territory v. Hart, 7

M 489, 505, 17 P 718; Territory v. Manton, 8 M 95, 109, 19 P 387; State v. Broadbent, 19 M 467, 473, 48 P 775; State v. Gordon, 35 M 458, 467, 90 P 173; State v. Tracey, 35 M 552, 555, 90 P 791; State v. Powell, 54 M 217, 221, 169 P 46.

Where the defendant failed to offer an instruction on circumstantial evidence, he is in no position to complain of the omission to instruct the jury on that point. State v. Francis, 58 M 659, 670, 194 P 304.

Where the testimony of a physician touching a physical examination of the complaining witness was admitted solely for the purpose of showing that sexual intercourse might have taken place, and for none other, failure of the defendant to offer an instruction on the subject of its limitation deprived him of the right to complain that such an instruction was not given. State v. Richardson, 63 M 322, 328, 207 P 124.

Error Cannot be Predicated on Instructions not Ruled on by the Court

Where the record in a criminal cause does not show that the court ruled, or was requested to rule, on defendant's requests for instructions, or his objections to those given, errors relating to them will not be considered on appeal, since error cannot be predicated on the mere silence of the court. State v. McCarthy, 36 M 226, 236, 92 P 521.

Requirement That Instructions be Written

Mere silence of the accused or his counsel is not equivalent to a consent to the giving of oral instructions. State v. Fisher, 23 M 540, 551, 59 P 919.

Id. A statute requiring written instructions in a criminal action is mandatory, and the violation thereof is reversible error.

Id. A charge is oral if not in writing at the time of its delivery, and read to the jury as written.

In the absence of waiver by the parties, it is imperative that all instructions be submitted to the jury in writing. State v. Tudor, 47 M 185, 131 P 632.

After the jury in a criminal case had retired to the jury-room it was brought back at its request for information relative to the punishment which might be imposed under the indeterminate sentence statute. The court in the presence of defendant and counsel orally explained the provisions of the law and advised the jury as to the form in which it might return a verdict under that law. Defendant's counsel did not make any objection. Held, that the explanations made were not instructions on the law of the case and that, therefore, prejudicial error was not committed in making them orally. State v. Kennedy, 82 M 165, 167, 266 P 386.

Signing of Instructions—Necessity for Requested instructions are required to be signed merely for the purpose of identification, to be used by the court in making up its charge to the jury; it is an irregularity, but no reversible error, for the court to permit the name and official title of the county attorney to be placed on instructions requested by him and given to the jury. State v. Martin, 29 M 273, 278, 74 P 725.

Opening Statement

The provision of this section, requiring the county attorney to make an opening statement in a prosecution for crime, is merely directory. State v. Hall, 55 M 182, 185, 175 P 267.

Held, that where defendant, charged with burglary and three prior convictions, at the opening of the trial admitted the prior convictions, the court did not err in permitting knowledge of the prior convictions to go to the jury by allowing the county attorney to read the information charging such convictions, in overruling an objection to the question asked defendant on cross-examination as to the prior convictions, or in instructing the jury that if they found the defendant guilty of burglary they should then consider the matter of the former convictions, giving the provisions of the statute fixing punishment for that crime when aggravated by prior convictions of felonies, in view of the provisions of this section, requiring the county attorney to state the case and offer evidence in support of the prosecution, and the fact that without such knowledge the jury could not intelligently fix the punishment to fit the crime. State v. O'Neill, 76 M 526, 532, 535, 248 P 215.

The county attorney could properly in his opening statement to the jury advert to evidence the state intended to prove, and under this section, is required to do so, and is not required to state for what purpose he intends to produce certain evidence; hence the trial court did not err in denying a request of counsel for defendant requiring him to do so. State v. Keays, 97 M 404, 416, 34 P 2d 855.

Purpose

This section does not undertake to do more than prescribe an orderly procedure for the trial of criminal cases. State v. Hall, 55 M 182, 185, 175 P 267.

Operation and Effect

Held, on appeal from a judgment of conviction of murder in the first degree, that the trial court in giving the definition of "reasonable doubt" in an instruction on the subject repeatedly approved by the supreme court, did not commit reversible error by prefacing it thus: "You are instructed that a doubt which a juror is allowed to retain in his mind and under the influence of which he should form a verdict of not guilty, must always be a reasonable one," and that the contention of appellant that the phrase in effect does away with the presumption of innocence declared by this section, may not be sustained. Operation and Effect

Evidence of the act or declaration of a conspirator relating to the conspiracy may, after proof of the conspiracy, be given against his coconspirator. Territory v. Campbell, 9 M 16, 20, 22 P 121; State v. Byers, 16 M 565, 567, 41 P 708; Harrington v. B. & M. Co., 19 M 411, 419, 48 P 758; Pincus v. Reynolds, 19 M 564, 569, 49 P 145; State v. Dotson, 26 M 305, 309, 67 P 938; Lane v. Bailey, 29 M 548, 557, 75 P 191.

Where a defendant in a criminal cause becomes a witness in his own behalf he is subject to the same rules of cross-examination and impeachment as any other witness; hence a question whether he had not suffered the previous convictions charged in the information was proper. State v. O'Neill, 76 M 526, 535, 248 P 215.

Where alterations appeared in an alleged written confession of defendant charged with crime, it was incumbent upon the state, under section 10617, relating to writings offered in evidence as exhibits in civil cases but made applicable to criminal cases by this section, to account for them before it is admissible in evidence; in the instant case defendant testified that the writing was inaccurate. State v. Crighton, 97 M 387, 401, 34 P 2d 511.

11980. When burden of proof shifts in trial for murder. Upon a trial for murder, the commission of the homicide by the defendant being proved, the burden of proving circumstances of mitigation, or that justify or excuse it, devolves upon him, unless the proof on the part of the prosecution tends to show that the crime committed only amounts to manslaughter, or that the defendant was justifiable or excusable.

Extent of Proof for Matters of Justification

In cases of homicide it is error to charge the jury that the matters of justification, excuse or mitigation should be proved beyond all reasonable doubt. Territory v. Edmonson, 4 M 141, 1 P 738.

Upon the conclusion of the state's case, where no evidence of insanity has been introduced, the burden devolves upon the defendant to produce some proof of his insanity, and when he has introduced sufficient to raise a reasonable doubt as to his sanity, he is entitled to an acquittal, unless such evidence is successfully rebutted by the state. State v. Peel, 23 M 358, 374, 59 P 169.

An instruction defining the term "preponderance of the evidence" has no place in a criminal trial. Under this section, no greater burden rests upon the defendant than to introduce sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt as to the existence of such so-called affirmative defenses as alibi, insanity, and justification. State v. Felker, 27 M 451, 461, 71 P 668.

Where the evidence on the part of the prosecution, in a case of homicide, tends to show that the killing amounted to murder, the burden is upon the defendant to prove circumstances of mitigation, or that justified or excused the killing; but, concerning the quantum of proof, if he raises a reasonable doubt of his guilt, he should be acquitted. State v. Crean, 43 M 47, 55, 114 P 603.

Where the proof of the prosecution, that is, the effect of all the evidence introduced by it, makes out the defense upon which one charged with crime relies, by raising a reasonable doubt of his guilt, defendant may, under this section, avail himself of such defense without proof on his part. State v. Powell, 54 M 217, 220, 169 P 46.

Although the defendant, in a prosecution for homicide, may avail himself of an affirmative defense established by evidence for the prosecution, it is error to instruct the jury that if any proof offered by the state tends to show that the defendant was "excused or justified" in the killing, then they must acquit him. State v. Powell, 54 M 217, 220, 169 P 46.

Operation and Effect

The state having proved the killing by the defendant without evidence tending to show that the act amounts to manslaughter, or that the defendant is justifiable or excusable, the crime is presumed to be murder of the second degree. If the state would raise the crime to murder of the first degree, the burden is upon it to prove deliberation; on the other hand, if the defendant would reduce the crime to manslaughter, there must be produced evidence sufficient to create a reasonable doubt of the existence of malice. State v. Fisher, 23 M 540, 546, 59 P 919; State v. Kuum, 55 M 436, 446, 178 P 288.

In a prosecution for murder, the burden of proving circumstances of mitigation or justification is on the defendant. State v. Byrd, 41 M 585, 596, 111 P 407.

In a prosecution for murder, the duty of showing excuse or palliating circumstances, or of adducing evidence of facts sufficient to raise in the minds of the jurors a reasonable doubt of the defendant's guilt, is upon the accused. State v. Leakey, 44 M 354, 366, 120 P 234. See also State v. Sheldon, 54 M 185, 192, 169 P 37.

Appellant, who was charged with homicide, was in no position to complain of an instruction which by failing to give the rule embodied in this section, to the effect that the burden of proving circumstances of mitigation, justification, or excuse devolves upon defendant, impliedly told the jury that the burden did not rest upon him at any stage of the case. State v. Halk, 49 M 173, 175, 141 P 149.

Id. While this section declares the circumstances under which the burden of proof shifts to the defendant, he is not at any time required to bear a greater burden than to go forward with his proofs far enough to create in the minds of the jurors a reasonable doubt as to his guilt. The burden of proof, as these words are used in the criminal law, is never upon the defendant to disprove the facts necessary to establish the crime with which he is charged. It is upon the state from the beginning to the end of the trial.

Under this section, the accused, in a prosecution for murder, must, where he relies upon self-defense, after proof that a homicide was committed by him, assume the burden of furnishing sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt of his guilt. State v. Powell, 54 M 217, 220, 169 P 46.

When a homicide is established, nothing else appearing, the presumption of innocence is overcome, and the presumption establishing malicious intent comes to the aid of the prosecution. State v. Colbert, 58 M 584, 591, 194 P 145.

Id. Where this section is given as an instruction, it is not error to omit therefrom the last clause commencing with the word "unless," when the evidence of the prosecution contains nothing tending to mitigate, justify or excuse the homicide, the effect of such instruction being to make it imperative upon the defense to introduce such evidence.

The contention of defendant that since no one was present when the shot which killed deceased was fired, the court erred in giving an instruction in the words of this section, heretofore construed to mean that if the jury should find the fact that defendant did the killing, the burden of proving circumstances mitigating the offense from murder to manslaughter or justifying it devolves upon him, unless the evidence which proves the killing by the defendant also shows that it was manslaughter or justifiable, held without merit. State v. Davis, 60 M 426, 440, 199 P 421.

In a prosecution for murder, where the fact that defendant killed deceased was established, and there were no circumstances tending to justify or excuse the act, it was not error to instruct, in the language of this section, that, the commission of the homicide being proved, the burden of proving circumstances of mitigation, justification, or excuse devolved on defendant, unless the state's proof showed the crime amounted only to manslaughter, or that defendant was justifiable or excusable. State v. Bess, 60 M 558, 575, 199 P 426.

11981. All witnesses need not be called. Upon a trial for murder or manslaughter it is not necessary for the state to call as witnesses all persons who are shown to have been present at the homicide, but the court may require all of such witnesses to be sworn and examined.

Operation and Effect

Under this section it is discretionary with the court whether all witnesses present at a homicide should be sworn and examined, and it is only where the refusal to order such witnesses to be placed on the stand constitutes an abuse of discretion that reversible error is committed. State v. Rolla, 21 M 582, 55 P 523.

It is discretionary with the trial court whether all persons who are shown to have been present at a homicide shall be sworn and examined in behalf of the state, and exercise of its discretion will be corrected only in case of abuse. State v. Tighe, 27 M 327, 336, 71 P 3.

state to call and examine an eye-witness to the crime whose name was indorsed on the information was proper. State v. Inich, 55 M 1, 13, 173 P 230.

Upon a trial for bigamy, it is not necessary to prove either of the marriages by the register, certificate, or other record evidence thereof, but the same may be proved by such evidence as is admissible to prove a marriage in other cases; and when the second marriage took place out of this state, proof of that fact, accompanied with proof of cohabitation thereafter in this state, is sufficient to sustain the charge.

Upon a trial for procuring or attempting to procure an abortion, or aiding or assisting therein, or for inveigling, enticing, or taking away an unmarried female of previous chaste character, under the age of twenty-five years, for the purpose of prostitution, or aiding or assisting therein, the defendant cannot be convicted upon the testimony of the woman upon or with whom the offense was committed, unless she is corroborated by other evidence.

11985. Proof of corporation by reputation. If upon a trial or proceeding in a criminal case, the existence, constitution, or powers of any corporation shall become material, or be in any way drawn in question, it is not necessary to produce a certified copy of the articles or act of incorporation, but the same may be proved by general reputation, or by the printed statutes of the state, or government or country by which such corporation was created.

11986. Evidence on a trial for selling, etc., lottery tickets. Upon a trial for the violation of any of the provisions of sections 11149 to 11158 of this code, it is not necessary to prove the existence of any lottery in which any lottery ticket purports to have been issued, or to prove the actual signing of any such ticket, or share, or pretended ticket or share, of any pretended lottery, nor that any lottery ticket, share or interest was signed or issued by the authority of any manager, or of any person assuming to have authority as manager; but in all cases proof of the sale, furnishing, bartering, or procuring of any ticket, share, or interest therein, or of any instrument purporting to be a ticket, or part or share of any such ticket, is evidence that such share or interest was signed and issued according to the purport thereof.

11987. Evidence of false pretenses. Upon a trial for having, with an intent to cheat or defraud another designedly, by any false pretense, obtained the signature of any person to a written instrument, or having obtained from any person any money, personal property, or valuable thing, the defendant cannot be convicted if the false pretense was expressed in language unaccompanied by a false token or writing, unless the pretense, or some note or memorandum thereof, be in writing, subscribed by or in the handwriting of the defendant, or unless the pretense is proven by testimony of two witnesses or that of one witness and corroborating circumstances; but this section shall not apply to a prosecution for falsely representing or personating another, and, in such assumed character, marrying or receiving any money or property.

History: En. Sec. 2088, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9289, Rev. C. 1907; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 8, L. 1917; re-en. Sec. 11987, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1110.

Operation and Effect

Held, under this section, that where defendant was charged with obtaining money by a false pretense that he had credit at a certain bank and could borrow the money there, testified to by one witness only, there was a total failure of proof, in the absence of any false token or writing employed by the defendant or corroborating circumstances. State v. Brantingham, 66 M 1, 13, 212 P 499.

Id. In the absence of evidence that the complaining witness parted with money in reliance on one of several alleged false representations, conviction was not justified on that count of the information.

11988. Conviction on testimony of accomplice. A conviction cannot be had on the testimony of an accomplice, unless he is corroborated by other evidence, which in itself, and without the aid of the testimony of the accomplice, tends to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense; and the corroboration is not sufficient, if it merely shows the commission of the offense, or the circumstances thereof.

Corroboration of Testimony of Accomplice Question for Court

Whether evidence corroborative of the testimony of an accomplice tends to connect defendant with the commission of the offense charged against him, within the meaning of this section, is a question of law for the court, but the weight of it is a matter for the consideration of the jury. State v. Yegen, 86 M 251, 254, 283 P 210.

Where the state relies on the testimony of an accomplice to convict one of crime, the question whether the evidence in corroboration of that given by the accomplice meets the requirement of this section, that it must in itself, without the aid of the testimony of the accomplice, tend to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense charged, is one of law for the court. State v. Jones, 95 M 317, 323, 26 P 2d 341.

One Accomplice Cannot Corroborate Another

One accomplice cannot supply the independent evidence necessary to corroborate another accomplice. State v. Bolton, 65 M 74, 85, 88, 212 P 504.

Operation and Effect

This section does not, unless by implication, require the production of evidence from independent sources with respect to the corpus delicti, the identity of the person killed or any other particular. State v. Calder, 23 M 504, 513, 59 P 903; State v. Stevenson, 26 M 332, 335, 67 P 1001.

In a larceny case, the testimony of an accomplice will not support a conviction unless corroborative. State v. McCarthy, 36 M 226, 235, 92 P 521.

Refusal of an offered instruction that a defendant could not be convicted upon the uncorroborated evidence of an accomplice unaccompanied by one as to what corroboration would take the case out of the rule or one defining what constitutes an accomplice, held not prejudicial error under the case as made. State v. Smith, 75 M 22, 27, 241 P 522.

The requirement of this section that the testimony of an accomplice must be corroborated by other evidence does not call for corroboration as to every fact to which the accomplice testifies or for evidence sufficient of itself to establish defendant's guilt. If, unaided by that of the accomplice, it tends to connect defendant with the commission of the crime it is sufficient; it need not be direct but may be circumstantial, and in determining its sufficiency all of the evidence, other than that of the accomplice, is to be considered, including that of defendant. State v. Broell, 87 M 284, 288, 294, 286 P 1108.

Sufficiency of Corroborative Evidence

Evidence held to be insufficient corroboration of an accomplice's testimony that he and accused, having been discovered stealing a cow by a white man, followed him, and killed him and his dog, placing the two bodies together, where the only identification of the locality is that it was on the same stream, the country being unsettled cattle country. State v. Spotted Hawk, 22 M 33, 57, 55 P 1026.

The corroboration of the testimony of an accomplice must be evidence from an independent source, and it must be such that this independent evidence in itself, without considering the testimony of the accomplice at all, tends to connect the defendant with the commission of the crime charged. It is not a satisfaction of the statute to corroborate an accomplice upon immaterial matters, nor to prove merely that the crime charged has been committed, or the circumstances under which it has been committed. State v. Geddes, 22 M 68, 83, 55 P 919; State v. Lawson, 44 M 488, 490, 120 P 808. See also State v. Stevenson, 26 M 332, 334, 67 P 1001.

It is not necessary that the evidence in corroboration of the accomplice must be of sufficient strength, when standing alone, to connect the defendant with the commission of the crime, or to establish his guilt; if it tends in and of itself alone to prove the defendant's connection, it is sufficient. State v. Calder, 23 M 504, 520, 59 P 903.

Corroborating evidence tending to establish, independently of the accomplice's statements, the commission of the offense and accused's connection therewith, is sufficient, though, if the accomplice's testimony was not considered, the corroborating evidence would be insufficient to convict. State v. Stevenson, 26 M 332, 334, 67 P 1001.

The testimony of an accomplice is sufficiently corroborated, where the evidence, independent of the testimony of the accomplice, has sufficient probative value to justify a submission to the jury for a finding as to the guilt of accused. State v. Biggs, 45 M 400, 406, 123 P 410.

It is not necessary that an accomplice should be corroborated upon every fact to which he testifies; nor is it necessary that the independent evidence should be sufficient of itself to establish defendant's guilt, or to connect him with the commission of the crime charged, but it is sufficient if it tends to do so. State v. Slothower, 56 M 230, 233, 182 P 270.

Id. Evidence held sufficient to establish corroboration within the meaning of this section.

To render evidence corroborative of that given by an accomplice sufficient to warrant conviction, the accomplice need not be corroborated upon every fact to which he testified, or that the independent evidence alone should be sufficient to bring about that result, or that it connects defendant with the commission of the offense, it being sufficient, if, unaided by that of the accomplice, it tends to connect with its perpetration. State v. Bolton, 65 M 74, 85, 212 P 504.

An accomplice need not be corroborated as to every material fact to which he testifies, nor is it necessary that the corroborative testimony be sufficient to make a prima facie case against the defendant. State v. Ritz, 65 M 180, 186, 211 P 298.

Id. Evidence corroborative of that given by an accomplice need not be direct, but may be circumstantial, the statute (this section) being satisfied if the independent evidence tends to connect the accused with the commission of the crime of which he is charged.

The corroborating evidence without which a defendant cannot be convicted on the testimony of an accomplice, under this section, may be supplied by the defendant or his witnesses; may be circumstantial; need not extend to every fact to which the accomplice testifies; need not be sufficient to justify a conviction or to establish a prima facie case of guilt, or to connect the defendant with the commission of the crime; it being sufficient if it tends to do so, and whether it tends to do so is a question of law, the weight of the evidence—its efficacy to fortify the testimony of the accomplice and render his story trustworthy—being a matter for the consideration of the jury. State v. Cobb, 76 M 89, 91, 245 P 265.

Id. Evidence in a prosecution for the larceny of horses, corroborative of the testimony of two accomplices, examined and held sufficient as tending to connect defendant with the commission of the offense, and therefore sufficient to sustain his conviction under this section.

To warrant conviction for crime on the testimony of an accomplice, within the rule established by this section, it is not necessary that he be corroborated as to every material fact to which he testifies, or that the corroborative evidence in itself be sufficient to establish a prima facie case or to justify conviction or connect defendant with the commission of the offense charged, but if it tends to connect him therewith it is sufficient; such evidence need not be direct but may be circumstantial; it may be supplied by the defendant or his witnesses. State v. Yegen, 86 M 251, 254, 283 P 210.

Id. Evidence in a prosecution for the larceny of a horse in which the state relied largely upon the testimony of an admitted accomplice, examined and held sufficiently corroborative as tending to connect the accused with the commission of the offense, independently of the testimony of the accomplice.

The fact that defendant, charged with the larceny of livestock, had possession of and exercised dominion over the animals, to the extent of selling and receiving payment for them, unexplained and considered in the light of the surrounding circumstances, tended to connect him with the crime charged, under the above accomplice rule, regardless of whether or not the circumstances were sufficient, coupled with his possession and dominion, to warrant a conviction on a charge of larceny or of receiving stolen property. State v. Broell, 87 M 284, 288, 294, 286 P 1108.

In a prosecution for larceny of livestock in which appellant's convicted co-defendant was one of the state's witnesses, evidence corroborative of that of the accomplice held sufficient to satisfy the requirements of this section, relative to corroboration. State v. Ingersoll, 88 M 126, 292 P 250.

Evidence corroborative of that of an accomplice in a prosecution for grand larceny, to the effect that defendant near midnight carried the accomplice and one other in her car to a ranch where the latter two alighted, went to a barn, took four saddles, placed them in the back part of the car which defendant then drove to a place where the property was hidden—examined and held sufficient to meet the requirements of this section. State v. McComas, 89 M 187, 295 P 1011.

All the testimony adduced at a criminal trial, excluding that of the accomplice but including that of defendant, must be considered in determining the sufficiency of testimony said to corroborate that of the accomplice, except that where there are two or more accomplices no statement of one can supply corroboration for another. State v. Jones, 95 M 317, 323, 26 P 2d 341.

Id. The independent evidence required by this section for corroboration of that given by an accomplice need not be direct; it may be in whole or in part circumstantial.

Id. The law does not require that an accomplice be corroborated upon every fact testified to by him, or that the independent evidence mentioned in this section be sufficient to justify a conviction or connect defendant with the commission of the offense for which he is on trial; if it tends to connect him therewith or is such that culpability on defendant's part may be deduced therefrom, it is sufficient.

Id. Evidence in corroboration of that given by an accomplice which merely shows an opportunity on the part of defendant of having joined in the commission of an offense is insufficient, and where the facts and circumstances relied upon for corroboration are as consistent with innocence as with guilt, conviction on such evidence cannot stand.

Id. Evidence in a prosecution for robbery against one of three defendants, one of whom pleaded guilty, the second being convicted on a separate trial and upon whose testimony the state relied for conviction of appellant, reviewed, and held insufficient as corroborating that given by the accomplice, it showing no more than an opportunity on the part of defendant to have conspired to commit the crime and a suspicion that he did so, and having been as consistent with his innocence as with guilt.

Who is an Accomplice

A person through whom a litigant attempted to corruptly influence a member of a jury panel, and who, while declining to act as intermediary, stated that he would not say anything to anybody, but that he would have to tell the prospective trial juror, with whom he was connected in a business way, so as to put him on his guard, was not an accomplice whose testimony it was necessary to corroborate before the litigant could be found guilty of contempt. State ex rel. Webb v. District Court, 37 M 191, 199, 95 P 593.

To constitute a witness in a prosecution for larceny an accomplice, within the meaning of this section, he must have entertained a criminal intent common with that which moved the defendant to commit the crime with which he stood charged, or, not having been present at its commission, must have advised and encouraged it, and whether he did either was a question for the jury under appropriate instructions. State v. Slothower, 56 M 230, 232, 182 P 270.

The question whether a witness for the state is an accomplice of the defendant is, unless the fact is undisputed, for the jury under proper instructions, and where the evidence as to this fact or as to corroboration is doubtful or conflicting, the court should not invade its province by instructions. State v. Smith, 75 M 22, 27, 241 P 522.

To constitute a witness for the state an accomplice, he must have entertained a criminal intent common with that which moved the defendant to commit the crime with which he stands charged, or, not having been present at its commission, must have advised and encouraged it. State v. Keithley, 83 M 177, 181, 271 P 452.

Id. If a witness for the state whose testimony is relied upon by it to convict the defendant on trial for crime could himself have been informed against for the offense, either as a principal, strictly speaking, or as accessory before the fact and as such made a principal by section 10732, R. C. M. 1921, he is an accomplice whose uncorroborated testimony is insufficient to sustain conviction.

To constitute a witness an accomplice he must have been guilty of complicity in the crime charged, either by being present and aiding in and abetting it, or by having advised and encouraged its commission, though absent at the time; he must have knowingly, voluntarily and with common intent with the principal offender united in the commission of the crime, and the test whether or not he is an accomplice is: Would the facts justify his prosecution with the defendant on trial? State v. McComas et al., 85 M 428, 433, 278 P 993.

11989. Mistake in indictment or information. When it appears, at any time before verdict or judgment, that a mistake has been made in charging the proper offense, the defendant must not be discharged, if there appears good cause to detain him in custody; but the court must commit him, or require him to give bail for his appearance to answer to the offense; and may also require the witnesses to give bail for their appearance.

11990. Discharge of jury for lack of jurisdiction, etc. The court may direct the jury to be discharged where it appears that it has not jurisdiction of the offense, or that the facts charged do not constitute an offense punishable by law.

Operation and Effect

The court has express statutory authority to discharge the jury, in a criminal case, if the opening statement of the county attorney discloses affirmatively that the offense charged was committed outside of the county in which the prosecution is being had. State v. Hall, 55 M 182, 185, 175 P 267.

11991. Proceedings, if jury discharged for want of jurisdiction of offense committed out of the state. If the jury be discharged because the court has not jurisdiction of the offense charged, and it appear that it was committed out of the jurisdiction of this state, the defendant must be discharged.

11992. Proceedings in such case when offense committed in the state. If the offense was committed within the jurisdiction of another county of this state, the court may direct the defendant to be committed for such time as it deems reasonable, to await a warrant from the proper county for his arrest; or if the offense is a misdemeanor only, it may admit him to bail in an undertaking, with sufficient sureties, that he will, within such time as the court may appoint, render himself amenable to a warrant for his arrest from the proper county; and, if not sooner arrested thereon, will attend at the office of the sheriff of the county where the trial was had, at a certain time particularly specified in the undertaking to surrender himself upon the warrant, if issued, or that his bail will forfeit such sum as the court may fix, to be mentioned in the undertaking; and the clerk must forthwith transmit a certified copy of the indictment or information, and of all the papers filed in the action, to the county attorney of the proper county, the expense of which transmission is chargeable to that county.

11993. Same. If the defendant is not arrested on a warrant from the proper county, as provided in the next preceding section, he must be discharged from custody or his bail in the action is exonerated, or money deposited instead of bail must be refunded as the case may be, and the sureties in the undertaking, as mentioned in that section, must be discharged. If he is arrested, the same proceedings must be had thereon as upon the arrest of a defendant in another county on a warrant of arrest issued by a magistrate.

11994. Proceedings, if jury discharged because the facts do not constitute an offense. If the jury be discharged because the facts as charged do not constitute an offense punishable by law, the court must order that the defendant, if in custody, be discharged; or if admitted to bail, that his bail be exonerated; or if he has deposited money instead of bail, that the money be refunded to him, unless in its opinion a new indictment or information can be framed, upon which the defendant can be legally convicted, in which case it may direct the county attorney to file a new information, or (if the defendant has not been committed by a magistrate) direct that the case be submitted to the same or another grand jury; and the same proceedings must be had thereon as are prescribed in section 11894.

11995. When evidence on either side is closed, court may advise jury to acquit. If, at any time after the evidence on either side is closed, the court deems it insufficient to warrant a conviction, it may advise the jury to acquit the defendant; but the jury is not bound by the advice.

Appeal From

Subdivision 5 of section 12108, R. C. M. 1921, provides that the state may appeal in a criminal case inter alia, from an order directing the jury to find for the defendant. At the close of the testimony in such a case the court ordered defendant discharged on the ground of failure of proof, the state appealing from the order. Held, under the rule of strict construction, that the order may not be held appealable as one "in effect" directing the jury to find for defendant and, such an order not being enumerated in section 12108, R. C. M. 1921, as one from which the state may appeal, the appeal will on defendant's motion be dismissed. State v. Peck, 83 M 327, 331, 271 P 707.

Operation and Effect

If a trial judge is of the opinion that the defendant, if convicted, should be granted a new trial because of the insufficiency of the evidence, it is his duty to advise the jury to return a verdict of not guilty. State v. Fisher, 23 M 540, 555, 59 P 919.

This section is applicable to those cases only in which the trial court deems the evidence, although tending to prove every element necessary to constitute the crime charged, insufficient in weight to warrant a conviction. State v. Mahoney, 24 M 281, 286, 61 P 647.

In a criminal prosecution the trial court may not direct a verdict in favor of defendant, it, under this section, being authorized to do no more, when it deems the evidence insufficient to warrant conviction, than to advise the jury to acquit. State v. Collins, 88 M 514, 523, 294 P 957.

11996. View of place of offense or property. When in the opinion of the court it is proper that the jury should view the place in which the offense is charged to have been committed, or in which any other material fact occurred, or in cases involving the brand or mark or identity of live-stock, or other personal property, it may order the jury to be conducted in a body in the custody of the sheriff and in the presence of the defendant and his counsel to the place which must be shown to them by a person appointed by the court for that purpose; and in cases involving the brand or mark on, and identity of livestock or other personal property, the jury must be conducted in a body in the custody of the sheriff and in the presence of the defendant and his attorney to a convenient place where the livestock or personal property in question can be shown to them by a person appointed by the court that they may personally inspect the same; and the sheriff must be sworn to suffer no person to speak to or communicate with the jury, nor to do so himself on any subject connected with the trial, and return them into the court without unnecessary delay or at a specified time, as the court may direct.

Defendant May Waive Right to be Present

Since the only purpose of a view by the jury of the place where a homicide was committed is to enable the jurors better to understand the evidence heard by them at the trial and testimony may not there be taken for any purpose, the defendant may waive his right to be present at the viewing, and where he did not make a request for permission to be present at the view of an automobile in and near which the shooting occurred, he will be held to have waived his right in that behalf. State v. Cates, 97 M 173, 191, 33 P 2d 578.

Operation and Effect

The matter of permitting the jury to review cattle charged to have been stolen by defendant and recaptured was one within the discretion of the trial court, and in the absence of a showing of abuse of its discretion in that behalf error may not be said to have been committed in permitting the viewing. State v. Arnold, 84 M 348, 362, 275 P 757.

Waiver of Alleged Error in Permitting View

By failing to object to an order of the trial court, made in its discretion and at the close of the testimony in a prosecution for murder, permitting the jury to view an automobile in which the shooting occurred, defendant waived his right to secure a review of the propriety of the order urged on the ground that no proper foundation had been laid for the view in that it was not shown that the car was in the same condition as at the time of the killing. State v. Cates, 97 M 173, 191, 33 P 2d 578.

11997. Knowledge of juror to be declared in court, and he to be sworn as a witness. If a juror has any personal knowledge respecting a fact in controversy in a cause, he must declare the same in open court during the trial. If, during the retirement of jury, a juror declare a fact which could be evidence in the cause, as of his own knowledge, the jury must return into court. In either of these cases, the juror making the statement must be sworn as a witness, and examined in the presence of the parties.

11998. Jurors, separation of, during trial. The jurors sworn to try an action may, at any time before the submission of the cause to the jury, in the discretion of the court, be permitted to separate or be kept in charge of a proper officer. The officer must be sworn to keep the jurors together until the next meeting of the court, to suffer no person to speak to them or communicate with them, nor to do so himself, on any subject connected with the trial, and to return them into court at the next meeting thereof.

11999. Jury at each adjournment, must be admonished, etc. The jury must also, at each adjournment of the court, whether permitted to separate or kept in charge of officers, be admonished by the court that it is their duty not to converse among themselves, or with any one else, on any subject connected with the trial, or to form or express any opinion thereon until the cause is finally submitted to them.

History: En. Sec. 193, p. 246, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 314, p. 238, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 314, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 315, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 2100, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9301, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 11999, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1122.

Operation and Effect

The court is not required, under this section, to admonish the jury before it has been completed; as, where a recess has been taken before the completion of the jury; the body of men intended for a jury is not such, under section 8885, until it has been sworn to try and determine by verdict a question of fact. State v. Hall, 55 M 182, 186, 175 P 267.

Id. The record on appeal in a criminal cause which disclosed that when an adjournment was taken, "the jury was admonished by the court and placed in charge of the sheriff," etc., was sufficient to disclose compliance with this section, imported verity, and could not be impeached by affidavit.

Id. Where a jury was completed on the afternoon of the 6th of the month, and an adjournment was then taken until the 7th, and at noon on the 7th a recess was taken until 1:30 p. m. of that day, a new trial will not be granted because of the failure of the court to give to the jury the full statutory admonition, where the jury was properly admonished, as required by this section, at each adjournment taken after the noon recess on the 7th.

12000. Jurors becoming unable to perform duties. If, before the conclusion of the trial, a juror becomes sick, so as to be unable to perform his duty, the court may order him to be discharged. In that case, or if the juror should die, if any alternate jurors have been selected, one of them shall be drawn by the clerk to take the place of that juror. If, after all alternate jurors have been made regular jurors, a juror becomes so sick as to be unable to perform his duties and has been discharged by the court, or if a juror should die, a new juror may be sworn and the trial begin anew, or the jury may be discharged and a new jury then or afterwards impaneled. If the judge become sick, he may discharge the jury.

12002. Conviction or acquittal. When the defendant has been convicted or acquitted upon an indictment or information for an offense, consisting of different degrees, the conviction or acquittal is a bar to another indictment or information for the offense charged in the former, or for any lower degree of that offense, or for an offense necessarily included therein.

12004. In all other cases court to decide questions of law. On a trial for any other offense than libel, questions of law are to be decided by the court, questions of fact by the jury; although the jury have the power to find a general verdict, which includes questions of law as well as of fact, they are bound, nevertheless, to receive as law what is laid down as such by the court.

Operation and Effect

The jury have the power to disregard the law as declared and acquit defendant, however convincing the evidence may be, and the court has no power to punish them for such conduct. State v. Koch, 33 M 490, 497, 85 P 272.

12005. Jury may decide in court, or retire in custody of officer. After hearing the charge, the jury may either decide in court, or may retire for deliberation. If they do not agree without retiring, an officer must be sworn to keep them together in some private and convenient place, and not to permit any person to speak to or communicate with them, nor to do so himself, unless by order of the court, or to ask them whether they have agreed upon a verdict, and to return them into court when they have so agreed, or when ordered by the court.

12006. Defendant appearing for trial may be committed. When a defendant who has given bail appears for trial, the court may, in its discretion, at any time after his appearance for trial, order him to be committed to the custody of the proper officer of the county, to abide the judgment or further order of the court, and he must be committed and held in custody accordingly.

12007. If county attorney fails to attend, court may appoint. If the county attorney fails to attend at the trial, the court must appoint some attorney-at-law to perform the duties of the county attorney before the grand jury or otherwise.

Operation and Effect

An attorney appointed under this section to perform the duties of a county attorney in a proceeding in which the latter was sought to be removed upon the accusation of a taxpayer charging neglect of duty, may not demand or receive compensation for his services out of the county treasury, the statute not making any provision therefor, and the county not being liable as upon an implied contract to pay what the services are reasonably worth. State ex rel. McGrade v. District Court, 52 M 371, 374, 375, 157 P 1157.

Id. The district court is vested with the power of appointment of some attorney in any criminal case when the emergency contemplated by this section arises, and of removal, where a disqualification of the attorney appointed appears, and while the court will usually choose some one from among the local attorneys, it is not required to do so.

12008. Trials for larceny. Upon a trial for larceny of money, bank notes, certificates of stock, or valuable securities, the allegation of the indictment or information, so far as regards the description of the property, is sustained if the offender be proved to have embezzled or stolen any money, bank notes, certificates of stock, or valuable securities, although the particular species of coin or other money, or the number, denomination, or kind of bank notes, certificates of stock, or valuable security be not proved; and upon a trial for larceny, if the offender be proved to have stolen any piece of coin or other money, any bank note, certificate of stock, or valuable security, although such piece of coin or other money, or such bank note, certificate of stock, or valuable security, may have been delivered to him in order that some part of the value thereof should be returned to the party delivering the same, and such part shall have been returned accordingly.

Operation and Effect

Larceny is included in the crime of robbery, and in a prosecution for robbery the allegation of the information describing the property is sustained if it be proved that defendant has stolen any money or bank notes. State v. Rodgers, 21 M 143, 53 P 97.

CHAPTER 81

CONDUCT OF JURY AFTER SUBMISSION OF CASE

- Section 12009. Room, etc., for jury after retirement.
 12010. Accommodations for jury when kept together.
 12011. What papers the jury may take with them.
 12012. After retirement, may return into court for information.
 12013. If juror, after retirement, becomes sick, etc.
 12014. Not to be discharged unless there is no probability that they can agree.
 12015. When discharged without verdict, cause to be again tried.
 12016. Court may adjourn during absence, but deemed open.

12009. Room, etc., for jury after retirement. A room must be provided by the county commissioners of each county for the use of the jury, upon their retirement for deliberation, with suitable furniture, fuel, lights, and stationery. If the county commissioners neglect, the court may order the sheriff to do so, and the expenses incurred by him in carrying the order into effect, when certified by the court, are a county charge.

12010. Accommodations for jury when kept together. When the jury are kept together, either during the progress of the trial or after retirement for deliberation, they must be provided by the sheriff, at the expense of the county, with suitable and sufficient food and lodging.

12011. What papers the jury may take with them. Upon retiring for deliberation, the jury may take with them all papers (excepting depositions) which have been received as evidence in the cause, or copies of such public records or private documents given in evidence as ought not, in the opinion of the court, to be taken from the person having them in possession. They may also take with them the written instructions and notes of the testimony or other proceedings on the trial, taken by themselves, or any of them, but none taken by any other person.

Operation and Effect

Where on motion for new trial it is found that counsel for defendant consented to the taking of certain exhibits to the jury-room previously admitted in evidence on a prosecution for murder, such consent constitutes a waiver of any objection to the sending of the exhibits to the jury during retirement. State v. Allen, 23 M 118, 57 P 725.

Section 11931, R. C. M. 1921, requires the personal presence of the defendant at the trial in felony cases. After the jury had retired to the jury-room for deliberation of their verdict they requested that certain exhibits consisting of a gun, a pair of shoes and other articles found in defendant's room, be sent to them. While defendant was not present in the courtroom, his counsel gave his consent. Held, that the proceeding did not constitute a part of the trial and therefore defendant's presence was not required, and that defendant's counsel having given his consent, the court did not abuse its discretion in complying with the jury's request, even though the exhibits were not of the nature of those authorized by this section to be taken to the jury-room. State v. Olson, 87 M 389, 395, 287 P 938.

Where exhibits consisting of photographs of the automobile in which some of the shots resulting in the killing of deceased had been fired and of the body of deceased, a pistol taken from defendant after the shooting, revolver clips, etc., all of which had been admitted in evidence without objection by defendant, were taken to the jury-room, at the close of the trial, apparently without the affirmative consent of the defendant and without an order of the court permitting it to be done, but there was no showing that by the procedure the jury were given any other information than that obtained at the trial, it may not be presumed that the procedure resulted to the prejudice of defendant. State v. Cates, 97 M 173, 197, 33 P 2d 578.

Held, that it was error for the trial court to send to the jury-room as an exhibit an alleged confession headed "Affidavit," which to all intents and purposes was a deposition, in view of this section which expressly prohibits the jury from taking depositions to the jury-room for consideration during its deliberations. State v. Crighton, 97 M 387, 403, 404, 34 P 2d 511.

12012. After retirement, may return into court for information. After the jury have retired for deliberation, if there be any disagreement between them as to the testimony, or if they desire to be informed on any point of law arising in the cause, they must require the officer to conduct them into court. Upon being brought into court, the information required must be given in the presence of the county attorney and the defendant and his counsel.

Operation and Effect

The information referred to in this section is deemed to be oral if it is not in writing at the time of its delivery and read to the jury as written. State v. Fisher, 23 M 540, 553, 59 P 919.

Where in a prosecution for rape the jury, after retiring to the jury-room, were returned into court for information relative to a certificate of birth of the prosecutrix which had been excluded from the evidence, and an affidavit made by her to the effect that defendant had not committed any offense against her, which was admitted, and the court orally advised them that the certificate had been excluded and that as to the affidavit they would have to determine for themselves, its action in not going further and instructing them orally as to what weight should be given the affidavit was proper, since under section 11969, R. C. M. 1921, instructions, in the absence of a waiver by the parties, must be delivered in writing. State v. Duncan, 82 M 170, 177 et seq., 266 P 400.

After retiring to the jury-room to deliberate of their verdict in a criminal cause, the jury returned, asking the court whether two instructions given were conflicting. The court, in the absence of defendant though in the presence of his attorney, orally instructed the jury to disregard one of them and withdrew it. Held, that withdrawing the instruction and directing the jury to disregard it was instructing the jury orally, constituting reversible error, and that doing so in the absence of the defendant from the courtroom was contrary to the provisions of this section. State v. Jackson, 88 M 420, 434, 293 P 309.

12013. If juror, after retirement, becomes sick, etc. If, after the retirement of the jury, one of them be taken so sick as to prevent the continuance of his duty, or any other accident or cause occur to prevent their being kept for deliberation, the jury may be discharged.

12014. Not to be discharged unless there is no probability that they can agree. Except as provided in the last section, the jury cannot be discharged after the cause is submitted to them until they have agreed upon their verdict, and rendered it in open court, unless by consent of both parties, entered upon the minutes, or unless at the expiration of such time as the court may deem proper, it satisfactorily appears that there is reasonable probability that the jury cannot agree.

Operation and Effect

In a prosecution for murder, where the jury was discharged at the end of a mistrial, because there was "a reasonable probability that the jury cannot agree," an entry in the minutes in those words was in accordance with this section and sufficient. State v. Keerl, 33 M 501, 513, 85 P 862.

12015. When discharged without verdict, cause to be again tried. In all cases where a jury is discharged or prevented from giving a verdict by reason of an accident or other cause, except where the defendant is discharged during the progress of the trial, or after the cause is submitted to them, the cause may be again tried.

Operation and Effect

It appears conclusively from this section that the defendant may not be tried again if he has been discharged during the progress of the trial, or after the case has been submitted to the jury, although the jury may have been discharged or prevented from giving a verdict by reason of an accident or other cause. Such a discharge of the prisoner amounts to an acquittal, and brings him within the provision of section 11612, although there has not been any judgment of acquittal as mentioned in section 11907. State v. Keerl, 33 M 501, 515, 85 P 862.

Id. It seems that where the defendant in a criminal prosecution has been arraigned, and the trial has been begun upon a valid indictment or information, and he is discharged by a competent court before verdict, an acquittal results, and the plea of once in jeopardy will lie.

Whenever jeopardy has occurred for the same offense, and has, without necessity or the procurement of the accused, ended by a discharge of the jury before verdict, the plea of once in jeopardy is available. State v. Gaimos, 53 M 118, 122, 162 P 596.

12016. Court may adjourn during absence, but deemed open. While the jury are absent the court may adjourn from time to time, as to other business, but it must nevertheless be open for every purpose connected with the cause submitted to the jury, until a verdict is returned or the jury discharged.

CHAPTER 82

THE VERDICT

- Section 12017. Return of jury.
 12018. Appearance of defendant.
 12019. Manner of taking verdict.
 12020. General verdict.
 12021. Insufficient verdict.
 12022. Jury to find degree of crime.
 12023. Jury may find upon charge of previous conviction.
 12024. Jury may convict of lesser offense, or of attempt.
 12025. Verdict as to some defendants, new trial as to others.
 12026. To ascertain value of property.
 12027. Jury may assess punishment.
 12028. Court may assess punishment.
 12029. Same.
 12030. Same.
 12031. Court may reduce verdict.
 12032. Polling jury.
 12033. Juror in contempt.
 12034. Defendant, when to be discharged.
 12035. Proceedings upon conviction.
 12036. Proceedings on acquittal on ground of insanity.

12017. Return of jury. When the jury have agreed upon their verdict, they must be conducted into court by the officer having them in charge. Their names must then be called, and if all do not appear, the rest must be discharged without giving a verdict. In that case the action may be again tried at the same or another term or session.

12018. Appearance of defendant. If charged with a felony, the defendant must, before the verdict is received, appear in person. If for a misdemeanor, the verdict may be rendered in his absence.

Operation and Effect

It must affirmatively appear that one charged with a felony was present when the verdict was received; but this may be shown by every fair intendment of the record. State v. De Lea, 36 M 531, 537, 93 P 814.

Clerk's minutes, in a prosecution for felony, construed on appeal to show that the defendant was present in court when the verdict was returned, as required by this section. State v. Hall, 55 M 182, 187, 175 P 267.

Under the constitutional and statutory provisions applicable a defendant charged with crime must be present throughout the entire trial, including the rendition of the verdict, and the fact of his presence must be made to appear from the record. State v. Reed, 65 M 51, 55, 210 P 756.

12019. Manner of taking verdict. When the jury agree upon a verdict, they must be brought into court and their names called by the clerk, and if all be present, their foreman must deliver their verdict to the court, who may, with their consent, in their presence, correct the same as to matters of form. The court must deliver the verdict to the clerk, who must file the same, and then read the same to the jury, and ask them if the verdict as recorded is their verdict; if all of the jury in the case of a felony, or two-thirds of their number in the case of a misdemeanor, assent thereto, they must be discharged.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 195, p. 247, Ban-nack Stat.; amd. Sec. 333, p. 240, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 333, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 334, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 2142, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9321, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12019, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Secs. 1149 and 1164.

Operation and Effect

The purpose of the provision of this section, requiring the names of the jurors to be called when their verdict is delivered, is to insure their presence before the verdict is delivered. State v. De Lea, 36 M 531, 534, 93 P 814.

Id. While the fact that the defendant in a criminal cause was present when the verdict was received must affirmatively appear, minutes which show his presence during the trial up to the time the jury retired, and then recite that "defendant thereupon waived the polling of the jury," and "defendant thereupon waives time for sentence and elects to be sentenced at this time," sufficiently meet this requirement. Where, on the poll of the jury one juror answered that the verdict of guilty of burglary was his verdict provided that the sentence was suspended, but thereafter, upon inquiry by the court, unqualifiedly answered that it was his verdict, a motion for dismissal of the information on the ground that the verdict had not been rendered by a full panel was properly denied. State v. Asher, 63 M 302, 306, 206 P 1091.

12020. General verdict. A verdict upon a plea of not guilty is either "guilty" or "not guilty," which imports a conviction or acquittal of the offense charged in the indictment or information. Upon a plea of a former conviction or acquittal of the same offense, it is either "for the state" or "for the defendant." When the defendant is acquitted on the ground that he was insane at the time of the commission of the act charged, the verdict must be "not guilty by reason of insanity." When the defendant is acquitted on the ground of variance between the indictment or information and the proof, the verdict must be "not guilty by reason of variance between indictment or information and proof."

Operation and Effect

Where defendant, charged with assault in the first degree, relied wholly upon the defense of insanity, the court's instruction that the jury might find defendant guilty of assault in the first, second, or third degree, or not guilty was inaccurate; the jury should have been told that, if they found him not guilty because insane, their verdict should be "not guilty by reason of insanity." State v. Crowe, 39 M 174, 184, 102 P 579.

A verdict is not subject to the technical rules which govern pleadings. The object sought in construing a verdict is to ascertain the intention of the jury, and to that end reference may be made to the pleadings, the evidence and the instructions of the court. (Consolidated Gold & Sapphire Min. Co. v. Struthers, 41 M 565, 111 P 152; Tripp v. Silver Dyke Min. Co., 70 M 120, 224 P 272; 16 C. J. 1113, sec. 2606.) In 16 C. J. 1101, it is said: "But a strict adherence to the statutory form of verdict usually is not required; and although the verdict is informal or contains inaccuracies in the language used, if the intention of the jury to return a verdict of guilty or not guilty of the offense charged may be understood readily, it is sufficient." State v. Polieh, 70 M 523, 527, 226 P 519.

12021. Insufficient verdict. If the verdict is insufficient, the jury must again retire.

History: En. Sec. 2144, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9323, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12021, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Where a jury in a criminal case brings in a verdict of guilty, and, in the attempted exercise of its right to fix the punishment, has set out in its verdict the maximum of years the defendant is to serve in prison, but has neglected to set out the minimum, the court should, on motion therefor, send it out again to fill in the omission. In re Gomez, 52 M 189, 190, 156 P 1078.

A party cannot be charged with one crime and be convicted of another independent offense; thus, a verdict of guilty of malicious destruction of property is insufficient under a charge of the malicious burning of property; the offense found does not include the offense charged; in such a case it is the right and duty of the trial court to require the jury to return some form of verdict authorized by law, or to report a disagreement. State v. Sieff, 54 M 165, 168, 168 P 524.

12022. Jury to find degree of crime. Whenever a crime is distinguished into degrees, the jury, if they convict the defendant, must find the degree of the crime of which he is guilty.

History: En. Sec. 196, p. 247, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 341, p. 241, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 341, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 342, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 2145, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9324, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12022, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1157.

Operation and Effect

Where there is evidence tending to show that defendant is guilty of murder in the first degree, murder in the second degree, and manslaughter, it is the duty of the court to instruct that a verdict for manslaughter may be returned, manslaughter not being a degree of murder. State v. Shadwell, 26 M 52, 59, 66 P 508.

There is but one crime of murder, and its division into degrees is simply for the purpose of adjusting the punishment with reference to the presence or absence of circumstances of aggravation. State v. Hliboka, 31 M 455, 458, 78 P 965.

In charging burglary, it is not necessary to allege in the information the time of the entry, but the jury, if they convict, must find the degree in accordance with this section. State v. Copenhagen, 35 M 342, 344, 89 P 61; State v. Mish, 36 M 168, 175, 92 P 459.

Where a specific crime is divided into degrees, it is sufficient to charge the commission of the substantive offense; it is then made the duty of the jury to determine from the evidence the particular degree of the crime of which the accused is guilty, if guilt is shown. State v. Wiley, 53 M 383, 386, 164 P 84.

There is but one crime of murder, its division into degrees and the requirement of this section that the jury must determine the degree of murder, being only for the purpose of adjusting the punishment with reference to the presence or absence of circumstances of aggravation. State v. Gunn, 89 M 453, 465, 300 P 212.

References

State v. LeDue, 89 M 545, 562, 300 P 919.

12023. Jury may find upon charge of previous conviction. Whenever the fact of a previous conviction of another offense is charged in an indictment or information, the jury, if they find a verdict of guilty of the offense with which he is charged, must also, unless the answer of the defendant admits the charge, find whether or not he has suffered such previous conviction. The verdict of the jury upon a charge of previous conviction may be: "We find the charge of previous conviction true," or, "We find the charge of previous conviction not true," as they find that the defendant has or has not suffered such conviction.

Operation and Effect

A judgment that defendant "be imprisoned in the state prison for the term of ten years, five years upon the conviction for assault in the second degree, and five years for the prior conviction of a felony as by the statute made and provided," is not void as to the five years for former conviction. State v. Connors, 27 M 227, 228, 70 P 715.

For a mere informality in the wording of a verdict finding the defendant guilty of robbery and also "guilty of prior convictions," instead of following the language of this section and saying, "We find the charge of previous conviction true," the judgment of conviction will not be reversed, since this provision is directory only, and the verdict in question substantially conformed to it. State v. Gordon, 35 M 458, 465, 90 P 173; State v. Paisley, 36 M 237, 248, 92 P 566.

In an information charging, among other things, a prior conviction of an offense in another state which, in this state, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, it is unnecessary to allege the facts constituting the crime in the foreign state, and it is immaterial whether the offense for which defendant is alleged to have been previously convicted in the sister state is a felony there. State v. Paisley, 36 M 237, 247, 92 P 566.

While it is not necessary for the jury to find that a charge of prior conviction is true where the charge is admitted, if it does so find, defendant is not in a position to complain. State v. O'Neill, 76 M 526, 528, 248 P 215.

12024. Jury may convict of lesser offense, or of attempt. The jury may find the defendant guilty of any offense, the commission of which is necessarily included in that with which he is charged, or of an attempt to commit the offense.

Operation and Effect

Where the defendant was specifically charged with burglary in the night-time, constituting the first degree of the offense of burglary, the jury could not convict him of the crime in the second degree, as having been committed in the daytime, since the former does not include the latter, and inasmuch as the defendant need only meet the accusation as made, and not another and a different one, and the prosecution is held to proof of the charge as set out in the information. State v. Copenhaver, 35 M 342, 345, 89 P 61.

An information charging murder, when stripped of the terms conveying the idea of deliberation, premeditation, and malice, sufficiently charges manslaughter, and the accused may be found guilty of the lesser offense. State v. Crean, 43 M 47, 53, 114 P 603.

Id. Murder in the first degree includes manslaughter.

12025. Verdict as to some defendants, new trial as to others. On an indictment or information against several, if the jury cannot agree upon a verdict as to all, they may render a verdict as to those in regard to whom they do agree, on which a judgment must be entered accordingly, and the case as to the others may be tried by another jury.

12026. To ascertain value of property. When the indictment or information charges an offense against the property of another, by robbery, larceny, burglary, fraud, or the like, the jury, on conviction, must ascertain and declare in their verdict the value of the property taken, embezzled, or received, and the amount restored, if any, and the value thereof; but their failure to do so does not affect the validity of their verdict.

History: En. Sec. 197, p. 247, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 342, p. 241, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 342, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 343, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 2149, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9328, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12026, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Held, in view of this section providing that in a prosecution for an offense against the property of another, the jury must ascertain and declare in their verdict not only the value of the property taken but also the amount restored, that refusal to permit defendant to introduce evidence to show the amount restored to the person from whom he obtained money by false pretenses was prejudicial error. State v. Mason, 62 M 180, 190, 204 P 358.

Where the fact that all of the articles taken by one charged with burglary were found and restored to the owner was before the jury, failure of the verdict to declare the value of the property taken and the amount restored, if any, and the value thereof, as required by this section, which closes with the words that "the jury's failure to do so does not affect the validity of their verdict," was not a fatal defect, if the provisions of the section be to guide the jury in fixing punishment. State v. Dixon, 80 M 181, 207, 208, 260 P 138.

12027. Jury may assess punishment. In all cases of a verdict of conviction for any offense, when by law there is any alternative or discretion in regard to the kind or extent of punishment to be inflicted, the jury may assess and declare the punishment in their verdict; and the court must render a judgment according to such verdict, except as hereinafter provided.

History: En. Sec. 198, p. 247, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 343, p. 241, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 343, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 344, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2150, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9329, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12027, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

One on trial for crime has the right to have the jury assess the punishment upon a correct statement of the law as to the penalty prescribed for the offense, and therefore, in view of this section, providing that when there is any alternative or discretion in regard to the kind or extent of the punishment to be inflicted, the jury may assess the punishment in their verdict, an instruction that the penalty for unlawfully possessing and transporting intoxicating liquor was a fine of not more than $500, or imprisonment for not more than six months, or both such fine and imprisonment, whereas under section 11075, R. C. M. 1921, for the first offense a fine of not more than $500 could be imposed, was prejudicially erroneous. State v. Miller, 69 M 1, 6, 220 P 97.

Under Chapter 202, Laws of 1921, the jury may fix the punishment by their verdict by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or "by imprisonment for not more than three years, or by both such fine and imprisonment." The court instructed the jury that in case they found defendant guilty they must assess a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $3,000 and imprisonment for not less than one nor more than five years. Held, prejudicially erroneous. State v. Mark, 69 M 18, 27, 220 P 94.

But there is a stronger reason for upholding the rulings of the trial court. Under the provisions of this section, the jury in this case was authorized to fix the punishment within the limits prescribed by law, and, if the privilege were exercised, then section 12075, R. C. M. 1921, required the jury to designate in the verdict a minimum and a maximum punishment. In order to fix the punishment for the aggravated offense, it was indispensable that the jury know: (a) That prior convictions were charged and the nature of the offenses referred to in the charge; (b) that the charge was established by evidence or the admission of the defendant; and (c) what punishment was prescribed by law for the aggravated offense. To withhold from the jury all information concerning the charge of prior convictions would deny to the jury the right to fix the punishment and would, in effect, annul the provisions of this section. State v. O'Neill, 76 M 526, 533, 248 P 215.

12028. Court may assess punishment. When a jury find a verdict of guilty, and fail to agree on the punishment to be inflicted, or do not declare such punishment by their verdict, or assess a punishment not authorized by law, and in all cases of judgment by confession, the court must assess and declare the punishment, and render judgment accordingly.

History: En. Sec. 199, p. 247, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 344, p. 241, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 344, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 345, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2151, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9330, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12028, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

This section is applicable to those cases only, excepting judgments rendered upon pleas of guilty, wherein the jury have made every finding necessary to enable them to fix the punishment, but cannot agree upon the extent of it within the limitations prescribed by the statutes. In such cases, if they fail or neglect to fix it, the court may declare it, but not otherwise. State v. Mish, 36 M 168, 177, 92 P 459.

An error made by the trial court in the imposition of sentence for crime may be corrected by it. In re Lewis, 51 M 539, 154 P 713.

The statute empowering the trial judge to assess the punishment, when the jury has failed to agree thereon, though convicting the accused party, applies also when the attempt by the jury to fix the punishment has been unsuccessful through its omitting the minimum, after stating the maximum, number of years it would have the party imprisoned. In re Gomez, 52 M 189, 191, 156 P 1078.

The jury returned the following verdict: "We, the jury in the above-entitled action, find the defendant, Louis L. Fowler, guilty of the crime of sedition in the manner and form as charged in the information and fix and assess his punishment at the discretion of the court." The contention is made that it is rendered so defective by the misspelling of the word "discretion" that judgment should not be rendered upon it. There can be no doubt what the jury intended, viz., to find the defendant guilty as charged, and to leave the punishment to be fixed by the court. This section authorizes this to be done. If it be conceded, however, that the latter part of the verdict is unintelligible, this may be omitted entirely, leaving a categorical finding of guilty of the crime as charged in the information. Under this section it was the duty of the court to eliminate this part of the verdict and to assess the punishment which in its discretion it thought proper, within the limits prescribed by the statute. (In re Collins, 51 M 215, 152 P 40; In re Gomez, 52 M 189, 156 P 1078.) State v. Fowler, 59 M 346, 355, 196 P 992.

12029. Same. If the jury assess a punishment, whether of imprisonment or fine, below the limit prescribed by law, for the offense of which the defendant is convicted, the court must pronounce sentence and render judgment according to the lowest limit prescribed by law in such case.

History: En. Sec. 200, p. 248, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 345, p. 241, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 345, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 346, 3d Div. Comp. Stat.

Complaint is made of the verdict and of the judgment entered thereon, because the verdict rendered on the first and third counts purported to fix the punishment for each "at thirty days," without specifying where the time should be served. No objection was made by the defendant to the verdict at the time of its rendition, and the court was not requested to send the jury out again, under proper instructions, to supply the omission, if there were any. Therefore, whether a verdict in this form is in itself sufficient need not be considered in view of this section and the holding of this court in In re Gomez, 52 M 189, 156 P 1078. State v. Marchindo, 65 M 431, 457, 211 P 1093.

12030. Same. If the jury assess a punishment, whether of imprisonment or fine, greater than the highest limit declared by law, for the offense of which they convict the defendant, the court must disregard the excess, and pronounce sentence, and render judgment according to the highest limit prescribed by law in the particular case.

12031. Court may reduce verdict. The court has power in all cases of conviction to reduce the extent or duration of the punishment assessed by a jury, if, in its opinion, the conviction is proper, and the punishment assessed is greater than, under the circumstances of the case, ought to be inflicted.

History: En. Sec. 202, p. 248, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 347, p. 241, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 347, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 348, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2154, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9333, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12031, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Held, on certiorari, that the power given the district court by this section, to reduce the extent of punishment fixed by the jury in a criminal prosecution, must be exercised prior to or at the time judgment is pronounced, and that therefore an order reducing a fine and jail sentence after the judgment had been in process of execution for a number of days was void as in excess of jurisdiction, and an encroachment upon the pardoning power reposed by the Constitution in the governor and the state pardoning board. State ex rel. Reid v. District Court, 68 M 309, 311, 218 P 558.

12032. Polling jury. When a verdict is rendered, the jury may be polled, at the request of either party, in which case they must be severally asked whether it is their verdict, and if any one answer in the negative, the jury must be sent out for further deliberation, and in case of misdemeanors if more than one-third so answer.

Operation and Effect

Where on the poll of the jury one juror answered that the verdict of guilty of burglary was his verdict provided the sentence was suspended, but thereafter, upon inquiry by the court, unqualifiedly answered that it was his verdict, a motion for dismissal of the information on the ground that the verdict had not been rendered by a full panel was properly denied. State v. Asher, 63 M 302, 306, 206 P 1091.

History: En. Sec. 335, p. 240, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 335, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 336, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 2156, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9335, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12033, R. C. M. 1921.

12034. Defendant, when to be discharged. If judgment of acquittal is given on a general verdict, and the defendant is not detained for any other legal cause, he must be discharged as soon as the judgment is given, except where the acquittal is because of a variance between the pleading and proof, which may be obviated by a new indictment or information, the court may order his detention, to the end that a new indictment or information may be preferred, in the same manner and with like effect as provided in section 11994.

12035. Proceedings upon conviction. If a verdict is rendered against the defendant, he must be remanded, if in custody, or if on bail, must be committed to the proper officer of the county to await the judgment of the court upon the verdict. When committed, his bail is exonerated, or if money is deposited instead of bail, it must be refunded to the defendant.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 337, p. 240, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 337, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 338, 3d Div. Comp.

12036. Proceedings on acquittal on ground of insanity. If the jury render a verdict of acquittal on the ground of insanity, the court may order a jury to be summoned from the jury list of the county, to inquire whether the defendant continues to be insane. The court may cause the same witnesses to be summoned who testified on the trial, and other witnesses, and direct the county attorney to conduct the proceedings, and counsel may appear for the defendant. The court may direct the sheriff to take the defendant and retain him in custody until the question of continuing insanity is determined. If the jury find the defendant insane, he shall be committed by the sheriff to the state insane asylum. If the jury find the defendant sane, he shall be discharged.

CHAPTER 83

BILLS OF EXCEPTIONS

Section 12037. In what cases.

12038. Exceptions to decision of court by either party.

12039. Exceptions to decision of court by the defendant.

12040. Exceptions, how settled, by supreme court.

12041. Exceptions in criminal trials—when not necessary.

12042. What bill of exceptions to contain.

12044. Settlement of bills of exceptions.

12045. Record on appeal in criminal cases.

12037. In what cases. On the trial of an indictment or information exceptions may be taken by the defendant to a decision of the court—

1. In disallowing a challenge to the panel of the jury, or to an individual juror for implied bias;

2. In admitting or rejecting testimony on the trial of a challenge to a juror for actual bias;

3. In admitting or rejecting testimony, or in deciding any question of law not a matter of discretion, or in charging or instructing the jury upon the law on the trial of the issue.

History: En. Sec. 2170, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9339, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12037, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1170.

Operation and Effect

An exception is allowed, under this section, to the action of the court in overruling, but not in sustaining, a challenge to an individual juror for implied bias. State v. Jones, 32 M 442, 450, 80 P 1095.

12038. Exceptions to decision of court by either party. The decision of a court or judge upon a matter of law is deemed excepted to by either party in the following cases:

1. In granting or refusing a motion to set aside an indictment or information.

2. In allowing or disallowing a demurrer to an indictment or information.

3. In granting or refusing a motion in arrest of judgment.

4. In granting or refusing a motion for a new trial.

5. In making, or refusing to make, an order after judgment affecting any substantial right of the parties.

12039. Exceptions to decision of court by the defendant. The decision of the court or judge upon a matter of law is deemed excepted to by the defendant in the following cases:

1. In refusing to grant a motion for a change of place of trial.
2. In refusing to postpone the trial on motion of the defendant.

12040. Exceptions, how settled, by supreme court. If the judge in any case refuse to allow an exception in accordance with the facts, the party desiring the bill settled may apply by petition to the supreme court to prove the same, the application may be made in the mode and manner, and under such regulations as the court may prescribe; and the bill, when proven, must be certified by the chief justice as correct, and filed with the clerk of the court in which the action was tried, and when so filed, it has the same force and effect as if settled by the judge who tried the cause. If the judge who presided at the trial ceases to hold office before the bill is tendered or settled, he may nevertheless settle such bill, or the party may, as provided in this section, apply to the supreme court to prove the same.

History: En. Sec. 2174, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9343, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12040, R. C. M. 1921.

12041. Exceptions in criminal trials—when not necessary. On trial of an indictment or information it shall not be necessary to ask for or note an exception to any of the rulings or decisions of the trial court or judge upon matters enumerated in sections 12037, 12038 and 12039 of this code, but nothing herein contained shall be deemed to dispense with the necessity for making objections nor to dispense with the making and settlement of bills of exceptions in the manner provided by law. This act shall not affect the procedure prescribed by section 11969 of this code, relating to the settlement of instructions, save that no exception need be noted to any instruction nor to any order of the court relating thereto.

12042. What bill of exceptions to contain. A bill of exceptions must contain so much of the evidence only as is necessary to present the question of law upon which the exceptions were taken; and the judge must, upon the settlement of the bill, whether agreed to by the parties or not, strike out all other matters contained therein.

12044. Settlement of bills of exceptions. No bill of exceptions need be prepared or settled while the motion for a new trial is pending, but the same shall be prepared and settled in the same manner and within the same time after the decision of the court on the motion for a new trial as is hereinafter provided for the preparation and settlement of bills of exception after judgment; except as above provided, whenever a party desires to have a bill of exceptions settled he must prepare a draft of a proposed bill and present the same, upon notice of at least two days to the adverse party, to the judge for settlement, within ten days after the order or ruling excepted to is made, or within ten days after judgment has been rendered against him, unless further time is granted by the judge of the district court or by a justice of the supreme court, or within that period the draft must, upon such notice of at least two days, be delivered to the clerk of the district court for the judge. When received by the clerk he shall deliver it, together with any amendments proposed or objections thereto, to the judge or transmit it to the judge with such amendments and objections, as soon as may be, and, when settled, the bill must be signed by the judge and filed as part of the record of the case.

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 34, L. 1903; re-en. Sec. 9346, Rev. C. 1907; amd. Sec. 15A, Ch. 225, L. 1921; re-en. Sec. 12044, R. C. M. 1921.

Notice

The giving of at least two days' notice to the adverse party of the draft of a proposed bill of exceptions is an indispensable prerequisite to the consideration of the bill by the supreme court, and the record must show affirmatively the fact of the giving of such notice. State v. Kremer, 34 M 6, 9, 85 P 736. See also State v. Morrison, 34 M 75, 78, 85 P 738; State v. Lee, 34 M 584, 586, 87 P 977; State v. Daw, 99 M 232, 43 P 2d 240.

Delivery of a copy of a proposed bill of exceptions to the county attorney does not meet the requirements of this section relative to notice of at least two days to the adverse party prior to delivery of such bill to the judge for settlement. State v. Kremer, 34 M 6, 10, 85 P 736.

Provisions Mandatory

The provisions of this section, relating to the settlement of bills of exceptions in criminal cases, are mandatory. State v. Kremer, 34 M 6, 9, 85 P 736.

Time for Presentation

The provision of this section relative to the time for presentation of a bill of exceptions in a criminal case for settlement, in the absence of extension granted by the trial or the supreme court, is mandatory and compliance therewith indispensable to jurisdiction to settle it; hence where a bill required to be presented within ten days after judgment, was not presented until about ten months and a half after entry of judgment, the court was without jurisdiction to make settlement, and the supreme court on appeal had none for purposes of review. State v. Vallie, 82 M 456, 458, 268 P 493.

What Must Be Included in Bill of Exceptions to Be Reviewed

The original and first amended informations, and demurrers to them which were sustained, and a motion to dismiss the prosecution, and order overruling it, were not a part of the appeal record, where they were not embodied in the bill of exceptions. State v. Stickney, 29 M 523, 526, 75 P 201.

Alleged error on the part of the district court in refusing to hear evidence, offered by defendant in a criminal prosecution upon his challenge to the jury panel, will not be reviewed on appeal unless presented by bill of exceptions. State v. Gordon, 35 M 458, 462, 90 P 173.

Id. An objection to the form in which a prior conviction is pleaded in an information can only be raised by demurrer, which in turn, in order to be reviewable on appeal, must be presented by a bill of exceptions.

12045. Record on appeal in criminal cases. The record on appeal in a criminal case shall consist of the judgment-roll as defined in section 12074 of this code, a copy of the notice of appeal and all bills of exceptions settled and filed in the case. Whenever a motion for a new trial has been made and overruled, the party appealing from the judgment shall, in lieu of a bill of exceptions, be permitted to use a transcript of the minutes of the court prepared and certified in the same manner provided by section 9402 of these codes, governing civil practice, or he may prepare and have settled a bill of exceptions in the manner provided by the preceding section.

History: En. Sec. 2, Ch. 34, L. 1903; re-en. Sec. 9347, Rev. C. 1907; amd. Sec. 16, Ch. 225, L. 1921; re-en. Sec. 12045, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

There is not any such thing recognized by the law of this state as a statement on motion for a new trial in a criminal case. State v. Kremer, 34 M 6, 8, 85 P 736.

Id. The only manner of reviewing an order granting or refusing a new trial in a criminal case is upon a bill of exceptions incorporating the matters upon which it is based.

Where the state appeals from an order sustaining a demurrer to an information, it must present the information, with the demurrer and the trial court's ruling thereon, in a bill of exceptions duly settled and allowed, else the supreme court is without jurisdiction to entertain the appeal. State v. Libby Yards, 58 M 444, 193 P 394.

On appeal by the state in a criminal cause from an order granting defendant a new trial, the affidavits used on the motion must, under this section, be incorporated in a bill of exceptions; if not so presented, the supreme court is without jurisdiction to review the order. State v. Carmichael, 62 M 159, 161, 204 P 362.

NEW TRIALS

Section 12046. New trial defined.

12047. Its effect.

12048. Grounds for granting new trial.

12049. Applications for, how made.

12050. Motions for new trial, how made—hearing.

12046. New trial defined. A new trial is a re-examination of the issue in the same court, before another jury, after a verdict has been given.

12047. Its effect. The granting of a new trial places the parties in the same position as if no trial had been had. All the testimony must be produced anew, and the former verdict cannot be used or referred to either in evidence or in argument, or be pleaded in bar of any conviction which might have been had under the indictment or information.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 352, p. 242, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 352, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 353, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 2191, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9349, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12047, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1180.

12048. Grounds for granting new trial. When a verdict has been rendered against the defendant, the court may, upon his application, grant a new trial in the following cases only:

1. When the trial has been had in his absence, whether he be in custody or on bail, if the indictment or information is for a felony.

2. When the jury has received out of court any evidence other than that resulting from a view of the premises, or any communication, document or paper referring to the case.

3. When the jury has separated without leave of the court, after retiring to deliberate upon their verdict, or been guilty of any misconduct by which a fair and due consideration of the case has been prevented.

4. When the verdict has been decided by lot, or by any means other than a fair expression of opinion on the part of all the jurors, which may be shown as provided in the code of civil procedure.

5. When the court has misdirected the jury in a matter of law, or has erred in the decision of any question of law arising during the course of the trial.

6. When the verdict is contrary to law or evidence, but if the evidence shows the defendant to be not guilty of the degree of the crime of which he was convicted, but guilty of a lesser degree thereof or of a lesser crime included therein, the court may modify the judgment accordingly without granting or ordering a new trial, and this power shall extend to any court to which the cause may be appealed.

7. When new evidence is discovered material to the defendant and which he could not, with reasonable diligence, have discovered and produced at the trial. When a motion for a new trial is made upon the ground of newly discovered evidence, the defendant must produce at the hearing, in support thereof, the affidavits of the witnesses by whom such evidence is expected to be given, and if time is required by the defendant to procure such affidavits, the court may postpone the hearing of the motion for such length of time as, under all the circumstances of the case, may seem reasonable.

Subd. 2

Operation and Effect

Under a statute providing that a new trial shall be granted "when the jury has received any evidence, papers, or documents, not authorized by the court," the word "papers" refers to such written instruments as might be competent testimony when inspected by the court, and found to be competent under the rules of evidence, and does not include newspapers; and the reception by the jury of newspapers containing comments on the case does not, in itself, vitiate the verdict. State v. Jackson, 9 M 508, 520, 24 P 213.

Exhibits introduced in evidence in a prosecution for murder which are sent to the jury during their retirement will not be considered as having been received out of court, where it is found on motion for new trial that counsel for defendant consented to their being taken to the jury room during their retirement. State v. Allen, 23 M 118, 57 P 725.

Subd. 3

Operation and Effect

Under a statute providing that a new trial shall be granted "when the jury has been separated without leave of court, or been guilty of any misconduct, tending to prevent a fair and due consideration of the case," the reception by the jury of newspapers, containing comments on the trial adverse to the defendant, is misconduct tending to show injury to the defendant. State v. Jackson, 9 M 508, 522, 24 P 213. See also State v. Pepo, 23 M 473, 479, 59 P 721.

The affidavits of two jurors, filed in aid of a motion for new trial by defendant in a prosecution for murder, in which both stated that they had misunderstood the instructions of the court, which clearly charged the jury that they could find the accused guilty of any grade of unlawful homicide or acquit him, in that from a reading of them they were under the impression that the jury was required to either find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree or acquit him, and that, being unwilling to acquit, they voted for murder in the first degree rather than declare him innocent, did not show such misconduct on the part of the jury as to entitle defendant to a new trial. State v. Beesskove, 34 M 41, 51, 85 P 376.

Subd. 4

Operation and Effect

The fact that a juror, when sworn, was biased and prejudiced against the defendant, which fact he concealed upon his voir dire examination, and which neither defendant nor his counsel discovered until after verdict, was ground for a new trial under this section. State v. Mott, 29 M 292, 295, 74 P 728.

Id. While it is imperative that the accused shall have a trial by an impartial jury, nevertheless, after verdict, error will not be presumed, and it is incumbent on the accused to make it appear affirmatively that he is entitled to a new trial by reason of having been deprived of this constitutional right; mere possibility, or even probability, that one of the jurors was incompetent, is not sufficient to overthrow the verdict.

The fact that jurors may impeach their own verdict when it has been decided by lot under this section, excludes all other exceptions to the general rule that jurors will not be heard to impeach their own verdict. State v. Beesskove, 34 M 41, 51, 85 P 376; State v. O'Brien, 35 M 482, 503, 90 P 514; State v. Lowry, 39 M 462, 471, 104 P 545; State v. Wakely, 43 M 427, 437, 117 P 95; State v. Lewis, 52 M 495, 504, 159 P 415.

Except in cases where it has been reached by means other than a fair expression of opinion by all the jurors, their verdict cannot be impeached by the affidavit of one or more of the individuals composing the jury. State v. Lewis, 52 M 495, 504, 159 P 415.

Subd. 6

Operation and Effect

The expression, "the verdict is contrary to the evidence," has been held to mean the same thing as the expression, "insufficiency of the evidence to justify the verdict." Flaherty v. Butte Electric Ry. Co., 42 M 89, 93, 111 P 348; State v. Schoenborn, 55 M 517, 520, 189 P 294.

A defendant in a criminal case who has been convicted is not required to show an entire absence of evidence of some fact necessary to make out a case, in order to secure a new trial; but if he can convince the district court that the evidence in its entirety is insufficient in weight to justify the verdict, he is entitled to a new trial. State v. Schoenborn, 55 M 517, 520, 189 P 294.

Id. The district court has authority to grant a motion for a new trial upon the ground that the verdict is contrary to the evidence without reference to the fact that a different judge may preside at the hearing of the motion, from the one who presided at the trial.

A motion for a new trial in a criminal case upon the ground that the verdict is contrary to the law and the evidence presents for the court's determination the question of the sufficiency of the evidence to sustain the verdict. State v. Hughes et al., 76 M 421, 424, 246 P 959.

Failure of defendant to object to instructions on first degree murder does not deprive him of the right to ask for a new trial on the ground that the evidence did not justify a verdict of murder in that degree, the expression in this section authorizing a new trial "when the verdict is contrary to the evidence" meaning the same thing as insufficiency of the evidence to justify the verdict, and the section not contemplating that defendant must first make objection to such instructions before he may rely upon the insufficiency of the evidence as a ground for a new trial. State v. Gunn, 85 M 553, 561, 281 P 757.

Subd. 7

Operation and Effect

A new trial will not be granted on the ground of newly discovered evidence when the persons from whom the evidence is expected decline to make affidavits that they can give it. State v. Gaimos, 53 M 118, 128, 162 P 596.

An affidavit of one of defendant's attorneys in support of a motion for new trial asked because of newly discovered evidence, to the effect that he could not with reasonable diligence have discovered the affidavits of five persons who claimed to have been present at the place where the alleged assault occurred and whose testimony would tend to contradict the state's witnesses or corroborate appellant's version of the affray "and presented same upon the trial," was insufficient to show abuse of the court's discretion in denying the motion. State v. Prlja, 57 M 461, 189 P 64.

An affidavit in support of a motion for a new trial following a conviction for attempted rape that the prosecuting witness, some five months before the trial, said to affiant that, if defendant didn't "fork over," she "would send him over the road for the rest of his life," was not "newly discovered evidence" within the meaning of this section, that expression meaning evidence discovered since the trial. State v. Prouty, 60 M 310, 315, 199 P 281.

Id. Failure of defendant to show by his own affidavit that alleged newly discovered evidence was not known to him at the time of the trial warrants refusal to grant a retrial, affidavits of others in that regard being, as a general rule, insufficient.

Though a motion for a new trial in a criminal cause on the ground of newly discovered evidence is not generally viewed with favor by the courts, it is authorized by the Codes, and, when the prescribed conditions are met, entitled to the same consideration as a motion upon any other statutory ground, and while a broad discretion is lodged in the trial court in disposing of it, its order denying it is subject to review. State v. Gangner, 73 M 187, 190, 235 P 703.

Alleged newly discovered evidence which is cumulative only does not warrant the granting of a new trial; nor may the court be put in error for refusing a retrial on that ground where movant made no attempt to show due diligence on his part to produce the newly discovered witness on the trial of his case. State v. Gies, 77 M 62, 64, 249 P 573.

Where the owner of an animal, with the theft of which defendant was charged, at the trial testified that it was his property at the time it was taken and remained so until after defendant's arrest when it was paid for by the latter, he being fully cross-examined as to the transaction, a motion for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence based upon the witness' affidavit to the effect that he was mistaken in so testifying, was properly refused, since a new trial will not be granted because of newly discovered evidence based on forgetfulness or unfamiliarity of defendant's counsel with facts within the knowledge of the witness, or to enable the witness, on a change of heart, to give testimony in excuse of defendant's conduct. State v. Hughes et al., 78 M 87, 89, 252 P 320.

Where no evidence of the fitness or unfitness of the parents of an accused delinquent minor to control or take care of him was heard by the court, a judgment that they were not unfit was unsupported by the evidence and refusal of a new trial on the ground of new evidence was error. State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman et al., 81 M 132, 139, 262 P 168.

Where defendant and his counsel accepted the statement of the county attorney that a witness whose name was indorsed on the information, then in the county jail, had refused to testify, whereas after the trial they ascertained that if he had been called he would have testified that he and another committed the offense for which defendant was convicted, without verifying the prosecutor's statement by an interview with the witness, they were lacking in due diligence in discovering and producing the alleged newly discovered evidence, preventing reversal of the order denying retrial as an abuse of discretion. State v. Broell, 87 M 284, 287, 286 P 1108.

Id. Applications for new trials on the ground of newly discovered evidence are not favored by the courts and will not be granted where the new evidence is merely cumulative; in passing upon the correctness of a new trial order the supreme court sits only as a reviewing tribunal, not as a court of original jurisdiction or one clothed with authority to try the motion de novo.

Where newly discovered evidence may demonstrate perjury in the state's witness upon whose evidence the verdict of guilty was founded and, but for which, conviction could not have been had, and may probably produce a different result, a new trial should be granted on that ground. State v. Hamilton, 87 M 353, 368, 287 P 933.

Id. Motions for new trials on the ground of newly discovered evidence in criminal cases are not favored, and, regardless of the facts set up in affidavits filed in support thereof, defendant is not entitled to a retrial unless it is shown that he could not, with reasonable diligence, have discovered and produced the new evidence at the trial.

Id. To constitute a showing of due diligence in discovering new evidence in a criminal case to warrant the granting of a new trial, movant is not required to allege in his supporting affidavits that he made inquiry of every person residing in the town in which the crime of which he was convicted was committed, some seventy-five miles from the county seat, by telephone or telegraph, as to whether they knew anything concerning the case.

Constitutionality

This statute is not unconstitutional as not granting to the accused in a criminal prosecution a "trial by an impartial jury." State v. Mott, 29 M 292, 300, 74 P 728.

Operation in General

Where a motion to set aside an information was made in the trial court, on the ground that it was not properly subscribed by the county attorney, and improperly refused, the error can be reviewed only on appeal from the judgment; it cannot be reviewed on an appeal from an order granting a new trial, not being one of the grounds for new trial enumerated in this section. State v. Schnepel, 23 M 523, 528, 59 P 927.

Id. The failure of the county attorney or the attorney prosecuting to properly subscribe the information is not ground for a new trial.

Upon appeal from an order granting or denying a motion for a new trial, the supreme court sits as a court of error and review, not as a court of original jurisdiction, or as an appellate court that is clothed with authority to try the motion de novo. State v. Schoenborn, 55 M 517, 520, 179 P 294.

Rulings upon the admission or rejection of testimony and upon giving or refusing instructions may be reviewed either upon appeal from the judgment or on appeal from an order refusing a new trial, but any other questions arising from this section may be reviewed only upon appeal from an order denying a new trial. State v. Brantingham, 66 M 1, 7, 8, 212 P 499.

Where a defendant convicted of crime bases his motion for a new trial upon a number of the statutory grounds therefor, he has an absolute right to have all the grounds specified passed upon by the trial court; if it fails to do so but grants a new trial upon a ground not sustained on appeal by the state, the order will be reversed with directions to pass upon the motion in its entirety. State v. Hughes et al., 76 M 421, 424, 246 P 959.

12049. Applications for, how made. The application for a new trial must be made upon written notice of motion, and, if based upon any of the grounds mentioned in the subdivisions 2, 3, 4, and 7, of the preceding section, such written notice of motion must be filed within thirty days after the discovery of the facts upon which the party relies in support of his motion; in all other cases notice of motion must be filed within ten days after the rendition of the verdict.

Operation and Effect

A supplemental motion for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence is timely and properly before the court if made while the original motion remains undetermined when the applicant shows by affidavit that it was filed within thirty days after discovery of the alleged new evidence. State v. Hughes et al., 78 M 87, 89, 252 P 320.

12050. Motions for new trial, how made—hearing. A motion for a new trial, if made for any of the causes mentioned in the first, second, third, fourth, or seventh subdivision of section 12048 of this code, must be made upon affidavits which must be filed at the same time as the notice of motion or within such further time, not exceeding thirty days thereafter, as may be allowed by the court or judge; in all other cases the motion must be made upon the minutes of the court. The official stenographic report of trials may be referred to as a part of the minutes of the court. The notice of motion must designate the grounds upon which the motion will be made. A motion for new trial must be heard upon the second day after notice is filed, or as soon as practicable thereafter, and in all cases the court or judge may, in his discretion, make an order staying further proceedings in the case until such motion is disposed of.

Operation and Effect

An alleged error in an instruction will not be reviewed on appeal where the only ground designated is that the verdict is contrary to law and evidence. State v. Gawith, 19 M 48, 47 P 207.

The notice of motion for a new trial in a criminal case need not state whether the motion will be based on affidavits or a bill of exceptions; and the statement therein of the grounds on which the motion will be made is notice of what will be the basis of the motion. State v. Landry, 29 M 218, 220, 74 P 418.

CHAPTER 85

ARREST OF JUDGMENT

- Section 12051. Motion in arrest of judgment.
 12052. Court may arrest judgment without motion.
 12053. Effect of arresting judgment.
 12054. Defendant, when to be held or discharged.

12051. Motion in arrest of judgment. A motion in arrest of judgment is an application on the part of the defendant that no judgment be rendered on a plea or verdict of guilty, or on a verdict against the defendant, on a plea of a former conviction or acquittal. It may be founded on any of the defects in the indictment or information mentioned in section 11898 of this code, unless the objection has been waived by a failure to demur, and must be made before or at the time the defendant is called for judgment.

Operation and Effect

The defendant in a criminal proceeding will be deemed to have waived any objection to the manner in which prior convictions had been pleaded in the information, where it does not appear from the record by bill of exceptions that any demurrer to the information had been interposed. State v. Gordon, 35 M 458, 463, 90 P 173.

A motion in arrest of judgment must be founded on some defect in the information, and extrinsic evidence cannot be received at a hearing of such motion. State v. Tully, 31 M 365, 371, 78 P 760. See State v. Van, 44 M 374, 383, 120 P 479; State v. Caterni, 54 M 456, 458, 171 P 284.

A motion in arrest lies only for certain defects appearing on the face of the indictment or information, not waived by failure to demur. State v. Caterni, 54 M 456, 458, 171 P 284.

Id. Resort to evidence extrinsic to the information to show that it does not accurately state the facts is not permissible on motion in arrest.

The motion in arrest of judgment challenges the jurisdiction of the state to enact, and of the court to enforce, the act under consideration. That question was raised, elaborated upon and decided against the contention here made in State v. Kahn, 56 M 108, 182 P 107; State v. Schaffer, 59 M 463, 467, 197 P 986.

12052. Court may arrest judgment without motion. The court may also, on its own view of any of these defects, arrest the judgment without motion.

12053. Effect of arresting judgment. The effect of allowing a motion in arrest of judgment is to place the defendant in the same situation in which he was before the indictment was found or information filed.

History: En. Sec. 240, p. 253, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 358, p. 243, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 358, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 359, 3d Div. Comp. Stat.

12054. Defendant, when to be held or discharged. If, from the evidence on the trial, there is reason to believe the defendant guilty, and a new indictment or information can be framed upon which he may be convicted, the court may order him to be recommitted to the officer of the proper county, or admitted to bail anew, to answer the new indictment or information. If the evidence shows him guilty of another offense, he must be committed or held thereon, and in neither case shall the verdict be a bar to another prosecution. But if no evidence appears sufficient to charge him with any offense, he must, if in custody, be discharged; or if admitted to bail, his bail must be exonerated; or if money has been deposited instead of bail, it must be refunded to the defendant; and the arrest of judgment shall operate as an acquittal of the charge upon which the indictment or information was founded.

THE JUDGMENT—SUSPENSION OF SENTENCE AND PROBATION

 12072. Discharge in other cases.
 12073. Judgment to pay fine constitutes a lien.

12055. Appointing time for judgment. After a plea or verdict of guilty, or after a verdict against the defendant on the plea of a former conviction or acquittal, if the judgment be not arrested or a new trial granted, the court must appoint a time for pronouncing judgment, which, in cases of felony, must be at least two days after the verdict, if the court intend to remain in session so long; but if not, then at as remote a time as can reasonably be allowed.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 360, p. 244, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 360, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 361, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 2210, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9357, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12055, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1191.

Operation and Effect

This section means that the defendant is entitled to two days after the verdict is returned before judgment is pronounced, provided the term of court lasts that long; but, if the term is not to continue for two days after the verdict is returned, then the time for pronouncing judgment shall be postponed to a date as remote as can reasonably be fixed within the then current term of court. State v. Lu Sing, 34 M 31, 40, 85 P 521.

Id. When two days did not intervene between the rendition of a verdict of guilty in a capital case, and the pronouncement of judgment, it will be presumed on appeal, in the absence of anything in the record to the contrary, that the court did not remain in session after the date on which the judgment was pronounced.

Method pursued by trial judge in passing sentence and rendering judgment in a prosecution for illegally manufacturing and illegally possessing intoxicating liquor where defendant was guilty upon both counts and waived the statutory time for pronouncing judgment and sentence, examined, held to have been in faultless adherence to the provisions of the Code sections and not open to the objection that no judgment was ever made or entered and all that was done was an entry by the clerk in the minute book that the court did certain things. State v. Sorenson, 75 M 30, 34, 241 P 616.

12056. Upon plea of guilty, court must determine degree. Upon a plea of guilty of a crime distinguished or divided into degrees, the court must, before passing sentence, determine the degree.

Operation and Effect

In the absence of testimony, it will be presumed on appeal that the trial court, in a burglary case, had evidence before it justifying a finding that, if guilty at all, the defendant was guilty of an attempt to commit burglary in the night-time, which constitutes the first degree of the offense, and that the punishment inflicted was proper. State v. Mish, 36 M 168, 175, 92 P 459.

12057. Presence of defendant. For the purpose of judgment, if the conviction is for felony, the defendant must be personally present; if for a misdemeanor, judgment may be pronounced in his absence.

History: En. Sec. 362, p. 244, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 362, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 363, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 2212, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9359, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12057, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1193.

12058. Defendant in custody, how brought for judgment. When the defendant is in custody, the court may direct the officer in whose custody he is to bring him before it for judgment, and the officer must do so.

If, upon trial of that question, the jury find that he is sane, judgment must be pronounced, but if they find him insane, he must be committed to the state insane asylum until he becomes sane; and when notice is given of that fact, as provided in section 12218, he must be brought before the court for judgment.

After a plea or verdict of guilty, where a discretion is conferred upon the court as to the extent of the punishment, the court, upon the oral suggestion of either party that there are circumstances which may be properly taken into view, either in aggravation or mitigation of the punishment, may, in its discretion, hear the same summarily, at a specified time, and upon such notice to the adverse party as it may direct.

Operation and Effect

A judgment in a case of misdemeanor, imposing a fine of $500, and providing that in default of payment the defendant be imprisoned "for the term of one day for each $2 of said fine," is sufficiently definite and certain to meet the requirements of this section. State ex rel. Poindexter v. District Court, 51 M 186, 149 P 958.

Id. This section held applicable to a case where a fine only is the penalty imposed.

The district court has the power, under this section, to impose a sentence of imprisonment in the county jail for a certain number of days, defendant in addition to pay a fine in a stated amount, and, in default of payment, to stand committed one day for every two dollars of the fine after expiration of the term of imprisonment, until the fine is paid. In re Londres, 54 M 418, 170 P 1045.

A judgment that defendant convicted on three counts of the information charging violations of the liquor law pay a fine of $200 and serve sixty days in the county jail on each count, and that if the fines be not paid, he serve them out at the rate of one day for each two dollars of the fines, held not uncertain or ambiguous, it meaning that he be imprisoned for a total of 180 days, and serve one day for each two dollars of the fines aggregating $600. In re Pyle, 72 M 494, 498, 234 P 254.

When judgment of fine and costs is entered against a defendant, and it is ordered that he be committed until the same are paid, if at any time thereafter the defendant prove to the court, or judge thereof, by his own affidavit or that of any other person, that he is unable to pay such fine and costs, or any part thereof, the court, or judge thereof, may order the sheriff to release him upon his having been confined in jail one day for every two dollars of such fine and costs, or any portion thereof remaining unpaid; but if the defendant do not prove to the satisfaction of the court, or judge thereof, that he is unable to pay such fine and costs, or any part thereof, he shall not be released from confinement, except as hereinafter provided, unless the sheriff has made the same upon execution out of his property.

Operation and Effect

Where the record discloses that a judgment has been rendered under section 12329, the justice of the peace is without authority to issue an execution provided for by this section even though it is applicable to some extent to practice in the justice courts. Petelin v. Kennedy, 29 M 466, 75 P 82.

12072. Discharge in other cases. Whenever any defendant is committed to jail for the failure to pay any fine and costs adjudged against him, and has failed to prove to the satisfaction of the court, or judge thereof, that he is unable to pay the same, or any part thereof, the court must order that he be discharged from custody when he has served one day for every two dollars of such fine and costs; but this does not discharge the judgment for fine and costs, which may, at any time thereafter within the time limited by law, be collected upon execution issued thereon.

When judgment upon a conviction is rendered the clerk must enter the same in the minutes, stating briefly the offense for which the conviction was had, and the fact of a prior conviction (if one), and must, within five days, annex together and file the following papers, which will constitute the judgment-roll:

1. The indictment or information, and a copy of the minutes of the plea or demurrer.
2. A copy of the minutes of the trial.
3. The charges given or refused, and the indorsements thereon.
4. A copy of the judgment.

Operation and Effect

Under subdivision 1 of this section and section 12044, the original and first amended information, and demurrers to them which were sustained, and a motion to dismiss the prosecution, and order overruling it, were not part of the appeal record, where they were not embodied in the bill of exceptions. State v. Stickney, 29 M 523, 526, 75 P 201.

The "record of the action" in a criminal case, as defined in this section, cannot be brought up on appeal in the body of a bill of exceptions. State v. Morrison, 34 M 75, 79, 85 P 738.

The merits of an appeal in a criminal case will not be considered where the papers constituting the record are included in a bill of exceptions and not certified as the record, nor identified in any way by the certificate of the clerk of the district court or the trial judge. State v. Farriss, 34 M 424, 425, 87 P 177.

Since there was no indeterminate sentence legislation at the time of this conviction, it was not necessary to state in the judgment the degree of burglary of which the defendant was convicted. State v. Hill, 46 M 24, 126 P 41.

The record on appeal in a criminal case must, among other things, contain the judgment-roll in which must be included a copy of the judgment. The state, on the theory that an objection of defendant to the introduction of evidence on the ground of the insufficiency of the information is in effect a demurrer to the information and an order sustaining a demurrer constitutes the judgment, attempted to appeal from such an order as from the judgment, but the record did not contain a copy of the order in the form of a minute entry, which in such a case constitutes the judgment. Held, that the supreme court was without jurisdiction to entertain the appeal. State v. Nilan et al., 75 M 397, 400, 243 P 1081.

Held, that while the trial court erred in permitting the state on a perjury trial to introduce the judgment-roll in the cause in which the alleged false testimony was given, containing papers not properly part thereof under this section, the procedure amounted to a mere irregularity which could not in any manner have prejudiced the defendant. State v. Jackson, 88 M 420, 429, 293 P 309.

12075-12077. Repealed—Chapter 115, laws of 1929.

12078. Court may suspend sentence, when. In all prosecutions for crimes or misdemeanors, except as hereinafter provided, where the defendant has pleaded or been found guilty, or where the court or magistrate has power to sentence such defendant to any penal or other institution in this state, and it appears that the defendant has never before been imprisoned for crime either in this state or elsewhere (but detention in an institution for juvenile delinquents shall not be considered imprisonment), and where it appears to the satisfaction of the court that the character of the defendant and circumstances of the case are such that he is not likely again to engage in an offensive course of conduct, and where it may appear that the public safety does not demand or require that the defendant shall suffer the penalty imposed by law, said court may suspend the execution of the sentence and place the defendant on probation in the manner hereinafter provided. Nothing in this act contained shall in any manner affect the laws providing the method of dealing with the juvenile delinquents.

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 21, L. 1913; re-en. Sec. 12078, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Under the terms of this section, in all prosecutions for crimes or misdemeanors, except as provided in the following section, the court may, under the conditions prescribed by the statute, suspend the execution of the sentence and place the defendant on probation. Assuming that the court had the power to suspend the execution of Held's sentence and to place him upon probation, that power, too, must have been exercised at the time the sentence was pronounced. When an order suspending sentence under this section is made, it is, in effect, a part of the judgment itself. It is the court's direction as to how the judgment shall be carried into effect. State ex rel. Reid v. District Court, 68 M 309, 310, 311, 218 P 558.

Under this section, the district court has authority to suspend sentence and place the defendant on probation whether found guilty of a crime or a misdemeanor. State ex rel. Foot v. District Court et al., 72 M 374, 377, 233 P 957.

Under Chapter 21, Laws of 1913 (this section et seq.), providing for suspension of sentences in criminal cases, the order of suspension must be made before the defendant is committed to the institution wherein he is to serve his sentence. State ex rel. Bottomly v. District Court, 73 M 541, 543 et seq., 237 P 525.

Id. The statute providing for the suspension of sentences in criminal actions is designed to afford first offenders an opportunity for reformation and should be liberally construed.

Id. Defendant was convicted of a violation of the liquor law and sentenced to serve sixty days in jail and pay a fine. He at once perfected an appeal, secured a certificate of probable cause and was admitted to bail. Five months thereafter his appeal was dismissed and the trial court on the day the certificate of dismissal was received suspended his sentence. Held, on application for writ of supervisory control, that defendant never having been committed, the court could properly, after entry of judgment, suspend the sentence at the time it did.

12079. Persons not entitled to probation. No person convicted of murder, arson, burglary of an inhabited dwelling house, incest, sodomy, rape without consent, assault with intent to rape or administering poison shall have the benefit of probation; provided, however, that in convictions of rape where the female is under the age of eighteen years, but over sixteen years of age, where previous unchaste conduct of the female is shown, the court may, in its discretion, suspend sentence as provided in section 12078.

History: En. Sec. 2, Ch. 21, L. 1913; re-en. Sec. 12079, R. C. M. 1921; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 53, L. 1935.

12080. Effect of suspended sentence. Whenever a sentence to any penal or other institution in this state has been imposed, but the execution thereof has been suspended and the defendant placed on probation, the effect of such order of probation shall be to place said defendant under the control and management of the state board of prison commissioners and he shall be subject to the same rules and regulations as applied to persons paroled from said institutions after a period of imprisonment therein.

History: En. Sec. 3, Ch. 21, L. 1913; re-en. Sec. 12080, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

The effect of an order of the district court suspending the sentence of one convicted of a misdemeanor is to place him under the control and management of the state board of prison commissioners and subject to such rules and regulations as it may see fit to make. State ex rel. Foot v. District Court et al., 72 M 374, 377 et seq., 233 P 957.

History: En. Sec. 4, Ch. 21, L. 1913; re-en. Sec. 12081, R. C. M. 1921.

12082. Certificate of judgment, and order for suspension. Whenever it is the judgment of the court that the defendant be placed upon probation and under the supervision of the state board of prison commissioners, it shall be the immediate duty of the clerk of said court to make a full copy of the judgment of the court, with the order for the suspension of the execution of sentence thereunder and the reason therefor, and to certify the same to the state board of prison commissioners, and to the institution to which said court would have committed the defendant but for the suspension of sentence. Upon entry in the records of the court of the order for such probation, the defendant shall be released from custody of the court as soon as the requirements and conditions fixed by the state board of prison commissioners have been properly and fully met.

12083. Rules and regulations. 12084. Termination of probation—arrest of prisoner. In all cases of such termination of probation, the original sentence shall be considered as beginning upon the first day of imprisonment in the institution.

12085. Final discharge. Whenever it is the judgment of the state board of prison commissioners that a person on probation has satisfactorily met the conditions of his probation they shall cause to be issued to said person a final discharge from further supervision; provided, that the length of such period of probation shall not be less than the minimum or more than the maximum term for which he might have been imprisoned.

History: En. Sec. 8, Ch. 21, L. 1913;
re-en. Sec. 12085, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Under this section, the length of the period of probation of a convicted defendant cannot be more than the maximum term for which he might have been imprisoned. Defendant was convicted of a violation of the liquor laws and sentenced to the county jail for ninety days, the sentence being suspended. A year thereafter the court revoked the suspension and ordered him committed to jail. Held, on application for writ of supervisory control, that by its order suspending the sentence, jurisdiction over the person of defendant became vested in the state board of prison commissioners, that the court, therefore, was without authority to order him committed, and, the term of his imprisonment having expired, that the board could not do so. State ex rel. Foot v. District Court et al., 72 M 374, 379, 233 P 957.

Operation and Effect

Proceedings in contempt are in their nature criminal, and the order adjudging one in contempt is in its nature a final judgment, but the sheriff cannot execute a judgment in a criminal matter or proceeding "without competent authority," as provided in section 12482; hence, where one has been committed for contempt, and the sheriff does not hold a certified copy of the order of commitment, he is not authorized to detain the person so committed. In re Mettler, 50 M 299, 305, 146 P 747.

12090. Judgment of imprisonment—duty of sheriff. If the judgment is for imprisonment in the state prison, the sheriff of the county must, upon receipt of a certified copy thereof, take and deliver the defendant to the warden of the state prison. He must also deliver to the warden the certified copy of the judgment, and take from the warden a receipt for the defendant.

12091. Power of officer. Such sheriff or deputy, while conveying the criminal to the place of punishment, has the same power and like authority to require the assistance of any citizen of the state in securing such criminal, and retaking him if he escapes; as such sheriff or deputy has in any other case; and all persons who neglect or refuse to assist such sheriff or deputy, when required, are liable to the same penalties as for similar refusals in other cases.

12093. Execution upon judgment of death. When judgment of death is rendered, a warrant signed by the judge, and attested by the clerk under the seal of the court, must be drawn and delivered to the sheriff. It must state the conviction and judgment, and appoint a day on which the judgment is to be executed, which must not be less than thirty nor more than sixty days from the time of the judgment.

12095. Insanity of defendant, how determined. If, after judgment of death, there is good reason to suppose that the defendant has become insane, the sheriff of the county, with the concurrence of the judge of the court by which the judgment was rendered, may summon from the list of jurors selected for the year, a jury of twelve persons to inquire into the supposed insanity, and must give immediate notice thereof to the county attorney of the county.

Operation and Effect

Where, after judgment of death has been pronounced upon a defendant, there is good reason to suppose that he has become insane, the sheriff, with the concurrence of the judge of the court by which the judgment was rendered, may summon a jury to inquire into the question of his sanity in conformity with this section et. seq.; but where during the course of the trial or before judgment of conviction is pronounced a doubt arises as to his mental condition, the procedure outlined by sections 12214 to 12219 is controlling. State v. Vetter, 77 M 66, 71, 249 P 666.

12096. Duty of county attorney upon inquisition. The county attorney must attend the inquisition, and may produce witnesses before the jury, for which purpose he may issue process in the same manner as for witnesses to attend before the grand jury, and disobedience thereto may be punished in like manner as disobedience to process issued by the court.

History: En. Sec. 225, p. 251, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 380, p. 245, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 380, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 381, 3d Div. Comp. Stat.

12097. Inquisition, how certified and filed. A certificate of the inquisition must be signed by the jurors and the sheriff, and filed with the clerk of the court in which the conviction was had.

History: En. Sec. 226, p. 251, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 381, p. 246, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 381, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 382, 3d Div. Comp. Stat.

12098. Proceedings upon finding of jury. If it is found by the inquisition that the defendant is sane, the sheriff must execute the judgment; but if it is found that he is insane, the sheriff must suspend the execution of the judgment until he receives a warrant from the governor or from the judge of the court by which the judgment was rendered directing the execution of the judgment. If the inquisition finds that the defendant is insane, the sheriff must immediately transmit it to the governor, who may, when the defendant becomes sane, issue a warrant appointing a day for the execution of the judgment.

12099. Proceedings when female is supposed to be pregnant. If there is good reason to suppose that a woman against whom a judgment of death is rendered is pregnant, the sheriff of the county, with the concurrence of the judge of the court by which the judgment was rendered, may summon a jury of three physicians to inquire into the supposed pregnancy. Immediate notice thereof must be given to the county attorney of the county, and the provisions of sections 12096 and 12097 apply to the proceedings upon the inquisition.

12100. Proceedings upon the finding of the jury. If it is found by the inquisition that the woman is not pregnant, the sheriff must execute the judgment; if it is found that the woman is pregnant, the sheriff must suspend the execution of the judgment, and transmit the inquisition to the governor. When the governor is satisfied that the woman is no longer pregnant, he may issue his warrant appointing a day for the execution of the judgment.

12101. Judgment of death remaining in force, not executed. If for any reason a judgment of death has not been executed, and it remains in force, the court in which the conviction was had, on the application of the county attorney, must order the defendant to be brought before it, or, if he is at large, a warrant for his apprehension may be issued. Upon the defendant being brought before the court, it must inquire into the facts, and if no legal reasons exist against the execution of the judgment, must make an order that the sheriff execute the judgment at a specified time. The sheriff must execute the judgment accordingly.

12103. Execution, where to take place and who to be present. A judgment of death must be executed within the walls or yard of a jail, or some convenient private place in the county. The sheriff of the county must be present at the execution, and must invite the presence of a physician, the county attorney of the county, and at least twelve reputable citizens, to be selected by him; and he shall, at the request of the defendant, permit such priests or ministers of the gospel, not exceeding two, as the defendant may name, and any persons, relatives or friends, not to exceed five, to be present at the execution, together with such peace officers as he may think expedient, to witness the execution. Operation and Effect

This section and section 12107 do not give the right of appeal from an order denying a writ of habeas corpus, since the complainant in such a proceeding is not a defendant, and the determination of the court is not a "judgment," within the meaning of those sections. State ex rel. Jackson v. Kennie, 24 M 45, 50, 60 P 589.

Id. The judgment mentioned in this section is the final judgment or other order referred to in section 12107, and embraces only those judgments and orders which become res adjudicata and final as to all matters involved in the controversy.

Id. An order denying a writ of habeas corpus is not such a judgment as to render the rights of the petitioner res adjudicata, and finally to conclude him.

Operation and Effect

An appeal from an order overruling a motion in arrest of judgment does not lie on behalf of defendant. State v. Beesskove, 34 M 41, 48, 85 P 376; State v. Brown, 38 M 309, 311, 99 P 954.

From an order made after final judgment in a criminal case, defendant may appeal, under this section. State v. Fowler, 59 M 346, 358, 196 P 992.

On appeal from the judgment of conviction only, an assignment of error for denial of defendant's motion for a new trial cannot be considered. State v. Ritz, 65 M 180, 189, 211 P 298; State v. English, 71 M 343, 350, 229 P 727.

The act of defendant in a criminal prosecution in perfecting an appeal from the judgment of conviction while his motion for a new trial was pending, did not deprive the trial court of jurisdiction thereafter to pass upon the motion, nor the supreme court of jurisdiction to consider the subsequent appeal from the order denying the new trial. State v. Harkins, 85 M 585, 590, 281 P 551.

12108. In what cases by the state. An appeal may be taken by the state—

1. From a judgment for the defendant on a demurrer to the indictment or information;
2. From an order granting a new trial;
3. From an order arresting judgment;
4. From an order made after judgment, affecting the substantial rights of the state.
5. From an order of the court directing the jury to find for the defendant.

Judgment for Defendant on a Demurrer to the Information

The record on appeal in a criminal case must, among other things, contain the judgment-roll in which must be included a copy of the judgment. The state, on the theory that an objection of defendant to the introduction of evidence on the ground of the insufficiency of the information is in effect a demurrer to the information and an order sustaining a demurrer constitutes the judgment, attempted to appeal from such an order as from the judgment, but the record did not contain a copy of the order in the form of a minute entry, which in such a case constitutes the judgment. Held, that the supreme court was without jurisdiction to entertain the appeal. State v. Nilan et al., 75 M 397, 399, 243 P 1081.

Order Arresting Judgment

Regarding the substance of things, an order arresting judgment is, in its nature and results, a judgment for defendant. It is a denying of a judgment to the state, and a discharge and acquittal of defendant from any possible consequences that threatened to flow from the information. State v. Northrup, 13 M 522, 537, 35 P 228.

Order Made After Judgment

An order of the district court sustaining a defendant's plea of former acquittal and jeopardy, after the reversal of a conviction for manslaughter under an indictment charging murder in the first degree, is not an appealable order under subdivision 4. State v. O'Brien, 19 M 6, 47 P 103.

Right to Appeal Limited by This Section

The right of appeal by the state should be strictly construed and limited to those instances mentioned in the statute. Territory v. Laun, 8 M 322, 325, 20 M 652; State v. Northrup, 13 M 522, 530, 35 P 228.

Id. The state has no appeal in criminal cases, unless the same is expressly granted by law.

An appeal cannot be taken by the state from an order setting aside an information. State v. O'Brien, 20 M 191, 50 P 412.

The state is not authorized by this section to appeal from a judgment for defendant on demurrer to a complaint charging defendant with the commission of a misdemeanor. State v. Morris, 22 M 1, 3, 55 P 360.

The right of appeal in a criminal case, unknown to the common law, exists only by virtue of constitutional or statutory enactment. State v. Peck, 83 M 327, 329, 271 P 707.

Id. Statutes granting the right of appeal to the state in criminal actions must be strictly construed and the right limited to the instances mentioned; if the right is not clearly and unequivocally conferred, an appeal does not lie, nor can the right, if conferred, be enlarged by construction of the statute.

Id. Subdivision 5 of this section, provides that the state may appeal in a criminal case inter alia, from an order directing the jury to find for the defendant. At the close of the testimony in such a case the court ordered defendant discharged on the ground of failure of proof, the state appealing from the order. Held, under the rule of strict construction, that the order may not be held appealable as one "in effect" directing the jury to find for defendant and, such an order not being enumerated in this section as one from which the state may appeal, the appeal will on defendant's motion be dismissed.

Defendant was convicted in a justice court of engaging in the business of plumbing without obtaining a license (Secs. 5183 et seq., R. C. M. 1921); he appealed to the district court where, after trial, the court entered judgment that the statute in question was unconstitutional and discharged defendant. The state appealed. Held, that the judgment does not fall within any one of the provisions of this section, granting the state the right of appeal in a criminal case, and appeal dismissed. State v. Wright, 91 M 427, 429, 8 P 2d 646.

12109. Appeals, time limitation. An appeal from a judgment may be taken within six months after its rendition, and from an order within sixty days after it is made.

12111. When notice may be served by publication. If personal service cannot be made, the judge of the court in which the action is tried, upon proof thereof, may make an order for the publication of the notice in some newspaper, for a period of not exceeding thirty days. Such publication is equivalent to personal service.

12112. Effect of an appeal by the state. An appeal taken by the state in no case stays or affects the operation of the judgment in favor of the defendant until judgment is reversed.

12113. Effect of an appeal by the defendant. An appeal to the supreme court from a judgment of conviction, stays the execution of the judgment in all capital cases, and in all other cases upon filing with the clerk of the court in which the conviction was had, a certificate of the judge of such court, or of a justice of the supreme court, that in his opinion, there is probable cause for the appeal, but not otherwise.

Operation and Effect

Petitions to a justice of the supreme court for certificates of probable cause must be verified by the oath of the petitioner, or of some person in his behalf. State v. Broadbent, 27 M 63, 65, 69 P 323.

Id. No appeal lies from a refusal of a district judge to grant a certificate of probable cause.

Id. Where the transcript discloses a fairly debatable question, the solution of which in defendant's favor by the supreme court would necessitate a reversal, a certificate of probable cause will be granted.

Execution of a judgment in a criminal case is not stayed by appeal, but may be stayed by filing with the clerk a certificate of probable cause issued by the judge or a justice of the supreme court. State v. Fowler, 59 M 346, 358, 196 P 992.

The effect of a certificate of probable cause granted to one convicted of crime pending appeal, is to suspend execution of the judgment and entitles defendant to his liberty upon furnishing bond, and the certificate should be granted by the district court whenever the question whether or not the conviction will be sustained on appeal is fairly debatable, thus avoiding the necessity of defendant applying to the supreme court for relief in that behalf. State v. Dahlgren, 74 M 217, 235, 239 P 775.

12114. Same. If the certificate provided for in the preceding section is filed, the sheriff must, if the defendant be in his custody, upon being served with a copy thereof, keep the defendant in his custody without executing the judgment, and detain him to abide the judgment on appeal.

12115. Same. If before the granting of the certificate, the judgment has commenced, the further execution thereof is suspended, and upon service of a copy of such certificate the defendant must be restored, by the officer in whose custody he is, to his original custody.

12116. Duty of clerks upon appeal. Upon the appeal being taken, the clerk with whom the notice of appeal is filed must, within ten days thereafter, in case the bill of exceptions has been settled by the judge before the giving of said notice, but if not, then within ten days from the settlement of the bill of exceptions, without charge transmit to the clerk of the appellate court a copy of the notice of appeal, and of the record and of all bills of exceptions, instructions, and indorsements thereon; and, upon the receipt thereof, the clerk of the appellate court must file the same, and perform the same services, as in civil cases, without charge.

Operation and Effect

The supreme court is without jurisdiction to consider an appeal where the record does not contain a copy of the notice of appeal. City of Butte v. Call, 23 M 94, 95, 57 P 726.

Where the record on appeal does not contain the judgment, the appeal is subject to dismissal on motion. State v. Mott, 29 M 292, 308, 74 P 728.

The merits of an appeal in a criminal case will not be considered where the papers constituting the record are included in a bill of exceptions and not certified as the record, nor identified in any way by the certificate of the clerk of the district court or the trial judge. State v. Farris, 34 M 424, 425, 87 P 177.

The clerk of the district court must, as soon as notice of appeal is filed, prepare a copy of the record and other papers and transmit the same within ten days from the date of the notice, or, in case there is a bill of exceptions to be settled, then within ten days of the date of settlement, to the clerk of the supreme court, without charge to the appellant. A praecipe enumerating the papers constituting such technical record need not be lodged with the clerk. State ex rel. Connors v. Foster, 36 M 278, 280, 92 P 761.

12117. Appeal, when tried. An appeal shall stand for trial immediately after filing the transcript on appeal, if the supreme court is in session; if not in session, at the next term thereafter, on proof of notice of appeal to the respondent.

DISMISSING APPEALS FOR IRREGULARITY—ARGUMENT ON THE APPEAL JUDGMENT UPON APPEAL

Section 12119.	For what irregularity, and how dismissed.
12120.	Dismissed for want of a return.
12121.	Informality in appeal disregarded.
12122.	Judgment cannot be reversed without argument.
12123.	Number of counsel to be heard.
12124.	Defendant need not be present.
12125.	Judgment without regard to technical errors.
12125.1.	Conclusively deemed on appeal that defendant was present at all stages of trial and that court gave proper admonition to jury, when.
12126.	What may be reviewed on an appeal by the defendant.
12127.	May reverse, affirm, or modify the judgment, and order a new trial.
12128.	New trial, where to be had.
12129.	Defendant discharged on reversal of judgment.
12130.	Judgment to be executed on affirmance.
12131.	Judgment of appellate court, how entered and remitted.
12132.	Jurisdiction ceases after judgment remitted.

12119. For what irregularity, and how dismissed. If the appeal is irregular in any substantial particular, but not otherwise, the appellate court may, on any day, on motion of the respondent, upon five days' notice, accompanied with copies of the papers upon which the motion is founded, order it to be dismissed. The dismissal of an appeal affirms the judgment.

12120. Dismissed for want of a return. The court may also, upon like motion, dismiss the appeal, if the transcript is not made as provided in section 12116, unless for good cause they enlarge the time for the purpose.

12121. Informality in appeal disregarded. An appeal must not be dismissed for any informality or defect in the taking thereof. If the same be corrected within a reasonable time after an appeal has been dismissed, another appeal may be taken. If an undertaking has been given which is defective in any respect a new one may be filed on appeal, in the supreme court.

12122. Judgment cannot be reversed without argument. The judgment may be affirmed if the appellant fail to appear, but can be reversed only after argument, though the respondent fail to appear.

Operation and Effect

The word "argument" means argument, whether written or oral, and where a case has been submitted on briefs, the court is required to decide the cause upon its merits and reverse or affirm the judgment, just as it would have done if there had been a full oral argument, since the statute simply means that if the appellant fails to disclose by appropriate argument wherein the lower court has committed prejudicial error, the judgment may be affirmed but not reversed. State v. Guerin, 51 M 250, 256, 152 P 747.

Where appellant in a criminal cause fails to file his brief and on the day set for argument no appearance in behalf of either side is made, the judgment appealed from will be affirmed. State v. Cassill, 72 M 381, 382, 233 P 908.

12123. Number of counsel to be heard. Upon the argument of the appeal, if the offense is punishable with death, two counsel must be heard on each side, if they require it. In any other case the court may, in its discretion, restrict the argument to one counsel on each side.

12124. Defendant need not be present. The defendant need not personally appear in the appellate court.

12125. Judgment without regard to technical errors. After hearing the appeal, the court must give judgment without regard to technical errors or defects, or to exceptions, which do not affect the substantial rights of the parties.

History: En. Sec. 254, p. 255, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 405, p. 250, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 405, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 406, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2320, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9415, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12125, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1258.

Operation and Effect

Query, as to whether the rule, that "error appearing, prejudice will be presumed," as announced prior to the adoption of the codes in 1895, was abrogated by this section and section 11874, which declare the law to be that no judgment shall be held invalid for mere technical errors not affecting the substantial rights of the defendant. State v. Gordon, 35 M 458, 466, 90 P 173.

Under this section, the supreme court on appeal in a criminal cause must give judgment without regard to technical errors or defects or to exceptions which do not affect the substantial rights of the defendant. State v. McConville, 64 M 302, 309, 209 P 987.

Prejudice Cannot be Presumed

Under this section, prejudice to appellant in a criminal cause cannot be presumed, but must be made to appear, either affirmatively by the record, or by a denial or invasion of some substantial right from which the law imputes prejudice. State v. Hall, 55 M 182, 188, 175 P 267.

In a prosecution for attempted rape, the introduction in evidence of the clothing worn by the prosecuting witness, though immaterial, was not reversible error, where there was no evidence that the articles were muddy, torn and blood-stained, as claimed, and thus likely to inflame the minds of the jurors, and where the original exhibits were not certified to the supreme court for inspection; prejudice cannot be presumed, but must be made to appear affirmatively. State v. Prouty, 60 M 310, 313, 199 P 281; Lindeberg v. Howe, 67 M 195, 199, 215 P 230.

Supreme Court to Determine Whether Error Affects Substantial Rights

It is for the supreme court to determine whether an error affects the substantial rights of the defendant. If the point can be decided from an inspection of the record, the court may act accordingly; if the defendant claims prejudice, it is his duty to demonstrate that fact from the record. State v. Byrd, 41 M 585, 592, 111 P 407.

Technical Errors Not Affecting the Substantial Rights of the Parties

juris is not sufficient cause for the reversal or modification of the judgment. State v. Connors, 27 M 227, 229, 70 P 715.

Where, under the evidence submitted at a trial for assault in the second degree, the defendant might have been convicted of assault in either the second or third degree, but was found guilty of the lower degree, the judgment will not be reversed for a purely technical error in giving an instruction. State v. Tracey, 35 M 552, 555, 90 P 791.

An information charging an attempt to obtain money by false pretenses, though defective in form and containing immaterial averments, is sufficient to sustain a conviction, when it is apparent that the defendant has suffered no prejudice. State v. Phillips, 36 M 112, 118, 92 P 299.

A technical error in pleading a prior conviction will not work a reversal, if the punishment imposed does not exceed the limit which could properly be imposed. State v. Paisley, 36 M 237, 248, 92 P 566.

Where the record in a criminal cause did not show that the jurors were not all present when the verdict was delivered, and from the minutes no other fair inference could be drawn than that they were actually present at the time, the omission from the minutes of a statement that their names were called prior to delivery of the verdict was not an error which prejudiced defendant in his substantial rights. State v. De Lea, 36 M 531, 536, 93 P 814.

A judgment of conviction will not be reversed for error in the trial proceedings that did not prejudice, or tend to prejudice, defendant in respect to a substantial right. State v. Rhys, 40 M 131, 134, 105 P 494.

Under this section and section 11874, a judgment of conviction will not be reversed unless the error prejudiced, or tended to the prejudice of, defendant. State v. Vanella, 40 M 326, 345, 106 P 364.

It ought no longer to be the rule in criminal cases in this state that, error being shown, prejudice will be presumed, as was held prior to 1895, when the codes were adopted. The former practice resulted in altogether too many reversals of criminal cases for technical errors which did not affect the substantial rights of the defendant. State v. Byrd, 41 M 585, 592, 111 P 407.

To warrant the supreme court in interfering with the judgment in a criminal case, it must appear that the substantial rights of the defendant have been injuriously affected. State v. Crean, 43 M 47, 60, 114 P 603.

Though refusal to strike out an irresponsible answer in which the witness volunteers a statement of facts from which the complaining party has probably suffered prejudice will result in a reversal of the judgment, such refusal is harmless error where the objectionable statement was volunteered on cross-examination after having been twice before made on his direct examination. State v. Jones, 48 M 505, 515, 139 P 441.

Where a county attorney violated the express injunction of section 11805 by indorsing the name of a witness as "John Doe Mitchell," whereas he knew his true name to be "James Mitchell," defendant was not entitled to a new trial in the absence of a showing that he had been prejudiced by the officer's delinquency. State v. McDonald, 51 M 1, 7, 149 P 279.

Under this section the supreme court will not reverse a judgment of conviction on account of technical errors or defects in the information, where defendant was fully advised of the nature of the charge against him to enable him to prepare to meet that charge, and his substantial rights were not affected by the defect. State v. Wehr, 57 M 469, 188 P 930.

An erroneous ruling of the court in admitting evidence which could not affect the substantial rights of the parties must be disregarded. Church v. Zywert, 58 M 102, 107, 190 P 291.

A remark of the trial judge in passing upon an objection to a question asked a witness for the defense in a criminal cause to the effect: "I don't think that is very material; let him answer," while improper, held technical error and nonprejudicial when considered in connection with the particular circumstances. State v. Cassill et al., 71 M 274, 283, 229 P 716; State v. Sedlacek, 74 M 201, 216, 239 P 1002.

Under the rule that the supreme court will not reverse a judgment of conviction for mere technical irregularities not affecting injuriously the substantial rights of appellant, for alleged error in overruling objections to several questions claimed to have been leading but which were of no special importance but merely explanatory in character, a new trial will not be ordered. State v. Wong Fong, 75 M 81, 88, 241 P 1072.

In criminal cases no judgment will be reversed for technical errors or defects which do not affect the substantial rights of the defendant, and where the record is sufficient to establish the guilt of the defendant, a new trial will not be granted, even though there was error, unless it clearly appears that the error complained of actually prejudiced the defendant in his right to a fair trial. State v. Dixon, 80 M 181, 213, 260 P 138; State v. Ray, 88 M 436, 446, 294 P 368.

Under the above rules, held in a prosecution for receiving stolen property that where a juror on his voir dire in answer to questions propounded by the state admitted that he was a close friend of defendant but could try him as if he were a stranger, but that he would like to be excused, and then stated that he would not convict him even if he believed him guilty beyond a reasonable doubt, thereafter, however, on examination by defendant's counsel, again asserting that he would vote for conviction regardless of his friendship for defendant if proper under the law and the evidence, the court's ruling excusing the juror may not be held reversible error even though it be conceded that technical error was committed in sustaining the challenge on an improper ground. State v. Huffman, 89 M 194, 198, 296 P 789.

In a prosecution for the larceny of two calves, refusal of the court to strike the testimony of a cattleman that two cows, the condition of the bags of which indicated that they had lost their calves but a short time theretofore, were acting as though they were looking for them, held not reversible error under the circumstances, among them that defendant killed the calves after being charged with their theft and thus blocked the test proposed by the stock inspector by getting the cows and seeing whether they would claim the calves. State v. Grimsley, 96 M 327, 335, 30 P 2d 85.

Where exhibits consisting of photographs of the automobile in which some of the shots resulting in the killing of deceased had been fired and of the body of deceased, a pistol taken from defendant after the shooting, revolver clips, etc., all of which had been admitted in evidence without objection by defendant, were taken to the jury-room, at the close of the trial, apparently without the affirmative consent of defendant and without an order of court permitting it to be done, but there was no showing that by the procedure the jury were given any other information than that obtained at the trial, it may not be presumed that the procedure resulted to the prejudice of the defendant. State v. Cates, 97 M 173, 198, 205, 33 P 2d 578.

Under this case, held, on appeal from a judgment of conviction for forgery, that, while it was error to advise the jury in an instruction as to the purpose for which testimony of other like acts had been admitted, that testimony had been admitted relating to certain "forgeries," since whether or not a forgery had been committed was the fact to be determined by the jury, in view of other portions of the charge carefully safeguarding the rights of defendant, the inadvertent use of the term "forgeries" could not have worked to his prejudice. State v. Daems, 97 M 486, 500, 37 P 2d 322.

What are Substantial Rights of Defendant

The presence of defendant at his trial for crime is a matter which affects the substantial rights of both plaintiff and defendant and therefore the provision of this section requiring the supreme court to give judgment on appeal without regard to technical errors or defects not affecting the substantial rights of the parties, has no application. State v. Reed, 65 M 51, 61, 210 P 756.

Within the meaning of the rule declared by this section, that the supreme court on appeal must disregard technical errors or defects which do not go to the substantial rights of the parties, the right of one on trial for crime forbidding his impeachment in any other manner than that prescribed by section 10668 is a substantial one. State v. Shannon, 95 M 280, 292, 26 P 2d 360.

12125.1. Conclusively deemed on appeal that defendant was present at all stages of trial and that court gave proper admonition to jury, when. In all cases appealed to the supreme court from judgment of conviction or upon denial of motions for new trial, unless the record on appeal affirmatively shows to the contrary, it shall be conclusively deemed that the defendant was present in court at all stages of the trial; and unless the record affirmatively shows to the contrary, upon all such appeals, it shall be conclusively deemed that the court or judge gave the proper admonition, in accordance with the provisions of section 11999, to the jury at each recess or adjournment of the court, and no case shall be reversed on appeal or motion for new trial because of the mere failure of the record to show the presence of the defendant as aforesaid or the failure of the record to show that such admonition was given to the jury.

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 136, L. 1931.

Operation and Effect

Under this section one convicted of crime may not assert prejudicial error on the ground that the record on appeal fails to disclose that he was present at the time the verdict was returned, unless the record affirmatively shows the contrary, otherwise it must be conclusively deemed that he was present in court at all stages of the trial. State v. Cates, 97 M 173, 197, 33 P 2d 578.

12126. What may be reviewed on an appeal by the defendant. Upon an appeal taken by the defendant from a judgment, the court may review any intermediate order or ruling involving the merits, or which may have affected the judgment.

Construction

This section having been taken verbatim from the California code, it is adopted with the construction placed upon it by the courts of that state. State v. O'Brien, 18 M 1, 6, 43 P 1091, 44 P 399; State v. Brantingham, 66 M 1, 7, 212 P 499.

Intermediate Orders

An order overruling a motion in arrest of judgment is an intermediate order affecting the judgment, and may be reviewed only on appeal from the judgment. State v. Beesskove, 34 M 41, 48, 85 P 376; State v. Brown, 38 M 309, 311, 99 P 954.

Operation and Effect

Rulings of the trial court upon matters of law in the exclusion or admission of testimony, during the progress of the trial may be brought before the supreme court by bill of exceptions on an appeal from the judgment without a motion for a new trial; but this section does not permit the review, on an appeal from the judgment only, of matters embraced within any of the cases for which a new trial may be granted, except errors in the decision of questions of law during the trial, which may be reviewed either by appeal from the judgment or from an order denying a motion for a new trial. State v. O'Brien, 18 M 1, 5, 6, 43 P 1091, 44 P 399.

The defendant, on appeal from a judgment of conviction, may, by bill of exceptions, bring before the court errors in the decision upon questions of law arising during the course of the trial, exclusive of those embraced within the provisions of the statute providing for new trials. State v. Francis, 58 M 659, 666, 194 P 304.

Under this section, the supreme court, on appeal from the judgment, may not review the sufficiency of the evidence to warrant conviction, in the absence of any intermediate order or ruling involving the merits or which may have affected the judgment. State v. Asher, 63 M 302, 308, 206 P 1091.

On appeal from the judgment of conviction only, a specification of error based upon the order denying their motion for new trial on the ground of misconduct of one of the jurors, cannot be considered. State v. Maggert et al., 64 M 331, 337, 209 P 989.

On appeal from the judgment of conviction only, an assignment of error for denial of defendant's motion for a new trial cannot be considered. State v. Ritz, 65 M 180, 189, 211 P 298.

On appeal from a judgment of conviction under this section, the defendant may by bill of exceptions bring before the supreme court for review any order or ruling of the trial court in admitting or rejecting testimony, or in deciding any question of law not a matter of discretion or in instructing the jury, but the sufficiency of the evidence to justify the verdict may be reviewed only on appeal from an order denying a new trial, unless the record discloses that there is no evidence even remotely to prove the elements of the crime charged. State v. Smart, 81 M 145, 148, 262 P 158.

12127. May reverse, affirm, or modify the judgment, and order a new trial. The court may reverse, affirm, or modify the judgment or order appealed from, and may set aside, affirm, or modify any or all of the proceedings subsequent to, or dependent upon, such judgment or order, and may, if proper, order a new trial. In either case the cause must be remanded to the district court with proper instruction, together with the opinion of the court.

Operation and Effect

When a judgment of acquittal is reversed on appeal it is proper for the supreme court, under this section, to remand the case to the district court for a new trial, where the defendant may then, if he desires, plead former acquittal in bar of such new trial. State v. Herron, 12 M 300, 30 P 140.

A judgment of conviction for crime, which erroneously included payment by defendant of the costs of prosecution, is not on that account void as a whole; but the same may, under this section, be modified by striking therefrom the provision as to costs, and, as so modified, be allowed to stand. State v. Stone, 40 M 88, 93, 105 P 89.

Under this section, providing that the supreme court on appeal in a criminal case may, inter alia, modify a judgment of conviction, it has the power to reduce a verdict of murder in the first degree to make it fit the crime established by the evidence, to-wit, murder in the second degree. State v. Gunn, 89 M 453, 464 et seq., 300 P 212.

Where on appeal in a homicide case three of the justices of the supreme court, a majority, are of the opinion that the trial court committed error resulting in denial of a fair trial to defendant, but are unable to agree as to any one of the grounds urged by him in his assignment of errors being sufficient to warrant a reversal of the judgment, a retrial will be ordered; under such circumstances it is immaterial that the majority do not agree as to any particular error set forth in his assignment of errors—a mere procedural requirement—the real question being whether or not defendant had a fair trial. State v. Le Duc, 89 M 545, 580, 300 P 919.

12129. Defendant discharged on reversal of judgment. 12134. Taking of bail defined. 12135. Offense not bailable. A defendant charged with an offense punishable with death cannot be admitted to bail when the proof of his guilt is evident or the presumption thereof great. The finding of an indictment or the filing of an information does not add to the strength of the proof or the presumptions to be drawn therefrom.

12137. When admitted to bail after conviction and upon appeal. After conviction of an offense not punishable with death, a defendant who has appealed may be admitted to bail—

1. As a matter of right, when the appeal is from a judgment imposing a fine only;

2. As a matter of discretion in all other cases.

12138. Nature of bail. If the offense is bailable, the defendant may be admitted to bail before conviction—

1. For his appearance before the magistrate during the pendency of a trial or on the examination of the charge, before being held to answer;

2. To appear at the court to which the magistrate is required to return the complaint, testimony and statement, upon the defendant being held to answer after examination;

3. After indictment or information filed, either before the warrant is issued for his arrest, or upon any order of the court committing him, or enlarging the amount of bail, or upon his being surrendered by his bail to answer the indictment or information in the court in which it is found or filed, or to which it may be transferred for trial.

And after conviction, and upon an appeal—

1. If the appeal is from a judgment imposing a fine only, on the undertaking of bail that he will pay the same or such part thereof as the appellate court may direct, if the judgment is affirmed or modified, or the appeal is dismissed;

2. If the judgment of imprisonment has been given, that he will surrender himself in execution of the judgment, upon its being affirmed or modified, or upon the appeal being dismissed, or that in case the judgment be reversed, and that the cause be remanded for a new trial, that he will appear in the court to which said cause may be remanded, and submit himself to the orders and process thereof.

BAIL ON BEING HELD TO ANSWER BEFORE INFORMATION

- Section 12140. What magistrates may admit to bail.
 12141. Bail, how put in, and form of the undertaking.
 12142. Qualifications of bail.
 12143. Bail, how to justify.
 12144. On allowance of bail, defendant to be discharged.

12140. What magistrates may admit to bail. When the defendant has been held to answer upon an examination for a public offense, the admission to bail may be by the magistrate by whom he is so held, or by any magistrate who has power to issue the writ of habeas corpus.

History: En. Sec. 239, p. 227, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 239, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 240, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 2350, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9447, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12140, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1277.

Operation and Effect

This section means that the committing magistrate may approve and accept the undertaking which he has himself required by his order made upon holding the defendant to answer. Any other construction of this statute would, at times, infringe seriously upon a prisoner's right to be admitted to bail. State v. Lagoni, 30 M 472, 479, 76 P 1044.

Id. The committing magistrate may approve and accept the undertaking which he himself required by his order upon holding the defendant to answer, and has the power and authority to accept and approve the bond until the district court obtains final jurisdiction of the entire matter upon the filing of an information or the presentment of an indictment, or until the judge of the district or a justice of the supreme court has fixed anew the prisoner's bail.

An order allowing bail in a homicide case is properly made, in the absence of a showing, by the county attorney, that the proof of the defendant's guilt was evident or the presumption thereof great. State ex rel. Murray v. District Court, 35 M 504, 507, 90 P 513.

12141. Bail, how put in, and form of the undertaking. Bail is put in by a written undertaking, executed by two sufficient sureties (with or without the defendant, in the discretion of the magistrate), and acknowledged before the court or magistrate, in substantially the following form:

"An order having been made on the day of
 A. D. nineteen hundred and, by A B, a justice of the peace of county (or as the case may be), that C D be held to answer upon a charge of (stating briefly the nature of the offense), upon which he has been admitted to bail in the sum of dollars; we, E F and G H (stating their place of business and occupation), hereby undertake that the above-named C D will appear and answer the charge above mentioned, in whatever court it may be prosecuted, and will at all times hold himself amenable to the orders and process of the court, and if convicted, will appear for judgment, and render himself in execution thereof; or, if he fails to perform either of these conditions, that we will pay to the state of Montana the sum of dollars (inserting the sum in which the defendant is admitted to bail)."

12142. Qualifications of bail. The qualifications of bail are as follows:

1. Each of them must be a resident, householder, or freeholder within the state, but the court or magistrate may refuse to accept any person as bail who is not a resident of the county where bail is offered.

2. They must each be worth the amount specified in the undertaking, exclusive of property exempt from execution; but the court or magistrate, on taking bail, may allow more than two sureties to justify severally in amounts less than that expressed in the undertaking, if the whole justification be equivalent to that of sufficient bail.

History: En. Sec. 245, p. 228, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 245, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 246, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 2352, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9449, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12142, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1279.

12143. Bail, how to justify. The bail must in all cases justify by affidavit taken before the magistrate that they each possess the qualifications provided in the preceding section. The magistrate may further examine the bail upon oath concerning their sufficiency, in such manner as he may deem proper.

History: En. Sec. 246, p. 228, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 246, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 247, 3d Div. Comp. Stat.

12144. On allowance of bail, defendant to be discharged. Upon the allowance of bail and the execution of the undertaking, the magistrate must, if the defendant is in custody, make and sign an order for his discharge, upon the delivery of which to the proper officer the defendant must be discharged.

History: En. Sec. 2354, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9451, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12144, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1281.

Operation and Effect

The fact that a magistrate made a verbal order of release, instead of complying with this section, was no defense to a surety in an action on the bail bond. State v. Lagoni, 30 M 472, 481, 76 P 1044.

12145. When the offense is not capital. When the offense charged is not punishable with death, the court at the time the indictment is presented and filed, or information filed, must make an order, to be entered in the minutes, fixing the amount in which the defendant may be admitted to bail, unless the court indorse such order on the warrant.

12149. Form of undertaking. The bail must be put in by a written undertaking, executed by two sufficient sureties (with or without the defendant, in the discretion of the court or magistrate) and acknowledged before the court or magistrate, in substantially the following form:

"An indictment (or information) having been found (or filed) on the day of, A. D. nineteen hundred and, in the district court of the district, in and for the county of, charging A B with the crime of (designating it generally), and he having been admitted to bail in the sum of dollars, we, C D and E F, of (stating their place of residence and occupation), hereby undertake that the above-named A B will appear and answer the indictment (or information) above mentioned, in whatever court it may be prosecuted, and will, at all times, render himself amenable to the orders and process of the court, and, if convicted, will appear for judgment and render himself in execution therefor; or, if he fails to perform either of these conditions, that we will pay to the state of Montana the sum ofdollars (inserting the sum in which the defendant is admitted to bail)."

12150. Sections applicable to qualifications, etc. The provisions contained in sections 12142, 12143, and 12144 apply to bail after indictment or information.

12151. Increase or reduction of bail. After a defendant has been admitted to bail upon an indictment or information, the court in which the charge is pending may, upon good cause shown, either increase or reduce the amount of bail. If the amount be increased, the court may order the defendant to be committed to actual custody, unless he give bail in such increased amount. If application be made by the defendant for a reduction of the amount, notice of the application must be served upon the county attorney.

CHAPTER 93

BAIL ON APPEAL—DEPOSIT INSTEAD OF BAIL

Section 12152. Who may admit to bail.

12153. Bail, qualifications of, and condition of undertaking.

12154. Deposit, when and how made.

12155. Exoneration of bail by deposit.

12156. Deposit to be applied to payment of judgment and fine.

12152. Who may admit to bail. In cases in which defendant may be admitted to bail upon an appeal, the order admitting him to bail may be made by any magistrate having the power to issue a writ of habeas corpus, or by the magistrate before whom the trial was had.

12153. Bail, qualifications of, and condition of undertaking. The bail must possess the qualifications, and must be put in, in all respects, as provided in sections 12140 to 12144 of this code, except that the undertaking must be conditioned as prescribed in section 12138, for undertaking of bail on appeal.

12154. Deposit, when and how made. The defendant, at any time after an order admitting him to bail, instead of giving bail, may deposit with the clerk of the court in which he is held to answer the sum mentioned in the order, and, upon delivering to the officer in whose custody he is a certificate of the deposit, he must be discharged from custody.

History: En. Sec. 118, p. 235, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 249, p. 228, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 249, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 250, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 2380, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9461, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12154, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1295.

Operation and Effect

Where plaintiff in an action in claim and delivery against a clerk of the district court to recover possession of Liberty bonds deposited as bail for one accused of crime and subsequently declared forfeited, brought on the theory that the deposit was unauthorized under this section, under which the clerk could accept only money, had stipulated at the time bail was furnished that the bonds were substantially the equivalent of the amount fixed as bail in money or cash, she was estopped to assert otherwise. Kirschbaum v. Mayn, 76 M 320, 329, 246 P 953.

Id. Where a prisoner for whom bail was furnished by plaintiff by a deposit of Liberty bonds was in court in the custody of the sheriff and released at once, the fact that a certificate of the deposit was not delivered to the officer as required by this section as authority for releasing him, was immaterial.

12155. Exoneration of bail by deposit. If the defendant has given bail, he may, at any time before the forfeiture of the undertaking, in like manner deposit the sum mentioned therein, and upon the deposit being made the bail is exonerated.

12156. Deposit to be applied to payment of judgment and fine. When money has been deposited, if it remains on deposit at the time of a judgment for the payment of a fine, the clerk must, under direction of the court, apply the money in satisfaction thereof, and, after satisfying the fine and costs, must refund the surplus, if any, to the defendant.

CHAPTER 94

SURRENDER OF DEFENDANT—FORFEITURE OF BAIL—RECOMMITMENT OF THE DEFENDANT

- Section 12157. Surrender, by whom, when, and how made.
12158. Defendant, how surrendered.
12159. Return of deposit on surrender.
12160. How forfeited, and how forfeiture discharged.
12161. Default of person under bail.
12162. Surety, how discharged.
12163. What will not bar action on bond.
12164. Forfeiture to be enforced by action.
12165. Liability of real estate.
12166. Deposit, when forfeited, how disposed of.
12167. Arrest of defendant, in what cases.
12168. Contents of order.
12169. Defendant may be arrested in any county.
12170. If for failure to appear, defendant must be committed.
12171. If for other cause, he may be admitted to bail.
12172. Bail in such case, by whom taken.
12173. Form of the undertaking.
12174. Bail must possess what qualifications, and how put in.

12157. Surrender, by whom, when, and how made. At any time before the forfeiture of their undertaking the bail may surrender the defendant in their exoneration, or he may surrender himself to the officer to whose custody he was committed at the time of giving bail, in the following manner:

1. A certified copy of the undertaking of the bail must be delivered to the officer, who must detain the defendant in his custody thereon, as upon a commitment, and by a certificate in writing acknowledging the surrender.

2. Upon the undertaking and certificate of the officer, the court in which the action or appeal is pending may, upon notice of five days to the county attorney, with a copy of the undertaking and certificate, order that the bail be exonerated, and, on filing the order and the papers used on the application, they are exonerated accordingly.

History: Earlier acts were Secs. 120-123, p. 235, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Secs. 251-254, p. 228, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Secs. 251-254, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Secs. 252-255, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887. This section en. Sec. 2390, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9464, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12157, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1300.

12158. Defendant, how surrendered. For the purpose of surrendering the defendant, the bail, at any time before they are finally discharged, and at any place within the state, may themselves arrest him, or by a written authority indorsed on a certified copy of the undertaking, may empower any person of suitable age and discretion to do so.

12159. Return of deposit on surrender. If money has been deposited instead of bail, and the defendant, at any time before the forfeiture thereof, surrenders himself to the officer to whom the commitment was directed, in the manner provided in the last two sections, the court must order a return of the deposit to the defendant, upon producing the certificate of the officer showing the surrender, and upon a notice of five days to the county attorney, with a copy of the certificate.

12160. How forfeited, and how forfeiture discharged. If, without sufficient excuse, the defendant neglects to appear for arraignment or for trial or judgment, or upon any other occasion when his presence in court may be lawfully required, or to surrender himself in execution of the judgment, the court must direct the fact to be entered upon its minutes, and the undertaking of bail, or the money deposited instead of bail, as the case may be, is thereupon forfeited. But if at any time before the final adjournment of the court, the defendant or his bail appear and satisfactorily excuse his neglect, the court may direct the forfeiture of the undertaking, or the deposit to be discharged upon such terms as may be just.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 124, p. 236, Ban-nack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 255, p. 229, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 255, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 256, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 2400, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9467, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12160, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1305.

Operation and Effect

In a suit to recover the amount of a bond given under this section for failure of a defendant to appear at the district court in accordance with the condition of the bond, it is not necessary to allege in the complaint that the defendant made default of appearance "without excuse." State v. Wrote, 19 M 209, 47 P 898.

Where, in an action on a bail bond, it was shown that an information was filed against the defendant, charging him with a crime, and that he failed to appear and answer, and that the court thereupon ordered the bond forfeited, this section was sufficiently complied with. State v. Lagoni, 30 M 472, 480, 76 P 1044.

12161. Default of person under bail. When any person under bond or undertaking in any criminal action or proceeding, either to appear and answer, or to prosecute an appeal, or to testify in any court, fails to perform the condition of such bond or undertaking, his default must be entered in the minutes, and judgment entered against him for the amount of such bond or undertaking, and proceedings may be taken to recover judgment against any or all of the sureties thereto in any court having jurisdiction.

History: En. Sec. 2401, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9468, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12161, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

While the district court may, under this section, summarily enter judgment against the person charged with crime who fails to appear according to the condition of his bond, it exceeds its jurisdiction when it goes further than to authorize proceedings by the county attorney against the sureties by proper action, and at once enters judgment against them for the amount of the bond. State ex rel. Van v. District Court, 54 M 577, 579, 172 P 540.

12162. Surety, how discharged. Any surety on such bond or undertaking may be discharged from any liability thereon, at any time before final judgment against him, upon surrendering to the court or the proper officer the principal in such bond or undertaking, or by paying to the clerk of the court the amount for which he was bound as surety, with such costs as the court shall direct.

History: En. Sec. 2402, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9469, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12162, R. C. M. 1921.

12163. What will not bar action on bond. No action brought on a bond or undertaking is barred or defeated, nor shall judgment thereon be arrested by reason of any neglect or omission to note or record the default of any principal or surety at the term or session when such default happened, nor by reason of any defect in the form of the bond or undertaking, if it sufficiently appears, from the tenor thereof, at what court the party or witness was bound to appear, and that the court or magistrate before whom it was taken was authorized by law to require and take the same.

History: En. Sec. 2403, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9470, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12163, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

An averment in the complaint that the defendant was called and failed to appear in the district court was equivalent to an averment that his default for not appearing was entered of record. State v. Wrote, 19 M 209, 47 P 898.

12164. Forfeiture to be enforced by action. If the forfeiture is not discharged, as provided in this article, the county attorney may at any time proceed by action only against the bail upon their undertaking.

12165. Liability of real estate. The real estate of all persons who sign or enter into any undertaking for the appearance of a person charged with any criminal offense is liable for the payment of any judgment which may be recovered thereon, and the judgment is a lien upon the property from the date of the undertaking. Nothing in this section prohibits the issuing of execution and the enforcing the collection thereof out of any other property of the sureties.

History: En. Sec. 2405, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9472, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12165, R. C. M. 1921.

12166. Deposit, when forfeited, how disposed of. If, by reason of the neglect of the defendant to appear, money deposited instead of bail is forfeited, and the forfeiture is not discharged or remitted, the clerk with whom it is deposited must, immediately after the final adjournment of the court for the term or session, pay over the money deposited to the county treasurer.

12167. Arrest of defendant, in what cases. The court to which the committing magistrate returns the complaint, or in which an indictment, information, or appeal is pending, or to which a judgment on appeal is remitted to be carried into effect, may, by an order entered upon its minutes, direct the arrest of the defendant and his commitment to the officer to whose custody he was committed at the time of giving bail, and his detention until legally discharged, in the following cases:

1. When, by reason of his failure to appear, he has incurred a forfeiture of his bail, or of money deposited instead thereof.

2. When it satisfactorily appears to the court that his bail, or either of them, are dead or insufficient, or have removed from the state.

3. Upon an indictment being found or information filed.

12168. Contents of order. The order for the recommitment of the defendant must recite generally the facts upon which it is founded, and direct that the defendant be arrested by any sheriff, constable, marshal, or policeman in this state, and committed to the officer in whose custody he was at the time he was admitted to bail, to be detained until legally discharged.

History: En. Sec. 264, p. 230, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 264, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 265, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 2421, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9474, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12168, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1311.

12169. Defendant may be arrested in any county. The defendant may be arrested pursuant to the order, upon a certified copy thereof, in any county, in the same manner as upon a warrant of arrest.

History: En. Sec. 265, p. 230, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 265, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 266, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2422, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9476, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12169, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1312.

12170. If for failure to appear, defendant must be committed. If the order recites, as the ground upon which it is made, the failure of the defendant to appear for judgment upon conviction, the defendant must be committed according to the requirement of the order.

History: En. Sec. 266, p. 230, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 266, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 267, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2423, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9477, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12170, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1313.

12171. If for other cause, he may be admitted to bail. If the order be made for any other cause, and the offense is bailable, the court may fix the amount of bail, and may cause a direction to be inserted in the order that the defendant be admitted to bail in the sum fixed, which must be specified in the order.

History: En. Sec. 267, p. 230, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 267, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 268, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2424, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9478, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12171, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1314.

12172. Bail in such case, by whom taken. When the defendant is admitted to bail, the bail may be taken by any magistrate in the county having authority in a similar case to admit to bail, upon the holding of the defendant to answer before information filed or by any other magistrate designated by the court.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 268, p. 230, Cod. re-en. Sec. 9479, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 268, 3d Div. Rev. 12172, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 269, 3d Div. Comp. 1315.

12173. Form of the undertaking. When bail is taken upon the commitment of the defendant, the undertaking must be substantially in the following form:

"An order having been made on the.....day of....., A. D. nineteen hundred and....., by the court (naming it) that A B be admitted to bail in the sum of.....dollars, in an action pending in that court against him in behalf of the state of Montana, upon an (information, indictment, or appeal, as the case may be), we, C D and E F, of (stating their place of residence and occupation), hereby undertake that the above named A B will appear in that or any other court in which his appearance may be lawfully required, upon the (information, indictment, or appeal, as the case may be) and will at all times render himself amenable to its orders and process, and appear for judgment and surrender himself in execution thereof; or, if he fails to perform either of these conditions, that we will pay to the state of Montana the sum of.....dollars (insert the sum in which the defendant is admitted to bail)."

CHAPTER 95

WHO MAY BE WITNESS IN CRIMINAL ACTIONS

- Section 12175. Who are competent witnesses.
12176. Competency of husband and wife as witnesses.
12177. When the defendant is not a competent witness, and when he may testify.
12178. Testimony of several persons concerned in commission of offense—privilege and immunity.

12175. Who are competent witnesses. The rules for determining the competency of witnesses in civil actions are applicable also to criminal actions and proceedings, except as otherwise provided in this code.

History: En. Sec. 2440, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9482, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12175, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1321.

Operation and Effect

A boy fifteen years of age, called as a witness, who answers that he understood what he had done when he took the oath, that he knows the difference between truth and falsehood, that the truth was that which was so, and not that which was not so, and that he knew that if he did not tell the truth he would be punished, sufficiently qualifies himself to testify in a criminal case. State v. Cadotte, 17 M 315, 316, 42 P 857.

12176. Competency of husband and wife as witnesses. Except with the consent of both, or in cases of criminal violence upon one by the other, or in case of abandonment, or neglect of children by either party, or of abandonment or neglect of the wife by the husband, neither husband nor wife is a competent witness for or against the other in a criminal action or proceeding to which one or both are parties.

History: En. Sec. 2441, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9483, Rev. C. 1907; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 111, L. 1915; re-en. Sec. 12176, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1322.

Operation and Effect

Under this section, as amended, a wife was competent to testify in a prosecution against her husband for attempted murder. State v. Rains, 53 M 424, 164 P 540.

12177. When the defendant is not a competent witness, and when he may testify. A defendant in a criminal action or proceeding cannot be compelled to be a witness against himself; but he may be sworn, and may testify in his own behalf, and the jury in judging of his credibility and the weight to be given to his testimony, may take into consideration the fact that he is the defendant, and the nature and enormity of the crime of which he is accused. If the defendant does not claim the right to be sworn, or does not testify, it must not be used to his prejudice, and the attorney prosecuting must not comment to the court or jury on the same.

Defendant Who Testifies in Own Behalf Waives His Right

Where defendant in a criminal prosecution takes the stand as a witness in his own behalf, and testifies that he did not commit the crime imputed to him, he waives his constitutional privilege, and cannot refuse to testify to any facts which would be competent evidence in the case, if proved by other witnesses. State v. Smith, 57 M 349, 188 P 644.

Instruction on Section

An instruction, submitted to the jury in a criminal cause, embodying the provisions of this section, was not open to the objection that it practically deprived him of the presumption of innocence which attends him until his guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Farnham, 35 M 375, 379, 89 P 728.

While it is the general rule that a court ought not in its instructions single out a particular witness and direct the attention of the jury to his testimony, this section makes an exception to the rule, and the court may properly instruct that the jury, in judging the credibility of one on trial for a crime and the weight to be given to his testimony, may take into consideration the fact that he is the defendant, and the nature and enormity of the crime of which he stands charged. State v. De Lea, 36 M 531, 541, 93 P 814.

Where defendant did not testify in his own behalf, an instruction in the words of this section that if defendant does testify, the jury, in judging of the credibility and weight of his testimony, may take into consideration the fact that he is the defendant and the nature and enormity of the crime, though unnecessary, was harmless. State v. Stevens, 60 M 390, 405, 199 P 256; State v. Kessler, 74 M 166, 167, 239 P 1000.

"Must" for "May" in Instruction Not Erroneous

An instruction giving this section, which uses the word "must" in place of the statutory word "may," is not erroneous. State v. Dotson, 26 M 305, 311, 67 P 938.

Not Applicable to Disbarment Proceedings

A disbarment proceeding is not a criminal prosecution, but a special proceeding of a civil nature, and the court is not therefore precluded under this section from taking into consideration the accused's failure to be sworn in his own behalf. In re Welcome, 23 M 450, 468, 59 P 445.

12178. Testimony of several persons concerned in commission of offense—privilege and immunity. When two or more persons are jointly, or otherwise, concerned in the commission of an offense, any one of such persons may testify for or against the other in relation to the offense committed, but the testimony of such witness must not be used against him in any criminal action or proceeding.

Operation and Effect

An accomplice is a competent witness against an accused, although his testimony was obtained by threats or inducements. Such facts bear upon his credibility only, and not upon his competency, and his testimony is not subject to the rules governing admissions by a prisoner accused and on trial. Very great latitude should be allowed in the cross-examination of an accomplice. State v. Geddes, 22 M 68, 89, 55 P 919.

CHAPTER 96

COMPELLING THE ATTENDANCE OF WITNESSES

- Section 12179. Subpoena defined, and who may issue.
 12180. Form of subpoena.
 12181. Subpoena, by whom and how served.
 12182. Expenses of witness from without the county, or poor.
 12183. Attendance of witness residing or served out of the county.
 12184. Disobedience to subpoena, etc.
 12185. Failure to appear, undertaking forfeited.
 12186. Temporary removal of imprisoned witnesses.

12179. Subpoena defined, and who may issue. The process by which the attendance of a witness before a court or magistrate is required is a subpoena. It may be signed and issued by—

1. A magistrate before whom a complaint is laid, for witnesses in the state, either on behalf of the state or of the defendant;
2. The county attorney, for witnesses in the state, in support of the prosecution, or for such other witnesses as the grand jury, upon an investigation pending before them, may direct;
3. The county attorney, for witnesses in the state, in support of an indictment or information, to appear before the court in which it is to be tried;
4. The clerk of the court in which an indictment or information is to be tried; and he must, at any time, upon application of the defendant, and without charge, issue as many blank subpoenas, subscribed by him as clerk, for witnesses in the state, as the defendant may require, under the direction of the court or judge.

"The State of Montana to A B:

"You are commanded to appear before C D, a justice of the peace oftownship, in.....county (or as the case may be) at (naming the place), on (stating the day and hour), as a witness in a criminal action prosecuted by the State of Montana against E F.

If books, papers, or documents are required, a direction to the following effect must be contained in the subpoena: "And you are required, also, to bring with you the following (describing intelligibly the books, papers, or documents required)."

12181. Subpoena, by whom and how served. A subpoena may be served by any person, but a peace officer must serve in his county any subpoena delivered to him for service, either on the part of the state or of the defendant, and must without delay, make a written return of the service, subscribed by him, stating the time and place of service. The service is made by showing the original to the witness personally, and informing him of its contents.

12182. Expenses of witness from without the county, or poor. When a person attends before a magistrate, grand jury, or court, as a witness in a criminal case, upon a subpoena or in pursuance of an undertaking, and it appears that he has come from a place outside of the county, or that he is poor and unable to pay the expenses of such attendance, the court, at its discretion, if the attendance of the witness be upon a trial, by an order upon its minutes, or in any other case, the judge, at his discretion, by a written order, may direct the clerk of the court to draw his warrant upon the county treasurer in favor of such witness for a reasonable sum, to be specified in the order, for the necessary expenses of the witness.

12183. Attendance of witness residing or served out of the county. No person is obliged to attend as a witness before a court or magistrate out of the county where the witness resides, or is served with the subpoena, unless the judge of the court in which the offense is triable, or a justice of the supreme court, or a judge of the district court, upon an affidavit of the county attorney or prosecutor, or of the defendant, or his counsel, stating that he believes the evidence of the witness is material, and his attendance at the examination, or trial, necessary, shall indorse on the subpoena an order for the attendance of the witness.

12184. Disobedience to subpoena, etc. Disobedience to a subpoena, or a refusal to be sworn or to testify as a witness, may be punished by the court or magistrate as a contempt. A witness disobeying a subpoena issued on the part of the defendant, unless he show good cause for his nonattendance, is liable to the defendant in the sum of one hundred dollars, which may be recovered in a civil action.

12185. Failure to appear, undertaking forfeited. When a witness has entered into an undertaking to appear, upon his failure to do so the undertaking is forfeited in the same manner as undertakings of bail.

12186. Temporary removal of imprisoned witnesses. When the testimony of a material witness for the state is required in a criminal action, before a court of record of this state, and such witness is a prisoner in the state prison, or in a county jail, an order for his temporary removal from such prison or jail, and for his production before such court, may be made by the court in which the action is pending, or by the judge thereof; but in case the prison or jail is out of the county in which the application is made, such order shall only be made upon affidavit of the county attorney, or other person, on behalf of the state, showing that the testimony is material and necessary; and even then the granting of the order shall be in the discretion of the court or judge. The order must be executed by the sheriff of the county in which it is made, whose duty it shall be to bring the prisoner before the proper court, to safely keep him, and when he is no longer required as a witness, to return him to the prison or jail whence he was taken; the expense of executing such order shall be paid by the county in which the order shall be made.

Operation and Effect

Where state court desires that prisoner be produced for use as witness, and custodian is not sheriff of county in which court requiring prisoner sits, writ of habeas corpus must be employed, notwithstanding this section. United States v. Schultz, 37 F. 2d 619.

CHAPTER 97

EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES CONDITIONALLY

- Section 12187. State or defendant may examine witness conditionally.
 12188. Depositions of material witnesses.

 12197. When deposition may be read.
 12198. Deposition of witness in jail.

12187. State or defendant may examine witness conditionally. When a defendant has been held to answer a charge for a public offense, he, and the state, may, in all cases, either before or after an information has been filed or after an indictment has been found, have witnesses examined conditionally, on his or its behalf, as prescribed in this chapter, and not otherwise.

History: En. Sec. 2480, Pen. C. 1895; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 109, L. 1907; Sec. 9494, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12187, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1335.

Operation and Effect

There is not any limitation as to the time when depositions in criminal cases may be taken, and this and the following section at least imply that they may be taken at any time after the defendant has been held to answer the charge, even before an information has been filed against him. State v. Vanella, 40 M 326, 337, 106 P 364.

12188. Depositions of material witnesses. When a material witness for the defendant or the state cannot give security for his appearance at the trial, the defendant or the state may apply to the district court of the county or district in which the offense is alleged to have been committed for an order to take his deposition.

12193. Rights of defendant. The defendant has the right to be present in person and with counsel at such examination, and, if the defendant is in custody, the officer in whose custody he is must be informed of the time and place of such examination, and must take the defendant thereto, and keep him in the presence and hearing of the witness during the examination. The defendant, if in custody, shall be brought before the judge or the court to whom the application is made to take the deposition, and be present at the hearing. If it appears to the judge or court that the defendant is without an attorney and unable to employ one, the court shall appoint an attorney to appear for him at the hearing and upon the trial of the case. Such deposition may be taken before any magistrate or notary public of the county of which the jail or prison is situate; or in case the witness is confined in the state prison, and the defendant is unable to pay for taking the deposition, it may be taken before the warden of the state prison, whose duty it shall be to act without compensation. History: En. Sec. 2500, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9506, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12199, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1349.

12200. When defendant may apply for an order to examine. When a material witness for the defendant resides out of the state, the defendant may apply for an order that the witness be examined on a commission.

12201. Commission defined. A commission is a process issued under seal of the court and the signature of the clerk, directed to some person designated as commissioner, authorizing him to examine the witness upon oath or interrogatories annexed thereto, to take and certify the deposition of the witness, and to return it according to the directions given with the commission.

12202. Application made on affidavit. The application must be made upon affidavit stating—

1. The nature of the offense charged;
2. The state of the proceedings in the action, and that an issue of fact has been joined therein;
3. The name of the witness, and that his testimony is material to the defense of the action;

4. That the witness resides out of the state.

12203. Application, to whom made. The application may be made to the court or a judge thereof, and must be upon three days' notice to the county attorney.

12204. Order for commission, when granted, stay of proceedings. If the court to whom the application is made is satisfied of the truth of the facts stated, and that the examination of the witness is necessary to the attainment of justice, an order must be made that a commission be issued to take his testimony; and the court may insert in the order a direction that the trial be stayed for a specified time, reasonably sufficient for the execution and return of the commission.

When the commission is ordered, the defendant must serve upon the county attorney, without delay, a copy of the interrogatories to be annexed thereto, with two days' notice of the time at which they will be presented to the court or judge. The county attorney may in like manner serve upon the defendant or his counsel cross-interrogatories, to be annexed to the commission, with the like notice. In the interrogatories either party may insert any questions pertinent to the issue. When the interrogatories and cross-interrogatories are presented to the court or judge, according to the notice given, the court or judge must modify the questions so as to conform them to the rules of evidence, and must indorse upon them his allowance and annex them to the commission.

12206. Direction as to the return of the commission. Unless the parties otherwise consent, by an indorsement upon the commission, the court or judge must indorse thereon a direction as to the manner in which it must be returned, and may, in his discretion, direct that it be returned by mail or otherwise, addressed to the clerk of the court in which the action is pending, designating his name and the place where his office is kept.

12207. Commission, how executed. The commissioner, unless otherwise specially directed, may execute the commission as follows:

1. He must publicly administer an oath to the witness that his answers given to the interrogatories shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

2. He must cause the examination of the witness to be reduced to writing, and subscribed by him.

3. He must write the answers of the witness as near as possible in the language in which he gives them, and read to him each answer as it is taken down, and correct or add to it until it conforms to what he declares is the truth.

4. If the witness decline answering a question, that fact, with the reason assigned by him for declining, must be stated.

5. If any papers or documents are produced before him and proved by the witness, they, or copies of them, must be annexed to the deposition subscribed by the witness and certified by the commissioner.

6. The commissioner must subscribe his name to each sheet of the deposition, and annex the deposition, with the papers and documents proved by the witness, or copies thereof, to the commission, and must close it up under seal, and address it as directed by the indorsement thereon.

7. If there be a direction on the commission to return it by mail the commissioner must immediately deposit it in the nearest postoffice. If any other direction be made by the written consent of the parties, or by the court or judge, on the commission, as to its return, the commissioner must comply with the direction. A copy of this section must be annexed to the commission.

12208. Returned commission, delivery to an agent. If the commission and return be delivered by the commissioner to an agent, he must deliver the same to the clerk to whom it is directed, or to the judge of the court in which the action is pending, by whom it may be received and opened, upon the agent making affidavit that he received it from the hands of the commissioner, and that it has not been opened or altered since he received it.

12209. Same. If the agent is dead, or from sickness or other casualty unable personally to deliver the commission and return, as prescribed in the last section, it may be received by the clerk or judge from any other person, upon his making affidavit that he received it from the agent, that the agent is dead, or from sickness or other casualty unable to deliver it; that it has not been opened or altered since the person making the affidavit received it; and that he believes it has not been opened or altered since it came from the hands of the commissioner.

12210. When and how filed. The clerk or judge receiving and opening the commission and return must immediately file it, with the affidavit mentioned in the last two sections, in the office of the clerk of the court in which the indictment is pending or information filed. If the commission and return is transmitted by mail, the clerk to whom it is addressed must receive it from the postoffice, and open and file it in his office, where it must remain, unless otherwise directed by the court or judge.

12211. Commission and return, open for inspection—copies, etc. The commission and return must at all times be open to the inspection of the parties, who must be furnished by the clerk with copies of the same or any part thereof, on payment of his fees.

History: En. Sec. 2512, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9518, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12211, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1361.

12212. Depositions to be read in evidence—objections. The depositions taken under the commission may be read in evidence by either party on the trial, upon it being shown that the witness is unable to attend from any cause whatever; and the same objections may be taken to a question in the interrogatories or to an answer in the deposition, as if the witness had been examined orally in court.

CHAPTER 99

PROCEEDINGS ON INQUIRY AS TO THE SANITY OF A DEFENDANT

- Section 12213. Insane person cannot be tried or punished.
 12214. Doubts as to sanity of the defendant, how determined—stay of proceedings on.
 12215. Trial of the question of insanity—charge of court.
 12216. Verdict of the jury as to sanity, and proceedings thereon.
 12217. If defendant is committed, it exonerates his bail, etc.
 12218. Defendant detained in asylum until he becomes sane.
 12219. Expense of sending, etc., defendant to asylum.

12213. Insane person cannot be tried or punished. A person cannot be tried, adjudged to punishment, or punished for a public offense while he is insane.

History: Earlier acts, see Secs. 463-467, pp. 259, 260, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Secs. 463-467, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Secs. 465-469, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887.

This section en. Sec. 2520, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9520, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12213, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1367.

12214. Doubts as to sanity of the defendant, how determined—stay of proceedings on. When an action is called for trial, or at any time during the trial, or when the defendant is brought up for judgment on conviction, if a doubt arises as to the sanity of the defendant, the court must order the question as to his sanity to be submitted to a jury, which must be drawn and selected as in other cases; and the trial or the pronouncing of the judgment must be suspended until the question is determined by their verdict, and the trial jury may be discharged or retained, according to the discretion of the court, during the pendency of the issue of insanity.

Operation and Effect

Where the question of the defendant's present sanity is presented, it is within the sound discretion of the court to determine whether the matter should be inquired into in a special proceeding under the provisions of this section, whereas the question of the defendant's sanity at the time of the commission of the offense should be tried by the jury impaneled to pass upon his guilt or innocence of the crime charged. State v. Peterson, 25 M 81, 63 P 799.

The doubt mentioned in this section is one arising in the mind of the presiding judge, and must be left to his judicial conscience. Unless there be a doubt in the mind of the judge a quo—a doubt which he must legally determine as he would determine any other matter of grave import before him—he will not be warranted in calling a special jury to try the issue. State v. Howard, 30 M 518, 528, 77 P 50.

Where, after judgment of death has been pronounced upon a defendant, there is good reason to suppose that he has become insane, the sheriff, with the concurrence of the judge of the court by which the judgment was rendered, may summon a jury to inquire into the question of his sanity in conformity with sections 12095 et seq.; but where during the course of the trial or before judgment of conviction is pronounced a doubt arises as to his mental condition, the procedure outlined by sections 12214 to 12219 is controlling. State v. Vetter, 77 M 66, 71 et seq., 249 P 666.

Where in a prosecution for homicide no attempt was made to prove insanity and the question of defendant's sanity during the trial or at any time was not suggested to the court, failure of the court to call a jury to determine his sanity, a matter addressed to its sound discretion, was not an abuse thereof. State v. Schlaps, 78 M 560, 575, 254 P 858.

12215. Trial of the question of insanity—charge of court. The trial of the question of insanity must proceed in the following order:

1. The counsel for the defendant must open the case and offer evidence in support of the allegation of insanity.

2. The counsel for the state may then open their case, and offer evidence in support thereof.

3. The parties then may respectively offer rebutting testimony only, unless the court, for good reason, in furtherance of justice, permit them to offer evidence upon their original cause.

4. When the evidence is concluded, unless the case is submitted to the jury on either or both sides without argument, the counsel for the state must commence, and the defendant or his counsel may conclude the argument to the jury.

5. If the indictment or information be for an offense punishable with death, two counsel on each side may argue the cause to the jury, in which case they must do so alternately. In other cases, the argument may be restricted to one counsel on each side.

6. The court must then charge the jury, stating to them all matters of law necessary for their information in giving their verdict.

12216. Verdict of the jury as to sanity, and proceedings thereon. If the jury find the defendant sane, the trial must proceed, or judgment be pronounced, as the case may be. If the jury find the defendant insane, the trial or judgment must be suspended until he becomes sane, and the court must order that he be in the meantime committed by the sheriff to the state insane asylum, and that upon his becoming sane he be redelivered to the sheriff.

12217. If defendant is committed, it exonerates his bail, etc. The commitment of the defendant, as mentioned in the last section, exonerates his bail, or entitles a person, authorized to receive the property of the defendant, to a return of any money he may have deposited instead of bail.

12218. Defendant detained in asylum until he becomes sane. If the defendant is received into the asylum he must be detained there until he becomes sane. When he becomes sane, the superintendent must give notice of that fact to the sheriff and county attorney of the county. The sheriff must thereupon, without delay, bring the defendant from the asylum, and place him in proper custody until he is brought to trial or judgment, as the case may be, or is legally discharged. The sheriff must receive the actual expenses incurred and no more.

12219. Expense of sending, etc., defendant to asylum. The expenses of sending the defendant to the asylum, of keeping him there, and of bringing him back, are in the first instance chargeable to the county in which the indictment was found, or the information filed; but the county may recover them from the estate of the defendant, if he have any, or from a relative, town, city, or county bound to provide for and maintain him elsewhere.

CHAPTER 100

COMPROMISING OFFENSES BY LEAVE OF COURT

- Section 12220. Compromise of offense for which civil action may be had.
 12221. Compromise by permission of the court bars another prosecution.
 12222. No public offense to be compromised except.

12220. Compromise of offense for which civil action may be had. When a defendant is held to answer on a charge of misdemeanor, for which the person injured by the act constituting the offense has a remedy by civil action, the offense may be compromised as provided in the next section, except when it is committed—

1. By or upon an officer of justice, while in the execution of the duties of his office;
2. Riotously;
3. With an intent to commit a felony.

History: En. Sec. 2540, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9527, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12220, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1377.

Operation and Effect

Where one charged with an offense which, under this section, may lawfully be compromised, voluntarily pays the amount involved in the criminal case for the purpose of settlement and the charge is withdrawn or dismissed, the payment is a tacit admission that there was probable cause for instituting the criminal proceeding, and an action for malicious prosecution thereafter does not lie. Saner v. Bowker, 69 M 463, 466, 222 P 1056.

12221. Compromise by permission of the court bars another prosecution. If the party injured appears before the court in which the trial is to be had, at any time before trial, and acknowledges that he has received satisfaction for the injury, the court may, in its discretion, on payment of costs incurred, order all proceedings to be stayed by the prosecution, and the defendant to be discharged therefrom; but in such case the reasons for the order must be set forth therein, and entered on the minutes. The order is a bar to another prosecution for the same offense.

12222. No public offense to be compromised except. No public offense can be compromised, nor can any proceeding or prosecution for the punishment thereof upon a compromise be stayed, except as provided in this chapter.

CHAPTER 101

DISMISSAL OF ACTIONS FOR WANT OF PROSECUTION OR OTHER REASONS

- Section 12223. When action may be dismissed.
 12224. Case may be continued.
 12225. Continuance and discharge from custody.
 12226. If action dismissed, defendant to be discharged, etc.
 12227. Dismissed on motion of court or application of county attorney.
 12228. Nolle prosequi abolished.
 12229. Dismissal a bar in misdemeanor, but not in felony.

12223. When action may be dismissed. The court, unless good cause to the contrary is shown, must order the prosecution to be dismissed in the following cases:

1. Where a person has been held to answer for a public offense, if an information is not filed against him, within thirty days thereafter, or such time has not been extended by the court or judge.
2. If a defendant, whose trial has not been postponed upon his application, is not brought to trial within six months after the finding of the indictment, or filing of the information.

History: Ap. p. Sec. 179, p. 244, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Sec. 302, p. 236, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 302, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 303, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; en. Sec. 2550, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9530, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12223, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1382.

Operation and Effect

It is only by making timely objection before actively participating in the trial of a criminal prosecution against him that defendant can avail himself of the right to have the prosecution dismissed, under this section, because not brought to trial within six months after filing of the information; hence where motion to dismiss on that ground was not made until the trial had commenced and the jury had been sworn, he will be held to have waived the right. State v. Test, 65 M 134, 136, 211 P 217.

One charged with crime is, under this section, entitled to a dismissal of the information, whether he be imprisoned in the county jail or at liberty upon bail, if not brought to trial within six months after its filing, unless the state can show good cause why dismissal should not follow. State v. Arkle, 76 M 81, 86, 245 P 526.

Id. That the trial judge deemed it unwise, inexpedient and unnecessary to call a jury during the term at which a defendant should have been tried in order to come within the limitation of six months prescribed by this section for bringing him to trial, held not the "good cause" contemplated by the section, upon a showing of which a motion to dismiss the information may properly be denied.

A defendant is not entitled to a dismissal of the charge against him on the ground that he was not brought to trial within six months after the information was filed (this section) if the delay was caused by a mistrial. State v. Turlok, 76 M 549, 558, 248 P 169.

References

12224. Case may be continued. If, when application is made for the discharge of a defendant, under either subdivision of the next preceding section, the court is satisfied that there is material evidence on the part of the state, which cannot then be had; that reasonable exertions have been made to procure the same, and that there is just ground to believe that such evidence can be had at the succeeding term or session, or to such a reasonable time as may seem proper, the cause may be continued to the next term or session.

History: En. Sec. 2551, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9531, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12224, R. C. M. 1921.

12225. Continuance and discharge from custody. If the defendant is not brought to trial as provided in this chapter, and sufficient reason therefor is shown, the court may order the action to be continued from time to time, and in the meantime may discharge the defendant from custody on his own undertaking of bail for his appearance to answer the charge at the time to which the action is continued.

12226. If action dismissed, defendant to be discharged, etc. If the court directs the action to be dismissed, the defendant must, if in custody, be discharged therefrom; or, if admitted to bail, his bail exonerated, or money deposited instead of bail must be refunded to him.

12227. Dismissed on motion of court or application of county attorney. The court may, either of its own motion or upon the application of the county attorney, and in furtherance of justice, order an action, information, or indictment to be dismissed. The reasons of the dismissal must be set forth in an order entered upon the minutes.

12228. Nolle prosequi abolished. The entry of a nolle prosequi is abolished, and neither the attorney-general nor the county attorney can discontinue or abandon a prosecution of a public offense, except as provided in the last section.

References

State v. Peck, 83 M 327, 332, 271 P 707.

12229. Dismissal a bar in misdemeanor, but not in felony. An order for the dismissal of an action, as provided in this chapter, is a bar to any other prosecution for the same offense if it is a misdemeanor, but it is not a bar if the offense is a felony.

History: En. Sec. 2556, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9536, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12229, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1387.

Operation and Effect

This section, providing that the dismissal of a prosecution for felony is not a bar to a second prosecution, is not decisive of the question of former jeopardy. State v. Gaimos, 53 M 118, 121, 162 P 596.

Dismissal of an information before defendant is called upon to plead or before the jury is impaneled and sworn does not bar a subsequent prosecution for the same offense. State v. Knilians, 69 M 8, 15, 220 P 91.

A special plea in bar to a criminal proceeding, such as that a prior proceeding of the same nature had been dismissed, which dismissal, under this section, constitutes a bar to further prosecution where the offense constitutes a misdemeanor, is but a preliminary matter in nowise connected with the trial, since the plea must be entered before the accused pleads to the merits. State ex rel. Odenwald v. District Court, 98 M 1, 6, 38 P 2d 269.

CHAPTER 102

PROCEEDINGS AGAINST CORPORATIONS

- Section 12230. Summons upon information against corporation.

12233. Examination of the charge. At the appointed time in the summons the magistrate must proceed to investigate the charge in the same manner as in the case of a natural person, so far as these proceedings are applicable.

12234. Certificate of magistrate and return. After hearing the proofs, the magistrate must certify upon the complaint, either that there is or is not sufficient cause to believe the corporation guilty of the offense charged, and must return the complaint and certificate, as prescribed in section 11796.

12235. County attorney to file information. If the magistrate returns a certificate that there is sufficient cause to believe the corporation guilty of the offense charged the county attorney may file an information thereof, as in case of a natural person held to answer, or he may file such information by leave of the court.

12236. Appearance and plea. If an indictment is found, or information is filed, the corporation may appear by counsel to answer the same. If it does not thus appear, a plea of not guilty must be entered, and the same proceedings had thereon as in other cases.

12237. Fine on conviction, how collected. When a fine is imposed upon a corporation on conviction it may be collected by virtue of the order imposing it, by the sheriff of the county, out of its real and personal property, in the same manner as upon an execution in a civil action.

12238. Summons to corporation. When an indictment is found or an information filed against a corporation, the clerk must issue a summons in its corporate name, commanding it to appear and answer the indictment or information, a copy of which summons must be served on an officer of said corporation, or upon its agent or attorney designated as the person upon whom service of summons in civil actions may be made, if there be any such in the county where the indictment is found or information is filed; and if there be no officer or designated agent or attorney in the county where the indictment or information is found or filed, then upon any managing agent, ticket agent, clerk, cashier, or secretary, freight agent, superintendent, or general business manager in the county; and if there be none of the above described persons in the county, then upon any of such persons in any county in the state. Such notice must be served at least five days before the time at which the said corporation is by summons required to appear.

12239. Service of summons. When the sheriff or other officer returns the summons, certifying the service thereof, the corporation must, on and after the day appointed in such summons for its appearance, be considered in default, and the court must order the clerk to enter appearance for the corporation, and enter the plea of not guilty in the records of the court, and further proceedings may be had thereon as if the corporation had appeared and pleaded not guilty thereto; and if the corporation is convicted, the court must enter judgment for the amount of the fine and costs which may be awarded against it, in the same manner as on judgment in civil action.

When such property is taken by a police officer of any incorporated city or town, he must deliver one of the receipts to the defendant, and one, with the property, at once to the clerk or other person in charge of the police office in such city or town.

12264. Parole of prisoners in state prison. The governor may recommend and the state board of prison commissioners may parole any inmate of the state prison, under such reasonable conditions and regulations as may be deemed expedient, and adopted by such state board; providing, however,

1. That no convict shall be paroled who has been previously convicted of a felony other than the one for which he is serving sentence, either in this state or elsewhere;

2. That no convict serving a time sentence shall be paroled until he shall have served at least one-half of his full term, not reckoning his good time; except that any convict serving a time sentence may be paroled after he shall have served, upon his term of sentence, twelve and one-half years;

3. No convict, serving a life sentence, shall be paroled until he shall have served twenty-five years, less the diminution which would have been allowed for good conduct had his sentence been for twenty-five years, and then only by unanimous consent, in writing, of the members of the board of pardons.

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 95, L. 1907; Sec. 9573, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12264, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

The act of the governor, in granting a conditional release from the penitentiary of a person convicted of crime, is closely assimilated to a parole, which the governor has authority to grant under certain restrictions. In re Sutton, 50 M 88, 94, 145 P 6.

The effect of a parole granted a convict is to suspend the execution of the judgment until the end of the term of imprisonment, or until the paroled prisoner is rearrested for breach of the parole, and hence where such a prisoner was not rearrested after parole and enjoyed his liberty from the time of his discharge until the end of his term, he was thereafter prima facie rightfully at large and not subject to further restraint for the crime for which he was committed to prison. Anderson et al. v. Wirkman, 67 M 176, 186, 215 P 224.

Id. In the absence of countervailing evidence, the presumption obtains that the state prison board in paroling a prisoner sentenced to life imprisonment for murder regularly performed its duty and before granting the parole commuted his sentence, since without commutation in such case parole is not authorized by law.

12265. Paroled prisoners still in legal custody. All such convicts, while on parole, shall remain in the legal custody and under the control of the state board of prison commissioners, and subject at any time to be returned to the state prison, either for breach of the conditions of his parole, or otherwise, and the written order of such board of prison commissioners, certified by the state prison contractors, or the warden or other officers in charge of the state prison, shall be sufficient warrant to any officer to retake and return to actual custody any such convict. Geographical limits wholly within the state may be fixed in each case of parole, and the same shall be enlarged or reduced according to the conduct of the prisoner; provided, that such paroled prisoners shall be required to report in writing to said board of prison commissioners at least once in every three months, stating their postoffice address, the nature and kind of work or employment in which they are engaged, or in which they have been engaged since the last report, and such other information and facts as may be required by the rules and regulations of said board.

12266. Applications for parole. In considering applications for parole, the state board of prison commissioners shall not entertain any petition, or receive any written communication, or hear any argument from any attorney or other person not connected with said state prison, in favor of the parole of the prisoner, but the state board may institute inquiries by correspondence, or otherwise, as to the previous history or character of such prisoner.

Constitutionality

Held, that the bastardy statute (secs. 12267-12274) is not unconstitutional on the theory of defect of title based on the fact that, while proceedings in bastardy are civil in nature, it is found in the Penal Code having to do with crimes and criminal procedure, since the Codes of 1921 were adopted as one Act and the statute was merely carried forward from the Penal Code of 1895 into the codification of 1921, without amendment, as a matter of classification and convenience. State ex rel. Glasgow v. Hedrick, 88 M 551, 555, 294 P 375.

12268. Clerk to give notice, how and to whom. Upon the filing of the complaint, duly verified, the clerk must cause notice to be given to the person so charged, as in an ordinary action.

History: En. Sec. 2661, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9577, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12268, R. C. M. 1921.

12269. Lien upon real property, how created and for what. From the time of the filing of such complaint, a lien is created upon the real property of the accused in the county where the action is pending, for the payment of any money and the performance of any order adjudged by the proper court; but no lien attaches until notice of the pendency of the action is filed in the county clerk's office of the county where the real property is situated.

History: En. Sec. 2662, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9578, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12269, R. C. M. 1921.

12270. Judge may order attachment without bond, when. The district judge may order an attachment to issue thereon without an undertaking, which order must specify the amount of property to be seized under the attachment, and may be revoked at any time by such judge or the court, on a showing made to either for a revocation of the same, and on such terms as such court or judge may deem proper in the premises.

History: En. Sec. 2663, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9579, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12270, R. C. M. 1921.

12271. County attorney required to prosecute. The county attorney, on being notified of the facts, must prosecute the matter in behalf of the complainant.

History: En. Sec. 2664, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9580, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12271, R. C. M. 1921.

12272. Issue on the trial shall be "guilty" or "not guilty." The issue on the trial is "guilty" or "not guilty," and must be tried as an ordinary action.

History: En. Sec. 2665, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9581, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12272, R. C. M. 1921.

12273. Judgment and liability where accused found guilty. If the accused is found guilty he must be charged with the maintenance of the child, in such sum, and in such manner as the court directs, with the costs of suit; and the clerk may issue execution for any sum ordered, to be paid immediately, and afterwards, from time to time, as may be required to compel compliance with the order of the court, and the defendant may be committed to the county jail until he complies with the order or judgment.

History: En. Sec. 2666, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9582, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12273, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Quaere: May a putative father, if found guilty under the bastardy statute, be released from the obligation imposed upon him, by this section, to support his bastard child, by agreement with the prosecutrix before the birth of the child? State ex rel. Glasgow v. Hedrick, 88 M 551, 558, 294 P 375.

12274. Power of court over judgments and orders. The court may at any time enlarge, diminish, or vacate any order or judgment rendered in the proceedings, on such notice to the defendant as the court or judge may prescribe.

12275. Definition of juvenile delinquents. For the purpose of this act, the words "delinquent child" and the words "juvenile delinquent person" shall respectively mean and include any child under eighteen years of age, who violates any law of this state or any city ordinance of any city or town; or who is incorrigible; or who knowingly associates with a thief or with a vicious or immoral person; or who knowingly visits or lives in a house of prostitution, or in a house of ill-fame; or who is growing up in idleness or crime; or who knowingly patronizes or visits any place, house, apartment or building where any gambling device is, or devices are, or shall be run or operated or used, or kept for such purposes, or where any gambling is done or conducted; or who patronizes or habitually visits any saloon or saloons, dram shop, or dram shops, or who purchases at any saloon or dram shop any wines, beverages or intoxicating liquors for itself; or who patronizes or visits any poolroom which is run in connection with a saloon or place where any kind of drink is sold; or who patronizes or visits any room where pools are sold at any time; or visits or patronizes any bucket shop or shops; or wanders about the streets of any town or city in the night-time, without being on any lawful business or occupation; or who habitually wanders about or visits any railroad yard or tracks, or hooks or jumps on to any moving train or trains; or who enters any car or cars, engine or engines without any lawful authority; or who habitually uses vile, obscene, vulgar, profane or indecent language; or who is guilty of immoral conduct in any public place or about any schoolhouse or school grounds; or who shall become addicted to the use of spirituous or intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and not for medicinal purposes prescribed by a physician; or who shall have become addicted to the use of drugs other than prescribed by a physician, or who shall become addicted to the use of cigarettes.

History: Earlier acts were Ch. 126, L. 1907, ap. as Secs. 9423-9439, Rev. C. 1907.

Effect of Marriage On Right to Commit to Vocational School

In the absence of a statute to that effect, the marriage of a female minor, while releasing her from parental authority, does not change her status to that of an adult, and therefore under the juvenile delinquent law, a married female under the age of eighteen years may properly be committed to the State Vocational School for Girls until she attain the age of twenty-one years. State ex rel. Foot v. District Court et al., 77 M 290, 291 et seq., 250 P 973.

Id. The controlling element in juvenile laws is age, not minority; hence the contention that a female cannot be held under a commitment in the State Vocational School for Girls after she reaches the age of majority fixed by section 5673, R. C. M. 1921, at eighteen years, cannot be sustained.

Methods for Depriving Parents of Children Exclusive

It is only by one of the methods provided by statute that parents may be deprived of their right to the custody of their children (Secs. 5840, 5841, 12275 et seq.); hence where a sheriff without writ, warrant or order of court took a seventeen year old girl, whose father and brother were charged with felonies committed upon her person, into custody, his return to a writ of habeas corpus sued out by the mother, alleging inter alia unfitness of the mother to have her in custody, was no defense to the writ. Ex parte Reinhardt, 88 M 282, 288, 292 P 582.

Purpose of Act

Proceedings under the Juvenile Delinquency Law are in no sense criminal; the law does not contemplate punishment for an offense committed by an erring minor; it is no more than an administrative police regulation for the saving of the child and the protection of society; in administering it the courts act more in a paternal than in a judicial capacity, and the provisions of the Act in which the proceedings shall be conducted are exclusive. State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman et al., 81 M 132, 140, 262 P 168.

12276. What children deemed juvenile delinquents—evidence, when used. Any child under eighteen years of age who shall commit any of the acts or do any of the things mentioned in the above section shall be deemed a delinquent child, or a juvenile delinquent person, and shall be proceeded against as such in the manner hereinafter provided. A deposition of any child under this act, or any evidence given in such case, shall not, in any civil or criminal or other cause or procedure whatever in any court, be lawful or proper evidence against such child for any purpose whatever, except in any subsequent case against the same child prosecuted under this act. The word "child" or "children" may mean one or more children, and the word "parent" or "parents" may mean one or more parents, when consistent with the intent of this act.

History: En. Sec. 2, Ch. 122, L. 1911; amd. Sec. 2, Ch. 202, L. 1919; re-en. Sec. 12276, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

In a prosecution for arson the county attorney was permitted, over objection, to cross-examine defendant as to whether or not he had been convicted of felonies in juvenile proceedings. After introducing a certified copy of the order of the court in such proceedings, counsel for defendant moved to strike the cross-examination. The court denied the motion but at the conclusion of the trial and when the jury was about to be instructed it ordered that the jury disregard such record evidence, thus leaving in the record the objectionable cross-examination. Held, that since under this section, evidence had in a juvenile proceeding may not be used in any later criminal proceeding against the former juvenile, the admission of the evidence in cross-examination was reversible error and that, under the circumstances, the order of withdrawal did not cure the error. State v. Ludwick, 90 M 41, 48, 300 P 558.

12277. Jurisdiction—trial by jury—records—reports. The district courts of the several counties in this state shall have jurisdiction in all cases coming within the terms and provisions of this act. In trials under this act the child complained against, or any person interested in such child, shall have the right to demand a trial by jury, which shall be granted as in other cases, unless waived, or the judge of his own motion may call a jury to try such case. A special record book or books shall be kept by the chief probation officer of the court, who shall be also the clerk in attendance at all hearings under this act, to be known as "the juvenile delinquent record," and the docket or calendar of the court upon which there shall appear the case or cases, under the provisions of this act, shall be known as "the juvenile docket." Between the first and thirteenth day of March, of each year, the chief probation officer shall prepare a written report of the cases had in this department, showing the number and disposition of delinquent children brought before such court, together with such other and useful information regarding such cases, and the parentage of such children, as may be reasonably obtained at the hearings thereof; provided, that the name and identity of any such child or parent shall not be disclosed in such report.

History: En. Sec. 3, Ch. 122, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 12277, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Where the mother of an alleged delinquent daughter was not accorded the opportunity to exercise, or waive, the right to a jury trial conferred by this section; and the record failed to disclose whether a jury trial was had, and whether the accused waived her right to such a trial or was apprised of it, the judgment committing her to a reformatory institution held void on habeas corpus. In re Satterthwaite, 52 M 550, 160 P 346.

12278. Proceedings by petition. All proceedings under this act shall be by petition duly sworn to and filed with the clerk of the district court. In any such petition filed under this act, the act or acts claimed to have been committed by the child proceeded against shall, in a general way, be stated therein as constituting a juvenile delinquent child, or person.

History: En. Sec. 4, Ch. 122, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 12278, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

The petition to have a juvenile delinquent committed under the provisions of this chapter, must, among other things, charge that the persons having the custody of the child are unfit, unwilling or unable to care for, educate, control or discipline it, or that their consent has been obtained that the delinquent might be taken from them. In re Satterthwaite, 52 M 550, 160 P 346.

12279. Filing contents of petitions—citations—return. Any reputable person being a resident of the county may file with the clerk of the court having jurisdiction of the matter, a petition in writing, setting forth that a certain child, naming it, within his county, not now or hereafter an inmate of a state institution incorporated under the laws of this state, is a delinquent person, as defined in section 12275; and that it is for the best interest of the child and this state that the child be taken from its parent, or parents, custodian or guardian, and placed under the charge of some suitable person to be appointed by the court, or committed to some institution or society that has for its object the care of delinquent children; and that the parent or parents, custodian or guardian of said child are unfit or improper guardians, or are unwilling or unable to care for, protect, train, educate, control, or discipline such child, or that the parent, parents, guardian, or custodian consent that such child be taken from them. The petition shall set forth either the name or that the name is unknown to the petitioner (a) of the person having the custody of such child; and (b) of each of the parents, or the surviving parent of a legitimate child, or of the mother of an illegitimate child, or (c) if it allege that both of said parents, or such mother is dead, then of the guardian, if any, of such child; (d) if it alleges that both parents are, or that such mother is dead, and that no such guardian of such child is known to petitioner, then of a near relative, or that none such is known to the petitioner. The petition shall also state the residence of such parties, as far as the same are known to such petitioner. All persons named in such petition shall be notified of such proceedings. Upon the filing of any petition under this act, a citation shall be issued by the clerk of the court, ordering and directing all persons named in such petition and the person alleged to have the custody of such child to appear with the child at the time and place stated in the citation and show cause before said court; and shall also require all defendants to be and appear and answer the petition on the return day of the citation. This citation shall be made returnable at any time within twenty days after the date thereof and may be served by any peace officer or by any duly appointed probation officer, even though such officer be the petitioner. The return of such citation with endorsement of service in accordance herewith shall be sufficient proof thereof, but no incarceration of the child proceeded against thereunder shall be made or had, unless, in the opinion of the judge of the district court, or, in the absence of the judge from the county seat, then in the opinion of the justice of the peace or committing and examining magistrate, it shall be necessary to insure its attendance in court at such time as shall be required. In order to avoid such incarceration, if practical, it shall be the duty of the judge having jurisdiction to serve a notice of the proceedings upon the parent of the child, if living and known, or its legal guardian, or, if his or her whereabouts or residence is not known, or if neither parent nor guardian shall be in this state, then some relative living in the county, if any there be whose whereabouts is known, and such judge having jurisdiction shall accept the written or verbal promise of such person so notified, except in felony cases, or of any other person, to be responsible for the presence of such child at the hearing of such case, or at any other time to which the case may be continued or adjourned by the court. In case such child shall fail to appear at such time or times as the court may require, the person or persons responsible for its appearance as herein provided for, unless, in the opinion of the court, there shall be a reasonable cause for such failure of such child to appear as herein provided for, may be proceeded against as in cases for contempt of court, and punished accordingly; and where any such child shall have failed to appear, as required by the court or its officers, any warrant, capias, or alias, issued in such case, may be executed as in other cases; provided, however, that no child within the provisions of this act under eighteen years of age shall, under any circumstances, be incarcerated in any common jail or lock-up unless otherwise ordered by the court or judge, and any officer or person violating this provision of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, fined in a sum not to exceed one hundred dollars.

History: En. Sec. 5, Ch. 122, L. 1911; amd. Sec. 3, Ch. 202, L. 1919; re-en. Sec. 12279, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

The citation to the persons mentioned in this section, to show cause in a juvenile delinquency case, contemplates that it shall serve the purpose of a summons in a civil action or citation in a special proceeding, and if on the return day the parties make answer, the court must fix a day for trial giving them reasonable opportunity to procure witnesses. State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman et al., 81 M 132, 141, 262 P 168.

12280. Procedure on arrest of juvenile delinquent—detention quarters—jurisdiction to try case. When any child under eighteen years of age is taken into custody, or arrested under the provisions of this chapter, such child shall be taken directly before the district court, or, if the district court is not then in session in said county, it may be taken before a justice of the peace or police magistrate, who shall at once notify the chief probation officer of the county, who shall make investigation of such case as in other cases where complaint has been made or petition duly filed and after investigation, as herein provided, by the said chief probation officer, then the justice of the peace or police magistrate shall act as a committing and examining magistrate only, and it shall be his duty to proceed with the hearing thereof, after granting to the child, or such person as may be representing it, reasonable opportunity to obtain counsel, if counsel be desired by the accused child, and as soon as the said accused child can procure its witnesses. Provided, that nothing herein shall be construed as prohibiting the officer arresting or taking into custody such child from detaining such child in the county or city jail, in a cell or room especially prepared for that purpose, and separate from any other prisoners detained in such jail, except that male and female children shall not be detained in the same cell or room, until such child can be taken before the court or magistrate as herein provided. In case the examining magistrate hold the child for trial in the district court, it shall be the duty of the magistrate to transfer the case to said district court and the probation officer having the child in charge shall take the child before the said district court, and the said district court shall proceed to hear and dispose of the case in the same manner as if said child had been brought before such court upon petition originally filed as hereinbefore provided; or, when necessary, when the delinquency charged would otherwise constitute a felony, may direct such child to be kept in proper custody until investigation, and an information may be filed as in other cases of felony or misdemeanor under the laws of the state; provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to confer jurisdiction upon any justice of the peace or police court to try any case against any child under eighteen years of age. In any case the court shall require notice to be given and investigation to be made as in other cases under this act, and may adjourn the hearing from time to time for that purpose.

12281. Place of trial. The place of trial of any person complained of or informed against for the violation of any of the provisions of this act shall be in the county in which any child shall have been a delinquent child, unless a change of venue of the person complained of or informed against for the violation of section 12280 is had, as provided by law for a change of venue in criminal cases.

12288. Probation officers—appointment, salary, and duties—procedure on criminal complaints against minors—commitment. Except in judicial districts, consisting of a single county, where the salary per annum shall remain as heretofore under this section, in every judicial district of the state of Montana, or in any county or counties thereof, the judge or judges thereof may appoint one discreet person of good moral character, who shall be known as the chief probation officer of such district, and who shall hold his office during the pleasure of the court, and who shall receive for his or her services such sum as shall be specified by the court upon appointment, not exceeding the sum of one thousand eight hundred dollars per annum, to be paid, however, upon a per diem basis for the time actually and necessarily employed in performing the duties of the office out of the contingent fund of the county. In the absence of the appointment of such chief probation officer, it shall be the duty of the sheriff of the respective county or counties comprising such judicial district to perform all the duties of the chief probation officer in this chapter enumerated without additional compensation. Said probation officer shall also be reimbursed for the actual and reasonable traveling and other expenses incurred by him in pursuance of his official duties. Such reimbursement shall be made once each month by the county or several counties for which such probation officer shall have been appointed. Each probation officer shall, not later than the tenth day of every calendar month, and before the allowance and payment thereof, file or cause to be filed with the proper board of county commissioners of the county chargeable therewith, an itemized sworn statement and account of such expenses, including his claim for salary for the preceding month with the approval of the district judge or judges endorsed thereon. Each county of this state shall reimburse such probation officer only in respect to such expenses as have been incurred in connection with juvenile persons residing in that county. When a judicial district consists of one county, the salary of the probation officer is to be paid by that county, and when a judicial district is composed of more than one county, the salary of such officer shall be apportioned among and paid by each of said counties in which said officer is appointed to act in proportion to the assessed valuation of such counties for the year then current.

Said judge or judges of the district court may appoint as probation officers such other discreet persons of good moral character as are willing to serve without compensation. It shall be the duty of the clerk of the district court, immediately upon the appointment of a probation officer, to notify the courts and magistrates of any county in which the said officer is appointed, giving them the names and postoffice addresses of such officers. The duties of said probation officer or officers shall be such as hereinafter prescribed.

Whenever a complaint is made or pending against a boy or girl under eighteen years of age for the commission of any offense not punishable by law with life imprisonment, or for which the penalty is death, before any court or magistrate, it shall be the duty of such court or magistrate at once and before any other proceedings are had in the cause, to give notice in writing of the pendency of said cause to the probation officer of his county. Such probation officer shall immediately, or as soon thereafter as possible, proceed to inquire into and make a full examination and investigation of the facts and circumstances surrounding the commission of the alleged offense, the parentage and surroundings of said child, its exact age, habits, and school record, and everything that will throw light on its life and character, and may also inquire into the home condition, habits, and character of the parents or guardians, and shall make a full report thereon in writing to the judge of the district court having charge of such cases, before said cause is tried. If, upon consultation with the probation officer and the examination of such report, it shall appear to the judge of said court that the child is not guilty of the offense charged against it, or that the interest of the child shall be best subserved thereby, the court shall order that such child be not brought into court, and said cause shall be dismissed. Said chief probation officer shall attend all hearings under this act and represent the interests of the child and shall take charge of any child before or after trial, as the judge may direct. Probation officers shall serve warrants and other process of the court, within or without the county, and in that respect they are hereby clothed with the powers and authority of sheriffs; they can make arrests without warrant upon view of the violation of any of the provisions of this act, and detain the person so arrested pending the issuance of a warrant; and perform such other duties incident to their offices as the judge may direct; and all sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, constables, marshals, and police officers are required to render assistance to probation officers in the performance of their duties when requested to do so.

If upon the trial of any child the court shall find that such child is guilty of the offense charged, he may withhold judgment for a definite or indefinite period if it appear that the public and the interest of the child will be best subserved thereby, and may order that such child be returned to the care of his or her parents, guardian, or friends; or he may commit such child to the care of a volunteer probation officer, who shall exercise supervision over it until such time as it is discharged by the court from supervision upon the recommendation of such voluntary probation officer, and if the parents, parent, guardian, or custodian consent thereto, or if the court shall further find either that the parent, parents, guardian, or custodian are unfit or improper guardians, or are unable or unwilling to care for, protect, educate, or discipline such child, and shall further find that it is for the best interest of such child and of the people of this state that such child be taken from the custody of its parents, custodian, or guardian, the court may order such child to be placed in the family of some suitable person where such family home shall be recommended by the probation officer of the court after consultation with those representing the interest of the child, there to remain until he or she shall have attained the age of twenty-one years or for any less time, or the court may order such child to be placed in the home where the county's dependent children are kept; or, if it appears to be for the best interest of the child and such child appears to be in need of institutional training, the court may order him or her to be committed to some state institution or some institution of learning managed by a corporation or individual, and devoted to the care of such children, for a definite or indefinite period; said institution to be situated in the state of Montana, and to be inspected at least once a year and approved by the bureau of child and animal protection and to receive for its services a per diem of thirty-five cents for each day that such child shall be in custody, such per diem to be paid by the county sending the child, upon itemized vouchers duly certified to by the court; or the court may impose a fine with costs, or the court may for good cause shown suspend judgment in any case for a definite or indefinite period; or, if the offense be a malicious trespass, the court may require the damage to be made good, or if the offense be petty larceny and the stolen property is not recovered, the court may require it to be paid by the delinquent child himself if it be shown that he or she is capable of earning the money or any money of his or her own, or its parents or guardian, at the discretion of the court; and in all the foregoing cases, where the parents or guardian are unfit to have the custody of said child, or unable to control said child, the court may deem the child to be the ward of the court, as far as its person is concerned; and in all cases where any child has been decreed to be the ward of the court, the authority of the court over its person shall continue until the court shall otherwise decree, and the court may adopt all rules and regulations that may be needed to carry out the provisions of this act. In every case in which the court shall commit any child to the care and custody of any other institution as above provided, other than a state institution, and such child shall have a parent or guardian within the county, the court may make and enter an order requiring such parent or guardian to appear before said court upon a day and hour to be named by the court therein, and show cause, if any she or he have, why she or he should not pay for the support of such child, in whole or in part, while it is an inmate of such institution. A certified copy of said order shall be served upon such parent or guardian by the chief probation officer of the county not less than ten days prior to the day fixed therein for such appearance. Upon due service and return of said order, the court shall, upon the day fixed, or upon such subsequent day as may be fixed by the court, hear evidence as to the financial ability of such parent or guardian, and in case the court shall find that such parent or guardian should pay for or contribute to the support and maintenance of such child, the court shall render judgment against such parent or guardian that that parent or guardian shall pay to the chief probation officer such sums as the court shall adjudge and at such times and in such amounts as shall be by the court found just. And such judgment shall be enforced as other judgments are enforced, and all moneys collected on such judgments shall be held by the chief probation officer and shall be remitted quarterly by him to the institution keeping such child or children and the amount so remitted shall be deducted from the quarterly bill of such institution.

Provided, that the chief probation officer shall make a verified report to the court at the close of each quarter, of the amount of money so collected on such judgments, which report the judge shall cause to be filed with the county commissioners with the bill rendered by the institution keeping such child. If any child is wayward and unmanageable the court may commit him or her to the industrial school, or to any other state penal or reformatory institution authorized by law to receive such boy or girl subject to such conditions as are already provided by law for the reception of such children in said schools or institutions. And in cases where a child shall be committed to a state or other institution as above provided, the report of the probation officer shall be attached to the commitment and the child shall be placed in charge of the probation officer, or some person designated by the court to be conveyed under his direction to the designated institution; provided, that a woman shall always be sent with the girls so committed, and the person taking such child to the designated institution shall be allowed and paid his or her actual expenses and no more, where he or she is a paid officer of such court, appointed by the court, and in all other cases the person taking such child to any institution shall be allowed and paid for his or her services, the same fees and expenses as are paid to sheriffs in like cases.

And provided, that the court may when the health or condition of the child require it, cause the child to be placed in a public hospital or institution for treatment or special care, or in a private hospital or institution which will receive it for like purposes without charge or for the per diem of thirty-five cents a day.

Provided, that when a child contemplated by this act shall be sentenced to confinement in any institution to which adult convicts are sentenced, it shall be unlawful to confine such child in any room, yard or enclosure with such adult convicts, or to allow them in any manner to come in contact with them, or in any way commingle with such adult convicts, or to bring such child into any yard or room in which adult convicts may be present.

Provided, that if any such boy or girl against whom a petition is filed is unable to give bond, and the court does not release him or her on his or her own recognizance, then such boy or girl shall be entitled to an immediate hearing and trial, according to law.

Providing that the commitment of any child to an institution or association or society shall be subject to the rules and laws that may be in force from time to time governing such institution, association, or society.

Provided, that when it shall be made to appear to the court that the home of the child or its parents, former guardian or custodian, is a suitable place for such child, and that such child could be permitted to remain or ordered to be returned to said home, consistent with the public good and the good of such child, the court may enter an order to that effect, returning such child to his home under probation, parole, or otherwise; it being the intention of this act that no child should be taken away or kept out of his home or away from his parents or guardian any longer than is reasonably necessary to preserve the welfare of the child and the interest of all this state; provided, however, that no such order shall be entered without giving ten days' notice to the person, institution, or association to whose care such child has been committed, unless such guardian, institution, or association to whose care such child has been committed consents to such order.

And provided, the court may from time to time cite into court the person, institution, association, or society to whose care any delinquent child has been awarded, and require him or it to make a full, true, and perfect report as to his or its doings in behalf of such child; and it shall be the duty of such person, institution, or association, within ten days after such citation, to make such report, either in writing, verified by affidavit, or verbally, under oath, in open court or otherwise, as the court shall direct; and upon the hearing of such report, with or without further evidence, the court may, if it sees fit, take such child from said person, institution, association, or society, and place it with another, or restore such child to the custody of its parents or former guardian or custodian.

12292. Agreements with certain institutions for support of child. It shall be lawful for the parents, parent, or guardian or other person having the right to dispose of dependent or neglected child to enter into an agreement with any association or institution incorporated under any public or private law of this state, for the purpose of aiding, caring for, or placing in homes such children, and being approved as herein provided, for the surrender of such child to such association or institution, to be taken and cared for by such association or institution, or put into a family home. Such agreement may contain any and all proper stipulations to that end, and may authorize the institution or association, by its attorney or agent, to appear in any proceeding for the legal adoption of such child, and consent to its adoption, and the order of the court made upon such consent shall be binding upon the child and its parents or guardian or other person the same as if such person were personally present in court and consented thereto, whether made a party to the proceeding or not.

Any parent or parents, legal guardian, or other person who shall encourage, wilfully cause or contribute to, or through negligence in the care, custody, guidance, education, maintenance, or direction of any child under eighteen years of age, cause or permit such child to violate any law of this state, or the ordinance or ordinances of any city of this state, or to be or become incurable, or to knowingly associate with thieves, vicious or immoral persons; or to grow up in idleness or crime, or to knowingly enter a house of prostitution; or to knowingly visit or patronize any place, house, or apartment building where any gambling device is or gambling devices are or shall be operated or run, or where any gambling is done or conducted, or to patronize or visit any saloon or saloons, or dram shop or dram shops, where intoxicating liquors are sold, or to patronize or visit any public poolroom or poolrooms, or bucket-shop, or to wander about the streets of any town or city in the night-time, without being on lawful business or occupation, or to habitually wander about or visit any railroad yards or tracks, or to jump or hook on to any moving train or to enter any car or engines, without lawful authority; to habitually use any vile, obscene, vulgar, profane, or indecent language, or to be guilty of immoral conduct in any public place, or about any schoolhouse or grounds, or keep or permit it in or about any saloon or place where spirituous liquors or intoxicating liquors are sold or handled, or in any gambling house or place where gambling is practiced, or in a house of ill-fame or prostitution; or to become addicted to the use of spirituous and intoxicating liquors not for medicinal purposes prescribed by a physician; shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon trial and conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not less than ten dollars and not to exceed one thousand dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding nine months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

History: En. Sec. 18, Ch. 122, L. 1911; amd. Sec. 7, Ch. 202, L. 1919; re-en. Sec. 12293, R. C. M. 1921.

12294. Suspension of sentence—bond. The court may suspend any sentence for the violation of the provisions of the preceding section, or release any person sentenced under this act from custody upon condition that such person shall furnish a good and sufficient bond or undertaking to the state of Montana, in such penal sum, not exceeding three thousand dollars, as the court shall determine, upon conditions to be prescribed or imposed by the court, as seem most calculated to remove the cause of such delinquency of the child or children, and while such conditions are accepted and complied with by such persons, such sentence may, in the discretion of the court, remain suspended, and such persons shall be considered on probation in said court; and in case a bond is given as provided herein the conditions prescribed by the court may be made a part of the terms and conditions of such bond.

History: En. Sec. 19, Ch. 122, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 12294, R. C. M. 1921.

12295. Forfeiture of bond—execution of sentence. Upon the failure of any person to comply with the terms and conditions of such bond, or of the conditions imposed by the court, such bond or the term of probation may be declared forfeited and terminated by the court, and the original sentence executed as though it had never been suspended, and the terms of any jail sentence imposed in any such case shall commence from the date of the incarceration of any such person after the forfeiture of such bond or term of probation. There shall be deducted from any such period of incarceration any part of such sentence which may have already been served.

History: En. Sec. 20, Ch. 122, L. 1911; re-en. Sec. 12295, R. C. M. 1921.

12296. Citation and judgment against surety on bond. It shall not be necessary to bring a separate suit to recover the penalty of any such bond forfeited, but the court may cause a citation to issue to the surety or sureties thereon, requiring that he or she appear at a time named therein by the court, which time shall not be less than ten nor more than twenty days from the issuance thereof, and show cause, if any there be, why judgment should not be entered for the penalty of such bond and execution issue for the amount thereof against the property of the surety or sureties thereon, as in civil cases, and, upon failure to appear or failure to show any sufficient cause, the court shall enter judgment in behalf of the state of Montana, against the surety or sureties. Any moneys collected or paid upon any such execution or in any case upon said bond, shall be turned over to the county treasurer of the county in which such bond is given, to be applied to the care and maintenance of the child or children for whose dependency such conviction was had in such manner and upon such terms as the district court may direct.

Provided, that if it shall not be necessary in the opinion of the court to use such fund or any part thereof for the support and maintenance of such child, the same shall be paid into the county treasury and become a part of the funds of such county.

12297. County commissioners authorized to carry out act—detention home—superintendent and matron. The county commissioners of all counties to which this act applies are hereby authorized, empowered, and required to provide the necessary funds and to make all needful appropriations to carry out the provisions of this act; and in counties with a population of over thirty thousand inhabitants, the county commissioners shall provide and in other counties may provide, by purchase, lease or otherwise, a place to be known as a detention home, within convenient distance of the courthouse, not used for the confinement of adult persons charged with criminal offenses, where delinquent, dependent, or neglected children may be detained, until final disposition, which place shall be maintained by the county as in other like cases. And in counties having a population in excess of thirty thousand the judge having jurisdiction may appoint a superintendent and matron subject to ratification of the juvenile improvement committee, who shall have charge of such home and of the delinquent dependent and neglected minors detained therein.

Such superintendent and matron shall be suitable and discreet persons, qualified as teachers of children. Such home shall be furnished in a comfortable manner, as nearly as may be as a family home. The compensation of such superintendent and matron shall be fixed by the county commissioners, such compensation and the maintaining of such home shall be paid out of the county treasury, upon a warrant of the county auditor, which shall be issued upon the itemized vouchers sworn to by the superintendent and certified by the judge.

When such detention home is provided for by the county commissioners, the said commissioners shall enter an order on their journal, transferring to the proper fund, from any other fund or funds of the county, in their discretion, such sums as may be necessary to purchase or lease said home and properly furnish and conduct the same and pay the compensation of the superintendent and matron. Said commissioners shall likewise, upon the appointment of probation officers, as provided in this act, transfer to the proper fund, from any other fund or funds of the county, in their discretion, such as may be necessary to pay such probation officers as provided for herein, such transfer to be made on the authority of this act alone.

At the next levying period, provision shall be made for the expenses of the court, as herein provided.

12298. Prior acts excepted from repeal. Nothing in this act shall be construed to repeal any portion of sections 8345, 8346, 8347, 8348, 8349 and 8350 of the Revised Code of Montana 1907, or any amendments thereof, nor shall anything in this act be construed to repeal any existing law providing for the support, maintenance, guidance, education, or protection by parents of their minor children, and nothing in said laws shall prevent proceedings under this act in any proper case.

History: En. Sec. 23, Ch. 122, L. 1911;
re-en. Sec. 12298, R. C. M. 1921.

NOTE.—See sections 11017 to 11022 and section 3102 of these codes for sections above referred to.

12299. Construction and purpose of act. This act shall be liberally construed, to the end that its purpose may be carried out, to-wit: That the care, custody, education, and discipline of the child shall approximate, as nearly as may be, that which should be given it by its parents, and that, as far as practicable, any delinquent child shall be treated, not as a criminal, but as misdirected and misguided, and needing aid, encouragement, help, and assistance.

And as far as practicable, in proper cases, that the parent or parents or guardians of such child may be compelled to perform their moral and legal duty in the interest of the child, and all fees and costs in all cases coming within the provisions of this act, together with such sums as shall be necessary for the incidental expenses of such court and its officers, and together with the costs of transportation of children to places to which they may be committed, shall be paid out of the county treasury of the county, upon itemized vouchers, certified to by the judge of the court.

12302. Proceedings must be by complaint. All proceedings and actions before a justice's or police court, for a public offense of which such courts have jurisdiction, must be commenced by complaint under oath, setting forth the offense charged, with such particulars of time, place, person, and property, as to enable the defendant to understand distinctly the character of the offense complained of, and to answer the complaint. A city or town ordinance may be referred to by its title and section, and the number thereof.

History: Earlier acts relating to proceedings in justice court differed materially from the law since 1895. They are the following: Secs. 307-341, pp. 263, 367, Bannack Stat.; superseded by Secs. 468-526, pp. 262-267, Cod. Stat. 1871; ap. Secs. 468-526, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Secs. 474-530, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887.

This section en. Sec. 2680, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9584, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12302, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1426.

Limited Jurisdiction

Police courts, like justices' courts, are courts of limited jurisdiction and have only such authority as is expressly conferred upon them. State ex rel. Marquette v. Police Court, 86 M 297, 308, 283 P 430.

No Right of Appeal by Cities

Defendant, charged with wrongfully obstructing an alley, was proceeded against under the statute governing criminal procedure in police courts (this section through Sec. 12347), convicted and appealed to the district court, where the complaint was dismissed. Held, on appeal by the city that, the statute not granting the right of appeal to cities in criminal causes tried in justice or police courts, the appeal did not lie. City of Miles City v. Drum, 60 M 452, 199 P 719.

Operation and Effect

In a criminal proceeding, it is sufficient to plead a city ordinance by reference to its title, section and subdivision of section. City of Philipsburg v. Weinstein, 21 M 146, 53 P 272.

For an instance of a complaint charging a sale of liquor, in violation of the local option law, and meeting all the requirements of the statute, see State v. O'Brien, 35 M 482, 494, 90 P 514.

The nature of an action for the violation of a city ordinance, whether civil or criminal, must be determined by the relief sought in the proceeding, without regard to the question whether some other proceeding may or may not be brought under the state statutes. State ex rel. Marquette v. Police Court, 86 M 297, 308, 283 P 430.

Id. Held, that a proceeding looking to the imposition of a fine for the violation of a city ordinance is one for a "public offense" within the meaning of section 11618, R. C. M. 1921, giving the police magistrate power to issue a warrant for the arrest of a person charged with a public offense, and of this section, providing the procedure in an action before the police court for a public offense, justifying the issuance of a warrant of arrest under the following section, 12303.

12303. When warrant of arrest must issue—form. If the justice of the peace, or police judge, is satisfied therefrom that the offense complained of has been committed, he must issue a warrant of arrest which must be substantially in the following form:

"County of "The State of Montana to any sheriff, constable, marshal or policeman in this state:

"Complaint upon oath having been this day made before me, (justice of the peace or police judge, as the case may be) by C D, that the offense of (designating it generally) has been committed, and accusing E F thereof; you are hereby commanded forthwith to arrest the above named E F and bring him before me forthwith, at (naming the place).

"Witness my hand and seal at, this day of, A. D.

"A B, Justice of the Peace or Judge."

History: En. Sec. 2681, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9585, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12303, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1427.

Operation and Effect

It is the duty of a justice of the peace, when he is satisfied upon the complaint of any citizen that an offense has been committed, to issue a warrant of arrest and to have the offender brought before him for trial or examination, as the case may be. State v. O'Brien, 35 M 482, 494, 90 P 514.

Held, that a proceeding looking to the imposition of a fine for the violation of a city ordinance is one for a "public offense" within the meaning of section 11618,

R. C. M. 1921, giving the police magistrate power to issue a warrant for the arrest of a person charged with a public offense, and of section 12302, R. C. M. 1921, providing the procedure in an action before the police court for a public offense, justifying the issuance of a warrant of arrest under this section. State ex rel. Marquette v. Police Court, 86 M 297, 308, 283 P 430.

12304. Minutes, how kept. A docket must be kept by the justice of the peace, or police judge, in which must be entered each action, and the proceedings of the court therein.

Operation and Effect

In the absence of specific statutory provision on the subject, the original files, together with a copy of the docket minutes, constitute the record on appeal, in a criminal cause, from a justice of the peace to the district court. In re Graye, 36 M 394, 397, 93 P 66.

12305. Plea, how put in. The defendant may make the same plea as upon indictment or information. His plea must be oral, and entered in the minutes. If the defendant plead guilty, the court may, before entering such plea or pronouncing judgment, examine witnesses to ascertain the gravity of the offense committed; and if it appear to the court that a higher offense has been committed than the offense charged in the complaint, the court may order the defendant to be committed or admitted to bail, to answer any information which may be filed by the county attorney.

References

Cited or applied as section 2683, Penal Code, in State v. O'Brien, 35 M 482, 494, 90 P 514.

12306. Issue, how tried. Upon a plea other than guilty, if the parties waive a trial by jury, and an adjournment or change of place of trial is not granted, the court must proceed to try the case.

12307. Change of venue, when granted. If the action or proceeding is in a justice's court, a change of the place of trial may be had at any time before the trial commences—

1. When it appears from the affidavit of the defendant that he has good reason to believe, and does believe, that he cannot have a fair and impartial trial before the justice about to try the case, by reason of the prejudice or bias of such justice, the cause must be transferred to another justice of the same or adjoining township;

2. When it appears from affidavit that the defendant cannot have a fair and impartial trial, by reason of the prejudice of the citizens of the township, the cause must be transferred to a justice of the township where the same prejudice does not exist. In each case the defendant must state the facts upon which his belief is founded.

Operation and Effect

It seems that a police judge may grant a change of the place of trial of a criminal cause pending before him upon a motion, supported by a proper showing, either for bias or prejudice of such judge, or prejudice in the citizens of the township. In re Graye, 36 M 394, 397, 93 P 66.

A change of venue cannot be had from a justice of the peace court of one county to a justice of the peace court of another county, and, by creating but a single township in a given county, the commissioners of that county could nullify the provisions of this section. State ex rel. Gillett v. Cronin, 41 M 293, 295, 109 P 144.

12308. Papers and proceedings to be transferred. When a change of the place of trial is ordered, the justice must transmit to the justice before whom the trial is to be had all the original papers in the cause, with a certified copy of the minutes of his proceedings; and upon receipt thereof, the justice to whom they are delivered must proceed with the trial in the same manner as if the proceeding or action had been originally commenced in his court.

12309. True name of defendant. The defendant, if he declare that the name given him in the complaint is not his true name, must make known what his name is, and if he fail to do so, he shall not afterward be allowed to raise the objection that he was not complained of under his true name.

History: En. Sec. 476, p. 262, Cod. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2687, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. 1871; re-en. Sec. 476, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. Sec. 9591, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12309, 1879; re-en. Sec. 482, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. R. C. M. 1921.

12310. Same. If he gives his true name, the court must make a minute of the same, and thereafter the case must proceed in that name.

History: En. Sec. 477, p. 262, Cod. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2688, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. 1871; re-en. Sec. 477, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. Sec. 9592, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12310, 1879; re-en. Sec. 483, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. R. C. M. 1921.

12311. New complaint. If a demurrer to any complaint is sustained for any other cause than that of a want of jurisdiction in the court to hear the offense charged, a new complaint may be made against the defendant.

History: En. Sec. 479, p. 262, Cod. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2689, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. 1871; re-en. Sec. 479, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. Sec. 9593, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12311, 1879; re-en. Sec. 485, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. R. C. M. 1921.

12312. Jury. The defendant is entitled to a jury of six qualified persons, but may consent to a less number.

History: En. Sec. 2690, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9594, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12312, R. C. M. 1921.

12313. Jury trial, how waived. A trial by jury may be waived by the consent of both parties expressed in open court and entered in the docket. The formation of the jury is provided for in sections 8913 to 8915 and 8925 to 8926 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

12314. Postponement. Before the commencement of a trial in any of the courts mentioned in this chapter, either party may, upon good cause shown, have a reasonable postponement thereof.

12315. Verbal notice to witness. When a trial under the provisions of this chapter is continued by the court, it is not necessary for the court to summon any witnesses who may be present at the continuance, but the court must verbally notify such witnesses, as either party may require, to attend before it, to testify in the cause, on the day set for trial, which verbal notice is as valid as a subpoena.

History: En. Sec. 2693, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9597, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12315, R. C. M. 1921.

12316. Defendant to be present. The defendant must be personally present before the trial can proceed.

History: En. Sec. 472, p. 262, Cod. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2694, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. 1871; re-en. Sec. 472, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. Sec. 9598, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12316, 1879; re-en. Sec. 478, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1434.

12317. Challenges. The same challenges may be taken by either party to the panel of jurors, or to any individual juror, as on the trial of an indictment or information, for a misdemeanor; but the challenge must in all cases be tried by the court.

12318. Oath. The court must administer to the jury the following oath:

"You do swear that you will well and truly try the issue between the state of Montana and A B, the defendant, and a true verdict render according to the evidence."

History: En. Sec. 2696, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9600, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12318, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1437.

12319. Trial, how conducted. After the jury are sworn, they must sit together and hear the proofs and allegations of the parties, which must be delivered in public, and in the presence of the defendant. The jury must not separate during the trial except by consent of the parties.

12320. Court decides questions of law. The court must decide all questions of law which may arise in the course of the trial, but can give no charge with respect to matters of fact.

History: En. Sec. 2698, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9602, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12320, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1439.

Operation and Effect

This section is the statement in legislative form of an ancient legal maxim which has been enacted in many statutes, and has been deemed so vital to the rights and liberties of the people that it has been engrafted upon the constitutions of states. State v. Sullivan, 9 M 174, 177, 22 P 1088.

12321. Jury may decide in court or retire. After hearing the proofs and allegations, the jury may decide in court, or may retire for consideration. If they do not immediately agree, an officer must be sworn to the following effect: "You do swear that you will keep this jury together in some quiet and convenient place; that you will not permit any person to speak to them, nor to speak to them yourself, unless by order of the court, or to ask them whether they have agreed upon a verdict; and that you will return them into court when they have so agreed, or when ordered by the court."

12322. Verdict, how delivered and entered. The verdict of the jury must in all cases be general. When the jury have agreed on their verdict, they must deliver it publicly to the court, who must enter, or cause it to be entered, in the minutes.

12323. Verdict when several defendants are tried. When several defendants are tried together, if the jury cannot agree upon a verdict as to all, they may render a verdict as to those in regard to whom they do agree, on which a judgment must be entered accordingly, and the case as to the rest may be tried by another jury.

History: En. Sec. 490, p. 263, Cod. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2701, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. 1871; re-en. Sec. 490, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. Sec. 9605, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12323, 1879; re-en. Sec. 496, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1442.

12324. Jury, when to be discharged without verdict. The jury cannot be discharged after the cause is submitted to them, until they have agreed upon and rendered their verdict, unless for good cause the court sooner discharges them.

12325. If discharged, defendant may be tried again. If the jury is discharged, as provided in the last section, the court may proceed again to the trial, in the same manner as upon the first trial, and so on, until a verdict is rendered.

12326. Proceedings on plea of guilty. When the defendant pleads guilty, or is convicted, either by the court or by a jury, the court must render judgment thereon of fine and imprisonment, or both, as the case may be. The judgment must be executed by the sheriff, constable, marshal or policeman of the jurisdiction in which the conviction was had.

12327. Jury may fix punishment. When the punishment provided for any offense is in the alternative, the jury may fix the same; any neglect on their part to do so will not prevent the court from fixing it.

History: En. Sec. 492, p. 263, Cod. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2705, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. 1871; re-en. Sec. 492, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. Sec. 9609, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12327, 1879; re-en. Sec. 498, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. R. C. M. 1921.

12328. Justice may modify same. If the justice deem any penalty fixed by the jury erroneous, he has the right to modify the same.

History: En. Sec. 493, p. 263, Cod. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2706, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. 1871; re-en. Sec. 493, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. Sec. 9610, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12328, 1879; re-en. Sec. 499, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. R. C. M. 1921.

12329. Fine or imprisonment. A judgment that the defendant pay a fine may also direct that he be imprisoned until the fine be satisfied, in the proportion of one day's imprisonment for every two dollars of the fine.

History: En. Sec. 2707, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9611, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12329, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1446.

Operation and Effect

Where a defendant has been imprisoned under this section for the full period prescribed in a judgment rendered in a justice court, such imprisonment operates ipso facto to satisfy and discharge the judgment, and the justice is without authority to retain money of the prisoner collected by executor under the provisions of sections 12071 and 12072. Petelin v. Kennedy, 29 M 466, 75 P 82.

12330. Defendant on acquittal to be discharged—prosecutor to pay costs, when. When the defendant is acquitted, either by the court or by the jury, he must be immediately discharged; and if the court certify in the minutes that the prosecution was malicious or without probable cause, it may order the prosecutor to pay the costs of the action, or to give satisfactory security by a written undertaking, with one or more sureties, to pay the same within thirty days after the trial.

12331. Prosecutor to pay costs. If the prosecutor does not pay the costs, or give security therefor, the court may enter judgment against him for the amount thereof, which may be enforced in all respects in the same manner as a judgment rendered in a civil action. An appeal may be taken as in other cases in a civil action.

12332. Judgment. After a plea or verdict of guilty, or after a verdict against the defendant, on a plea of a former conviction or acquittal, the court must appoint a time for rendering judgment, which must not be more than two days nor less than six hours after the verdict is rendered, unless the defendant waive the postponement. If postponed, the court may hold the defendant to bail to appear for judgment. A judgment must be entered in the minutes of the court as soon as rendered.

Operation and Effect

Where a person accused in a justice's court of a misdemeanor is convicted, and the justice immediately proceeds, upon the return of the verdict, to pronounce sentence, without any objection from the defendant, his silence is a waiver of his right to a postponement of judgment. Hosoda v. Neville, 45 M 310, 312, 123 P 20.

12333. How defendant may be discharged. A defendant committed under the provisions of this chapter may be discharged in the same manner as if he had been committed by the district court.

History: En. Sec. 503, p. 264, Cod. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2711, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. 1871; re-en. Sec. 503, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. Sec. 9615, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12333, 1879; re-en. Sec. 509, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. R. C. M. 1921.

12334. Defendant may appeal. The defendant may appeal to the district court at any time within ten days after judgment is rendered.

History: En. Sec. 504, p. 264, Cod. Stat. 1887; re-en. Sec. 2712, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. 1871; re-en. Sec. 504, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. Sec. 9616, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12334, 1879; re-en. Sec. 510, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. R. C. M. 1921.

12335. Notice of appeal. An appeal is taken by the defendant by giving notice in open court of his intention so to do, at the time of the rendition of the verdict or judgment, or by filing with the justice within five days thereafter, a written notice of appeal.

History: En. Sec. 2713, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9617, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12335, R. C. M. 1921. requirement. State ex rel. Hodgdon v. District Court, 33 M 119, 122, 82 P 663.

Operation and Effect

An undertaking on appeal, being purely a statutory regulation, may not be exacted unless the statute specifically makes such

An appeal may be taken by oral notice at the time of the rendition of the verdict or judgment. In re Graye, 36 M 394, 398, 93 P 66.

12336. Undertaking for fine and costs. When the appeal is from a judgment for fine, the defendant must, within ten days after the rendition of the verdict or judgment, file with the justice an undertaking, with two sufficient sureties, in double the amount of the judgment for fine and costs, to the effect that defendant will pay the same or such part thereof as the district court may direct, or if the appeal is dismissed, that judgment may be entered against said sureties, in the district court therefor. Such undertaking must be approved by the justice and the sureties must justify as provided in this code.

History: En. Sec. 2714, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9618, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12336, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

A judgment rendered by a justice of the peace, in a case of misdemeanor, imposing a fine, with imprisonment in the county jail until the fine be paid, is not a judgment for fine only, within the meaning of this section. State ex rel. Hodgdon v. District Court, 33 M 119, 120, 82 P 663.

12337. Judgment against sureties. If on appeal judgment is rendered against the defendant, or if the appeal is dismissed, the court must also render a judgment against the sureties for the amount of fine and costs.

History: En. Sec. 2715, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9619, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12337, R. C. M. 1921.

12338. Undertaking on judgment of imprisonment. When the appeal is from a judgment of imprisonment the defendant may be admitted to bail pending the appeal by giving an undertaking as provided in subdivision 2 of section 12138, in a sum, to be approved by the court, not exceeding seven hundred dollars, to the effect that defendant will appear and surrender himself in execution of any judgment in said district court that may be rendered therein against him, and obey all orders of the district court, and pay all costs that may be awarded against defendant, or if said appeal be dismissed.

12339. Trial anew. All cases on appeal from justices' or police courts must be tried anew in the district court.

History: En. Sec. 510, p. 265, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Sec. 510, 3d Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Sec. 516, 3d Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; amd. Sec. 2717, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9621, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12339, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

Since the district court does not, on appeal from a justice's court, sit as a court of review, but tries the case de novo, any irregularities attending the rendition of the judgment in a case in which the justice had jurisdiction of the offense charged and of the defendant are waived by taking the appeal. State v. O'Brien, 35 M 482, 491, 90 P 514.

The original files, together with a copy of the docket minutes, may be regarded as constituting the record on appeal from a justice of the peace to the district court. In re Graye, 36 M 394, 397, 93 P 66.

Id. A party cannot, under the guise of an application for a trial de novo, insist that irregularities, to which he made no objection, shall be taken note of, or that the judgment, which is abrogated by the appeal, be reversed on account of them. It is therefore immaterial, on the trial of the case appealed, whether the justice lost jurisdiction by conducting the trial in part on a legal holiday, or failed to comply with the statute in giving judgment or pronouncing sentence.

The result of an appeal from a judgment of a justice of the peace, in a prosecution for misdemeanor, is to abrogate that judgment and to hold defendant under the original warrant of arrest for trial de novo in the district court, and the defendant cannot complain, on habeas corpus, of any irregularity committed by the justice in rendering judgment. Hosoda v. Neville, 45 M 310, 313, 123 P 20.

On appeal from a justice's court in a misdemeanor case, the cause must be tried de novo in the district court on the papers and files in the former, unless the latter court allows other or amended pleadings, and each party has the benefit of all legal objections made in the justice's court. State v. Benson, 91 M 109, 5 P 2d 1045.

12340. Defendant must be discharged on acquittal. If judgment of acquittal is given, or judgment imposing a fine only, without imprisonment for nonpayment, and the defendant is not detained for any other legal cause, he must be discharged as soon as the judgment is given.

History: En. Sec. 2718, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9622, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12340, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1454.

Operation and Effect

It is apparent from this section and the next section that the legislature recognized a distinction between a judgment for fine, and one for fine with imprisonment until the fine be paid. State ex rel. Hodgdon v. District Court, 33 M 119, 120, 82 P 663.

12341. Judgment of imprisonment, how executed. When a judgment of imprisonment is entered, a certified copy thereof must be delivered to the sheriff or other officer, which is a sufficient warrant for its execution. When a judgment is entered imposing a fine, or ordering the defendant to be imprisoned until the fine is paid, he must be held in custody during the time specified in the judgment, unless the fine is sooner paid.

History: En. Sec. 2719, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9623, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12341, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Secs. 1455, 1456.

Operation and Effect

It is apparent that the word "or," as used in this section in the sentence, "when a judgment is entered imposing a fine, or ordering the defendant to be imprisoned," etc., should be "and." State ex rel. Hodgdon v. District Court, 33 M 119, 121, 82 P 663.

12342. Defendant may be admitted to bail at any time. The defendant, at any time after his arrest, and before conviction, may be admitted to bail. The provisions of this code relative to bail are applicable to bail in justices' or police courts.

12343. Subpoena. The justice or judge of either of the courts mentioned in this chapter may issue subpoenas for witnesses, as provided in section 12179, and punish disobedience thereof, as provided in section 12184.

12344. Entitling affidavits. The provisions of section 11873 in respect to entitling affidavits are applicable to proceedings in the courts mentioned in this chapter.

12345. Police courts defined. The term "police court," as used in this chapter, includes police magistrates and police courts.

12346. Officer must pay fines to justice. Any officer charged with the collection of fines, under the provisions of this chapter, must return the execution to the justice, within thirty days from its delivery to him, and pay over to the justice the money collected therefrom, deducting his fees for the collection.

History: En. Sec. 2724, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9628, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12346, R. C. M. 1921.

12347. Justices must pay fines to treasurer. All fines imposed and collected by any court, under the provisions of this chapter, must be paid by him to the treasurer of the county, city, or town, according as the offense is prosecuted in a justice or police court, within thirty days after the receipt of the same, and the justice or police judge must take duplicate receipts therefor, one of which he must deposit with the county, city, or town clerk, as the case may be.

History: En. Sec. 2725, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9629, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12347, R. C. M. 1921.

History: The habeas corpus act was enacted in substance as Secs. 1-36, pp. 360-366, Bannack Stat.; re-en. Secs. 1-36, pp. 487-491, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. Secs. 660-695, 5th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. Secs. 1164-1199, 5th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887; re-en. Secs. 2740-2772, Pen. C. 1895.

This section was Sec. 9630, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12348, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1473.

Operation and Effect

Habeas corpus is not a special proceeding of a criminal nature. State ex rel. Brandegee v. Clements, 52 M 57, 59, 155 P 271; see also Newell v. Newell, 13 M 302, 305, 34 P 28; State ex rel. Jackson v. Kennie, 24 M 45, 60 P 589, and State ex rel. Hepner v. District Court, 40 M 17, 104 P 872.

The purpose of a writ of habeas corpus is to determine the legality or illegality of the restraint alleged to be exercised; it is available only to persons unlawfully imprisoned or restrained of their liberty, and is independent of the legal proceeding under which the detention is sought to be justified. August v. Burns, 79 M 198, 213, 255 P 737.

Id. While a proceeding in habeas corpus involving the custody of a child is civil in its nature and the decision of the court awarding its custody is final, except for abuse of discretion, its decision is res adjudicata only as to those matters properly determined by it on the merits.

Id. While the welfare of a child in the matter of its custody is of paramount interest, neither such interest nor the child's wish will justify a court in denying it its custody to the surviving parent, in the absence of a showing of unfitness or inability to support the child, and turning it over to a stranger.

Operation and Effect

Where a petitioner for habeas corpus was convicted of murder, and oral judgment was rendered, confining him to prison for twenty-five years, without any record being made, but at a special term, after notice to petitioner and his counsel, the minutes were corrected to show the judgment as rendered, and on the judgment thus entered a commitment was issued, the petitioner was legally in custody, for the purposes of the judgment, and not entitled to his discharge. 12362. Grounds of discharge in certain cases. If it appears on the return of the writ that the prisoner is in custody by virtue of process from any court of this state, or judge or officer thereof, such prisoner may be discharged in any of the following cases, subject to the restriction of the last section:

1. When the jurisdiction of such court or officer has been exceeded.
2. When the imprisonment was at first lawful, yet by some act, omission, or event which has taken place afterwards, the party has become entitled to a discharge.
3. When the process is defective in some matter of substance required by law, rendering such process void.

4. When the process, though proper in form, has been issued in a case not allowed by law.

5. When the person having the custody of the prisoner is not the person allowed by law to detain him.

6. Where the process is not authorized by any order, judgment, or decree of any court, nor by any provision of law.

7. Where a party has been committed on a criminal charge without reasonable or probable cause.

Operation and Effect

Where the court imposed a sentence for a term in the state prison for a crime which constituted a misdemeanor, its judgment was void as being in excess of its jurisdiction, and the prisoner was entitled to be discharged on habeas corpus. State v. District Court, 35 M 321, 326, 89 P 63.

On application for writ of habeas corpus, which presents the inquiry whether the trial court had jurisdiction of the subject matter of the prosecution and of the defendant and to render such a judgment as the law authorizes in the particular case, the presumption of jurisdiction is conclusive unless want of it appears on the face of the record, and express recitals of jurisdictional facts cannot be rebutted by evidence dehors the record. In re Shaffer, 70 M 609, 613, 227 P 37.

On application for writ of habeas corpus the court will not determine whether the indictment upon which complainant was convicted was defective, since the writ cannot be used as a substitute for a demurrer or a motion to quash, its inquiry being confined to a determination of the validity of the process on its face and whether the court had jurisdiction of the offense charged. State ex rel. Boone v. Tullock, 72 M 482, 493, 234 P 277.

Operation and Effect

Where a person, after a preliminary examination, is committed for grand larceny, and, upon his suing out a writ of habeas corpus, on the ground that he is guilty of petit larceny only, it appears from the evidence before the justice that he was guilty at least of petit larceny, and that there was a reasonable basis for the belief that he was guilty of grand larceny, it is the imperative duty of the court to remand him. In re Jones, 46 M 122, 125, 126 P 929.

12364. Proceedings on defective warrant. If it appears to the court or judge, by affidavit or otherwise, or upon the inspection of the process or warrant of commitment and such other papers in the proceedings as may be shown to the court or judge, that the party is guilty of a criminal offense, or ought not to be discharged, such court or judge, although the charge is defective or not substantially set forth in such process or warrant of commitment, must cause the complainant or other necessary witnesses to be subpoenaed to attend at such time as ordered, to testify before the court or judge; and upon the examination he may discharge such prisoner, let him to bail, if the offense be bailable, or recommit him to custody, as may be just and legal.

12397. Magistrates must examine on oath, complainant, etc. The magistrate must, before issuing the warrant, examine on oath the complainant, and any witnesses he may produce, and take their depositions in writing, and cause them to be subscribed by the parties making them.

Operation and Effect

Where probable cause for the issuance of a search-warrant was shown by the deposition of the complainant, disclosing time, place and manner of an alleged violation of the liquor law, the requirements of this section and the following section were sufficiently complied with, and the fact that the complaint for the warrant did not set forth the time of the commission of the offense did not render the warrant illegal. State v. Tesla et al., 69 M 503, 509, 223 P 107.

To obtain a search-warrant under the liquor laws, the facts upon which its issuance is sought must be stated under oath and be sufficient to enable the magistrate to whom application is made to determine the existence of probable cause without reference to the opinion of the applicant. State v. District Court et al., 71 M 125, 219 et seq., 227 P 576.

Where a deputy county attorney had presented a verified complaint for a search-warrant based upon the affidavit of another, and the district judge examined the latter under oath, the fact that he did not also examine the complainant himself, as required by this section, did not render the warrant illegal, since the only information the complainant had was that obtained from the affiant and an examination of the former would have been useless. State v. English, 71 M 343, 345, 346, 229 P 727.

12398. Deposition, what to contain. The deposition must set forth the facts tending to establish the grounds of the application, or probable cause for believing that they exist.

History: En. Sec. 2824, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9680, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12398, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1527.

Operation and Effect

Where probable cause for the issuance of a search-warrant was shown by the deposition of the complainant, disclosing time, place and manner of an alleged violation of the liquor law, the requirements of section 12397 and this section were sufficiently complied with, and the fact that the complaint for the warrant did not set forth the time of the commission of the

Id. This section declares that a magistrate before issuing a search-warrant must take the deposition of any witness in writing. The warrant was issued upon an affidavit. Held, that the departure did not render the warrant illegal, the words "deposition" and "affidavit" having been used interchangeably in the chapter of the Codes relating to search-warrants.

12399. When to issue warrant. If the magistrate is thereupon satisfied of the existence of the grounds of the application, or that there is probable cause to believe their existence, he must issue a search-warrant, signed by him with his name of office, to a peace officer in his county, commanding him forthwith to search the person or place named, for the property specified, and to bring it before the magistrate.

12453. Rules and regulations of prison. 12455. Commutation of sentence upon good behavior. Operation and Effect

To justify an ex-convict in bringing an action for false imprisonment against the warden of the state prison because of the failure of defendant to deduct from the sentence imposed upon him by the judgment of imprisonment the good-time allowance provided for by this section, he must be able to show that the board of prison commissioners had granted him such commutation but that defendant had refused to deduct the credits allowed; otherwise the complaint fails to state a cause of action. Stephens v. Conley, 48 M 352, 366, 138 P 189.

12456. Good behavior allowance for convicts in certain employment.

The state board of prison commissioners is hereby authorized and required to adopt rules and regulations applicable solely to convicts employed upon public roads or other public works, whereby said convicts so employed may be granted additional good time allowance in addition to that now provided by the preceding section for good conduct, conditioned upon such convicts' good behavior and compliance with all rules and regulations which may be made by said board or superintendent or warden of the state prison, for the management and control of said prison and such convicts; provided, said rules may grant not to exceed an additional good time allowance of ten days per month, and further, provided, that an attempted escape by the convict, or such violation of the rules and regulations so prescribed, as in the judgment of the said board should be punished by forfeiture of such extra good time, shall operate as forfeiture of all extra good time as may have been allowed by said board of prison commissioners, now authorized in this act.

12457. Forfeiture of commutation. Any such convict who commits an assault upon his keeper, any guard, officer, or convict, or otherwise endangers life, or by any flagrant disregard of the rules of the prison, or any misdemeanor whatever forfeits all deductions of time earned by him for good conduct before the commission of such offense; such forfeiture, however, must only be made by the board, after due proof of the offense, and notice to the offender; nor shall such forfeiture be imposed when a party has violated any rule or rules without violence or evil intent, of which the board must be the sole judges. The name of no convict who attempts to escape must be sent to the board for the commutation herein provided.

History: En. Sec. 2970, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9738, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12457, R. C. M. 1921.

Operation and Effect

In order to carry out the provisions of sections 12434, 12455, and of this section, which seem to indicate a course of procedure for the board of prison commissioners, the board must investigate the record of every convict, probably at the end of every year of his service, and grant the proper credits, if earned. Stephens v. Conley, 48 M 352, 366, 138 P 189.

12458. Discharged convict entitled to clothes and money. Whenever any convict is discharged from imprisonment, the warden must provide him with proper and sufficient clothing, at a cost not exceeding twenty-five dollars, and must pay him in addition five dollars in money.

History: En. Sec. 2971, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9739, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12458, R. C. M. 1921.

12459. County jails may be made prisons. Whenever the state prison is insufficient to contain the prisoners sentenced to confinement therein, the board must enter into contracts with the commissioners of such counties as have jails suitable for keeping convicts, that may thereafter be sentenced to confinement in the state prison, and must notify the district judges that such jails have been procured for state prison purposes, and such judges, until further notified, must sentence any prisoner convicted of a felony to one of the jails so designated.

History: En. Sec. 2972, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9740, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12459, R. C. M. 1921.

12460. Bond of warden. The warden, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, shall execute a bond in such sum as the board designates, not exceeding twenty thousand dollars, for the faithful discharge of his duties, which bond shall be given to the state, approved by the state treasurer, and filed with the secretary of state.

History: En. Sec. 2973, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9741, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12460, R. C. M. 1921.

12461. Insane convicts. When the warden is of opinion that any prisoner is insane, he must certify the fact under oath to the board, which may, in its discretion, order the removal of such prisoner to the insane asylum. As soon as the authorities of the asylum ascertain that such person is not insane, they must immediately notify the board of that fact, and thereupon the warden must cause such prisoner to be at once returned to the prison, if his term of imprisonment has not expired.

History: En. Sec. 2974, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9742, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12461, R. C. M. 1921.

12462. Reports of warden and board. The warden must, on or before the first Monday of November of each year, make a detailed report to the board for the year ending on the last day of the preceding month, stating therein the names of the guards and assistants, and other officers, with their salaries, the number of convicts, showing the name of each convict, his age and general appearance, when and where convicted, and of what crime, term of sentence and when it expires, and the number received and discharged during the year, the amount of manufacture, and the money received from the same and the cost thereof, and a full statement of the condition, management, and concerns of the prison, and the board must make a like report to each legislative assembly.

History: En. Sec. 2975, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9743, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12462, R. C. M. 1921.

12463. State prison fund. The moneys appropriated by the legislative assembly and the proceeds of the labor of prisoners constitute the state prison fund. The moneys in the state prison fund are applicable to the payment of the expenses of the prison, and salaries. The expenses and salaries must be audited and allowed by the board of examiners; after which, upon the order of the board, the state auditor must draw his warrant on the treasurer therefor, and the treasurer must pay the same out of such fund. The board cannot contract any debts or incur any liability binding upon the state.

History: En. Sec. 2976, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9744, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12463, R. C. M. 1921.

12464. Compensation of sheriffs. Sheriffs delivering prisoners at the state prison must receive all actual expenses necessarily incurred in their transportation, the amount of the expenses in each case to be audited and allowed by the board of examiners, and paid out of any moneys in the state treasury appropriated for that purpose, and no further or other compensation must be received by sheriffs for such transportation or services.

History: En. Sec. 2977, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9745, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12464, R. C. M. 1921.

12465. Duties of board—clerk. The board has the power to employ a clerk. It is the duty of the board, or the secretary thereof, to cause to be kept in a book or books to be kept for that purpose a full and complete account of all the transactions and proceedings of the board. The board shall also cause to be kept at the state prison a book wherein shall be recorded the name, nativity, age, height, weight, occupation, county convicted in, crime charged, term, date of sentence, date of incarceration, expiration of sentence without good time, expiration of sentence with full good time, of all prisoners therein confined, and shall cause to be kept in the office of the board such records as will enable the board or any member thereof to ascertain the name of every prisoner confined in the state prison, and such other facts as in the judgment of the board may be necessary in order to have before them a full and complete record of every prisoner confined, together with the cost of maintaining the same per month and the expenses incurred in the erection and improvements of buildings upon the prison grounds.

History: En. Sec. 2980, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9748, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12465, R. C. M. 1921.

The superintendent shall cooperate with and assist sheriffs, chiefs of police and other law officers in the establishment of a complete state system of criminal identification and in obtaining finger prints and other means of identification of all persons arrested on charge of felony. 12465.4. It is hereby made the duty of the sheriffs of the several counties of the state, the chiefs of police of the cities and marshals of villages therein immediately upon the arrest of any person for any felony, to take his finger prints according to the finger print system of identification on the forms furnished by the superintendent, and forward the same, together with such other description as may be required and with the history of the offense committed, to the bureau to be classified and filed, but should any accused be found not guilty of the offense charged, then said finger prints and description shall be given to the accused upon his request. The superintendent of the state bureau of criminal identification shall report any dereliction in the performance of his duty by any sheriff, chief of police, or marshal, or any dereliction in the duty imposed upon any person having charge of any state institution as provided in section 12465.3 to the governor, who shall make immediate investigation thereof, and upon the order of the governor the proper disbursing officer shall not issue any salary voucher to any said official found by the governor to be derelict in the performance of the duties provided by this enactment until such dereliction has been corrected. The superintendent shall compare the description received with those already on file in the bureau, and if he finds that the person arrested has a criminal record or is a fugitive from justice, he shall at once inform the arresting officer of such fact; and in order to facilitate the work of identification, the name or names under which each person whose identification is thus filed is known, shall be alphabetically indexed by the superintendent.

History: Earlier acts relating to jails and prisoners were Secs. 1-11, pp. 402-404, Bannack Stat.; re-en. and new sections added as Secs. 1-17, pp. 501-503, Cod. Stat. 1871; re-en. as Secs. 746-762, 5th Div. Rev. Stat. 1879; re-en. with slight amendments as Secs. 1267-1285, 5th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887.

This section en. Sec. 3020, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9757, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12466, R. C. M. 1921.

12467. Other jails authorized. Whenever, in the discretion of the commissioners of the several counties, it is necessary or desirable to build a jail or lockup in any town other than the county seat, they are hereby authorized so to do, but no such jail or lockup must cost to exceed one thousand dollars.

History: En. Sec. 3021, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9758, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12467, R. C. M. 1921.

12468. County jails, by whom kept and for what used. The common jails in the several counties of this state are kept by the sheriffs of the counties in which they are respectively situated and are used as follows:

1. For the detention of persons committed in order to secure their attendance as witnesses in criminal cases.
2. For the detention of persons charged with crime and committed for trial.
3. For the confinement of persons committed for contempt, or upon civil process, or by other authority of law.
4. For the confinement of persons sentenced to imprisonment therein upon a conviction of crime.

12469. Rooms required in county jails. Each county jail must contain a sufficient number of rooms to allow all persons belonging to either one of the following classes to be confined separately and distinctly from persons belonging to either of the other classes:

1. Persons committed on criminal process and detained for trial.
2. Persons already convicted of crime and held under sentence.
3. Persons detained as witnesses, or held under civil process, or under an order imposing punishment for a contempt.
4. Males separately from females.

History: En. Sec. 3023, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9760, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12469, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1598.

Operation and Effect

Held, that while the word "board" may include both room rent and meals, such word as used in section 4886, R. C. M.

1921, fixing the fee allowable to a sheriff for "board of prisoners" confined in the county jail, means food or meals only, since under this section, counties must provide for a county jail with a sufficient number of rooms to accommodate the prisoners confined therein. Pacific Coal Co. v. Silver Bow County, 79 M 323, 325, 256 P 386.

12470. Prisoners to be classified. Persons committed on criminal process and detained for trial, persons convicted and under sentence, and persons committed upon civil process must not be kept or put into the same room, nor shall male and female prisoners (except husband and wife) be kept or put into the same room.

12471. Prisoners must be actually confined. A prisoner committed to the county jail for trial, or for examination, or upon conviction for a public offense, must be actually confined in the jail until he is legally discharged; and if he is permitted to go at large out of the jail, except by virtue of a legal order or process, it is an escape.

12472. Repealed—Chapter 120, laws of 1923.

12472.1. Sheriff must receive federal prisoners. The sheriff must receive, and keep in the county jail, any prisoner committed thereto by process or order issued under the authority of the United States, until he is discharged according to law, as if he had been committed under process issued under the authority of this state.

History: En. Sec. 1, Ch. 120, L. 1923.

12472.2. Provision and agreement for use of county jails for federal prisoners. Provision and agreement for the use of said jails and the support and subsistence of such federal prisoners shall first be made by the United States through or by the proper officer or officers, with the board of county commissioners of the county wherein such prisoners are to be confined, such agreement to be in writing and contain a provision that the United States shall, upon claim presented for the county by its county clerk and recorder, pay into the county treasury of the county the sum of one dollar ($1.00) per day for each and every prisoner held in the county jail upon order or commitment of the United States government or any department or officer thereof. The sheriff of the county, who has custody of such prisoners, shall be paid by the county for their support and subsistence at the rate of seventy-five cents (75c) per day, per prisoner.

History: En. Sec. 2, Ch. 120, L. 1923; amd. Sec. 1, Ch. 34, L. 1931.

12473. Sheriff answerable for safe-keeping of such prisoners. A sheriff to whose custody a prisoner is committed, as provided in the last section, is answerable for his safe-keeping, in the courts of the United States, according to the laws thereof.

History: En. Sec. 3027, Pen. C. 1895; re-en. Sec. 9764, Rev. C. 1907; re-en. Sec. 12473, R. C. M. 1921. Cal. Pen. C. Sec. 1602.

Operation and Effect

Held, that the provision of section 5547, United States Revised Statutes, making it the duty of the Attorney General of the United States to contract with "the managers or proper authorities having control" of federal prisoners in county jails for their subsistence, contemplates that the contract shall be made with the sheriffs and not with the boards of county commissioners, the former, under Code provisions, being the custodians of the jails and answerable for the safekeeping of the persons therein confined. Majors v. County of Lewis and Clark, 60 M 608, 615, 201 P 268.

12474. When jail of a contiguous county may be used. When there is no jail in the county, or when the jail becomes unfit or unsafe for the confinement of prisoners, the district judge may, by written appointment, filed with the clerk, designate the jail of a contiguous county for the confinement of the prisoners of his county, or any of them, and may at any time modify or annul the appointment.

A copy of the appointment, certified by the clerk, must be served on the sheriff or keeper of the jail designated, who must receive into his jail all prisoners authorized to be confined therein, pursuant to the last section, and who is responsible for the safe-keeping of the persons so committed, in the same manner and to the same extent as if he were sheriff of the county for whose use his jail is designated, and with respect to the persons so committed he is deemed the sheriff of the county from which they were removed.

12479. Prisoners may be removed in case of pestilence. When a pestilence or contagious disease breaks out in or near a jail, and the physician thereof certifies that it is likely to endanger the health of the prisoners, the district judge may, by a written appointment, designate a safe and convenient place in the county, or the jail in a contiguous county, as the place of their confinement. The appointment must be filed in the office of the clerk, and authorize the sheriff to remove the prisoners to the place or jail designated, and there confine them until they can be safely returned to the jail from which they were taken.
